

Healing 761

Chapter 761 Can You Admit It?

For a moment, River paused while holding onto the steering wheel of the car. He found his sister's words confusing but he knew he wasn't opposed to them either. However, he decided not to engage in further conversation with Beata about this topic anymore, since she had been acting crazy these past few days already.

He didn't want her getting any wilder ideas, if he were to reveal his thoughts on the matter now. After waiting for some time without receiving an answer from her brother, Beata hesitated before deciding not to say anything else either.

She knew very well what kind of temper her brother had and didn't want him getting angry with her over something trivial like this.

As long as River didn't interfere with their friendship or prevent them from hanging out together, everything will be fine.

*

Casey slept all day until afternoon when Kelvin came into the room and sat down beside the bed. He reached out and patted Casey's head, saying, "Grandpa wants us home for dinner tonight. Get up and get ready. We'll leave soon."

Still groggy from sleep, Casey asked curiously, "Did Grandpa mention anything important?"

She felt lazy today and wasn't sure if she wanted to go back home yet.

Kelvin replied, "Nope."

Casey pouted and obediently got up from the bed, but wrapped her arms around Kelvin's neck and said, "Can you carry me to wash my face?"

"Sure." Kelvin smirked and lifted Casey up.

He walked towards the bathroom and placed Casey beside the basin.

Casey swung her legs as Kelvin used a towel to wipe her face clean. She felt much better now.

Suddenly, she remembered something that happened at Averi's house and asked curiously, "Kelvin, do you think Averi is dating River?"

"Why do you say that?" Kelvin replied with helplessness in his voice.

"You have to trust a woman's intuition. I just feel like there's something weird between them," Casey explained.

Kelvin put the towel back down and said, "From what I can see, it seems like you don't want them together."

Casey continued swinging her legs as she spoke. "River seems like a dangerous guy. Even though I've never met him before, I've heard some not-so-good things about him."

She believed that being with someone like River would be very risky for Averi whom she liked very much.

However, after expressing herself out loud, Casey immediately denied her own thoughts by saying, "But this is just my own opinion. Maybe they are actually perfect for each other."

Kelvin chuckled at Casey's words, then picked her up while saying, "You worry too much! Averi isn't impulsive. If she decides to be with him, then it must be because she has thought it through."

Casey smiled mischievously when hearing this statement, then wrapped an arm around Kelvin's neck while teasingly saying, "You really understand women well."

Kelvin rolled his eyes playfully before tapping Casey's forehead lightly while asking, "Are you trying to stir things up?"

Casey giggled before responding by wrapping both of her arms around his neck again while saying, "No way! How could someone as well-behaved as me cause trouble?"

Although there was indeed a small part of herself that had such thoughts earlier on, could she admit it? Impossible!

Chapter 762 Grandpa Worries About You Too

Hayden Mansion.

Camdyn called everyone back today without any particular reason, except for feeling sad about Mikayla and Ash's bird flying away which they had gifted him earlier on.

He wanted all these kids back, so he wouldn't feel lonely anymore.

After Mikayla and Ash found out about the situation, they wanted to send their pet bird that they were currently taking care of to Camdyn.

However, Camdyn refused and insisted on only wanting his original bird back.

He had developed a real emotional attachment to it after taking care of it for so long.

When Casey and Kelvin returned home, they saw Camdyn sitting on the couch looking sad, pulling at Flabby's fur while sighing heavily.

Casey walked over to him and took his arm gently, saying, "Grandpa, why are you so unhappy? Let me cheer you up."

Camdyn looked at Casey briefly before letting out another deep sigh.

"Where do you think my stupid bird could have gone? It can't eat or sleep well outside and if it runs into something stronger than itself, it'll just get bullied," he said.

Casey couldn't understand why her grandfather was so upset over a bird, but she was also at a loss as to what she could do about it.

She felt worried about her grandfather who seemed like such a child in this moment.

Suddenly feeling overwhelmed with sadness herself, Casey didn't know what to do next. Her usually strong-willed grandfather seemed suddenly frail in her eyes.

Tears started streaming down her face as she let go of Camdyn's arm, saying, "Grandpa, I need to use the bathroom first, then I will come back here with you."

She quickly got up from the couch and ran towards the bathroom, leaving Kelvin behind who followed closely behind her.

Kelvin closed the door behind him once he entered, after seeing how upset Casey was earlier.

He held onto her face, gently asking, "Why are you crying all of sudden? Tell me."

