Chapter 1041 Why Does He Spill Delicious Food

Nathalie was born weighing seven pounds and nine ounces, which was heavier than Ridge and Rosemary combined.

And she did not disappoint, becoming the fattest among all the children.

Originally, she was already quite sturdy-looking, and to make matters worse, she ate a lot and her body was getting bigger and bigger.

This was making Aimee and Patrick extremely worried.

In theory, there was no obesity gene in the Hayden family, so how did Nathalie end up being so overweight?

It was really cute for a child to grow fat, especially the small arms, which were so fleshy and adorable.

However, it was okay to look like this when she was just a child. If she kept looking like this, then there will be big problems.

Originally, when buying delicious and fun things for children, everyone would bring all the children along.

Later on, everyone only bought toys for Nathalie and never bought her anything delicious to eat.

However, this did not prevent her from eating all the delicious food.

With so many brothers and sisters, she can sponge food from them wherever she went.

Ridge was the most speechless.

During the late stages of Aimee's pregnancy, he was truly sincere in his hope that Nathalie wouldn't end up like Rosemary.

However, he didn't expect Nathalie to be such a chubby little girl.

Although Nathalie was still relatively quiet and not as active as Rosemary, if she wanted to eat something and people didn't let her eat, she will become overbearing, even more than Rosemary.

In addition, Rosemary was a brainless fanatic who loved her sister so much, and will give whatever Nathalie wanted.

When the two little overlords got together, all of their other siblings had to be obedient.

Aimee's education policy was originally very useful.

But it didn't have any effect at all.

Patrick was also completely helpless. He wanted a baby girl so much but he didn't know who she resembled.

Fortunately, Nathalie was only bossy when it came to eating. For other things, she was quite casual.

As long as she was fed with enough food, she will have no temper at all, allowing other people to rub her face and pinch her face however they wanted.

In this way, when Nathalie was four years old, she was doing well in the kindergarten, but Patrick received a call from the kindergarten, saying that she had beaten someone whose head was bleeding.

This was simply unbelievable to Patrick.

Before letting Nathalie go to the kindergarten, he made it very clear to the principal and teachers of the kindergarten that Nathalie must be fed well, so that she will be very good in the kindergarten.

For such a long time, Nathalie had never lost her temper.

Now she beat someone, and Patrick couldn't figure it out.

Aimee was on the operating table and had no idea what was happening.

Patrick rushed over and, after asking for the reason, was even more speechless.

Originally, Nathalie had a crush on a boy from the Apple Class. As someone who loved to eat, she was even willing to give her own food to him.

However, the boy didn't appreciate it at all and even mocked Nathalie for being overweight.

Although Nathalie knew she was overweight, she didn't see it as a problem. The most important thing to her was that she can share her favorite foods with that boy.

Unexpectedly, that boy directly knocked her favorite food on the ground, which made Nathalie angry.

It was okay to say that she was fat, and it was also okay not to like her or play with her.

But what went wrong with the delicious food?

Why did he have to spill delicious food?

Chapter 1042 Did You Buy It for Her?

After picking Nathalie up from kindergarten, Patrick noticed that she was sulking the whole way home. She had never been so upset before and for her, having her food hurt was more painful than anything else.

Patrick was still in shock and didn't know whether to be surprised that Nathalie had a crush on a boy or that she could be so aggressive.

They all said that Rosemary can be scary when she was angry, but even she wouldn't get into fights outside. The problem was the little boy Nathalie fought with was very strong and he ended up getting hurt badly.

Fortunately, his parents were reasonable and after they paid compensation, they didn't pursue any further action against Nathalie. Of course, no one dared to hold Hayden family responsible either.

However, this did not mean Patrick could accept Nathalie fighting with people. What puzzled him even more was how could his daughter have a crush on someone already?

Back at the Hayden Mansion, Patrick sat on the sofa while Nathalie sat across from him. She hadn't heard him ask her anything along the way home and asked if he was mad at her.

