

Healing 271

chapter 271

At dawn, Aimee and Patrick hugged each other, keeping each other warm.

In fact, it was more that Aimee who was keeping Patrick warm.

Even with Aimee's coat on his body, Patrick's face was still pale with cold at this moment.

The temperature on the mountain was very strange. It was not like an ordinary one with simple drop in temperature.

After staying on this mountain for a long time, they can feel that this mountain seemed to be shrouded in a cloud of mist, making the temperature much lower than the original.

If not, Patrick wouldn't be frozen like this.

Aimee hugged Patrick tightly. Seeing that his lips were bloodless, she was anxious and distressed.

Finally, when the sky was bright, the mountain was still surrounded by fog, and the visibility was not as good as at night.

Aimee tightened Patrick's clothes, stroked his back, and said, "Darling, the visibility is too poor now, and it's not convenient for us to go down the mountain now. Just wait a little longer."

Even if Patrick was strong enough, he couldn't do what he wanted at the moment.

He leaned against Aimee, trying not to look even more miserable.

He didn't want to worry Aimee either.

Finally, by the time the sun was fully up, visibility returned and so did the temperature.

Aimee took a good look at the mountain road, which was more difficult than she thought.

She was really depressed to the extreme. Lorenzo was really a bastard.

She should have known it. How could the village head, who was merciless to his own daughter, not be ruthless to them?

He didn't poison them, which probably was his mercy to them.

Aimee held Patrick's hand and said, "Darling, let's go forward. Let's go and see."

"Let's go," Patrick put his arms around Aimee's waist, and said, "It maybe hard for you to help me."

Patrick really felt a little uncomfortable, light-headed, and a little dizzy just standing.

Last night's show off caused Patrick trouble at this moment.

If he had known it earlier, he would not have been stubborn, but now he was holding back.

Aimee held Patrick's waist and said, "Darling, don't worry. I'll take care of you."

Patrick laughed, feeling helpless.

Finally, the two walked down the mountain from the middle of it, but found that they were walking around, not knowing why. After walking for a long time, they found that they had returned to the original place without making any progress at all.

But Patrick's physical condition was getting worse now.

Both of them had run out of food and were now relying on their will power to keep from falling.

There was no way. Aimee can only stop temporarily, and prepare to re-plan how they could go down the mountain.

If both of them were in good physical strength now, Aimee will choose to go up the mountain directly and climb down from here.

However, not to mention that Patrick's physical condition did not allow it now, even she was already a little tired.

If they just jumped down rashly, the consequences would be disastrous.

Aimee said angrily, "The village head deliberately wants us to die on the mountain."

Patrick heard this, raised his hand and touched her head, "Aimee, there is actually another way."

"What?" Aimee asked.

She had a premonition and was sure that what Patrick would say next might make her unhappy.

Sure enough, Aimee heard Patrick say, "Aimee, you can go down the mountain first, and then come up to save me."

If both of them had been on the mountain, in the end, maybe both of them will be trapped here.

However, if Aimee went down the mountain first, the result might be different.

Aimee turned cold when she heard this, and said, "Darling, there is no way I will be separated from you."

Aimee did understand what was on Patrick's mind.

He wanted to minimize the damage to the two of them, but the price of doing so was that she had to leave first, and then leave Patrick here. No one knew what would happen then.

Aimee would never agree to Patrick's suggestion no matter what.

She looked at Patrick and said, "Darling, don't want to drive me away. You are not allowed to make such a suggestion again. Otherwise, I will really be angry."

Patrick felt a little helpless, but very warm at the same time.

Being able to be so cared by Aimee, it was hard for Patrick not to be moved.

He held Aimee's hand, put it on his lips and kissed it, "Aimee, I'm very happy you care about me so much."

Aimee snorted softly and said, "So, darling, don't make me unhappy. Otherwise, I will beat you up."

Listening to Aimee's angry threat, Patrick didn't feel it childish. On the contrary, he found it even more cute.

After all, he couldn't resist the instinctive temptation, held the back of Aimee's head, and kissed her.

At this time, the lips of the two of them were very dry, and with the makeup on their faces, when their lips touched, the feeling wasn't good.

However, this could not stop the enthusiasm of the two of them.

At this moment, they just wanted to express their feelings to each other in the hottest way.

Until noon, the temperature completely returned, and Patrick's condition also recovered a lot.

Aimee took out a button-like item from her backpack, turned her head, looked at Patrick, and said, "Darling, let's make a bet. This thing is a signal device. If I drop it, it will automatically locate to our place, so we can wait for help."

Patrick looked at Aimee in surprise that she had such a device.

Aimee said with some embarrassment, "Originally, if we were in another place, I could just throw this thing down and wait for someone to rescue us, but in this position, I'm not sure if it will work."

In fact, at the beginning, Aimee didn't want to use this.

Firstly, it was because she didn't know whether this would be effective, and secondly, she didn't want more people to come to Veggia, which was not a good thing.

However, in this situation, if this method was not used, the two of them will be trapped here.

As for whether this thing will work, Aimee actually had no idea.

In other places, this will certainly be useful.

However, Veggia was too mysterious. Now they found themselves lost and can't get out at all.

Aimee was not sure if the signal will be received after throwing it out.

However, until now, Aimee can only gamble.

Patrick said, "I believe in you."

In fact, Patrick had already made arrangements here, but it was made before they came here.

He told Trace to follow them secretly, and when the time was right, he could come and rescue them.

However, Patrick didn't tell Aimee about it.

As Aimee thought, Veggia was too elusive.

Patrick was not sure now when will Trace and the others arrive.

If he told Aimee to have expectations, it would not be a good thing for the current situation.

So, Patrick didn't say anything.

The two of them were so worried about each other, and they also cared each other in their own way.

Aimee threw the annunciator in her hand down the mountain. Whether she could succeed or not was up to the device.

At this moment, Aimee suddenly felt it a little funny.

She can only pray in her heart that everything can develop according to her plan.

After throwing the annunciator down, Aimee leaned on Patrick's shoulder and said, "Darling, do we look like two puppies now, waiting for the owner to come and take us home?"

Patrick laughed that she was in the mood to tell jokes to amuse him.

He said, "Then what kind of puppy are you?"

Aimee tilted her head and thought for a while, then said, "Samoyed, looks pretty."

Just like the one in their family, Flabby was silly, but looked pretty.

Especially now that the injury has healed, he looked even more beautiful.

Aimee said, "Darling, I miss Flabby."

And grandpa.

She didn't know if the old man was very worried about them.

And Casey, she was already worried about how she was now and whether the wound was recovering well, even with Kelvin around.

If it was said that her medical skills were very good, then Kelvin's were not inferior to hers.

More precisely, Kelvin's were comparable to hers.

As long as Casey was obedient and took good care of herself according to Kelvin's request, there won't be any problems with her wound.

Patrick put his arms around Aimee, tilted his head and kissed her hair.

"Soon, we'll be home," he said.

Aimee smiled. Then, she raised her head, frowned, and said, "Darling, I haven't washed my hair for several days, and you kissed it. I don't know how are you feeling now."

Patrick laughed at her distasteful words.

He squeezed Aimee's face gently, and said, "Why are you so bad? Deliberately make me feel uncomfortable, don't you?"

“No,” Aimee said with an innocent face, “I feel sorry for you.”

“If you feel sorry for me, promise me one thing.” Patrick said.

Aimee immediately moved back instinctively, and looked at Patrick defensively, always feeling that he had some malicious intentions.

She narrowed her eyes and said, “Darling, don’t have any improper thoughts. Otherwise, I’m not sure if I will beat you.”

Why was she so violent today?

She always said she would beat him up.

