

HACKER 2631

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2631-The more Harvey thought about it, the more annoyed he became.

With that in mind, he had no other choice but to stand up and say, "I suddenly remembered there's something I need to attend to. Please excuse me."

"Take care, Mr. Ellison." Nicole smiled at Harvey as if saying, "Please. Just leave if you want already."

Trying to maintain his composure, he took a deep breath and spun around before hightailing it out of the establishment.

Nicole pursed her lips with a look of disdain. "Petty. Why did he even bug us? What's wrong with him?"

"You must be hungry. Come on, eat up." Jared scooped some dishes for Nicole again.

He was not in the mood for exaggerated displays of affection; he simply did not care about Harvey.

Meanwhile, Harvey's assistant was left in a state of puzzlement after Harvey had gotten in. "Mr. Ellison? Are you leaving so soon?"

He was genuinely surprised that they were leaving already, and he figured that Harvey had probably not eaten yet.

"Drive." Harvey glared at his assistant.

Unable to help but shiver as he realized that something was wrong, his assistant immediately revved the engine up.

Leaning back in his seat, Harvey's eyes darkened. 'Nicole, I'll have you know that I am not in any way lesser than Jared, and I'm especially not inferior to him.'

"How is the preparation for the new factory going?" Harvey suddenly asked.

And though his assistant was taken aback, he quickly answered, "It's ready. We can proceed with the opening ceremony once a date has been selected."

"Forget about picking a day. Let's do it in three days." Harvey said, making the final decision on a whim as he could not wait any longer.

His assistant agreed at once, afraid to say anything. "Yes. Rest assured; I will have it arranged. Mr. Ellison.”

Although he felt that it would not be ideal to kick the ceremony off on the fly, he did not dare to raise his voice in opposition.

“Good,” Harvey groaned in satisfaction.

Time flew by, and soon, the day in which Chloe’s surgery would happen had arrived.

Mr. Riddle Sr. had made his way to the hospital, along with Dillion and Karen, who claimed to be taking care of Mr.

Riddle Sr. As for the other members of the Riddle family, no one had bothered to show up, except for Nicole and Patricia.

The look on Chloe’s face darkened when she saw Nicole. However, she could not say anything in front of Mr. Riddle Sr., so she opted instead to look at him innocently.” Grandpa, everything is ready. You don’t need to worry.”

“Good.” Mr. Riddle Sr. nodded. “Where is Ghost Hand?”

Chloe’s eyes flickered for a moment, before she composed herself and answered, “He’s already preparing for the surgery. If Grandpa wants to see him, it’s better to wait until after the surgery.”

“Okay,” Mr. Riddle Sr. agreed.

With that, Chloe issued a sigh of relief.

“Chloe, this is such an important surgery. I can’t help much, so I’ve invited Martin to come over and assist Ghost Hand, just to ensure that the surgery goes more smoothly,” Nicole said with a caring look on her face, seemingly concerned about Chloe.

Upon hearing this, Chloe’s face instantly changed, and she promptly declined, “There’s no need for that. Ghost Hand isn’t used to having unfamiliar people as assistants.”

“Do you know Ghost Hand well?” Nicole raised her eyebrows slightly, her gaze brimming with an air of intimidation, making everyone else around her feel uneasy.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2632-“Not really, but at the end of the day, he is a renowned doctor. He might have his own working habits, so we shouldn't make any decisions on his behalf,” Chloe explained, trying to appear considerate.

“You've thought this through, indeed.” Nicole nodded in agreement.

However, Chloe began panicking. ‘Why does everything about this seem off? How could she easily agree to everything I say?’

Nicole then asked, “So, does Ghost Hand intend to perform this surgery independently?”

“Well...” Chloe stuttered, instantly left speechless.

In truth, even the likes of Ghost Hand could not possibly perform a surgery of such scale alone, no matter how skilled he was.

“I heard that Ghost Hand came alone without a team of doctors. He's not used to cooperating with others and can't perform the surgery without any assistance. Chloe, are you sure the Ghost Hand you've found isn't a fraud?” Nicole looked at Chloe with her brows furrowed.

“Of course not. I've been looking for him for several years. How could he be fake?” Chloe anxiously defended herself.

“Well then, he's truly a miracle worker. It seems that he can perform surgeries without anything! Is he using magic?” Nicole blinked her eyes curiously.

