

Chapter 76

As Wyatt was still trying to convince Mr. Lewis, this so-called Mr. Lewis had already walked to the VIP room door as he pushed open the door.

It didn't take long for his eyes to land on Mandy. He got so excited that he flicked his hair, posed in a condescending and confident manner, and gave a look to his subordinate behind him.

The subordinate immediately knew what to do, as he knocked on the room door politely and walked straight toward Mandy.

“Greetings, miss...” the subordinate greeted after clearing his throat.

“Hmm? What do you want?” Mandy replied while trying to understand the situation as she was confused as to why these strangers barged in all of a sudden.

The subordinate gulped after seeing Mandy's beautiful face while imagining that this girl in front of him would be accompanying him after his boss was done playing with her.

As he was having those lewd thoughts, the look in his eyes started to become more perverted, but he managed to remember his task. “Actually, we’ve already booked this VIP room under the name of our Mr. Lewis here, but since you seem to enjoy it here, we’ll allow you and your friends to be here. The condition is, you’ll have to accept Mr. Lewis’s offer and accompany him for a drink.” The subordinate stated while tilting his body to let Mandy see Mr. Lewis’s face.

“You booked this room?” Mandy was stunned for a moment. She looked towards the direction which the subordinate gave and saw Mr. Lewis, a fairly good-looking man in his twenties wearing a tailor-made suit nodding at her.

The man looked good although he didn’t have a strong aura, but the suit definitely covered up some tacky bits of the young upstart.

At that moment, Mr. Lewis was playing with his BMW car keys like a fidget spinner while looking at Mandy with an arrogant look on his face. According to his experience, not many ladies would refuse his offer after seeing his car keys.

Unfortunately, Mandy wasn't really impressed by the car keys since she drove a Porsche herself. Although the Zimmers were considered as a second-class family company, they weren't really in need of luxurious cars such as BMWs, Mercedes, and Audis as they already had at least ten of those in their houses.

Since Mandy was a well-educated woman, she refused the offer and promised that they'll quickly finish their meals. "I'm sorry that we occupied your room, we'll finish our meals in just a bit. As for the drink with Mr. Lewis, I'll pass on that since I already have a husband."

"Oh..." The subordinate chuckled while ignoring Harvey who was next to Mandy.

“Miss, our Mr. Lewis here rarely treats a woman like that, so I hope you’d be more aware of the situation and accept his offer.”

“As you should know, someone who’s rich, handsome, and young like Mr. Lewis is quite the dream for most women.”

“For once he was being proactive today, offering you a drink, you should be proud of yourself for that. I don’t understand why you denied his offer.” The subordinate uttered these words in a way as if Mandy’s wrong for not accepting the offer.

Needless to say, they would do something like this all the time with a high success rate. Their past successful experiences made them think that no lady would reject their offer. They even thought in a way that those who dare to reject them were not aware of the consequences they would face.

“I don’t know him,” Mandy replied coldly with a frown. “Please stop bothering us.”

Seeing the objection on Mandy’s face, the subordinate scowled and said, “Miss, this is for your own good. A successful man like Mr. Lewis has given you an opportunity and you should appreciate it and be proud of it.”

The subordinate thought Mandy was just acting to be innocent as lots of women had done something like this in the past. Most women would eventually obey their orders after they think about their benefits. The subordinate was sure that no woman could resist the temptations they gave.

“Mr. Lewis absolutely is a much better choice than your husband here. Just look at your husband, the clothes he wears aren't even worth ten dollars. He had been sitting quietly at the side while not doing anything. If I were a woman, I would definitely appreciate a man like Mr. Lewis because I'll regret my whole life if I missed the life-changing opportunity,” said the subordinate with the intention of humiliating Harvey.

“Get lost,” Mandy said in a cold voice.

“Miss, enough is enough. Further acting won't do you any good,” said the subordinate.

“I said get lost, or I’ll call the police,” Mandy replied while dialing a number on her phone.

“Ha, interesting...” Mr. Lewis exclaimed with a hint of excitement as he walked toward Mandy while swinging his car keys with his hand.