“Whom are you going to marry if you beat me up?” Patrick asked, as he squeezed Aimee’s waist with his big hand.

When Aimee heard this, a malicious smile appeared in her face.

She tilted her head, intentionally put on a pensive look, and said, “There are thousands of men in the world, and one of them belongs to me.”

However, as soon as she said so, she obviously entered Patrick’s minefield.

Patrick pulled Aimee into his arms directly, and took a bite on her mouth.

Aimee was in pain and exclaimed. Then her eyes turned watery.

How could this man be so bad?

She muttered dissatisfiedly, “Darling, you have bitten all my makeup.”

Patrick didn’t think of this, and looked at Aimee dumbfoundedly. When he saw the piece of fake skin on her mouth that he had bitten off, he was inexplicably at a loss.

Aimee could only give Patrick a coquettish look, and then took off the fake skin on her face.

Her original face was revealed. With her current messy and dirty hair and clothes, he really couldn’t bear to look directly at her.

However, Patrick didn’t embarrass Aimee. He leaned up to Aimee and asked her to take off the fake skin on his face too.

Now, the two of them were just the same, and no one should want to dislike the other.

Aimee couldn’t hold back seeing Patrick, and laughed out loud, “Darling, you look so handsome.”

Patrick smiled helplessly, but his eyes gradually darkened.

One advantage of taking off the fake skin was that he was free to kiss Aimee.

While Aimee was still laughing at him, Patrick no longer restrained himself, reached out, hooked him into his arms, and kissed her hard.

Sure enough, after removing that layer of fake skin, such a direct touch was the most affectionate.

Aimee didn't push Patrick away until the pain came from her mouth.

No need to look, she knew that her mouth must be swollen very wonderfully.

chapter 272

Until noon, the temperature completely returned, and Patrick's condition also recovered a lot.

Aimee took out a button-like item from her backpack, turned her head, looked at Patrick, and said, "Darling, let's make a bet. This thing is a signal device. If I drop it, it will automatically locate to our place, so we can wait for help."

Patrick looked at Aimee in surprise that she had such a device.

Aimee said with some embarrassment, "Originally, if we were in another place, I could just throw this thing down and wait for someone to rescue us, but in this position, I'm not sure if it will work."

In fact, at the beginning, Aimee didn't want to use this.

Firstly, it was because she didn't know whether this would be effective, and secondly, she didn't want more people to come to Veggia, which was not a good thing.

However, in this situation, if this method was not used, the two of them will be trapped here.

As for whether this thing will work, Aimee actually had no idea.

In other places, this will certainly be useful.

However, Veggia was too mysterious. Now they found themselves lost and can't get out at all.

Aimee was not sure if the signal will be received after throwing it out.

However, until now, Aimee can only gamble.

Patrick said, "I believe in you."

In fact, Patrick had already made arrangements here, but it was made before they came here.

He told Trace to follow them secretly, and when the time was right, he could come and rescue them.

However, Patrick didn't tell Aimee about it.

As Aimee thought, Veggia was too elusive.

Patrick was not sure now when will Trace and the others arrive.

If he told Aimee to have expectations, it would not be a good thing for the current situation.

So, Patrick didn't say anything.

The two of them were so worried about each other, and they also cared each other in their own way.

Aimee threw the annunciator in her hand down the mountain. Whether she could succeed or not was up to the device.

At this moment, Aimee suddenly felt it a little funny.

She can only pray in her heart that everything can develop according to her plan.

After throwing the annunciator down, Aimee leaned on Patrick's shoulder and said, "Darling, do we look like two puppies now, waiting for the owner to come and take us home?"

Patrick laughed that she was in the mood to tell jokes to amuse him.

He said, "Then what kind of puppy are you?"

Aimee tilted her head and thought for a while, then said, "Samoyed, looks pretty."

Just like the one in their family, Flabby was silly, but looked pretty.

Especially now that the injury has healed, he looked even more beautiful.

Aimee said, "Darling, I miss Flabby."

And grandpa.

She didn't know if the old man was very worried about them.

And Casey, she was already worried about how she was now and whether the wound was recovering well, even with Kelvin around.

If it was said that her medical skills were very good, then Kelvin's were not inferior to hers.

More precisely, Kelvin's were comparable to hers.

As long as Casey was obedient and took good care of herself according to Kelvin's request, there won't be any problems with her wound.

Patrick put his arms around Aimee, tilted his head and kissed her hair.

"Soon, we'll be home," he said.

Aimee smiled. Then, she raised her head, frowned, and said, "Darling, I haven't washed my hair for several days, and you kissed it. I don't know how are you feeling now."

Patrick laughed at her distasteful words.

He squeezed Aimee's face gently, and said, "Why are you so bad? Deliberately make me feel uncomfortable, don't you?"

"No," Aimee said with an innocent face, "I feel sorry for you."

"If you feel sorry for me, promise me one thing." Patrick said.

Aimee immediately moved back instinctively, and looked at Patrick defensively, always feeling that he had some malicious intentions.

She narrowed her eyes and said, "Darling, don't have any improper thoughts. Otherwise, I'm not sure if I will beat you."

Why was she so violent today?

She always said she would beat him up.

“Whom are you going to marry if you beat me up?” Patrick asked, as he squeezed Aimee’s waist with his big hand.

When Aimee heard this, a malicious smile appeared in her face.

She tilted her head, intentionally put on a pensive look, and said, “There are thousands of men in the world, and one of them belongs to me.”

However, as soon as she said so, she obviously entered Patrick’s minefield.

Patrick pulled Aimee into his arms directly, and took a bite on her mouth.

Aimee was in pain and exclaimed. Then her eyes turned watery.

How could this man be so bad?

She muttered dissatisfiedly, “Darling, you have bitten all my makeup.”

Patrick didn’t think of this, and looked at Aimee dumbfoundedly. When he saw the piece of fake skin on her mouth that he had bitten off, he was inexplicably at a loss.

Aimee could only give Patrick a coquettish look, and then took off the fake skin on her face.

Her original face was revealed. With her current messy and dirty hair and clothes, he really couldn’t bear to look directly at her.

However, Patrick didn’t embarrass Aimee. He leaned up to Aimee and asked her to take off the fake skin on his face too.

Now, the two of them were just the same, and no one should want to dislike the other.

Aimee couldn’t hold back seeing Patrick, and laughed out loud, “Darling, you look so handsome.”

Patrick smiled helplessly, but his eyes gradually darkened.

One advantage of taking off the fake skin was that he was free to kiss Aimee.

While Aimee was still laughing at him, Patrick no longer restrained himself, reached out, hooked him into his arms, and kissed her hard.

Sure enough, after removing that layer of fake skin, such a direct touch was the most affectionate.

Aimee didn’t push Patrick away until the pain came from her mouth.

No need to look, she knew that her mouth must be swollen very wonderfully.

chapter 273

Innisrial.

Ash was still battling the man who had hacked his system, when suddenly his phone received an alarm.

Ash's body froze suddenly, and he quickly picked up the phone, only to find that it was a system prompt. And a huge SOS was being displayed on the screen of the phone.

He quickly tapped on the interface, and saw a location.

Almost immediately, Ash picked up another cell phone and dialed, "Get a private jet ready immediately."

Similarly, Kelvin, who was in the hospital for a new round of postoperative treatment for Casey, also received this message.

His expression froze, and he was very disturbed.

Aimee activated this signal, which meant the situation was very bad.

Kelvin looked at Casey and said, "I'm leaving now. As for when I'll be back, it's not certain. Take care of yourself, okay?"

Casey looked at Kelvin's face, which was very bad.

She swallowed anxiously and asked, "Are you going to find Patrick and Aimee?"

Kelvin was helpless that she would suddenly become so smart and sharp at this time.