Chloe's face turned pale. After all, nobody could turn to something as nonsensical as magic to heal anyone.

“Nicole just wants to help. Moreover, Martin is already a medical professor. It's not easy for him to come over and serve as an assistant. Having him help will make the surgery more secure and more likely to succeed,” Mr. Riddle Sr. agreed with Nicole.

“Besides, haven't you sought him out before? You should be familiar with him. Don't you trust Martin?” Nicole asked, and flashed Chloe a look of disappointment.

Unable to argue any further, Chloe gritted her teeth and agreed, "Well, thank you for your help then, Nicole."

She nearly ground her teeth when she said "Nicole". She knew there would be trouble when Nicole was involved.

"You're all here. Sorry for the delay." Martin arrived and smiled at Chloe. "Don't be nervous. I believe that your surgery will be successful."

"Dr. Wyance, you're the one helping us, and we're the ones who should be grateful. It's just that you're already a medical professor, so forcing you into a position as an assistant feels like an insult to your talents. We can't possibly afford your help," Miley said, knowing Chloe could no longer refuse.

She knew that she had to say something without being too direct about it.

At this juncture, there was no way out for them. If she did not say something, they would automatically be forced to accept his help, and it would be a disaster for her and her daughter if things spiral out of their control.

They thought they had handled everything perfectly, without giving Nicole any leverage. What they did not expect was that Nicole would persevere and arrange for Martin to be their doctor's assistant, which was a clear indication of an ulterior motive.

Not minding the fact that he would be relegated to his position as an assistant, Martin said, "Ma'am, you're exaggerating. It's my honor to learn from the Ghost Hand."

"It's almost time. Chloe, you should get ready. Martin needs to prepare as well," Nicole urged, not giving them a chance to refuse the offer.

"Go on. If the surgery goes well, you'll be able to stand up in the future," Mr. Riddle Sr. instructed.

With no way out, Chloe could only agree. "Okay."

As Martin was leaving, he shot a bullet of a glance at Nicole, who gave him a light nod. Martin then strode off. Then, Chloe gave Nicole a resentful look and wheeled herself forward, leaving as well.

"I'll accompany you." Miley followed Chloe, feeling uneasy.

"Dad, let's find a place to wait. This surgery will take several hours," Damien said to Mr. Riddle Sr.

"Let's just wait here, Damien. Everyone is nervous about Chloe," Dillion advised with a look of genuine concern.

In turn, Damien glared at Dillion. He refused to believe that Dillion could be so kind-hearted.

"Dad, there are some chairs over there. Let's go take a seat." Karen suggested, playing along.

"Okay." Mr. Riddle Sr. said, and went off to the row of chairs to take a seat.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2633-With everyone on board, Damien could only follow along.

Karen then shot Dillion a glance, both wearing smug looks on their faces.

"Miss Riddle, it should go smoothly, right?" Patricia whispered.

"Don't worry, fakes will always be fakes." Nicole's eyes turned cold.

Chloe's plans were nearly perfect, but unfortunately for her, she had run into Nicole. That meant all of Chloe's plans were now shattered. After all, she did not want to be the one left holding the bag.

At that moment, Miley and Chloe had already arrived in the preparation room.

"Why am I feeling so uneasy? What is Nicole up to?" Miley nervously stated.

"We don't have any other options now. We can only take it as it comes," Chloe said dejectedly.

There, they came to realize why Nicole had been so quiet earlier. She had thought their plan was seamless, leaving Nicole with no options.

Turns out, Nicole had been staying quiet all this time, waiting and lurking, just to pounce and catch her off guard at this moment.

"Can you manage by yourself?" Miley asked, her face turning pale.

Once Chloe had gone in, she would not be able to help her any longer, as she could not enter.

"It's okay. Even though Martin is a medical professor, it's fine. I found Ghost Hand, after all," Chloe said firmly.

As long as she insisted that the person was Ghost Hand, nobody would be able to call her out on her bluff. After all, no one had ever seen Ghost Hand in person, so no one would know for sure if the doctor she had hired was fake.

When she received the money, everything would be settled. If she claimed the surgery failed, what could they do?

She was determined to get what she wanted, and she would definitely do her damndest to acquire it.

"Okay, in that case, your father and I will wait for you," Miley assured, gaining some confidence after seeing the determined look on Chloe's face.

