

Heaven 211

Chapter 211:

Evelyn and the five cultivators continued exchanging attacks, and Evelyn slowly made sure to tire two of the five. Her violet eyes flickered when she saw one of them grunt in pain after a collision with her spear. 'I win.'

Clang!Clang!

She thrust her spear swiftly twice, hitting their two swords at the same time and destabilizing them after transferring the momentum of the hit through the collision of weapons.

The five cultivators didn't manage to understand what Evelyn did in that instant, only seeing the blur of her silver spear followed by their two companions' swords being repelled with strength. Then, while the other three reacted to that sudden change of tempo from Evelyn, she used her movement technique and flashed beside them extremely fast.

Her fist and leg moved, covered by her [Thunder Light Armor], and they shot toward those two with blinding speed. Her blue armored hand and feet sunk into their stomach as terrible currents invaded their body.

BANG! BANG!

Their bodies bent as terrible pain assaulted their brain from the place where Evelyn hit; it was clear that there was some internal damage. Moreover, Evelyn's punching and kicking strength sent the two level-eight cultivators flying backward, covered in blue electrical currents.

The electric currents were so potent that they were charring their skin wherever they passed and even paralyzed the powerful bodies of these two cultivators. The other three only began moving at this moment. Their faces grimaced as they looked at the strength that Evelyn displayed in that attack, 'She has been playing with us!'

Evelyn saw their faces and smirked. Then, she spun her spear and pierced skyward. As the spear spun, blue electric currents appeared along the whole length of [Solid Thunder], and these currents gathered into one big lightning bolt as Evelyn's motions completed.

When Evelyn pierced upward, a five-meter-wide lightning bolt shot into the sky instantly and fused with the clouds with a rumbling sound. Then, the sky lit up with countless blue lightning currents, like serpents dancing in the sky.

Evelyn grabbed her spear with both hands and swung it downward toward the three approaching cultivators, hitting the ground with such strength that she created a crater. "[Empowered Lightning Rain]!"

The five of them, the two that were sent flying included, felt shivers going up their spine and looked skyward, instinctively using defensive skills.

But these defensive skills wouldn't be able to last as Evelyn's skill literally channeled the storm and empowered it, sending it toward them. In a one-hundred-meter area around Evelyn, lightning fell like rain and assaulted the five of them continuously.

RUMBLE

The strength of each lightning was enormous as it made the floor crack under the feet of the defending cultivators. Evelyn didn't have to stay still as this skill kept them occupied, so she didn't lose the chance and cast a skill that she had improved exponentially.

It was [Thunder Light Spear]. After casting the skill, five three-meter-long blue-white lightning spears appeared above Evelyn. Each spear aimed at one cultivator.

The cultivators had most of their attention on the raining blue lightning bolts, but this didn't mean that they lost track of their opponent. After seeing those five dangerous-looking spears, they began dearly regretting provoking this small but dangerous woman. Evelyn didn't give them any mercy as she waved her hand and commanded, "Go."

The spears shot toward them with sound-breaking speed and a thundering sound; before the five cultivators knew what happened, a spear was piercing each of their chests. Then, Evelyn clenched her hand, and the spears exploded violently in a small lightning sphere that consumed the five of them. Five agonizing screams accompanied the rumbling of the storm for a moment, followed by a short but glaring silence.

As Evelyn stopped the skills, the weather returned to what it was before, filling the world with the natural sound of thunder, lightning, and rain.

Two moves. Evelyn obliterated five cultivators in her level in just two moves.

She looked around, and not seeing any danger, she spoke through the communicator. "My charming, beautiful, lovely dragoness! I miss your heavenly tits already!"

The Wolf Queen was speechless, Sarah spluttered, and Angel and Kali chuckled. Yasenia sighed with a smile and said with a little concern in her voice. "Where are you, dear? I've heard fighting after sending you the message, so I didn't want to interrupt you. Are you injured? Do you need my help? Tell me, and I will run at maximum speed toward you!"

Evelyn smiled gently but said cheekily, "Of course, I want you to come toward me at your fastest speed; I have a very serious injury!"

Poor innocent Yasenia, who had her dear's safety first chomped Evelyn's bait and asked nervously, "What injury, Evelyn? Tell me where you are, and I will go right now!"

Evelyn said with a dramatic tone, "I have Tittymiss, a very serious injury... No, a fatal disease! That can only be healed by drinking your breast milk!"

Everyone was silent for a moment, and Yasenia began lecturing Evelyn with a slightly angry tone, "You, you, you, Evelyn! I was scared that something had happened to you, and you dare joke like that? I swear that if you are nearby, I'm going to spank you until you can't walk straight! Here I am, worrying about you and..."

Evelyn chuckled and listened to her lecture attentively, 'Receiving her lectures is a delight~. A shame she isn't in front of me, or I would be able to see her bouncing peerless tits! What a loss!'