He ignored her because he didn't think what she did was right but also knew it wasn't entirely her fault either.

Patrick said, "Nathalie, you're growing up now and have some secrets."

"I don't have any secrets," replied Nathalie confidently. "I tell everything to Mommy, you, brother and sister."

"Then when did you start liking this boy? Why don't I know?" asked Patrick curiously.

"Today," said Nathalie firmly before frowning again as if something bothered her deeply. "But I don't like him anymore because he's bad."

Thinking of all the delicious food that got wasted made Nathalie feel even worse about what happened earlier today. She pouted and said, "I gave him my favorite cake without eating any myself but he threw it all on the ground!"

The more Nathalie talked about it, the sadder she became until tears started streaming down her face. Patrick felt sorry for his daughter who looked so heartbroken.

He asked, "So you're feeling worse because your cake is gone?"

Nathalie nodded pitifully then looked up at Patrick asking hopefully, "Daddy, could I have two cakes please? My heart hurts so much. I need something sweet to make me feel better."

Patrick really didn't know what else he can say or do at the moment.

He could see that Nathalie didn't like that boy much. At most, she just thought he was good-looking.

However, if he messed with her cake, that was really going too far.

Patrick said, "Go wash your face clean. I will take you to buy the cakes."

Nathalie immediately jumped off the sofa and ran to Patrick for a kiss.

Snot and tears smeared Patrick's face, and Nathalie said with a smile, "Daddy, you're the best. I love you the most."

Patrick was speechless.

Her love was just too heavy, and he really can't bear some of it.

Getting up to wash his face, Patrick took Nathalie to buy cakes, of course, also to pick up Aimee from work.

As soon as Aimee got in the car, she saw two cake boxes beside Nathalie's legs and looked at Patrick in surprise, "Did you buy them for her?"

Chapter 1043 Became Very Difficult to Talk with

Patrick and Aimee had started implementing Nathalie's weight loss plan. She was really overweight, twice the weight of other children her age. Although her health results were still good, it was hard to say what will happen if she continued to be so overweight in the future.

However, Patrick bought Nathalie two cakes without Aimee noticing. "Nathalie had a bad day today," Patrick said. "This is a comfort for her."

After getting into the car with Aimee, Nathalie put both cakes in her lap. She knew that her dad always listened to her mom and if she didn't allow Nathalie to eat them, even if they were bought by dad himself, she wouldn't be able to eat them.

Seeing how protective Nathalie was of the cakes made Aimee even more curious. "What happened? Who bullied her?"

Patrick didn't know how to answer this question at first because no one bullied Nathalie; it was actually quite the opposite.

He explained everything to Aimee and tried his best to make her understand his feelings about it all.

Aimee was completely shocked by this news because she had been observing Rosemary recently and thought that Rosemary would be the first child with a crush on someone – not Ridge since he already had eyes for Mia.

But now she realized that it was actually Nathalie who had fallen for someone first – something that seemed impossible in Aimee's mind since she thought of Nathalie as just a little girl who loved food and couldn't possibly like anyone yet.

This realization left Aimee stunned as she turned towards Nathalie and asked, "Nathalie, can you tell me why you like that boy?"

"He looks handsome," replied Nathalie nonchalantly.

Aimee looked at Patrick skeptically asking, "Is he really that handsome?"

All of their surrounding children were beautiful dolls whether they were boys or girls so Aimee found it hard understand why Nathalie would think another child was attractive too?

How pretty did this boy have to be?

Of course, Aimee didn't think it was impossible for there to be children who were more beautiful than the ones around them. She just believed that if everyone around them was that beautiful, then they wouldn't be too surprised.

Patrick said, "He's definitely not bad looking, but personally, I think Ridge is more handsome."

Aimee and Patrick always had the same taste in aesthetics. Hearing him say this probably gave her an idea of what kind of boy he was talking about.