Chapter 77

Although his thug-like aura didn't match his outfit, everyone could feel his confidence from his expression.

At that moment, there were already quite a number of people watching. Some of them went closer and recognized Mr. Lewis.

“Oh look, it's Mr. Zayn Lewis, approaching women as usual. Such a charmer.”

“You guys are probably unaware, but this mall is basically Mr. Lewis's spot for hunting beautiful girls, as he believes that no women can resist the temptation of money.”

“The influencer previously also seemed to be hard to impress, but in the end she was still conquered by Mr. Lewis before he even spent a million dollars on her. I heard she even addressed Mr. Lewis as ‘Daddy’ and eventually followed him back home for ‘ tutoring’.”

“It would be so lucky to be his subordinate as Mr. Lewis would leave his finished ‘businesses’ for him. I envy him so much!”

“It looks like we’re gonna have a great show today.”

“That woman is so gorgeous, it makes me want to save her at some point.”

“Quit thinking about it, Mr. Lewis would slap the shit out of you.”

It’s not hard to see that apparently lots of people from this restaurant had heard of Mr. Lewis since they were gossiping as if it were not their business.

The subordinate’s expression turned even more twisted as he saw his boss approach Mandy. He was sure at this point Mr. Lewis could take Mandy down.

Wyatt on the other side had a sly look on his face as he had hoped that Harvey would be embarrassed by Mr. Lewis and eventually he could step out and save Mandy.

Mandy started to frown, not exactly because of Mr. Lewis, but because she was a bit disappointed in Harvey.

Having to think that she just barely improved her perspective towards the live-in son-in-law, Mandy was disappointed by Harvey because he kept quiet and continued eating while she was harassed by other men. The thought of divorce immediately came to Mandy's mind again.

“Hi beautiful, my name is Zayn, Zayn Lewis...” Mr. Lewis greeted as he walked towards Mandy.

“Care to have a drink and perhaps get to know each other?” asked Mr. Lewis with a smile.

Although he clearly didn't have proper manners, he must be really confident as he tried to grab onto Mandy's hands as smoothly as if it was staged.

Chapter 78

At that moment, a hand reached out and slapped Mr. Lewis's hands as Harvey stood up and went in between Mr. Lewis and Mandy.

He gave Mr. Lewis a cold glare.

Mandy was quite relieved when she saw Harvey standing up for her, but felt a bit disappointed again after seeing that Harvey hadn't done anything else than just slapping.

"Well well well, who would've thought that such actions could come from a useless husband like you?" Mr. Lewis mocked while flicking his hands.

"I wouldn't want to be out of luck after getting in contact with such a poor, pitiful guy like you." Mr. Lewis continued to ridicule Harvey while smirking.

"Get lost kid. Go back to where you're from or I'll beat the shit out of you if you dare to cause any trouble to Mr. Lewis." The subordinate shouted angrily.

“Hey, we’re civilized citizens. Don’t just threaten people like that, what are you? A thug?” Mr. Lewis glared at the subordinate for a while before he patted Harvey’s face.

“Hey buddy, your woman here got me interested, so why don’t you do me a favor and get yourself out of here, while I’m still in a good mood. I can even pay you if you insist.” Mr. Lewis offered while reaching for his wallet.

He pulled a stack of cash and raised it in front of Harvey. The cash went flying all around when Mr. Lewis let go of it.

“Here it comes again! Mr. Lewis is showing off his fortune again! Let’s see how long it would take for the guy to be tempted.”

“The guy from last time even tried to convince his girl to accompany Mr. Lewis after knowing how rich he was.”

The crowd started gossiping again.

Harvey let out a sigh. He was disappointed as his long-awaited date with Mandy had just been interrupted by some psycho.

After seeing Harvey's reaction, Mr. Lewis thought he was scared, and continued taunting Harvey. "Such a beautiful woman she is, you know you can't save her even if you tried right? So why don't you just do what you should and get out of here." Mr. Lewis continued playing with his keys as the subordinate gave Harvey the stink eye. 1

"This dumbass here is probably stunned to see a BMW. Although it only costs a few hundred thousand dollars, this pauper here wouldn't even have the chance to lay his hands on a car like this.