"Go back outside. If you stay too long, they will suspect us. You need to keep an eye on Nicole too."

Among everyone out there, Nicole was the only one who was cause for concern.

"Okay," Miley agreed and left.

Chloe looked around and, after letting the nurse come in to help with the preparations, she wheeled herself into the operating room.

Inside the operating theater, "Ghost Hand" was already prepared, and Martin had taken his position.

Seeing Chloe coming in, "Ghost Hand" came over and whispered, "What's going on?"

"We're being suspected. That man is a medical professional," Chloe told "Ghost Hand".

Hearing that, "Ghost Hand" blanched at once. "What the hell? It

"I didn't want this either. Just don't panic. Remember, you are "Ghost Hand", and you have to stick to that moniker and behave accordingly at all times."

Chloe reminded him.

The only thing they could bank on now was that no one would recognize Ghost Hand, so even if they were suspicious of him, it would not matter.

“But I can’t do it,” the sham doctor panicked.

He was never able to do it in the first place, and now, they had even set a medical professional up to be his assistant.’ They are trying to set me up, right?’

Noticing the hesitation, Chloe gave “Ghost Hand” a look of dismay. “I only invited you to play along in my act. I’ve never really expected you to cure me.” “Ghost Hand” choked, left with no option but to agree with her. “I understand, but I hope you can pull a convincing show for them too.”

He had his temper too, but Chloe was the one paying him, so he could only put up with all that crap for now. After all, if this act of theirs suffered an epic fail, he would not get anything in return.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2634-“Let’s begin,” Chloe said, wheeling herself over to the bedside.

After stopping, Chloe shot Martin a glance and said, “Thank you for your help, Dr. Wyance.”

“You’re welcome. Now, let’s get started.” Martin nodded at Chloe, appearing sincerely concerned about her.

Then, Chloe bit her lip and laid down on the operating table with the help of the nurse.

In fact, her original plan was all an act. If Nicole had not suddenly arranged for Martin to come in, she would not even have had to participate in the surgery at all. She could have just left when the time was right. But now, Chloe had to endure the entire surgical process no matter what. She was on the verge of erupting from anger, as she was forced to suffer even more for no reason.

The surgery started smoothly. After the anesthesia had been administered, Chloe gradually lost consciousness...

When Chloe woke up again, she was already in the ward. Upon opening her eyes, she saw a room full of people, and she felt like she was in a daze.

“You’re awake. How are you feeling?” Miley immediately grabbed Chloe’s hand.

She looked concerned and was checking on her as if examining her physical condition.

However, she was actually whispering to Chloe, “Nicole and Dr. Wyance had planned everything. Shortly after the surgery, you were pushed out. Martin asserted that Ghost Hand was a fake. He didn’t admit it, and since then, everyone has been waiting for you to wake up.”

After hearing Miley’s words, Chloe jolted awake. ‘So that is why everyone’s gaze seemed off.’

As of that moment, Mr. Riddle Sr. had a cold frown on his face. Damien looked disappointed, Miley was anxious, and both Dillion and Karen looked like they were gloating over the notion that they had contributed to exposing her.

She looked at Nicole, who was standing on the side with a look of indifference written all over her face. Martin, on the other hand, appeared calm, but there was a hint of disdain in his demeanor.

Her heart sank bit by bit, but Chloe suppressed her nerves anyhow. She absolutely could not afford to lose control at this moment.

“Mom, was there a problem with my surgery?” Chloe’s mind flashed with a series of thoughts but in the end, she decided to assess everyone’s attitudes toward her first.

“There was no problem because it wasn’t even done,” Karen said as if enjoying the show.

“What do you mean, Aunt Karen?” Chloe asked, pretending to be confused.

“No wonder you’re a movie star. You acted really well!” Karen sighed. “What’s wrong? Didn’t Miley just tell you a moment ago?”

‘She’s still pretending to be clueless! Miley just leaned toward her and murmured so much to her. Miley definitely told her what was going on already!’ Chloe’s face turned pale, and the hatred in her heart grew even stronger than before.

However, she could only play dumb and say, “Aunt Karen, I don’t understand what you’re saying.”

“If you don’t understand, that’s fine. I just hope you can explain the situation with the fake 'Ghost Hand' clearly," Karen said magnanimously.

