

Her Destined Alpha chapter 95

95. Healing & Family DELSANRA Three weeks had passed since Papa Raf left us for a better place . The pain of his loss was felt across the entire country .. Alphas from all around came to pay their respects . I also realised Rayhan had made a reputation for himself as a dangerous Alpha , one who would defy every law of the council if need be . I knew the king or as he told me to call him ' Al or whatever shit I wanted to ' , so I settled for King Burrito .

He had a lot to deal with , but he had been here for us all . That day he was talking to Mama Mari , Kiara and I had heard the end of it , but we had walked away , leaving them to their moment . They had needed it and both of us had been so happy that it had taken place . Life had changed for us all , Papa Raf was someone who would never be forgotten . Although we had overcome all our troubles , never had we imagined that we'd lose a king in the process . I wanted to blame myself for Papa Raf , but I know it's not what anyone would want , and rather than wallow in self – pity , I wanted to be the pillar of strength for my family .

My greatest abuser was dead , and although I wasn't the one to kill him , it didn't matter . He was gone . The remaining handful of hunters belonging to the group were tracked and killed . They had been from many Packs all across the country much to the king's anger . Rayhan and I had become Alpha and Luna by default , but Mama Mari had said she wanted me to continue with my studies as Papa Raf and Rayhan had wanted . I realised then that Rayhan had refused the Alpha title , so I wasn't burdened with the job as Luna so soon . It warmed me that even now , everyone wanted me to continue to study . But although I persisted that it wasn't important , Mama Mari had taken my hand and told me it would serve as a distraction for her too . The Ahmar Qamar Pack was renamed the Dark Storm Pack and Rayhan appointed Chris as Alpha for it . Although this meant Raihana had to move a half – hour away , we still would be going to university together once I had caught up with the rest of my studies . She didn't complain , being the woman she needed for her mate and now Alpha . To make it clear that Chris was capable of the title , he had to fight the beta and delta of that pack . He had won the two against one match and the pack had no reason not to yield to their new Alpha and Luna . Not to mention Raihana had the blood of the Ali family running through her . Alpha Amir was there to guide them as well , and although he had been pained at his grandsons ' loss , he knew Rayhan's reasons . Even then I knew it was going to take him time to be ok with it . Zain's mother had left the pack , returning to the pack she had come from , and as for Zain's mate , she had committed suicide the day after his death .

Yes , Zain was in the wrong , but it saddened me that an innocent person had suffered . The truth is that no matter how much a person does something for the right reason , innocent people still suffer . More hate is bred , and I fear that the next generation will be the ones to suffer most because of it . Rayhan had become an Alpha that his father would be proud of . He sorted everything out , appointing a new Delta to replace Chris , and got to work instantly , taking over his father's place with ease . I was proud of him too . Night had now fallen , Chris and Raihana had come for the evening .

Rayhan had been working late in the home office , I walked through the halls wanting to tell him to leave his work and join us . I knocked on the door lightly . " You don't need to knock kitten . " Rayhan's sexy voice said , and I opened the door . There he sat in his jeans and white tee , even though he was dressed so casually , he was damn fine . His hair was up in a messy man bun as he looked down at some files on his desk , before looking up at me .

Our eyes met , my heart racing as I made my way over to him . His eyes skimmed over me , even in only a fitted black top and blue torn jeans , he found me beautiful . He moved his chair back , gripping my waist as he pulled me onto his thigh . I caressed his jaw tenderly . The sparks that coursed through us , binding us beyond anything words could explain , were strong . I touched my forehead to his , wrapping my arms around his broad , muscular shoulders . " Come join us for a hot drink .

" I whispered . " There's a lot to do- " I placed my finger to his lips and smiled gently . " No one would want you to bury yourself in work Rayhan . Come ... Raihana and Chris have come too ... " " 1 He sighed and nodded , wrapping his arms around me tightly , sending tingles to my core when he kissed my neck softly . " You're right . Let's go . " He said his gaze flickered to my lips and I smiled .

We both leaned in , our lips meeting in a deep , passionate kiss that gave birth to an eruption of butterflies inside of me . He kissed me slowly yet passionately , one hand twisting into my hair as his lips began to dominate me . A soft whimper left my lips and he took the chance to slip his tongue into my mouth . I gasped , my core throbbing as he explored every inch . His free hand that was not tangled in my hair slipped under my top , grazing down my bra strap .

My breath hitched and I nibbled on his lip . " Fuck Rayhan ... We need to go downstairs ... " I whimpered . " Yeah ? Then we will continue this tonight . " He said huskily . My cheeks flushed and I nodded , standing up . The scent of my arousal hung in the air , and I blushed deeper when he tapped my ass . " I want you bent over like a good little kitty tonight . " He murmured . I poked my eyes out at him . " I always am your good little girl . " I whispered as we walked down the hall . He slipped his hand around my waist , pulling me against him as he kissed me hard . " You fucking are . " He growled ... We parted breathlessly and continued walking , I looked around the luxurious halls . Every corner of this house held memories of Papa Raf and not one was bad . He was the light that still shone upon us , despite his absence . We went down the stairs , and into the lounge where everyone was sitting around , a game of monopoly already set up . Mama Mari had told us how much Papa Raf enjoyed his board games , so we'll keep that Friday night tradition going by gathering here , playing games and talking about all the good times to come and those that have passed . Chris sat with his arm around Raihana , Mama Mari sat on the empty sofa . Despite the graceful smile on her lips , she had lost weight , but she was remaining strong for her children . " You guys took forever , got busy ? " Chris asked with a smirk , kissing Raihana's neck . "

Sadly no . " Rayhan said , dropping onto the couch and pulling me onto his lap He leant over , placing a hand behind his mother's head and kissing her forehead . She gave him a warm smile that caused my eyes to sting with tears that I hid quickly . A mother's love held no bounds , and hers was no less . " Hot drinks are here , and I'm guessing they are not even hot anymore . " Raihana complained with a pout . " You ; guys took forever . " " 1 " A spell will fix that . " I said , smiling across at her . She smirked . " Oh yeah , or a touch of magic . " She leant over , brushing her fingers along the mugs , and the steam that came up from them told me the job was done . " You girls , " Mama Mari said , shaking her head .

" It's very convenient , Mama Mari . " I said without thinking . Her heart skipped a beat . Shit , that was something that I had started calling her in my head over the last week or so but not said aloud ... " Sorry I- " She placed a hand on my knee . " Don't be , I love it . " " 1 Our eyes met and we smiled , before we turned to the : game . " Alright , I'm the ship . " Rayhan said . " Hey , why ?! " Raihana complained . " I'm the hat . " Chris added . " Thimble ! " I said grabbing it . Mar Mari chuckled . " I'm sure a piece won't make a difference . 11 " The ship holds luck . Watch , Ray will win . " Raihana complained . " I will , but only because I have my lucky charm here . " Rayhan replied , looking up at me . " Check them out Ma Chéri . " Chris snickered , kissing her lips . I smiled at the man that had given me true happiness , the man who had become my all , the man that my life was tied to . I was in a dark place until he found me and showed me that I could hope for so much more ... He was my life , my world , my destined Alpha . " I love you , Kitten . " He whispered , kissing me softly . " 1 " I love you more . " He smirked , knowing that was one we could argue on forever . " Your turn , Del ! " Raihana brought me out of my reverie , and I turned , grabbing the dice . Yes , this was my life , one I would cherish forever , and live it to the fullest until the day I die .