Casey sniffled before wrapping an arm around Kelvin's waist saying, "Kelvin I just feel like grandpa is getting older too fast... but I'm not ready for that yet."

She couldn't shake off this feeling that something bad was going on, but she didn't want to accept it either way.

Kelvin touched Casey's little face and said, "Baby, this is a natural law. Don't be so nervous, okay? With me and Aimee here, if there is anything, we will solve it in time. Don't worry about it yourself and scare yourself, okay?"

Casey was even more aggrieved.

Even though what he said was true, she still felt very uncomfortable.

She didn't feel anything before, but now she suddenly felt it, which made her really hard to accept.

"Baby, don't think so much. Grandpa will worry about you too." Kelvin said.

Chapter 763 Let her follow

Casey and Kelvin came out of the bathroom. Although Casey adjusted her emotions, the expression on her face was pitiful.

Aimee came over, saw the poor little Casey, smiled, and asked, "What's the matter? Are you being bullied?"

When Casey saw Aimee, she felt even more wronged.

She stretched out her arms to hug Aimee, and murmured, "Aimee, I'm so scared. I'm so afraid that grandpa is getting old..."

Aimee was taken aback by Casey's words, and then understood what was wrong with her.

She was dumbfounded, but also very emotional.

Aimee said, "It's human nature. Don't make it difficult for yourself."

Camdyn wasn't young anymore, but it didn't bother Casey that much before.

Now that Casey suddenly realized this, it was only natural that she would be so sad.

Casey sniffed and said, "Aimee, grandpa will never be like this before. I'm so scared. Aimee, grandpa won't one day..."

Casey didn't finish speaking, but tears fell down.

Aimee understood what she meant, and was worried that Camdyn would have some geriatric diseases, and if it was serious, he might not know anyone.

She comforted, "Hey, don't scare yourself. After a few days, I will arrange an inspection for grandpa. If there is any problem, we will solve it properly. If there is no problem, we will avoid it in advance, okay?"

Casey hugged Aimee, nodded, and said, "Aimee, it's good to have you here."

Aimee stroked Casey's back and said softly, "Okay, go and wash your face again. Grandpa will be scared by your appearance."

Hearing this, Casey stuck out her tongue, and obediently went to wash her face again.

Kelvin said helplessly, "I don't know what happened today. She has so many associations."

Aimee said, "The little girl is growing up and has a lot on her mind. You should guide her more."

"No worries. I will," Kelvin replied.

Casey finished washing her face and Kelvin took her to distract her.

Patrick came over, hugged Aimee's shoulder and asked, "What's wrong with Casey?"

"A sensitive little girl who tends to overthink things. It's nothing serious. Don't worry," Aimee said.

She didn't think anything Casey worried about would happen since she had been living with Camdyn for so long that she knew his health condition very well.

If there was anything wrong, she would immediately detect it.

However, Casey reminded Aimee to take this matter seriously, because if something happened later on, it might be too late to pay attention then.

Aimee looked at Patrick and said, "I'll arrange a physical examination for Grandpa the day after tomorrow."

Patrick nodded and said, "I trust you."

Arranging an exam for Camdyn was an easy task except that Casey insisted on coming along which made him look at her unfavorably, but everything else went smoothly.

Since knowing about the exam, Casey had already decided that no matter what happened, she would go with him.

Camdyn initially felt indifferent towards the examination, but once he saw how nervous Casey was, he became anxious as well as if something were really going to happen.

Casey felt wronged because all she wanted was just concern for him, but in the end, it seemed like she did something bad instead.

However, since they were already there together, even if Grandpa tried teasing or scolding her, it wouldn't make any difference, because she refused to leave without him anyway.

Despite Camdyn complaining about having company during his check-up, he secretly enjoyed having someone accompany him.

Chapter 764 Lock the Door Securely Backhand

The results of Camdyn's check-up were good except for some minor issues, which put Casey's mind at ease completely.

Aimee patted her head gently, saying, "Now you can relax."

Casey hugged Aimee's arm tightly, saying, "I've been too nervous lately."

"Well, now grandpa has also gotten a checkup," Aimee replied reassuringly.

Casey said, "Well, I don't think I'm exaggerating too much."

Aimee laughed. "No, you did the right thing."

Casey immediately smiled happily.

Aimee looked at her and said, "How about we schedule a physical exam for you?"

Casey hesitated.

Although it was reasonable to have an annual physical exam, she had no interest in it whatsoever.

Some of the tests would be uncomfortable and just thinking about them made her want to refuse.