However, it seemed like she was really wrong.

Their little daughter loved nothing more than eating and handsome boys.

What she would grow up to look like could already be seen at a glance.

Back at home, Aimee tried to negotiate with Nathalie about only having one cake. However, Nathalie was being difficult today and wasn't easy to reason with. She wanted both cakes and wanted to eat them immediately.

Chapter 1044 How Did She Suddenly Lose Weight?

Patrick touched Aimee's head and said, "Let her be. If she likes it, let her eat." They had been very careful about Nathalie's health over the years, especially since she had gained weight.

Aimee sighed and said, "You spoil her too much. I mean, I'm watching out for her health but what about when she grows up? Don't you want her to get married someday?"

Patrick didn't know how to answer that question. He knew how superficial people could be at first glance and that boys nowadays were even worse.

Today's incident made him realize this even more. Even a four-year-old child judged others by their appearance and words could hurt more than adults'.

Nathalie may not feel it now but as she grew older and understood more things, she will feel the malice from outside even clearer.

Aimee continued, "Of course I want my daughter to be happy but we can't protect her forever. What if she falls in love with someone who doesn't like the way she looks?"

This incident was a wake-up call for both of them. They couldn't accompany their children forever; they would have to face the world themselves one day.

Aimee only wanted one thing: for Nathalie not to suffer any injustice or heartbreaks in life.

Patrick hugged Aimee tightly and promised he wouldn't spoil Nathalie anymore after today.

Aimee was right. They could protect Nathalie, but eventually she would have to face the world on her own. So, in order for her to have a smoother future, they needed to do something now.

"If you can't bring yourself to be tough," Aimee said, "let me do it. I can handle it."

Patrick added, "I'll back you up. Can't let you take all the blame."

Nathalie had no idea that her happy times were about to end as she happily ate the cakes.

If Nathalie knew this would be the last time she could indulge in cakes like this, she wouldn't have eaten so much.

In reality, Aimee and Patrick didn't force Nathalie into losing weight drastically. They did it slowly and subtly without her noticing.

Nathalie still ate what she liked but didn't realize that each day the portions were getting smaller and smaller until after a year had passed and Nathalie had lost some weight compared to before.

When Eden noticed how much thinner Nathalie was than before, he couldn't believe his eyes!

He asked if Aimee and Patrick took Nathalie for plastic surgery because how else could someone lose weight so fast?

Chapter 1045 Escort Nathalie

As time went by, Nathalie also noticed something – she seemed to have lost a lot of weight. Especially after starting elementary school, she grew taller and became more slender.

Of course, it wasn't until third grade that Nathalie finally discovered the mystery behind the food she ate. The food Ridge and Rosemary ate looked the same as hers, but the ingredients were different. For example, all of Nathalie's food had zero calories and zero fat in their seasonings.

Nathalie only then realized how much her parents worked hard for their figures. Fortunately, Nathalie has now grown into a tall and slim girl with long straight legs without any excess fat. Although not like Rosemary or Perla's cartoonish legs, they are still very firm with great lines.

Especially now that Nathalie was the tallest girl among all her peers and still growing at an alarming rate.

Miles had been eyeing on Nathalie for a while now; such good material shouldn't be wasted outside of show business! However, every time Miles mentioned this to Patrick, he would just reply, "Let your future daughter do this." Miles was speechless; with him and Matilda in showbiz protecting her, there should be no problem!

Patrick wanted his daughter to go into showbiz too but unfortunately she was a math fanatic who didn't care about anything else except solving math problems! What can he do? Tear up his daughter's workbook?

Fortunately Patrick finally relented and let Miles ask for Nathalie's opinion herself – if she wanted to go, then he won't stop her.

Nathalie knew what Uncle Miles and Aunt Matilda did before but was never interested in anything other than eating before growing up. Now that she realized how precious her figure was though, it made Mile's proposal even more tempting!