He said, "Don't tell anyone about this matter for the time being."

Casey looked at Kelvin, saw his seriousness, and became nervous.

Kelvin didn't have time to continue talking to her, so he turned around and prepared to leave.

Casey grabbed his sleeve and said, "Brother, you will all come back safely, right?"

Kelvin couldn't help but be startled when he heard this.

In fact, Kelvin wasn't sure the answer to that question at all.

If Aimee was not in danger, she will not activate it at all.

Now, since they had received this signal, it meant that her current situation was very bad.

It was really hard to say clearly what they will face this time.

He couldn't even give Casey an affirmative answer.

Casey said, "Brother, I will be very good. I won't tell anyone, and I won't make trouble anymore. I will recover well and wait for you to come back."

Kelvin turned around and looked down at Casey.

Casey sniffed, raised her face, and said seriously, "So, you must come back safely."

Although Kelvin didn't say anything, Casey could feel that what he might have to face was an extremely dangerous situation.

Casey didn't know why but wanted to say such words to Kelvin.

She just suddenly felt that she wanted to wait until he came back safely.

Kelvin's eyes darkened. He looked at Casey's face. After all, he didn't suppress his impulse, stretched out his long arms, and took Casey into his arms.

He was so strong that when Casey was in his arms, her body hurt a little.

However, the warmth of being held in his arms made Casey feel very incredible.

She never knew that a man's arms actually felt like this.

Casey raised her arms, put her arms around Kelvin's waist, buried her face in his chest, and said, "I'll wait for you to come back."

Kelvin lowered his head and kissed the strands of her hair lightly where Casey couldn't notice.

In fact, he was very forbearing and restrained.

Kelvin said, "Wait for me."

After he came back, then, there were some things that he didn't intend to suppress anymore.

Now that he had figured it out, he didn't want to hide anything.

Kelvin let go of Casey, turned around and left the ward without looking at her again.

Casey sniffed, still feeling a little depressed about it.

However, recalling the hug just now, Casey's face couldn't help but blushed again.

She felt that she liked this hug very much.

She wanted just one more hug.

Casey went back to the bed, pulled the quilt over herself, and hugged herself tightly.

She suddenly found that her heart was beating uncontrollably, as if something was about to jump out of her chest.

This kind of feeling was very fresh and wonderful for her.

Most importantly, Casey actually felt that it was very sweet.

She sat up from the bed suddenly. As if she understood something, her face was hot.

She seemed to like this dangerous man.

Airport.

Kelvin, Matilda, Ash and Averi arrived at the airport.

Averi glared at the other three, with a face that was originally cold, but now it was even colder to the extreme.

“You three, you are really great, great! Such an important thing, you have kept it from me until now!”
Averi was so angry that she was speechless.

If it weren't urgent for saving lives now, she would want to punch them.

Ash was instinctively afraid of Averi, so he was so cowardly that he hid behind Kelvin, not daring to say a word.

Kelvin said, “When we come back, you can punch us as you want. Let's set off first, okay?”

Averi glared at him and still didn't calm down, but she could only suppress the anger and get on the plane first.

Matilda walked to Kelvin's side and asked, “Why didn't you tell her before?”

“Aimee won't let me. What should I say?” Kelvin was also helpless.

Matilda said, “I'm not her opponent. When the time comes, help me.”

Kelvin touched between his brows, also in distress.

To say that they were usually led by Aimee and listened to her in everything, this was because of Aimee's outstanding ability, so that each of them was very convinced, and it was an instinct to listen to her.

Well, for Averi, everyone of them had been fixed by her and had to surrender to her.

Because, if they really annoyed Averi, she wouldn't think of their friendship at all, and would directly beat them until she felt not that angry.

The most important thing was that Averi, who may not be the most capable fighter, must have the strongest endurance.

Whoever she wanted to beat, even if she can't beat, she can forcefully wear people down until they had no strength, and then fight back.

They didn't know whom Averi learned this from.

Anyway, they were helpless when facing Averi.

Ash finally got on the plane, already on the verge of tears.

He was excellent in other aspects, that was, he was relatively good at fighting to the outside world.

However, among them, he can be said to be the weakest.

If being beaten by Averi, he'll probably be in bed for a month.

He only hoped that when they found his teacher, he could let Aimee protect him.

After the plane took off, Kelvin finally had to plan the key points.

He said, “We don't know the situation of Aimee in Veggia now. Now let's study the plan.”

Although Averi was angry with them, she knew what was the most important thing now.

Therefore, she listened intently to Kelvin's arrangement.

"Ash, you're still in charge of tracking the signal. Judging from the previous situation, Aimee and Patrick must have no signal. This means that even if we reach Veggia, we may not be able to contact them."

"Well, I'll go with you, with Averi and Ash behind us," Matilda said.

Averi said, "No, I will go up with Kelvin. Matilda, you and Ash will guard."

Matilda weighed the difference in strength between herself and Averi, but there was really no way to refute it for a while.

She was a little depressed, but she could only nod her head and said, "Okay then, I'll stay."

Averi felt a little helpless, so she explained, "You're filming now. If you get injured, it's not only your business, so it's better to support us in the rear with Ash."

Matilda felt relieved when she heard the words.

Although she and Averi had worked together for a long time and were responsible for different things, when they got together, they were still very harmonious.

In the past, some people doubted whether the two of them would fight every time they met.

However, such a thing never happened.

The so-called beautiful women always cherished other beautiful women, and the two of them had always liked each other very much.

Of course, this had to exclude the current situation.

Averi was taking Matilda's situation into consideration, but, because they didn't tell Averi that Aimee went to Veggia, Averi was now very angry and will beat them up at any time.

Matilda was a little timid. Although she can fight, she really can't beat Averi.

Therefore, Matilda was very cooperative with whatever suggestion Averi made.

"In this case, then, Matilda, you must always pay attention, and don't come here unless it is absolutely necessary." Kelvin said.

Matilda's temperament was actually somewhat impulsive.

Although there was never ambiguity about right and wrong, there will also be situations where she can't control herself because she was too worried.

Plus Ash was very cowardly in front of Matilda, it was hard to guarantee that he would listen to Matilda, and the two came to support on impulse.

This was not a good thing.

Matilda understood what Kelvin meant, nodded at him, and said, "Don't worry, I'm not the impulsive one I used to be."

Kelvin looked at her helplessly, but because she said so, he became even more uneasy.

He can only hope that their operation this time will be smooth and there will be no accidents.

Otherwise, he really didn't know how to explain it to Aimee.

chapter 274

Airport.

Kelvin, Matilda, Ash and Averi arrived at the airport.

Averi glared at the other three, with a face that was originally cold, but now it was even colder to the extreme.

"You three, you are really great, great! Such an important thing, you have kept it from me until now!" Averi was so angry that she was speechless.

If it weren't urgent for saving lives now, she would want to punch them.

Ash was instinctively afraid of Averi, so he was so cowardly that he hid behind Kelvin, not daring to say a word.

Kelvin said, "When we come back, you can punch us as you want. Let's set off first, okay?"

Averi glared at him and still didn't calm down, but she could only suppress the anger and get on the plane first.

Matilda walked to Kelvin's side and asked, "Why didn't you tell her before?"

"Aimee won't let me. What should I say?" Kelvin was also helpless.

Matilda said, "I'm not her opponent. When the time comes, help me."

Kelvin touched between his brows, also in distress.

To say that they were usually led by Aimee and listened to her in everything, this was because of Aimee's outstanding ability, so that each of them was very convinced, and it was an instinct to listen to her.

Well, for Averi, everyone of them had been fixed by her and had to surrender to her.

Because, if they really annoyed Averi, she wouldn't think of their friendship at all, and would directly beat them until she felt not that angry.