Chloe was seeing red, but she continued feigning cluelessness anyway. "What do you mean 'fake Ghost Hand'? If "Cut the crap. Dr. Wyance told us everything." Karen exposed Chloe, having lost her patience.

Chloe's eyes widened in astonishment as she looked at Martin.

With a puzzled look on her face, she asked, "Dr. Wyance, didn't you say you didn't know 'Ghost Hand'? How are you so sure he's fake?"

Martin was about to formulate a response when Chloe continued, "Although you have a good relationship with Nicole, you are still a medical professional. How could you treat me like this?"

Even though Chloe did not really say much in that remark, there was another intended meaning in those words she was trying to convey.

Nicole raised an eyebrow and looked at Chloe, a hint of coldness flashing in her eyes.

Clearly, Chloe's implication was that Martin had lied to slander her in order to help Nicole.

"I did it for your own good. If I hadn't stopped the surgery in time, Miss Riddle, you wouldn't have been able to get off the operating table, let alone stand up ever again," Martin rebuked, his tone clearly laced with displeasure.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2635-Hearing that, Chloe immediately understood what he meant. He could not allow anyone to lob a grenade at Nicole and get away with it.

"Stop uttering nonsense, how could I harm Nicole in any way?" Ghost Hand argued after he got accused.

"Just because you didn't want to hurt her doesn't mean that you can't or won't," Martin retorted.

"Dr. Wyance, we had paid quite an amount of money for Chloe's treatment.

Even if this guy, Ghost Hand, can't cure Chloe completely, I'm sure he won't cause her any sort of harm," Miley butted in.

"What I meant here is that this person, 'Ghost Hand,' or whatever has been found to demonstrate little to no skill in regard to operating a human being. And yet, here you are, taking a gander with it using Chloe's life," Martin reprimanded. Miley's face blanched as she listened on. She unconsciously stared at Chloe, crestfallen, as her face scrunched up in anxiety.

Meanwhile, Chloe gritted her teeth. 'I planted this guy here. Of course I knew he was good for nothing. I mean I invited this 'Ghost Hand' guy here for a reason. Naturally, I would be an idiot to find a qualified doctor for myself. That might just raise the suspicion of others.'

Chloe had taken a long time trying to find the perfect individual suited to perform her operation. Little did she know that Nicole had silently slipped someone in to follow her into the operation theater. That person was none other than Martin Wyance.

Martin noticed that Chloe was taking a considerable amount of time to explain herself clearly.

Then, she desperately turned to 'Ghost Hand' for help as she motioned for him to speak, which he did.

"You have to know, it's not just that I can't. I was very uncomfortable seeing so many unfamiliar faces in my operation theater. We haven't even started our operation, yet here we are, locked in more misunderstandings with one another already," he said.

Neither of them admitted to their faults, and neither of them could identify who the real 'Ghost Hand' was either.

However, just as Chloe was about to pin all the blame on Martin, Nicole smirked. "Drop the act."

Patricia, who noticed that Chloe and Ghost Hand were still adamantly clinging onto their charade, then took a glance at Ghost Hand's arm. "Since you've claimed to be so, then why not come clean and explain yourself here?"

Patricia then flashed out a small cryptocrystalline quartz that had an engraving of the word, Divinity, on it.

Confused, 'Ghost Hand' cocked his head to the side, and asked, "What's that?"

Ghost Hand had the idea that everyone in the operation theater would be suspicious of him, and hence, he had already prepared a laundry list of lies to tell the operation team. However, everything had gone down the gutter once Martin made his entrance.

None of them had the idea that Nicole would follow up on such a thorough routine inspection, nor that she would reveal to them something so bizarre.

Nicole smirked as she raised her eyebrows. "Why? Don't you recognize it?"

Ghost Hand nonchalantly shook his head as Chloe's face blanched, though Chloe was unsure of what Patricia had in her possession. However, one thing was certain: she was screwed.

"This is a special James Dade access pass. How could someone like you not even know what this is?" Patricia disdainfully asked.

Feeling the pressure mounting, 'Ghost Hand' asked, "Are you sure you know what you're talking about?"

He was unable to fathom how Nicole could make up such hogwash he had never heard of. 'I have never even heard of this thing before. How could I know what it is?'

