

Chapter 210 Ending

Alayah's p.o.v.

Khal is close to the surface and I can't wait for the day Topaz can finally spend some time with our Mates' Lycans, but we both know it will have to wait until I have made a decision.

Not that that decision changes anything between me and my Mates, Topaz wants to complete the Mate-bond in the territory we will be calling home and I am not sure if that will be Autumn Moon Pack. Nikolay has pulled my shirt off to get better access to my breasts and I moan as he sucks a nipple into his mouth, while the other breast gets some much needed attention from his hand.

I move around a little because I want to feel much more than he is giving me right now and I feel his hands grab my hips, so he can lift me up. The moment I straddle him I start grinding my hips, we both start undressing the other and Nikolay has a little trouble getting my jeans. He needs a little help from me to get my jeans out of the way and he captures my lips for a breathtaking kiss as he lowers me onto his cock.

Nikolay guides me up and down his cock, my breath becoming labored as we both pick up the pace and my eyes snap open as I hear footsteps rushing down the stairs. "Nikolay, where are the two of you?" Nathan calls out and I see a twinkle in Nikolay's eyes as he keeps our lips locked together. We can hear them running a round the garden and we can hear them calling out to us, but neither one of us is paying any attention to it.

Nikolay keeps a hand tangled in my hair, making it more difficult for my other Mates to find us because they can only hear a fraction of the noises I make. Nikolay let's his other hand travel down my back and he places his hand on my hand in such a way that his middle finger is pressing against my backdoor. A moan escapes me the moment he starts pushing his finger inside me and he pushes me closer to my climax as he starts alternating his movements.

Khal and Topaz have put up a block on our mind-link and as Nikolay pushes us both over the edge I can hear Eiji growl, he doesn't like the fact that he can't reach us. I can hear the others talk but I can't understand a word they are saying, my mind is not functioning at the moment and I am leaning against Nikolay as I am catching my breath.

"Sounds like your other Mates are a bit frustrated." Nikolay whispers near my ear and I giggle as Topaz flashes me an image of my Mates walking around with a raging hard-on, but growls from all four of my Mates make me look at Nikolay. "Oops, I think I found another ability." Topaz mumbles and I stare at Nikolay to see if he can clear this up for me.

"Why did you show us that image, Princess?" Nikolay asks as he hands me my jeans and for a moment I freeze, I wasn't the only one that saw that. I ask Khal to show Nikolay an image of me and a moment later I see what Khal is showing Nikolay, but my other Mates see it as well. "They have to be around here." I hear Noah grumble and I quickly put my clothes on, I need to talk to Grandpa because I want to know what I can expect for the future.

Nikolay tries to grab hold of me, but I manage to avoid his hands and make a beeline for the stairs. My Mates are calling out my name as they follow me up the stairs, but I keep walking through our bedroom to find Grandpa and I hope he had a good rest. I bump into Uncle Josh as I walk out the door and I ask him if Grandpa is still resting, "I came to get the five of you, because it is almost time for dinner." He answers and I keep walking towards the living room.

"Grandpa, what kind of abilities can I get?" I ask the moment I see him sitting on the couch with Grandma and Grandfather, he asks me what happened and I explain it the best I can. "There are a lot of abilities you might get, but the ones you get are connected in a way." He answers and I try to find a link between my camouflage gift and my projection gift, but it takes me a few minutes to understand why these two abilities might be connected.

My mind keeps going over my gifts when Topaz points something out to me and I look at my Mates as I try to make sense out of this, puzzle pieces are starting to fall into place. Nero was able to hear the conversation between Marc and Alpha Randell, Nathan being able to tell that Crystal was telling the truth. Is it possible they got those gifts from me and did Nikolay get the gift of projection from me?

I think I have more questions than I have answers, "Grandpa, is it possible my Mates got a gift from me after we marked one another?" I ask him. He is deep in thought when Brock gets up to walk out of the living room and it takes a few minutes before Brock returns and Grandpa to come out of his thoughts. I get handed a journal by Brock and Grandpa tells me which page I have to turn to.

It is a journal from a few centuries ago and it is written by a male, named Joey. "He was one of the few that never turned on their Mate." Grandpa explains as I start reading, it is a recount of an incident that took place three days after they had marked one another. His best friend offered to become his Mate's personal guard, but he felt that his friend wasn't telling the truth and he asked his friend to repeat the offer to his Mate.

Joey had informed his Mate to tell him what she felt from his best friend and he hadn't been surprised to find out that he had been right, his friend had been dishonest. Neither one of them could understand what he was up to, so they decided to keep him close and her Brother kept a close eye on him. It took nearly four years before they found out what Joey's friend had been up to, but he didn't succeed in his efforts.

Joey's friend wanted my ancestor for himself and the Alpha title with it and he had hoped that by being by her side constantly he would be able to seduce her, but he hadn't counted on her being Joey's fated Mate. Like most Wolves and Lycans he had thought they were chosen Mates and that was his biggest mistake, they killed him with the approval of the Elders. Ending another threat to Blood Stone Pack.