"I'll wait a bit longer," Casey said. "It hasn't been a year yet."

Aimee found this amusing. Was Casey criticizing their medical skills? But since Casey didn't want to do it, Aimee didn't force her.

"Okay," Aimee said. "Just remember when the time comes, Kelvin will schedule it for you."

Casey nodded and thought she could delay it for a while longer.

However, what Casey didn't expect was that she actually managed to avoid her physical exam this year. Instead, some other tests came up that were worse than the physical exam itself.

After returning from the exams together with everyone else back at Hayden's old mansion for dinner that evening, Camdyn had someone make fish soup in a clay pot, which was actually one of Casey's favorite dishes.

But as soon as the soup was served on the table, Casey suddenly felt nauseous and jumped up from her chair before running into the bathroom where sounds of retching could be heard coming from inside.

Kelvin rushed over and began patting Casey on the back, while everyone else sat there stunned, before realizing what had happened.

Aimee got up from her seat and went upstairs. While waiting for Casey to finish vomiting, she handed over a small box to her once everything settled down again.

This was something new for Casey.

She'd never vomited like this before nor experienced any discomfort in her stomach growing up, so naturally tears streamed down face as blood rushed through head, during these moments of intense nausea.

Looking at Aimee blankly and holding out this small box with confusion, she was asking, "What is this?"

"It's a pregnancy test," Aimee replied calmly.

"The instructions are on top of box or do you want me to teach you?"

When Casey heard the words "pregnancy test," she was completely stunned.

Her mind couldn't process it, and she just stared at Aimee and the small box in her hand as if it were a hot potato that she wanted to throw away.

Kelvin reached out and touched Casey's head, saying, "I'll go with you. Let's go."

Casey was confused and stunned at the same time.

Did she have no pride?

Without hesitation, Casey turned around with the box in her arms and rushed into the restroom. She even locked the door tightly behind her.

Chapter 765 Don't Make a Scene

Everyone had gathered outside of the restroom.

Casey had locked herself inside, leaving everyone outside feeling anxious.

Patrick hugged Aimee's waist and asked, "Are you sure?"

"It's highly likely," Aimee replied.

"But we won't know for sure until Casey takes the test."

Patrick looked up at Kelvin.

Although Casey and Kelvin had already gotten married long ago, even if their child was already crawling around on all fours by now, Patrick still felt complicated emotions about it all.

Out of all four siblings in their family, he was closest to Casey, because they were closer in age than anyone else.

It seemed like just yesterday that little girl who called him "Patrick" was by his side. Now she'd become a wife and mother herself. Time really flew quickly!

Kelvin didn't notice Patrick's mood at all. His heart was full of concern for what might be happening behind that locked door with his wife inside.

Camdyn followed closely behind them while being supported by Riley.

He shouted towards Casey anxiously from outside, "Don't panic too much! Take your time! We're waiting for you!"

Inside the bathroom, Casey felt like she was going to collapse under pressure.

She wasn't feeling well after throwing up earlier without warning.

And now Aimee gave her this thing which made everything feel so confusing.

To make matters worse, Kelvin insisted on taking this pregnancy test together with her!

How could this be possible?

Sitting on top of toilet seat, Casey carefully studied how to use this thing, but when there was no sensation, it can not be forced either.

As time passed by, Casey became more and more anxious. She couldn't feel anything and was wondering how to test it.

To make matters worse, her beloved grandfather was outside telling her not to be nervous. She wasn't even nervous until her grandfather shouted at her, making her even more anxious.

She had been in the bathroom for half an hour when she finally felt something and decided to take the test.

Then she was shocked by the result right in front of her eyes – she was really pregnant.

Casey stood there stunned in the bathroom for a moment before letting out a scream that scared everyone outside.

"Ahhhhhhh!"

Kelvin almost broke down the door trying to get inside as he heard Casey's scream from outside.

He took one step back as soon as he saw Casey open the door from inside.

Casey looked dazed with red eyes staring straight at Kelvin without blinking for a while before finally opening up both arms and wrapping them around Kelvin's neck.

"Kelvin, we're having a baby! We're going to be parents!" exclaimed Casey excitedly.

She jumped up on Kelvin's body with all four limbs hanging on him tightly after being stunned just now.

Now she was extremely excited about this news!

Her sudden jump startled everyone around them who let out an exclamation of surprise, but luckily, Kelvin held onto Casey firmly so that she wouldn't hurt herself or anyone else nearby with such sudden movements.