"Alright don't waste my time, I'll count to three and if you've not already moved away by then, you're gonna get what's coming." Mr. Lewis threatened eagerly.

Mr. Lewis was a thug anyway. He wouldn't even bother considering his temperament at this point.

As Harvey finally looked him in his eyes. “You can say whatever you want about me, or even mock me, but do you know what consequences you’re going face for harassing my wife?”

Chapter 79

“Consequences? Have you lost your mind kid? Oh I would love to know more about the consequences you mentioned.” Mr. Lewis smirked as he reached out his hands toward Mandy.

Bam!

As Mr. Lewis was reaching for Mandy, Harvey immediately grabbed onto his collar and slammed his head onto the dining table.

Blood gushed out of Mr. Lewis’s nose and mouth as he was slammed onto the table.

Harvey continued to slam Mr. Lewis’s head even though Mr. Lewis was already bleeding.

Bam! Bam! Bam!

The tempered glass on the table cracked as Mr. Lewis’s face was covered in blood, looking very hideous.

Some women screamed outside the room, while most of the men were stunned by Harvey's actions.

Mandy was stunned by the scene, not because of the blood, but Harvey's actions. She never would've thought that Harvey would be so serious about somebody harassing her, despite being in such a high-class venue.

Mandy had never felt such a strong sense of security before, while her disappointments and regrets disappeared instantly.

As for her thoughts of divorcing, she completely dumped it to the back of her head the moment she saw how manly Harvey was for the first time ever.

Cecilia on the other hand, was also surprised by Harvey's domineering manner.

As for Wyatt, he couldn't believe something like that could have happened to Mr. Lewis. He thought that Harvey was going to regret it later on.

At the very next moment, Harvey sent Mr. Lewis off for about five meters with a kick to his stomach.

As Mr. Lewis struck the water fountain inside the VIP room, everyone stared at Harvey for what he had done.

Chapter 80

It's not hard to see what kind of a person Mr. Lewis was. After all with his strong thug-like manner, not even the rich would want to mess with him.

However this guy, this pauper, had unexpectedly beaten him up without showing any mercy nor respect.

“What the f*ck? Did you just hit me? You're f*cking done buddy!” Mr. Lewis yelled at Harvey as he was standing back up covering his face with his hands.

“You're f*cking done!”

The subordinate immediately pulled his phone out to call security, which then arrived in a matter of minutes.

Mr. Lewis was the founder of a security company. In other words, his background was thug-related.

Coincidentally, his security company was also in charge of that shopping mall.

Harvey didn't even look at the security guards as he rubbed his palms and said in a cold voice, "I hereby give you a chance. Kneel before to my wife and apologize to her, or else I'm gonna f*ck you up real bad."

The crowd was shocked by how brave and bold Harvey was while talking about how Harvey's the one who was going to kneel later on.

Even if he was good in martial arts, the crowd doubted that Harvey could face all the security guards. After all, everyone knew Mr. Lewis had wealth and power, so it wouldn't even be a big deal if they beat Harvey to death.

"The f*ck do you think you are?" The subordinate shouted anxiously.

"A poor f*cking pauper like you dares to humiliate Mr. Lewis? Do you know who he is?"

"The security company of Mr. Lewis is funded by York Enterprise. Does a hobo like you know what that means?”

“York Enterprise! The biggest freaking family company in South Light! That means that we have the Yorks on Mr. Lewis’s side, should a hobo like you lay your dirty finger on Mr. Lewis?”

“You’re gonna learn what it’s like to be dead, buddy.” The subordinate berated Harvey as he was angry about a filthy kid beating up his boss who was one of the upper-class of society.

The crowd gasped when they heard that Harvey had messed with the Yorks. They had always known that Mr. Lewis had power, but none of them knew that he was associated with the Yorks.

It looked like the kid was done for this time, and his woman would most probably be taken away by Mr. Lewis. This is what the crowd thought since they all knew how powerful York Enterprise was in the South Light.

Even Mandy gave out an awkward look when she heard about York Enterprise as the Zimmers could not afford to go against them.