"So don't you think that just because you are keeping your silence that no one would see through your lies," Nicole snickered as she looked at Ghost Hand with a sneer before giving Chloe a side eye.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2636-Chloe's heart raced, and deep within, she realized that this was only the beginning of Nicole's entire show.

"Do you know why I assigned Martin to be the assistant surgeon?" Nicole continued.

“Of course, you did it to slander Chloe,” Miley spat as Chloe kept her silence. Nicole’s laughter filled the room, sending chills down everyone’s spine. She turned to look Chloe in the eye as she scrutinized her expression. There, she noticed Chloe’s breathing was labored, as if she was nervous about something. After that, Nicole spoke again, “Ghost Hand, as they are aptly named, has a unique hand technique when he’s performing his operations, but for you guys to say that they are not quite comfortable operating while others are present is a little...’

Nicole paused for a moment, and that was when she noticed that everyone was looking at her.

Smirking, she stated, “Ghost Hand only uses their own surgical equipment.”

Hearing that, everyone around the operation theater was stunned. “What?!”

Nicole had ushered Martin over and gotten him to examine Ghost Hand’s surgical equipment before the operation even started and just like that, the scheme had unfolded itself.

“If someone isn’t able to recognize this...,’ Nicole said, trailing off mid-sentence as she dangled the James Dade card in front of her. “This is James Dade’s access pass, and with this, you are unconditionally permitted to work on any illnesses you could ever think of.”

“Why do you have this with you?” Martin asked, his eyes widening in shock.

‘Does she actually know James Dade on a personal level?’

In turn, Nicole shrugged. “I helped him once a long time ago. He gave this to me as a token of thanking me.”

“This thing is an incredibly rare object held in high esteem around the world. How could you easily obtain it? It must be fake,” Miley waved, unconvinced by what Nicole had said.

“Miley, you can’t come up with a lie to accuse others of forging fake evidence while you yourself are doing the same,” Karen piled in.

“Shut up! What do you even know?!” Miley shouted. ‘They just came here to watch the drama. They weren't even here to help!"

"Exactly, I have no idea, so I'm asking if you do,' Karen replied as she turned to Mr. Riddle Sr.

Karen then added, "Dad, we've never seen a miracle doctor in action before, but it seems to me that there will always be someone who knows a thing or two about miracle doctors."

Everyone had the same thought in their minds. 'Why bother going through all the trouble if we know someone who knows everything?'

"No need to ask, it is authentic for sure," Mr. Riddle Sr. said as he looked Nicole in the eye, having reached a mutual understanding.

Mr. Riddle Sr. had just found out himself that the card Nicole was holding was the exact same card he had heard about in tales.

"This...," Karen paused as her eyes lit up and met Mr. Riddle Sr., confirming the truth of the James Dade card.

Though her mind had wandered, Karen had never suspected that the card was a fake.

"It's a shame, really,' Nicole sighed. "Although I've got this, I can no longer contact this miracle doctor. Otherwise, I would have asked him to save me when I was near death."

The card was basically meaningless; she could not contact the doctor, and having possession of the card would no longer mean that he would show up to cure her from any injuries or illnesses.

And upon hearing that there was no doctor who could save Chloe, Miley's heart sank. Her last glimpse of hope faded just like that.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2637-Upon catching a glimpse of Miley's expression, Nicole immediately understood what Miley had conveyed. 'I would be stupid to use this diabolical mother and daughter duo.'

"Even if you do know about miracle doctors, how did you manage to find out about the Ghost Hand's signature habits?" Chloe frowned, feeling that Nicole was doing all of this to ruin her.

"Why would you suspect me?" Nicole asked, pretending as if she was oblivious to her questions.

Choking with anger, Chloe yelled, "You...!"

She gritted her teeth, knowing that there was no way she could refute the claim.

"Why is my life in such a sorry state?!"

I thought I had finally found the Ghost Hand, and yet, all I've gotten is an imposter!"

Miley then joined in on the crying as she saw her daughter's bloodshot eyes welling up. "Don't worry, Chloe. We won't give up, even if we've been cheated this time."

Nicole, who was far from done with them, turned to them and said, "Hold up. I think you haven't finished what you started."

'Does she really think she can get this over with by scapegoating the fake Ghost Hand? How can she be this naive? Does she think we're all that gullible? Well, too bad because I won't let her get away with this,' she thought.