The most important thing was that Averi, who may not be the most capable fighter, must have the strongest endurance.

Whoever she wanted to beat, even if she can't beat, she can forcefully wear people down until they had no strength, and then fight back.

They didn't know whom Averi learned this from.

Anyway, they were helpless when facing Averi.

Ash finally got on the plane, already on the verge of tears.

He was excellent in other aspects, that was, he was relatively good at fighting to the outside world.

However, among them, he can be said to be the weakest.

If being beaten by Averi, he'll probably be in bed for a month.

He only hoped that when they found his teacher, he could let Aimee protect him.

After the plane took off, Kelvin finally had to plan the key points.

He said, "We don't know the situation of Aimee in Veggia now. Now let's study the plan."

Although Averi was angry with them, she knew what was the most important thing now.

Therefore, she listened intently to Kelvin's arrangement.

"Ash, you're still in charge of tracking the signal. Judging from the previous situation, Aimee and Patrick must have no signal. This means that even if we reach Veggia, we may not be able to contact them."

"Well, I'll go with you, with Averi and Ash behind us," Matilda said.

Averi said, "No, I will go up with Kelvin. Matilda, you and Ash will guard."

Matilda weighed the difference in strength between herself and Averi, but there was really no way to refute it for a while.

She was a little depressed, but she could only nod her head and said, "Okay then, I'll stay."

Averi felt a little helpless, so she explained, "You're filming now. If you get injured, it's not only your business, so it's better to support us in the rear with Ash."

Matilda felt relieved when she heard the words.

Although she and Averi had worked together for a long time and were responsible for different things, when they got together, they were still very harmonious.

In the past, some people doubted whether the two of them would fight every time they met.

However, such a thing never happened.

The so-called beautiful women always cherished other beautiful women, and the two of them had always liked each other very much.

Of course, this had to exclude the current situation.

Averi was taking Matilda's situation into consideration, but, because they didn't tell Averi that Aimee went to Veggia, Averi was now very angry and will beat them up at any time.

Matilda was a little timid. Although she can fight, she really can't beat Averi.

Therefore, Matilda was very cooperative with whatever suggestion Averi made.

“In this case, then, Matilda, you must always pay attention, and don’t come here unless it is absolutely necessary.” Kelvin said.

Matilda’s temperament was actually somewhat impulsive.

Although there was never ambiguity about right and wrong, there will also be situations where she can’t control herself because she was too worried.

Plus Ash was very cowardly in front of Matilda, it was hard to guarantee that he would listen to Matilda, and the two came to support on impulse.

This was not a good thing.

Matilda understood what Kelvin meant, nodded at him, and said, “Don’t worry, I’m not the impulsive one I used to be.”

Kelvin looked at her helplessly, but because she said so, he became even more uneasy.

He can only hope that their operation this time will be smooth and there will be no accidents.

Otherwise, he really didn’t know how to explain it to Aimee.

chapter 275

After everyone reached the foot of Veggia, Ash checked the signal and said, “This is it. The signal from Aimee is right up here.”

“Ash, are you sure?” Matilda looked at the mountain in front of her incredulously, and said doubtfully.

No matter how they looked at such an almost vertical mountain, it didn’t look like they can go up.

However, after thinking about it carefully, if this was where Veggia was, there was nothing that cannot be understood.

No one would have thought that Veggia would be in such a place.

Veggia was mysterious because outsiders didn’t know how it existed?

Ash said, “From the signal point of view, there is nothing wrong with this. However, the signal is very weak now, and I can hardly track it here.”

“Don’t worry about that much. Let’s go up first.” Averi said.

She was all ready to go and couldn’t wait for a moment.

Now they didn’t know what was going on with Aimee. Averi was really worried when they got up, what they would see maybe unacceptable.

In that case, she would really lose control of herself and fight with Kelvin directly.

“You two, no matter what, take care of your own safety first,” Matilda said.

The first principle of saving was not to put themselves in danger.

This was the rule Aimee set for them.

Averi nodded and said, "Don't worry. You can rest assured about our abilities."

Kelvin explained a few more words to Ash, and together with Averi, they approached the mountain.

Aimee and Patrick also took this way to go up.

However, their climbing skills were obviously inferior to those of Aimee and Patrick.

Matilda and Ash watched from below, both unable to stop worrying.

Especially Ash, who had already moved to Matilda's side, whispered, "Matilda, why don't we just take the plane over there?"

Matilda glared at him and said, "Are you brainless? Just fly over in this environment? Are you waiting for doom?"

Sometimes, Matilda really felt that the plane was the most useless thing in the world.

If they can directly use the plane to save them, why was it so complicated now?

Ash touched his nose, and was also fooled by himself.

However, this opened up a new way of thinking for him. He wanted to study how to make the plane fly up to this kind of mountain steadily.

After all this, he had to study it with his teacher to see if there were possibilities.

Aimee didn't know that her apprentice actually set up another project for her.

She and Patrick had been stuck on the mountainside for a day and a night.

They can survive without food, except that it will be more uncomfortable when they were hungry. After that time, they had nothing to do.

The point was, the two of them didn't even have water now.

Aimee looked at Patrick distressedly. His lips were chapped and peeled, without any blood color.

It can be said that, except for the period when he was lying in bed, this was the most embarrassing period Aimee saw Patrick.

Aimee was really distressed.

In fact, she had an impulse to go back the same way, return to Veggia, and fight the village head to the death.

This hateful old thing treated them with such a bad method. He was shameless to the extreme.

However, Aimee was also very clear that if they really did this, they will put themselves in a more dangerous situation.

She was also very sure that the village head just wanted them to come and beg him.

Aimee just didn't want to do what he wanted.

She held Patrick's face, brushed her fingertips on his lips, and said softly, "Darling, let's wait a little longer. If it really doesn't work, we'll jump off."

After Patrick heard this, he laughed lowly, pinched Aimee's cheek, and said, "Do you want to fly with me?"

If they jumped off such a cliff, they will be disabled even if they didn't die.

He himself was not afraid, but he couldn't bear to have Aimee get hurt.

He was also reluctant to separate from Aimee.

If they were really separated from each other, what kind of blow will it be to him? Even if he died, he will not feel at ease.

Patrick said, "Aimee, I'm fine. I can still live on."

It was dark again now.

Soon, a new low temperature will usher in.

Last night, they still had the energy left in their bodies to support themselves. Tonight, they might not be so lucky.

Aimee hugged Patrick, and now she understood they can't make bricks without straw.

The two of them were capable, but in this barren place, there was no room for them to display their talents at all.

Aimee can only hope that Kelvin and the others will be more reliable, show up quickly, and won't make them wait too long.

She even felt murderous at this moment.

If anything happened to Patrick here, she will definitely make a comeback and destroy Veggia.

Similarly, Patrick was also secretly praying that Trace would be more reliable and the people with him would arrive sooner.

How could the two of them have imagined that they would fall into such a situation, that they would have to rely on such unreliable things and hope to get out of the predicament?

chapter 276

Averi and Kelvin had been climbing up the cliff for two hours, but they still hadn't seen the location where the signal showed.

Kelvin's expression became more and more solemn, and he could feel that Averi's physical strength was slowly depleting.

"How about you take a rest here. I'll go up and have a look first." Kelvin said.

Averi was indeed a little physically weak, but she couldn't accept Kelvin's proposal.

She said, "It's better for the two of us not to act separately now. Otherwise, if any of us is in danger after we separate, wouldn't it be even more troublesome?"

Kelvin nodded in agreement, and said, "Then let's rest for five minutes. You can relax, and we will continue to go up later."

Averi responded, and looked up at the cliff. In the dark night, she couldn't see the edge even more.