Miles didn't immediately offer her work though; instead he arranged an advertisement shoot where Nathalie could get some idea of what this industry did alongside one of their new leading men from the company.

After shooting an advertisement, Nathalie became very interested in the industry. When her ad aired, it immediately made her a rising star in the industry. Many directors were interested in Nathalie and some even went out of their way to offer her roles once they found out she was from the Hayden family.

If Nathalie were to appear in their film, it would mean having the entire Hayden family as a backing force. Miles signed Nathalie and gave her complete autonomy after providing her with a perfect career plan.

She had control over choosing scripts and assembling teams. With some professional advice aside, Nathalie could be considered one of the most influential artists in the entertainment industry despite being young.

Nathalie was blessed with great insight into this aspect of life. Some scripts were clearly tailored for her character to be flawless; however, she knew why these types of scripts were sent to her.

Therefore, when selecting scripts, she would not choose those that highlighted herself but instead chose those where other characters played important roles but still resulted in an excellent production overall.

After she selected a script for herself, Matilda also picked an unimportant role as support for Nathalie's journey.

Chapter 1046 She Should Have Been Standing in the Center of the Camera

When Nathalie was twelve years old, she starred in her first TV drama, playing a cute and innocent princess in a historical palace intrigue. However, her character eventually became the sacrificial lamb of the power struggle.

Thanks to this role, Nathalie quickly became a national sweetheart. At thirteen years old, she won both the Best Newcomer Award and Best Supporting Actress Award for her performance.

Since then, Nathalie had received countless offers and invitations. However, jealous individuals had tried to sabotage her career by spreading rumors or buying negative press coverage about her.

Despite these challenges, Nathalie's family background was so powerful that no one can truly harm her within the entertainment industry. Those who tried to mess with her often ended up being exposed for their own wrongdoings instead.

In fact, there were even rumors that Nathalie was secretly working on behalf of higher powers to clean up the entertainment industry from within.

During the past few years when Nathalie was just a newcomer, some envious artists who overreached their abilities to provoke her could have hidden well, but after they got under Nathalie's skin, they either became prisoners or reprovved by the public.

Those individuals taking drugs and doing things that should not be done were glamorous stars in front of cameras, but behind, they were criminals who deliberately broke the law.

There were a lot of people who were sent to the prison every month and they could even hold a gala there.

While some people hated or envied Nathalie because of this reputation, others admired and respected her for it.

This also led to later, regardless of whether it was because of Nathalie's backlash, anyway, once a celebrity was stripped of his true colors, everyone would automatically think that it was Nathalie who did it.

However, all this attention also made it difficult for Nathalie to live a normal life without constant security measures in place. There had been times when she was targeted by dangerous individuals or even faced assassination attempts.

Fortunately, Nathalie was fine. Otherwise, Patrick would really have to settle accounts with Miles.

Despite these risks though, Nathalie remained committed to her career and had never considered retiring from the entertainment industry altogether.

She truly loved the entertainment industry, so when Patrick expressed his desire for her to leave the spotlight, Nathalie firmly refused. What could he do? She was his daughter and he had to spoil her.

Luckily, as time went on, it became clear that it was impossible to bring Nathalie down. So even if they couldn't be friends, it was wise to maintain a cordial façade.

Nathalie's fan base grew more sincere by the day. She loved standing in front of the camera and portraying various roles – she grew up under its spotlight after all. It was only natural for her to be at center stage.

As time passed, Nathalie reached high school age and her academic achievements were nothing short of remarkable – everyone around the world took notice. As expected, she excelled in both academic studies and professional courses with top honors and gained admission into theatre academy. Her score also made her Innisrial's top scorer that year in humanities.

Chapter 1047 Don't Let Them Speak Outside

When Nathalie was in college, she pushed aside all of her other commitments for the first three years and focused solely on studying. This completely surprised everyone.