Chloe's face blanched as Nicole called her out. "I don't have anything else to say!"

"Oh, don't you worry about it, Chloe. Regardless of whether it is the truth or not, just tell us," Nicole said with a smirk on her face.

With her stomach churning, Chloe shot Miley a glance before she clutched her temples. "Oh gosh, I'm feeling really light-headed."

"Is this the side effect of the anesthesia? You just woke up and you've already blabbered so much. How could your body bear with this?!" Miley cried and shouted in distress.

"Oh my, take care of yourself, then. Please excuse us as Grandpa and I will do the same as well," Nicole calmly stated.

She did not want to sit in for the drama that Chloe and Miley were about to reenact.

This left Chloe purple with rage. 'How dare she throw that kind of bullshit at me?

What am I supposed to do? Agree to it?'

"Nicole, what do you wish to say?" Mr. Riddle Sr. asked as he noticed that Nicole was beating around the bush.

Judging from Miley and Chloe's actions, Mr. Riddle Sr. assumed that they themselves were unclear of anything that had happened hours ago. 'What could they be hiding?'

"Grandpa, come take a look at this." Nicole gestured as Patricia handed a piece of document over to Mr. Riddle Sr.

Mr. Riddle Sr. skimmed through the document, after which a grimace crossed his face. "Are you registering a company?"

Chloe's heart plummeted to the bottom of her stomach. No way Nicole had discovered this. Does that mean she had been privy to my plans all along?'

Chloe gritted her teeth as she glared at Nicole sideways, 'So I guess everything had been arranged for a show. She knew how everything was about to unfold.'

"How did she find out? What now?" Miley panicked, bombarding Chloe with a list of questions in a hushed tone.

There, Chloe sat, petrified and not knowing what to do next.

Her mind was constantly reminding her not to fess up to her mistakes.

Chloe then took a deep breath before looking at Mr. Riddle Sr. "Grandpa, I think there's a mistake. How can I run a company by myself?"

"You're already in the process of getting approval. Tell me, how can we get this wrong? The audit department?" Nicole snorted, her eyes frosty as she glared at Chloe.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2638-Nicole's calmness took Chloe aback, surprising her.

"Yeah, if you weren't the one who submitted the information, how did it get there? Did it submit itself?" Karen smirked, the resentment in her heart causing her to make things worse for both Miley and Chloe.

In the context of registering their own company and getting treatment for a chronic illness, neither of these were issues in of themselves. However, they had chosen to enlist a fake doctor to help them with the registration process, and that was a different story altogether.

“Dad, I think there must’ve been some sort of misunderstanding between us. Can’t we go through this together. After all, we can’t just listen to one side of the story,” Miley begged.

“Miley, are you saying that Nicole is framing both you and your daughter? I mean I don’t even listen to the one-sided stories of others, so why should I listen to yours?” Karen sneered.

“Everyone, shut the f*ck up!” Damien shouted, startling Karen.

Then, Karen shot back, “What are you screaming at? This is just embarrassing!” Damien took a deep breath, before turning to look at Mr. Riddle Sr. “Dad, I think this matter should be investigated thoroughly. You need to find out if the company has been registered successfully or not. There might be a misunderstanding of sorts.”

“Damien, are you sure that the company hasn’t been successfully registered? I mean, once the operation has been done, won’t you have already received the sum in the transaction?” Dillion asked, trying to instigate a heated discussion.

“What kind of nonsense are you spewing? The purpose of this operation was to treat Chloe. You’re her uncle, for goodness’s sake! Don’t you have an ounce of sympathy seeing her like this, possibly for the rest of her life?” Damien, who was crestfallen, bellowed.

“Cut the crap. She’s the way she is today due to her own actions. Stop making it seem like it wasn’t her fault,” Karen retorted.

Everything that had happened to Chloe had nothing to do with them. It was only right for Chloe to deal with the consequences of her actions.

Struck with a headache of having to listen to his children and grandchildren bickering, “Shut up! Everyone!”

Everyone in the operation theater immediately fell silent, and they all turned to look at Mr. Riddle Sr.

Mr. Riddle Sr. paused for a moment, after which he said, "Since there has been a miscommunication between us all, let's lodge a police report on this."

"Call the police!" Karen shrieked.