The most important thing was that the current temperature was dropping continuously. Although the two of them brought heavy clothes, they couldn't put them on at all.

When climbing up this cliff, if they wore too bloated clothes, they really didn't know what will happen to them.

Averi didn't even know how Aimee got up there.

She almost started to worship her.

Five minutes later, Kelvin pulled Averi up.

Facts had proved that if they kept climbing up, they can raise their body temperature and can keep out the cold.

Just stagnating here for five minutes, both of them began to tremble a little.

This also made the two of them more worried what Aimee and Patrick's current situation was.

Because they were trapped on the mountain, they could already imagine what the current situation would be like with the current temperature.

It had to say that Kelvin and Averi really thought very accurately.

Aimee and Patrick's current situation was really bad.

Especially Patrick, now he had reached a dizzy and semi-unconscious state.

When the sky was about to light up again, Aimee heard some voices, and her pupils lit up suddenly. Judging from the voices, they should be her people.

Aimee patted Patrick's shoulder and whispered softly in his ear, "Darling, wake up. We got people here to save us."

Patrick opened his eyes in a daze, but he was really exhausted at the moment, and he didn't have any strength in his body.

Finally, when he barely supported himself, he saw two figures climbing up from the bottom of the mountain.

Aimee instantly felt relaxed.

Finally, their people came here.

Kelvin and Averi didn't look very well at the moment, and they were almost exhausted.

However, being able to see Aimee and Patrick finally made the expressions of the two of them loosen a little.

Averi rushed towards Aimee. Her eyes were a little wet and red.

“Why? Why don’t you tell me?!” Averi hit Aimee on the shoulder gently. It can be said that she threw all the remaining strength on Aimee’s body.

Aimee felt a little hurt from being hit by her, and was very helpless. She could only say, “Averi, don’t be like this. Let’s talk about it after we go back. I’ll let you beat me as you want.”

For them now, the most important thing was to leave here quickly.

If Averi wasted all her strength here, it would be of no benefit to them at all.

Kelvin came over to support Patrick, and said, “We brought supplies. You two should eat a little first, and then we’ll go down the mountain after you regain your strength.”

As he spoke, he had already taken out various things from his backpack.

Before going down, Kelvin had already anticipated all the possibilities that would happen, so the things he brought were almost everything he could bring.

Aimee immediately began to prescribe the right medicine and feed Patrick.

After Patrick took a pill, he recovered a lot and his strength returned.

He nodded towards Kelvin, and was very grateful to him for coming to rescue them.

The four of them rested and adjusted themselves first, and did not go down the mountain immediately.

Kelvin carefully analyzed the terrain with Aimee and Patrick.

As Aimee and Patrick predicted before, there was no way for them to go down the mountain directly.

Therefore, the way to leave here was to continue to look for an exit.

Aimee and Patrick talked about the paths they had explored before.

The four of them fell into silence, and they knew very well that it might not be easy to leave here.

Fortunately, with the supplies brought by Kelvin and Averi, their bodily functions had all recovered, and there will be no more adverse effects.

Aimee thought for a moment, then said, “We should go up. The real exit must not be here.”

As far as the mystery of Veggia was concerned, if the exit can be easily found, then it will not contribute to the mystery of Veggia.

Well, this also meant that there must be another path, which was the correct exit from here.

Before, Aimee and Patrick chose to stay in place, waiting for rescue, that was, because they were not sure whether their previous judgment was correct. Perhaps, the only way out was to go straight down from the cliff.

Now, Kelvin and Averi had the answer to that question for them.

They came up from below and confirmed that this was a road that can only go up but not down.

Therefore, this also verified another point, that was, they had to go up to find the correct exit.

After figuring this out, the four of them didn't delay and were ready to set off.

Kelvin said, "Matilda and Ash are still down there, and now we can't contact them. Should we leave a mark for them, so that they come up impulsively and can find us?"

Aimee heard the words, thought for a while, and said, "No, let's hurry up and meet them as soon as possible, and don't let them come up."

Kelvin nodded and said, "Then let's go."

Aimee remembered the way out of Veggia before.

She led everyone up the same path, trying to find the exit they missed.

Finally, about two-thirds of the way up, Aimee noticed something was wrong.

She noticed a place like a cave entrance, and stopped in her tracks.

chapter 277

"Darling, do you think it's strange there?" Aimee stopped, tugged at Patrick's sleeve, and pointed in the direction of the cave.

Everyone looked over, and sure enough, they found that the cave, which seemed to have no problems. It was not like other caves. It was so dark that nothing could be seen, but it looked very strange, with a faint light.

It was precisely because of this light that everyone was more certain that there was a problem in this cave.

There was also a strong presentiment that this cave was the exit.

Patrick held Aimee's hand, showing approval.

How outstanding his girl was! She discovered this place so keenly, and they were finally able to leave here.

Aimee was about to stride towards the cave when Patrick grabbed her wrist.

He said, "I go first."

It was still unknown what they will encounter ahead. Since this may be the key passage for Veggia's people to enter and exit the village, it also meant that there may be danger.

Patrick couldn't put Aimee in danger.

He wanted to take the lead and protect his girl.

Aimee felt warm and sweet instantly.

She smiled at Patrick, but at the moment, she became very obedient.

“Okay, daring, you protect us.” Aimee said.

Kelvin and Averi glanced at each other, both feeling like they had been forced to see them displaying their affection.

It was the first time for Averi to see how Aimee and Patrick were getting along, and somehow felt envious.

She couldn't help sliding to Kelvin's side, and asked in a low voice, “Aimee shows their affection in this the style?”

Kelvin laughed but said nothing. He could only say that Averi was still too naive.

When Aimee and Patrick really showed their affection, he would rather be blind.

Seeing Kelvin's expression, Averi didn't say anything more.

There were some words that were so unspoken.

However, she was worried at first, not knowing how sincere Patrick was to Aimee.

Now it seemed that Patrick still loved Aimee very much, so she can rest assured.

The four of them walked to the entrance of the cave, and Aimee heard the sound of gurgling water inside, which made her a little more certain that the exit must be here.

Then she finally relaxed. After being trapped here for so many days, they can finally return to their normal lives.

However, the few people did not completely relax their vigilance. After all, they still don't know whether Veggia's people were waiting for them here.

All four of them chose to keep silent. There was no loud noise, nor did they start celebrating immediately. Instead, they were thinking about how to go on the next road.

Patrick took the lead, holding a lamp in one hand and holding Aimee's hand in the other.

He held Aimee's hand tightly and said, “Aimee, you must follow behind me.”

He was really scared that if there was any danger, Aimee would rush in front of him directly.

With Aimee's temperament, she will definitely do this.

Aimee blinked and said, “Okay, daring, I'll.”

She naturally understood what Patrick meant and what he was worried about.

Therefore, she chose to agree obediently. As for whether she will be so obedient at that time, that was another matter.

Aimee's expression had already betrayed her thoughts, which made Patrick very helpless, and there was nothing he could do after all.

He could only sigh, looked at Aimee, and secretly tried his best not to give Aimee a chance to rush in front of him.

Of course, in the best case, they will not encounter unexpected things.

However, the more he worried about something that would happen, the more it would appear.

Ten minutes after they entered the cave, Patrick only felt that he walked unsteadily, as if he had stepped on some mechanism, and then he heard a loud noise.

He immediately stretched out his long arms, blocked Aimee behind him, and watched the surrounding situation vigilantly.

Patrick stood still and didn't leave the spot where he stepped.

It can be sure that his foot may have just stepped on a mechanism.

However, if his foot was moved away, then another mechanism may be triggered.

At that time, the danger they had to face may be even greater.

Finally, after the noise stopped, everyone breathed a sigh of relief.