To many, Nathalie was a naturally gifted actress who didn't need to go to school to perfect her craft. Her acting skills were already impeccable.

So when Nathalie told everyone that she wanted to focus on studying, it caused quite a stir in the entertainment industry.

Many directors who had refrained from approaching Nathalie during her preparation for college entrance exams regretted their decision. If they had only waited three more years, they would have risked everything just to get Nathalie into one of their films.

However, Nathalie told them that if they didn't want her to spend several more years as a graduate student, then they should let her focus on school. Otherwise, she couldn't guarantee what she might do next.

Her fans were originally planning how they could persuade Nathalie not just study and forget about acting altogether. But after hearing what she said, no one dared try any tricks with her anymore. They could only tell her in their own way that no matter how long it took, they would always be waiting for her.

Nathalie was moved by this sentiment but also cherished herself too much because although things went smoothly along the way, there were still some tough times which only she knew about better than anyone else did.

People said that because she was a Hayden family's child with strong resources behind them like Miles and Matilda protecting them. Even if someone acted like a pig while filming or doing anything else related to show business, they would still become famous overnight.

Even so many people criticized and accused Nathalie of using body doubles for difficult scenes while showing off beauty shots herself without putting effort into delivering lines properly.

But every time these kinds of comments surfaced online or elsewhere, Nathalie's flawless acting skills proved otherwise as well as praise from directors who worked with Nathalie before praising how quick-witted and intelligent an actress Nathalie was.

If something wasn't right during filming such as using body doubles instead of Nathalie herself or not delivering lines properly, everyone watching could easily spot these issues without being deaf or blind!

So, Nathalie repeatedly proved with her own strength that she was born to do this and not only did she do well, but also do it perfect. She never explained the rumors about her personal life because it was meaningless to her.

Of course, Nathalie would never reveal her injuries even if she had a high fever of 39 degrees. Once on set, she entered battle mode and became fully immersed in character. Even when injured and with dislocated ankle bones, Nathalie completed fight scenes without complaining.

Only Nathalie's assistants and bodyguards knew about these things as they were required to keep quiet by threat of punishment from Nathalie herself. As filming took place outside more often later on, Patrick and Aimee were often unaware of what happened until after the fact when Nathalie had already recovered.

Patrick would get angry at Miles for his daughter's condition as he felt heartbroken seeing his once perfect daughter become like this now.

Chapter 1048 She Wasn't Destined to Be a Star

After Nathalie entered her freshman year, she really kept a low profile and studied quietly at school.

At first, many classmates were curious about her in school.

After all, a girl with such a strong background was someone everyone wanted to know what set her apart from others.

As a result, Nathalie was no different from any other girl her age. She loved all things pretty and cute, and enjoyed eating delicious food. However, because she was overweight as a child, she valued her current perfect figure greatly. She allowed herself to indulge in her favorite foods only once a week so that not only can she regulate her emotions but also avoid any unnecessary pressure.

As for other things, Nathalie's biggest difference from everyone else may be that she was becoming less and less interested in looking at handsome guys, but instead she was increasingly fond of looking at beautiful women.

Just as Aimee thought, everyone around her was exceptionally good-looking. Only with such god-like looks can Nathalie feel that someone was truly handsome and stood out from the crowd.

However, when Nathalie saw a beautiful woman, she can't walk anymore.

When she was at home, her favorite thing was to tease the little daughter of McCoy family. She was only ten years old now, and Nathalie can't help teasing her at all. The little girl was quite shy and blushed when she was praised for her beauty. Nathalie liked her so much.

Eden had no way to deal with Nathalie again. He used to bully Nathalie all the time, but now it can only be said that what goes around comes around and karma will catch up with him.

There were four girls in Nathalie's dormitory. During orientation, one of them had a conflict with the others and moved out after it ended.

The remaining three were Nathalie, Veronica Huff, and Niamh Leah.