'No, you can't call the police on us. Once the police discover that the doctor is a phony, we're all done for,' Chloe panicked.

"Grandpa...," Chloe coughed, before spewing out a mouthful of blood and passing out.

Pale as a ghost, Miley hovered over Chloe with a horrified look on her face.

"Chloe! What's wrong?!"

"Doc! Doc! We need help!"

Nicole peered over and narrowed her eyes, scrutinizing Chloe. She was unsure of what had happened during that heat of a moment. However, she was quite certain that Chloe passing out was not an act.

"Let me have a look," Martin said as he stepped forward to check on Chloe.

"Dr. Wyance, you have to save her," Miley panicked.

She did not know why Chloe had abruptly spewed blood and passed out and was genuinely worried that something serious might have really happened to Chloe.

"Let me take a look. Please make some space for me. I have to check on her,"

Martin said, as he was unsure of Chloe's condition.

Miley quickly stepped out of the way so Martin could walk over and check on Chloe.

After conducting a basic examination, however, he could not find the cause for Chloe's condition. 'None of this was staged.'

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2639-Meanwhile, the doctors and nurses who were stationed outside the operation theater heard the commotion and busted inside.

“She suddenly vomited blood and then fainted. Her vitals are stable, we might need a further examination to find out the cause.../ Martin instructed from his deductions following the examination.

As Martin had no proper equipment in his disposal, he had no choice but to diagnose her based on his experiences and leave the rest to the hospital for more accurate results.

“Okay,” the doctor replied as he and his nurses rushed to push Chloe to the Emergency Room.

Miley followed closely from behind, and the operation theater soon fell silent once more.

“Dad, what should we do with this person?” Karen asked, as she pointed at, ‘Ghost Hand,’ the imposter.

“Leave him to the police. We’ll wait until Chloe wakes up before we proceed with anything else.” Mr. Riddle Sr. sighed.

Dillion knew that it was useless to refute, instead he soothed Mr. Riddle Sr.,

“Why don’t you head back and get some rest first?”

“Yeah, Dad. You must be exhausted. Go back and have some rest first,” agreed Damien.

However, it was as clear as day that the two brothers still had a score to settle.

It was then that Dillion shot a glance at Damien and continued, “Don’t worry. I’ll stay here and take care of things.

If there are any new updates, I’ll be the first to inform you.”

Hearing that, Damien immediately turned over to glare at Dillion.

However, Dillion remained unfazed. ‘I can’t let these people step right over me.’

“Grandpa, I think it’s best that you head back to get some rest,” Nicole advised, noticing that Mr. Riddle Sr. was not looking too good.

“Okay,” Mr. Riddle Sr. agreed, heeding what she had to say.

Besides, there was no point in him staying there either.

“Mr. Riddle Sr., let’s get going/ Alfred said as he helped Mr. Riddle Sr. out of the hospital.

“Uncle Dillion, Aunt Karen? Are you guys intending on staying here?” Nicole asked as she looked at the two of them.

In response, Dillion nodded. “Yes, we’ll stay here and keep an eye on things. Don’t worry, we’ll be able to handle it.”

With that said, it was quite obvious that Dillion was determined to keep his eye on Damien. He had to see what Damien was going to do during a time like this.

“Okay. In that case, you guys can stay,” Nicole said, and strode out of the room with Martin by her side.

This took Dillion aback, who stood still for a moment. ‘That... was easy?’

“Hey, what do you think you’re doing? Running away?” Karen’s voice echoed through the room, snapping Dillion back to his senses.

Dillion quickly whirled around to see that ‘Ghost Hand’ was trying to slip away.

“We’ve already called the cops. They’ll be here in no time. I’d suggest you cooperate, or you’ll be in for some jail time.”

“I’m begging you guys to let me go. I really am not sure of what is going on here,” the fake Ghost Hand pleaded.

He was trembling. All he wanted to do was to make a quick buck, and yet it had all blown up in his face.

“You can tell that to the cops later,” Karen said, having no intention of letting the fake Ghost Hand go.

It was not long before the police arrived and arrested the imposter, during which Dillion and Karen both issued a sigh of relief. Meanwhile, Damien was fuming mad at the sight of Dillion and Karen walking away.

‘Those two must’ve stayed here deliberately to dig a bigger hole for us to die in.

What benefit could they reap out of this?