Looking at the situation in front of them, they were all a little dumbfounded.

Averi couldn't help complaining directly, "It's so fantastic. I feel like I've entered some kind of action movie of last century."

In that kind of action movie, there will always be such plots where protagonists fell into some kind of trap, and triggered some kind of mechanism, so that they can't leave immediately, but instead discovered some magical treasure.

Given the current situation, they would naturally not discover any magical treasures for them.

However, the setting of this mechanism was very similar to what it looked like in an action movie.

After the mechanism was activated, Aimee was sure that there would be no danger for the time being, and walked out from behind Patrick.

She looked at the place where Patrick's foot was stepping on, and her brows furrowed unconsciously.

Speaking of it, it was very strange. According to the normal way of thinking, this kind of mechanism should be a very sophisticated mechanical setting.

However, Aimee faintly smelled some electricity.

It was the kind of smell that the circuit was aging and slightly burnt when it was suddenly turned on after it had not been used for a long time.

However, during the days when she and Patrick were in Veggia, one thing they were very sure of that there was no electricity in Veggia.

Otherwise, they wouldn't be unable to connect to anyone.

Aimee squatted down, leaned closer to the ground and smelled it carefully, and went to make sure that her judgment was correct.

“Darling, we could be wrong. Veggia is a hoax,” she said.

When they heard Aimee’s words, the expressions of the other three immediately changed.

Patrick asked, “Why you say that?”

“Darling, Veggia is not what it appears to be. They should use the most primitive form to disguise something.” Aimee said.

As for what it was disguising to be, Aimee had no way of judging.

She was just more certain that it was not suitable to stay here for a long time.

Aimee took out a dagger from the inside of the backpack. Aiming at the place where Patrick’s foot stepped on, she inserted the dagger in it.

She said, “Darling, now I want to help you remove your foot. I’m not sure if it will work. Would you like to give it a try?”

chapter 278

According to their thinking, after Patrick moved his foot, it will directly cause another mechanism to be triggered. So now, Aimee used a way to fix it, so that she can try to make Patrick move his foot sway.

However, the result of doing so was not necessarily what they thought.

Now that this had been set up, the people who set it naturally could think of what they can think of now.

But, now, they can only take a gamble to see if this line of thinking was correct.

Patrick looked down at Aimee and said, “I believe in you.”

In this world, the person Patrick trusted the most was probably Aimee.

Her life can be handed over to her. Not to mention, she was just trying to move his foot away.

Patrick said, “Aimee, go ahead and do it.”

Aimee nodded, crouched down again, took hold of Patrick’s ankle, and slowly moved his foot away.

She had never been so nervous before.

It can even be said that at this moment, Aimee was actually terrified.

Aimee had never been worried like this before. Maybe, what she had to face was that all of them will die here.

Every movement of her was very careful, and she held her breath, for fear that one movement of hers would affect the result.

Aimee felt that even when Patrick was undergoing surgery, she was not that anxious.

Fortunately, the result was very good to them.

When Aimee moved Patrick's foot away, the mechanism didn't make any changes.

Aimee let out a long sigh of relief, and smiled unconsciously at Patrick, "I'm excellent, right?"

As soon as Aimee said so, Averi was even more dumbfounded.

She suddenly felt that she didn't even know the girl in front of her.

This woman who acted like a spoiled child in front of Patrick couldn't be associated with Aimee she knew.

However, Kelvin gave her a habitual look.

Averi's mouth twitched crazily. She never imagined that Aimee, who was powerful, would turn into such a spoiled little girl in front of the person she loved.

However, now was not the time to express her thoughts to her. The most important thing now was to continue to go out of this place.

After confirming that the mechanism had not been triggered again, the four of them will walk more cautiously on the next journey.

Finally, when they reached the innermost part of the cave, they suddenly discovered that the light ahead became brighter, which meant that the path they were taking was the correct one.

Aimee's eye sockets became moist.

She held Patrick's hand tightly and said, "Darling, we're coming out."

Patrick was also very excited.

He took Aimee's hand, put it to his lips and kissed it lightly, "Aimee, thank you for your hard work."

Aimee shook her head and smiled softly at Patrick.

Averi finally couldn't help but say, "Aimee, let's continue on our way first. Don't delay here."

Now was not the time to celebrate.

The four of them pushed away the branches and leaves at the exit of the cave, and the sight that caught their eyes made them dumbfounded again.

Originally, they thought that after passing through the cave, there was the exit, but who would have thought that what they saw was actually endless water.

Aimee didn't want to complain anymore.

She just wanted to say one word now: sick.

The people of Veggia was all sick!

"This is a hole they dug and filled it with water?" Averi said.

She had the same idea as Aimee. And she just thought that the people in Veggia were out of their minds and didn't do anything serious.

"What shall we do now?" Averi looked at Aimee and asked.

Aimee looked at Patrick and asked, "What do you think?"

Now they can't cross the water without a boat.

Patrick looked directly at Kelvin and said, "What do you think?"

Kelvin felt both angry and funny.

He said, "Do you think I can make a boat for you now?"

"You can't, but someone can," Aimee said.

Almost immediately, they thought of Matilda and Ashton and took out their phones, along with their transmitters, to see if there was a signal.

However, to their disappointment, there was no signal here.

Aimee looked at Kelvin and said, "You should have one."

Kelvin took out the same button-shaped thing as Aimee had from his pocket, and said, "Are you sure we need to use this now?"

In fact, they had already come here, and he thought that they could cross the artificial sea by themselves without waiting for rescue.

Aimee said, "After we can go home, make a few more of this. I don't want to stay here any longer now."

She thought that if she stayed in Veggia any longer, she might become schizophrenic.

Kelvin threw the button in his hand without any hesitation, and waited quietly.

Down the mountain.

Matilda and Ash were anxious. They had been tracking Kelvin and Averi's signals, but at four o'clock in the morning, they lost them.

More than ten hours had passed now. Seeing that it was getting dark again, Matilda really wanted to rush straight up regardless.

Ash stopped Matilda and said, "Matilda, let's wait here. Don't be impulsive."

Although Ash himself wanted to rush up too, before Kelvin and Averi went up, he specifically told the two of them that they must stay here.

Therefore, no matter how worried the two of them were now, they must stick to their positions now.

Matilda walked around Ash, feeling extremely worried and impatient.

Finally, at around seven o'clock, Ash jumped up from the ground and said to Matilda, "Matilda, there is a signal."

Matilda immediately leaned over, and when she saw the content displayed on the machine, her expression froze instantly.

It was the same signal again, and her heart was about to jump out of her throat.

“Are you sure this is the signal just sent?” Matilda asked.

chapter 279

Ash looked at Matilda and said, “Matilda, the position of this signal is opposite to our current position. Let’s go there now.”

Matilda nodded and said, “Let’s go.”

After finally seeing the signal, it was natural not to wait here any longer.

However, when the two arrived at the location where the signal was sent, they were completely dumbfounded.

Matilda said, “Ash, are you sure you’re not playing tricks on me?”

Ash covered his forehead and said, “Matilda, you have to believe me. I didn’t expect that the signal is in the sea.”

“It’s okay. Don’t panic. We’re not afraid of anything.” Matilda calmed herself down and then said, “Go and get a boat.”

Ash instantly understood what Matilda meant, and immediately said, “I’ll go get it ready.”

The boat that can be obtained was naturally not a regular boat, but a kayak.

However, this kayak had been improved. It did not require any physical strength. It can control the direction automatically, and can sail thousands of nautical miles.

Matilda said, “I’ll go to the other side. Waiting for me here.”

“But, Matilda, I’m worried about you being alone,” said Ash.

Matilda said, “Don’t worry. I will come back first when I see something is wrong.”