Their dormitory also quickly became famous throughout the school after the orientation, known as the famous beauty dormitory.

Nathalie was like an emperor every day, with Veronica as her beloved on the left and Niamh as her beloved on the right. Both were her darlings.

In fact, in the school, many people can't understand why the three of them can be like conjoined twins all the time. They had to be together wherever they went. Even when they went to the bathroom, they had to be together. Of course, if conditions permitted, it was not like they hadn't done this before.

Soon, there were many rumors, all saying that Niamh and Veronica were Nathalie's lackeys, hoping to be brought into the entertainment industry by her in the future.

Of course, there were also those who said Nathalie was completely clueless. These two girls had such obvious motives, and yet she couldn't see it. She was just being used like a fool.

But Nathalie didn't care about those voices. She knew what she was doing.

What were Veronica and Niamh really thinking? How could she not see it?

The one with the twisted mind was their former roommate who had already moved out.

Nathalie couldn't be bothered with all the messy drama that ensued. As for Veronica and Niamh, they didn't even want to enter the entertainment industry.

Niamh had been forced by her mother to attend the theatre academy because when her mother was young, she dreamed of becoming a big star but never made it herself. So now all her hopes were pinned on Niamh's success.

Niamh hated all the skills she'd been forced to learn since childhood and just wanted to quietly get through four years of college before making her mother realize that fame wasn't in the cards for her.

Chapter 1049 Attracting Attention Before Even Enrolling

Veronica's goal was even more straightforward. She was there to chase after her favorite idol. It all started when she watched a talent show during her senior year of high school, and the idol she liked happened to be from this school. At that time, Veronica didn't have any goals or aspirations for college because, as far as she was concerned, it didn't matter which university she attended since her family had money.

However, watching the talent show sparked something in Veronica's mind and made her decide to pursue theater academy.

In Veronica's own words: "As an alumna or underclassman of his school, I might get a chance to meet him in person. Otherwise, what else can I do? As a fan, I can't just be one of those rich fans who spend millions just to have dinner with him! That would be disrespectful to my idol!"

Nathalie and Niamh were almost driven crazy by Veronica's obsession with chasing after his idol. But it was truly inspiring that someone could pursue their dreams so passionately.

The most important thing was that this made other students who failed the audition aware that she might become targets of jealousy and sabotage from others who were also chasing after their idols.

Veronica said, "This only shows that they're not cut out for this industry yet; life is fair sometimes – better for them to realize it early on rather than waste four years studying something they don't enjoy only to find out later."

Although Nathalie and Niamh didn't know who got pushed aside by Veronica's ambition, both agreed with what she said.

Niamh exclaimed, "If only I had heard these words earlier! Then maybe I would've intentionally failed my exams."

Veronica looked at Niamh speechlessly before saying, "Believe me when you say if you fail your exams this year, your mom will make you repeat next year."

Niamh felt helpless but understood the meaning behind "life is tough".

After finishing their meal at the cafeteria discussing whether or not they should buy drinks on their way out, Nathalie tugged on Veronica's arm while saying, "Look over there – your little idol!"

Veronica followed Nathalie's gaze then screamed excitedly upon seeing her beloved star finally appearing before her eyes after almost an entire semester without any sightings!

She jumped up and down excitedly around Nathalie and Niamh twice while screaming uncontrollably about how happy she was now that he had finally appeared before her!

Nathalie couldn't help but feel confused about how even though Veronica was spinning around like crazy; somehow still managed never take her eyes off of him!

Nathalie grabbed Veronica's arm and said, "Calm down. Now, can you make a decision? Do you want to go up and ask for his What's App?"

"I'm too scared!" Veronica instantly chickened out.

She really was too scared.

Normally she talked big, but when it came down to it, Veronica was the most timid one.

Nathalie said, "Then let's just take a picture together."

Veronica looked at Nathalie speechlessly as if saying, “Do I look like someone with that kind of courage?”

