

Han's Son is Not a Slave

Chapter 4: Defected

After galloping for more than ten miles, Zhou Shixiang felt that his whole body was about to be disintegrated, and his entire right arm was also sore. He thought it was due to too much force when he killed Na Yu Yunlong just now.

After bending his right arm back and forth for a few times, Zhou Shixiang sighed. After all, this body is not the body that was exercised every day when he was a soldier in his previous life.

Xinhui has been besieging the city for several months, and Zhou Shixiang is also very hungry and thin. Fortunately, after he became a scholar and got married, his family became a little wealthy, and it took him a few years to give birth. Not to mention being fat, then Also looks very strong and good offspring.

With this foundation, after the Ming army was relieved from the siege, Zhou Shixiang went to receive government relief and stayed at home for more than 20 days. Finally, his body was relieved from starvation, and his vitality was restored by 70 to 80%. Otherwise, he would not be able to. Dare to take the risk to assassinate You Yunlong. It should be noted that there is no one in this world who dares to kill someone who walks around.

Thinking of the previous situation when he killed You Yunlong, Zhou Shixiang couldn't help but secretly fear, if it weren't for his identity as a scholar, Yu Yunlong was not suspicious and lost his vigilance, how could he have succeeded so easily!

Although he was a cavalry soldier in his previous life, Zhou Shixiang never really killed anyone. He thought to himself that the martial arts under his command would never be able to stop him a few times in front of Yu Yunlong, a veteran who has fought for countless years. Let him be ashamed, I am afraid that it is not Yunlong who died, but Zhou Shixiang.

Killing is just a nod to the head, but after he actually cut off a head with his own hands, Zhou Shixiang deeply understood what it is like to kill, but he did not feel the panic and anxiety after killing, but felt extremely happy, because he killed an enemy, yes The murderer who killed his parents, wife and children!

A gentleman acts when he is happy, and it takes ten years for a gentleman to take revenge!

Zhou Shixiang was not afraid of death, he was so afraid that his death was worthless. Killing You Yunlong was an idea he had long ago. If he didn't kill this person, it would be difficult to solve the hatred in his heart; if he didn't kill this person, it would be difficult to avenge his parents, wife and children!

Before starting, Zhou Shixiang once thought that if he unfortunately misses, then the Zhou family will be completely dead in this world. But he doesn't regret it, because he wants revenge, he can't kill all the Qing troops in Xinhui City, but he wants to kill Yu Yunlong, the main general, even if he can't kill, he will kill, everything is only for the dead parents, wife and children. !

How can we not avenge the feud between parents, wife and children!

.....

As soon as Yu Yunlong died, the Xinhui defenders would be leaderless, and they would definitely be in chaos for a while, but this will only be afraid that the Qing soldiers who are chasing and killing themselves are not far away.

Zhou Shixiang turned his head and glanced in the direction of Xinhui City. His body instinct made him want to rest for a while, but he knew that the longer he rested, the greater the chance of chasing troops coming up. At that time, I am alone, and my fists are hard to beat with my four legs. How can I fight with those Qing soldiers, I am afraid that most of them will be captured in the end.

If you die, you have to die. If you miss Yunlong, you will die. You can always be reunited with your parents, wife and children. You are not a person of this era, so why should you love to live? But now that I have succeeded, there is no need to die in vain, just one Yuyunlong is not enough, I want more Yuyunlong to die under my sword!

There was a famous saying on the Internet in a previous life, "Don't rebel when you go through the Qing Dynasty, you can use a chrysanthemum to set an electric drill". Although this sentence is common, it speaks to the heart of the Han people, and it expresses the desire of the most silent Han people. The Erlang of the Han family will never be a slave, the Erlang of the Han family will not leave those ugly braids, and the Erlang of the Han family will not be slaughtered by foreign races!

My Han family Erlang will never be a slave, my Han family Erlang will not leave those ugly braids, and my Han family Erlang will not be slaughtered by foreign races!

Erlang of the Han family, die like a man!

Daming hasn't died yet. In places I can't see, there are still countless Han family sons who are holding swords and guns and fighting Manchus desperately, and countless people with lofty ideals from the Han family continue to fight for the survival of Chinese civilization! I have been human in two lifetimes, how can I stand by and watch, how can I not be in it!

Join the army, kill Tartar!

Thinking of this, Zhou Shixiang looked resolute when he stood up, no longer cared about the pain in his body, gritted his teeth and beat his horse and continued to gallop forward.

.....

Yu Yunlong's mount is worthy of being a first-class Mongolian horse bestowed upon him by Shang Kexi, the king of Pingnan. It is also not difficult.

This run is more than 20 miles, and there are no residents along the way, and there are several forks on the road, only to a low mountain full of woods, after confirming that there is no trace of the chasing army, Zhou Shixiang just now Decided to get off the horse to rest.

There was a stream at the foot of the mountain. After leading the big blue horse to the edge of the stream, Zhou Shixiang found a grass and lay down. He was really tired.

When he closed his eyes, his brows remained tightly locked.

His parents, wife and children are dead, there is no home in this world, and Xinhui has no place to stay. If he wants to kill more Qing troops, he must join the general situation of Ming and Qing competition. With his current situation, it is impossible for him to be like the protagonists of the previous life time-travel novels, and they will gather with their arms and respond. Countless people gathered under his command and fought the Qing army to the death. If you want to kill the Qing army, he can only Can choose to join the army, to accept the command of others.