Ash must stay here, because whether it was Aimee and Patrick, or Kelvin and Averi, it had been proved that there was no signal further inward and upward.

And Ash was the only one they can contact right now.

So, Ash had to stay here.

Ash said, “Keep in touch with me at all times. I will always monitor the strength of your signal. Follow my command.”

Matilda nodded, put on the earphones, and kept in touch with Ash at all times.

After she got into the kayak, she waved to Ash, and said, “I’ll go first.”

Ash was still very worried. However, in the current situation, he must remain calm.

Matilda went inside by a kayak, and the more she moved forward, the more she found that there was fog in front of her, which made her even more tense.

The only thing she can be sure of now was that since it was the signal sent by Aimee and the others, it meant that they were at least safe now. So this made Matilda breathe a sigh of relief.

However, the scene in front of her made her extremely nervous.

She talked to Ash, who stayed where he was, "Ash, you arrange it now and get the plane ready."

If the conditions did not allow it, Matilda would have wanted the plane to fly over directly.

Ash set to work at once, while still directing Matilda's course.

After more than forty minutes, Matilda's signal became weaker and weaker, and she also found that she seemed to have passed through a layer of fog, and the scene in front of her eyes became clearer.

However, what gave Matilda a headache was that there was clearly a mountain in front of her.

This was very similar to the mountain that Kelvin and Averi climbed before, but the difference was that it was surrounded by vines.

However, this also meant that the situation here was much better than that side.

In other words, after climbing up these vines, she will join Aimee and the others.

After figuring it out, Matilda did not delay.

She wrapped the control line of the kayak around her waist and climbed up by the vine.

At the same time, Aimee and the others were also making a simple boat.

If the signal hadn't been sent this time, then they couldn't have been waiting here, but had to find a way to save themselves.

Just as they were making a raft out of sticks, they heard a sudden noise.

Averi jumped over immediately and saw Matilda climbing up.

At this moment, Averi finally couldn't hold back, showing a saved expression.

Matilda also had a relaxed expression, and said, "We have a climbing gym, but you come here to practice climbing. Are you crazy?"

Averi pulled her up and said, "You have to ask Aimee about that."

Aimee had also come over, and happened to hear the two of them complaining.

She didn't know whether to laugh or cry, and said, "It seems that the two of you miss practicing at the climbing gym. Do you want to go back and work out?"

Matilda glared at Aimee and said, "Aimee, do you have a little conscience?"

Aimee said, "What do you think?"

Matilda was so angry that she came over and hooked Aimee's neck, pressing her down hard.

"Let's see if you dare to do things so impulsively in the future, and don't bring us here with you."
Matilda said.

Aimee knew that if she went back this time, she would not be able to escape her reproach.

Matilda and Averi would definitely beat her up.

Aimee thought for a while, and got out from under Matilda's hand. No one saw how she acted clearly, but she just got into Patrick's arms.

She raised her head, looked at Patrick, and said, "You have to protect me."

Patrick held Aimee's waist and said, "Let's go back first."

"That's right," Kelvin agreed, "Leave here first."

They didn't continue to make a fuss, but immediately turned serious, followed the vines one by one, and went to the kayak.

When the kayak reached the center of the sea, the signal was finally restored.

Kelvin immediately contacted Ash and told him that they were all safe.

When they finally met Ash, this trip to Veggia finally came to an end.

They didn't stay but boarded the private jet directly, and went back to Innisrial without stopping.

Matilda originally wanted to give Aimee a break, and let her and Patrick wash and change.

However, Aimee didn't want to stay for a moment, but just wanted to go back to the place she was familiar with as soon as possible.

What was more, she was not sure about Sophie's situation now.

For the special poison she brought back from Lorenzo, in fact, she didn't really want to use it on Sophie.

But if that was the only thing that can save Sophie, Aimee didn't have a second choice.

On the plane, Aimee and Patrick went to take a shower, changed their clothes and came out before smiling at each other.

Aimee said, "You still look good like this."

Patrick also said, "You too, like this, very beautiful."

Aimee wanted to find fault with Patrick for a moment.

However, she really didn't have much strength.

She took Patrick's hand and said, "When we get back, I'll let you have a close inspection."

Although her medical skills were very good, she still needed to rely on equipment.

She needed to make sure they weren't bringing in anything weird from Veggia.

This kind of thing may not be discovered immediately. And it may not be discovered until a long time later.

Therefore, Aimee was going to arrange an inspection for Patrick every month, so as to confirm that Patrick was really healthy.

Patrick nodded and said, "Okay, I will listen to you."

Aimee stretched out her hand, put her arms around Patrick's waist, and said, "Thank you for coming with me."

She felt it really sweet that Patrick was with her on this trip.

In the past, she never thought that there would be such a day, when she was going to take risks, there would be someone by her side to accompany her.

This feeling was really wonderful, and she was submerged in it unconsciously.

Patrick lowered his head and kissed Aimee's forehead, "But I held you back."

Before Kelvin and Averi arrived, his body had already reached its limit. If they hadn't arrived in time, it would be hard for him to imagine how overdrawn his body would be.

Aimee shook her head and said, "Please don't say that."

She stood on tiptoes, moved to Patrick's lips, and kissed him, "You are my supporter. If you weren't by my side, I wouldn't be so persistent."

Patrick knew that Aimee was coaxing himself by saying that.

In fact, without him, she might use some risky methods instead of staying there with him because of his physical condition.

Patrick's eyes darkened. He hugged Aimee's waist tightly, lowered his head, and put his forehead against hers.

His voice was hoarse, full of distress, "Aimee, I'm very happy I came with you."

Aimee hugged Patrick's waist tightly, rubbed her face against his heart, and said, "I love you so much."

After this time, she became more and more sure that she really loved Patrick.

More than she can imagine.

When Patrick heard Aimee's affectionate confession, he couldn't control the throbbing in his heart.

He directly raised his hand, held Aimee's chin, and kissed her hard.

This time, Patrick didn't care about anything, but just wanted to convey all the heat to Aimee .

And Aimee also responded enthusiastically to Patrick.

It seemed that just kissing was not enough. What they wanted to give to each other was more.

Outside, Kelvin cooked meals in the aircraft.

Ash and Matilda were already hungry and couldn't resist the temptation, so they sat down at the edge of the dining table. Ash couldn't wait to get a fork. He reached out and grabbed a piece of meat and put it in his mouth.

Matilda reached out and patted the back of Ash's hand, "Go and ask your teacher and the other to come out."

Averi happened to come over with a dish, and upon hearing this, she said with some doubts, "The two of them have been in the shower for too long."

With her words, the atmosphere instantly became ambiguous.

Naturally, it wouldn't take such a long time to take a shower, so it was hard not to think about what the two of them were doing inside if they hadn't come out for so long.

Ash had already stood up, but when he heard Averi's words, he immediately sat down again and said, "I don't dare."

If he disturbed them, he could imagine how bad consequences he would face.

Therefore, Ash refused to do so.

Averi and Matilda both slapped him on the head. This little bastard! He was not reliable at all when he needed to do something.

Kelvin came over and saw that the three of them had already sat down, but Aimee and Patrick hadn't appeared yet, so he shook his head helplessly.

He didn't know what the three of them were talking about, but the atmosphere alone let him know that these three guys didn't have any good intentions.

So, Kelvin didn't ask, just walked over, knocked on the door, "Aimee, Mr. Hayden, came out for dinner."

Aimee and Patrick came out of the room when they heard the sound.

As they walked to the dining table, everyone's eyes rested on Aimee's lips ambiguously.

Sure enough, as they expected, the two people in the room were really doing more than just taking a shower.

Ash watched it for a while, then immediately concentrated on eating.

