

Her Billionaire 677

Chapter 677 She Hit Veronica

Thinking that she needed to give Sasha an explanation, Veronica peeled their hands off of her before she walked toward Sasha.

“Thomas, let go of her.”

As she waved Thomas off and walked in front of Sasha, who was making a fuss, a waft of alcohol scent hit her nostrils almost immediately.

Sasha could only numb herself with alcohol after being unable to accept the news of Matthew’s death.

Hearing that, Thomas did as instructed with hesitation, but he didn’t forget to remind Veronica, “Please stay away from her, Mrs. Kings. She is crazy.”

To him, Veronica’s current status was the same as that of Matthew. Since his boss was currently not around, he naturally needed to be responsible for protecting the safety of the lady of the house.

He was still holding on to Sasha’s arms, but the woman flung his hands away. “F*ck off, Thomas!”

so good to you. Now that he is dead because of this sl*t, Veronica, you are still trying to protect her?

Seeing Thomas being so loyal to Veronica after Matthew’s death only made her angry on Matthew’s behalf. It felt like his choice. It has pause and turned her outstretched hand toward Veronica. “It has everything to do with her! She is the reason a frown at being pointed in the face and scolded at. She seemed somewhat resigned as she as true. Even though Veronica was being humiliated, she couldn’t find a word to say to Sasha, and she didn’t have the heart to have Sasha chased out swing her palm at Veronica’s face when the latter

Slap!

sound reverberated around the hall, multiple pairs of eyes immediately turned in the direction of the time of the night, Matthew’s

at the same time upon hearing

Claude! What are the way. As she was in high heels, she quickly lost her footing and heavily fell to the floor, the impact