‘ Damien wondered.

Meanwhile, Nicole and Martin had just gotten into the car.

“What are you thinking about?” Martin asked Nicole.

“I think I might’ve overestimated myself,” Nicole replied with a blank, emotionless look.

‘Chloe vomiting blood and passing out might be real, but she could have induced it herself,’ she thought.

Martin’s expression darkened. “I noticed her pulse was irregular when I was performing the basic checkup on her. It’s very likely that she might’ve taken something before this.”

Nicole sneered. “I think so as well.”

Nicole had not foreseen that such an occurrence would happen, and on top of that, she did not anticipate that Chloe would go to such lengths to get what she wanted.

MY WIFE IS A HACKER CHAPTER 2640-“How can we allow her to weasel her way out of this so easily, Miss Riddle?

Especially now that we have compiled so much evidence to use against her...,”

Patricia complained with a frown on her face.

‘Perhaps she wouldn’t have to explain herself if she never regained consciousness,’ Patricia thought.

After a moment of consideration, Nicole furrowed her brows. “I think she’s doing this to stall for some time for herself.”

‘What else could she hope to do? Her fake doctor was caught red handed, and the investigation has been handed over to the police. Everyone knows about the registration of her company now, so what more does she think she could do?’

Noticing that Nicole was deep in thought, Martin asked, “What are you thinking about?”

Nicole shook her head. “It’s nothing.”

She did not want to trouble Martin anymore as he had been of great help in today’s affairs.

And as Martin noticed that Nicole was unwilling to share, he decided to leave it and stop pressing her with more questions.

Upon arriving at the headquarters of the Riddle Corporation, Martin turned to Nicole and reassured, "I'll tell you how things are once the results are out."

Nicole, in turn, gave Martin a weak smile. "Thank you."

'Perhaps he can't be of much help with other things but he sure as hell is handy when it comes to anything related to medicine,' Nicole thought.

"You're welcome. You can come to me if there's anything you need." Martin smiled.

With a beaming smile, Nicole replied, "I will, don't worry."

Martin slowly pulled away from the lobby as he saw Nicole disappearing into the building. She had just entered her office when Sean and Steve barged in.

"How was it?!"

"Um...the results won't be out so soon." Nicole sighed.

"It didn't go as planned?" Steve asked with a look of surprise on his face. 'How could things not go according to our plan? We have prepared everything right!'

"What happened?" Sean asked, serious and unsmiling.

With that, Nicole quickly filled Sean and Steve in on the details of the events that had transpired earlier.

"I still think that Chloe vomiting blood and passing out so suddenly is some sort of an act, but either way, she won't get away with it so easily. Her approach when it comes to evading this confrontation is rather futile, in all honesty," Nicole finished.

Nicole could not shake the feeling that Chloe had other plans up her sleeve.

Otherwise, she would not have pulled a stunt of such nature.

'What can Chloe do? We have all the evidence that points directly at her attempting to defraud Grandpa of the money he was about to give her for treatment to set her own company up!' she fumed.

"Let's keep an eye on her for now," Sean concluded as he got up from his seat.

"Dillion and Karen are there at the moment to keep an eye on them, but I don't think they'll be of much use,' Nicole stated as she looked up at her brothers.

“You know what? Let’s just forget it. We should take matters into our own hands.”

‘If Chloe is trying to weasel her way out through her backup plan, we should be ready to suppress every move she makes, ‘ Nicole thought to herself.

“Okay, let’s just wait and see what her next moves are,” Sean agreed, before leaving Nicole’s office with Steve in tow.

“Miss Riddle? This is from the Ellison Group,” Nicole’s secretary informed as she handed her a document.

“Thanks,” Nicole grabbed the document, and the secretary left shortly thereafter.

Upon opening the document, Nicole frowned at the sight of the content.

“Miss Riddle. Is something wrong?” Patricia asked, noticing that there was a grimace on Nicole’s face.

“A ribbon cutting ceremony, two days from now. Harvey has invited us to attend,” Nicole summarized as she placed the document down on the table.

Following Nicole’s announcement, everyone in the room began to feel a sense of frustration.

Confused, Patricia asked, “A ribbon cutting ceremony?”

Nicole rubbed her temples, a headache surfacing. “I have to give it to him. He’s the only one who would come up with something so frivolous.”