If he continued to stare at them like this, he would have a big trouble.

Aimee and Patrick sat down by the table, and when they saw the table full of dishes, they were almost moved to tears.

She said, "The two of us have not had a decent meal for a long time."

Kelvin said, "I know that you two didn't eat Veggia's food. Try it and see if it tastes familiar."

Aimee put a piece of meat in her mouth, and said, "Now, everything I eat really tastes the same."

Kelvin was very angry at her words. If it wasn't for seeing her in such a miserable state, he would have wanted to take away her plate.

Aimee couldn't care less about bickering with Kelvin anymore. She could only care about eating and then serving Patrick with food.

"Darling, eat more." Aimee said.

Patrick touched Aimee's head and said, "I'm not a child, so don't worry about me all the time."

Matilda and Averi glanced at each other, and suddenly they felt a little overwhelmed.

Logically speaking, the dishes Kelvin cooked were very suitable for their appetite.

However, in the current situation, they felt that they didn't need to eat seriously at all.

Right now, only Ash enjoyed the meal.

His desire to survive prevented him from watching the interaction between Aimee and Patrick, but instead focused all his attention on the food.

After he was full, even if he would be beaten, he still had the strength to resist.

After eating, they took a rest on the plane and landed in Innisrial.

It was already four o'clock in the morning, and everyone got off the plane. Instead of going home, they went directly to the mountain to check on Sophie's situation.

Aimee had already told Kelvin about Sophie's background, and everyone was very indignant at what the village head did.

Before getting on the plane, Patrick also contacted Damion and asked him to wait at the top of the mountain.

When they arrived, Damion heard a voice and came out from inside.

His eyes were full of hope, and he looked at Aimee with burning eyes, pinning all his hopes on her.

Aimee felt a little uncomfortable being looked at by him.

She looked over at Patrick, telling him to explain the situation to Damion.

Patrick walked over, patted Damion on the shoulder, and said, "Damion, come with me."

chapter 280

On the plane, Aimee and Patrick went to take a shower, changed their clothes and came out before smiling at each other.

Aimee said, "You still look good like this."

Patrick also said, "You too, like this, very beautiful."

Aimee wanted to find fault with Patrick for a moment.

However, she really didn't have much strength.

She took Patrick's hand and said, "When we get back, I'll let you have a close inspection."

Although her medical skills were very good, she still needed to rely on equipment.

She needed to make sure they weren't bringing in anything weird from Veggia.

This kind of thing may not be discovered immediately. And it may not be discovered until a long time later.

Therefore, Aimee was going to arrange an inspection for Patrick every month, so as to confirm that Patrick was really healthy.

Patrick nodded and said, "Okay, I will listen to you."

Aimee stretched out her hand, put her arms around Patrick's waist, and said, "Thank you for coming with me."

She felt it really sweet that Patrick was with her on this trip.

In the past, she never thought that there would be such a day, when she was going to take risks, there would be someone by her side to accompany her.

This feeling was really wonderful, and she was submerged in it unconsciously.

Patrick lowered his head and kissed Aimee's forehead, "But I held you back."

Before Kelvin and Averi arrived, his body had already reached its limit. If they hadn't arrived in time, it would be hard for him to imagine how overdrawn his body would be.

Aimee shook her head and said, "Please don't say that."

She stood on tiptoes, moved to Patrick's lips, and kissed him, "You are my supporter. If you weren't by my side, I wouldn't be so persistent."

Patrick knew that Aimee was coaxing himself by saying that.

In fact, without him, she might use some risky methods instead of staying there with him because of his physical condition.

Patrick's eyes darkened. He hugged Aimee's waist tightly, lowered his head, and put his forehead against hers.

His voice was hoarse, full of distress, "Aimee, I'm very happy I came with you."

Aimee hugged Patrick's waist tightly, rubbed her face against his heart, and said, "I love you so much."

After this time, she became more and more sure that she really loved Patrick.

More than she can imagine.

When Patrick heard Aimee's affectionate confession, he couldn't control the throbbing in his heart.

He directly raised his hand, held Aimee's chin, and kissed her hard.

This time, Patrick didn't care about anything, but just wanted to convey all the heat to Aimee .

And Aimee also responded enthusiastically to Patrick.

It seemed that just kissing was not enough. What they wanted to give to each other was more.

Outside, Kelvin cooked meals in the aircraft.

Ash and Matilda were already hungry and couldn't resist the temptation, so they sat down at the edge of the dining table. Ash couldn't wait to get a fork. He reached out and grabbed a piece of meat and put it in his mouth.

Matilda reached out and patted the back of Ash's hand, "Go and ask your teacher and the other to come out."

Averi happened to come over with a dish, and upon hearing this, she said with some doubts, "The two of them have been in the shower for too long."

With her words, the atmosphere instantly became ambiguous.

Naturally, it wouldn't take such a long time to take a shower, so it was hard not to think about what the two of them were doing inside if they hadn't come out for so long.

Ash had already stood up, but when he heard Averi's words, he immediately sat down again and said, "I don't dare."

If he disturbed them, he could imagine how bad consequences he would face.

Therefore, Ash refused to do so.

Averi and Matilda both slapped him on the head. This little bastard! He was not reliable at all when he needed to do something.

Kelvin came over and saw that the three of them had already sat down, but Aimee and Patrick hadn't appeared yet, so he shook his head helplessly.

He didn't know what the three of them were talking about, but the atmosphere alone let him know that these three guys didn't have any good intentions.

So, Kelvin didn't ask, just walked over, knocked on the door, "Aimee, Mr. Hayden, came out for dinner."

Aimee and Patrick came out of the room when they heard the sound.

As they walked to the dining table, everyone's eyes rested on Aimee's lips ambiguously.

Sure enough, as they expected, the two people in the room were really doing more than just taking a shower.

Ash watched it for a while, then immediately concentrated on eating.

If he continued to stare at them like this, he would have a big trouble.

Aimee and Patrick sat down by the table, and when they saw the table full of dishes, they were almost moved to tears.

She said, "The two of us have not had a decent meal for a long time."

Kelvin said, "I know that you two didn't eat Veggia's food. Try it and see if it tastes familiar."

Aimee put a piece of meat in her mouth, and said, "Now, everything I eat really tastes the same."

Kelvin was very angry at her words. If it wasn't for seeing her in such a miserable state, he would have wanted to take away her plate.

Aimee couldn't care less about bickering with Kelvin anymore. She could only care about eating and then serving Patrick with food.

"Darling, eat more." Aimee said.

Patrick touched Aimee's head and said, "I'm not a child, so don't worry about me all the time."

Matilda and Averi glanced at each other, and suddenly they felt a little overwhelmed.

Logically speaking, the dishes Kelvin cooked were very suitable for their appetite.

However, in the current situation, they felt that they didn't need to eat seriously at all.

Right now, only Ash enjoyed the meal.

His desire to survive prevented him from watching the interaction between Aimee and Patrick, but instead focused all his attention on the food.

After he was full, even if he would be beaten, he still had the strength to resist.

After eating, they took a rest on the plane and landed in Innisrial.

It was already four o'clock in the morning, and everyone got off the plane. Instead of going home, they went directly to the mountain to check on Sophie's situation.

Aimee had already told Kelvin about Sophie's background, and everyone was very indignant at what the village head did.

Before getting on the plane, Patrick also contacted Damion and asked him to wait at the top of the mountain.

When they arrived, Damion heard a voice and came out from inside.

His eyes were full of hope, and he looked at Aimee with burning eyes, pinning all his hopes on her.

Aimee felt a little uncomfortable being looked at by him.

She looked over at Patrick, telling him to explain the situation to Damion.

Patrick walked over, patted Damion on the shoulder, and said, "Damion, come with me."