But where to go?

After all, the original owner of the body was a scholar, and he had also heard about the battles between the Ming and Qing Dynasties in recent years. As far as he knew, the Yongli court of the Southern Ming Dynasty had temporarily stabilized its position in the southwest after receiving the support of the rest of the original Daxi Army. The righteous brother Sun Kewang ordered 80,000 troops to attack Hunan, followed by the attack on Guilin in Guangxi, and defeated the Qing army, forcing the Qing army commander and Dingnan king Kong Youde to commit suicide. Later, Li Dingguo again marched north to attack Changsha, defeating the army led by the Manchu prince Nikan. Nikan was beheaded and the entire army was wiped out.

After this World War II, the Qing army suddenly declined, and the morale of the Ming army was in general, and the situation changed in the favorable direction of the Ming Dynasty. At that time, Zhou Shixiang also thought that the Ming Dynasty was expected to recover the country, but for some unknown reason, Li Dingguo, who had won successively, suddenly stopped going north, but marched south to attack Guangdong. The expected scholars were greatly disappointed.

Although the Qing army did not take advantage of Li Dingguo, and the influence of Nanming spread from the original Yunnan, Guizhou, and Guangxi to Sichuan and Hunan, on the whole, the situation of the weak and strong Qing has not changed. The favorable situation created by the “famous king” for Nanming is no longer there. You must know that at that time, the Shunzhi emperor in Beijing was so frightened that he wanted to make peace with Nanming on the condition of giving up Jiangnan. At this time, he became tough again, and he would not give in at all, and he must destroy Nanming.

As far as Guangdong is concerned, the Qing army has occupied more than half of Guangdong Province, including Guangzhou. Although there are still some Nanming troops scattered all over the place, most of them are weak, and they are based in the coastal areas, and it is difficult to do much. The Chaoshan area, which is located in the northeast of Guangdong, was not under the control of the Qing army, but was under the control of Hao Shangjiu, who had been fluctuating between the Ming and Qing sides.

This Hao Shangjiu has been following Li Chengdong. In the sixth year of Shunzhi, Li Chengdong rebelled against the Qing Dynasty in Guangdong. The Yongli court of the Southern Ming Dynasty named him Xintaihou and guarded Chaozhou. Later, Li Chengdong was defeated, and Hao Shangjiu surrendered to the Qing court again, but he did not listen to the tune or orders, and deliberately maintained the independence of his ministry, which made the Qing army greatly fear.

It stands to reason that Hao Shangjiu is Li Chengdong's old army. He has strong combat effectiveness and is much stronger than the Ming army in other places in Guangdong. He is also hostile to the Qing army. It is a good choice to vote for him, but before the Ming army attacked Xinhui, Zhou Shixiang heard that the Manchu Jingnan King Geng Jimao and Jingnan General Ha Mu who were stationed in Guangzhou had already led their troops to attack Hao Shangjiu.

It is said that scholars know the world's affairs without going out. This is obviously wrong. Zhou Shixiang is only a young scholar. Due to the limitation of his identity, he can know very limited things. There is no way to accurately know the news related to the war. It was anecdotal, and it was difficult to be accurate, so he was not optimistic about defecting to Hao Shangjiu. In addition, in the historical memory of the previous life, this Hao Shangjiu is not a famous person. I think that such people did not persist for long. Maybe Hao Shangjiu would have died long ago, and Chaoshan was also occupied by the Qing army.

It is too risky to bet that Hao Shangjiu can defeat the Qing army, and the Chaoshan territory is too small, so what Hao Shangjiu does is really like a warlord. UUKanshu www.uukanshu.com Such a person can't last for a long time. Zhou Shixiang thought that going to Hao Shangjiu was not the best policy.

Zheng Chenggong's famous name, Zhou Shixiang, must be like thunder. Compared with Li Dingguo, who was scorned by the Qing army as an "old thief", the former was much more famous in Zhou Shixiang's previous life. However, Zheng Chenggong's site is in the Jinxia area along the coast of Fujian. In addition, the whole of Fujian is under the control of the Qing army. Zhou Shixiang has no confidence that he can go through the blockade of the Qing army in Fujian to join Zheng Chenggong, and the distance is too far. Out of Guangdong, others have already fallen into the hands of the Qing army.

Killing You Yunlong, the Han army flag officer, was a big deal. Zhou Shi believed that the government in Guangdong and the Qing army would not arrest him everywhere. I was afraid that the list of arrests had already been written, and it just had to be distributed to various places.

The only plan now is to go to Li Dingguo in Guangxi. Although I don't know why Li Dingguo suddenly came from Hunan to attack Guangdong, and why he failed one after another, Zhou Shixiang was also willing to go to vote for him because of the name of the last guardian of Nanming in the memory of his previous life.

Being able to defeat Kong Youde and Nikan, the two Manchu princes in succession, Li Dingguo's fighting power must be incomparably powerful. He has memories of two generations, and has hundreds of years of knowledge beyond this era. Zhou Shi believed that he would definitely be able to help Li Dingguo defeat the Qing army. Make Huaxia land in the hands of the Tartars.

Thinking of this, Zhou Shixiang's heart suddenly became hot, and his brows were already stretched out without delay. "Huo" jumped from the ground in a flash, led the big green horse, who was already full of water and was eating the green grass, and identified the direction. , follow the mountain trail to the west.

.....

Readers' collections and recommendations are urgently needed.