Nathalie was extremely frustrated.

Without hesitation, Nathalie pulled Niamh and Veronica along and walked quickly towards her idol.

Her idol was feeding fish with his professional teacher. The sunset light shone on him making him look especially holy.

Nathalie pulled Niamh and Veronica over and called out, “Hello Mr. Boyer.”

Raul Boyer turned around upon hearing the sound of her voice and looked at Nathalie and her roommates.

Although he hadn’t started teaching them yet now in their sophomore year, he had been their teacher for their major course. He wasn’t unfamiliar with these three freshmen who were famous throughout the school either. Especially Nathalie who had already attracted attention before even enrolling in school.

Now seeing her standing there so beautifully in front of him, Raul said, “We were just talking about your freshman class. Come on over here. Let me introduce you to your senior, Billy Pugh.”

Chapter 1050 Billy, You Will Definitely Keep Shining Forever

Nathalie smiled at Billy and obediently said, “Hi, Billy.”

Veronica and Niamh also chimed in unison, “Hi, Billy.”

Veronica’s voice was trembling and her gaze was fixed on Billy, just like a fan meeting their idol.

Billy became famous overnight from a talent show, and now he can understand such attention.

He smiled gently and said, “Hello.”

Nathalie secretly pushed Veronica hard, trying to get her to greet him herself.

However, Veronica was now exerting all her strength to control herself, not letting herself cry or lose composure.

Her idol, shining with golden light, stood right in front of her.

Veronica thought that she can still go back to the cafeteria and eat more.

Oh, her idol was really appetizing.

Nathalie pinched her for a long time, but Veronica didn’t respond, so she had to say to him herself, “Billy, we are your fans. Can we take a group photo together? Don’t worry. We will definitely not post it on Instagram or Twitter.”

Billy nodded and said, “Okay,” as he prepared to be amused by Nathalie’s strictness.

Nathalie said, “Thank you. Let’s take individual photos one by one and later we can take a group photo with Mr. Boyer too.”

Raul had long been used to this kind of thing. Hearing this, he deliberately said, "You still want to take me with you? Then I have to make myself look good."

As he spoke, Raul ran his hand through his hair, making the already meticulously combed hair even more perfect.

The atmosphere was harmonious and joyful.

If Veronica could be a little more natural, that would be great.

She didn't even dare to stand close to Billy, keeping a distance of at least two people between them. Her smile was also particularly stiff.

Both Nathalie and Niamh were speechless about this.

Even Billy was very speechless and said directly, "If you don't want to take a photo with me, there's no need to force yourself like this."

Veronica immediately said, "Yes! Of course I want to! I really want to!"

Billy chuckled and shifted himself towards Veronica.

This action almost made Veronica faint with happiness.

Her emotions became even more excited at this moment.

When Veronica got excited, there were two particularly obvious manifestations. One was a special stiffness. At this time, no one should talk to her. If she opened her mouth, it will be the second manifestation.

A chatterbox.

Veronica didn't even dare to look at Billy, but kept muttering, "Billy, I've been in love with you for almost two years. I've seen you at first glance since you participated in the draft. I really like you so much. Every event, as long as I have time, I will be there. I came to theater academy for you. I just want to see you with my own eyes. Now my dream has come true. My life is complete. I can die with no regrets."

Billy was struck dumb and said, "Life is still beautiful even if we don't get everything we want."

Veronica couldn't stop talking, "Billy, I really really like you. I love it when you sing, dance or act. Whatever you do, I love it because it's you. You're the best and I know you'll always be successful. I'll support you forever."

Billy's expression softened as he replied, "Thank you. I will keep working hard."

For the past two years of his life, Billy felt like he was suddenly thrown into an unknown world where many things came crashing into his life.

He met many fans who showed him their sincerest and kindest hearts by loving him and supporting him.

Billy cherished these fans deeply and believed that they were all in this journey together.