After Evelyn got her fill with Yasenia's lecture, she said, "Yasenia, my most beautiful flower. I will tell you where I am, so can you stop your delightful- Cough! your insightful lecture?"

Yasenia snorted, "Don't you dare think you can pacify me with flattery."

Evelyn said, "Of course not! But I would like to listen to my intelligent dragoness's lecture while I see her face to face so that I can appreciate your divine beauty as I listen to your words of wisdom~."

Yasenia's lips arched, and she said, "As long as you know~."

Evelyn looked around and said, "Jokes aside, I'm climbing a giant mountain surrounded by a lightning storm. The weather around here is cold, and since I can't see into the distance because of the heavy rain, I don't know what surrounds this mountain. I started climbing from a snowy forest, but because of the sheer size of the mountain, what surrounds it from the other sides."

Yasenia jumped toward one of the trees and reached over the canopy. She looked around and didn't see any mountains nearby. She sadly said, "I can't see any mountains or snowy forest nearby... I'm in a verdant forest with a lot of vegetation; the weather is warm here, with little to no clouds above me. Sigh, I think we are too far away from each other, dear."

Evelyn already expected it, so she said with a joking tone. "Don't worry, Yasenia. You don't have to be sad; no matter how big these mountains are, they lose in shape to yours!"

Yasenia looked speechless at the communication device while Angel and Kali burst into laughter. Yasenia laughed a little, "I'm pleased you prefer my breasts over a real mountain, but what about your safety? Should I worry?"

Evelyn smiled gently but still said with a light and cheerful tone, not wanting to make her dragoness worry. "You will have to ask the five charred corpses around me~. To be honest, I'm in my natural habitat in this area. I've been lucky to land here. Moreover... There is a surprise~."

Yasenia jumped down from the canopy, landing beside the other girls, and asked curiously, "What surprise?"

Evelyn said, "I've made a contract with a powerful beast! I'm honestly not worried about danger with it protecting me; they are stronger than me!"

Yasenia was happy, "Congratulations, my love! I will hear about how you managed to get them later."

Evelyn was happy with her praise until she heard, "By the way, dear. How did you make the contract? Is it male or female?"

Although Yasenia's voice was normal, Evelyn had a bad premonition and began sweating a little, "F-Female."

Evelyn was about to speak about the blood contract, but she heard Yasenia's humming through the communication, making her choke with her words. "So she is a female~. Does she has enough bloodline level to mark you? I wouldn't like for you, dear, to carry a wild woman home~."

Evelyn sweated a little more heavily, and even the Wolf Queen had her fur standing, 'Why do I feel fear when the woman's tone is somewhat cheerful?' Even Angel, Kali, and Sarah were slightly trembling at Yasenia's smiling face.

Evelyn explained herself quickly, "D-Don't misunderstand, Yasenia. We've done it through a blood contract, so don't worry. A-Also, I'm the master of the connection."

Evelyn heard Yasenia's usual tone returning again, "Oh, perfect! Take care of her, dear. A beast companion can grow with you and be a life-saving partner. And if that beast companion is listening. Take care of MY dear."

Evelyn sighed in relief, and the wolf queen nodded, "Yes, we will take care of each other."

Evelyn said gently, "You don't have to worry so much, Yasenia."

Yasenia answered, "How could I not worry? No matter how strong you become, I will always worry! But you are indeed strong in that area, so I'm a little reassured. However, do not become confident, my love. And if you need my help, call for it, and I will run over there."

Evelyn's heart felt warm and fuzzy, and she answered with a tender tone. "I will, my love. I hope you have a lot of gains; I will miss you."

Yasenia answered smiling, "I will miss you too. By the way, Angel and Kali are with me, so don't worry about anything and focus on becoming stronger."

Evelyn said, "I was about to ask! But knowing that my little friends are with you, I'm relieved."

Angel said with her silvery voice, "Take care, Evelyn! If you become much stronger... I will let you fondle me as you want for half an hour!"

Evelyn shouted, "Thirty minutes!? Tittyland, here I come!!" All of them laughed.

Meanwhile, Sarah was looking with a strange face. 'How many people does Yasenia have in her harem? Isn't my first target too high level?'

[Host. You should look at Yasenia as the final boss. I think you should begin gaining repertory with her closest people first. Doing it with unrelated people can also work as you can win points for the shop. Maybe you can use the tactic of getting close to other people so that Yasenia realizes that she truly loves you. But first, Host, you should accept the mission.]

Sarah frowned, 'Isn't that a bit scummy? I want to gain her affection genuinely. Moreover, that mission... How much time can I be without accepting it? Also, I don't want to force myself in beginning a relationship with other people.'

[Host. Let's take small steps first. You can accept the mission or let it on hold there as long as you like. But if you accept a mission, fate will bend and give you some advantages. Also, sidequests will appear to help you complete the main quest, in this case, conquering Yasenia. Therefore, accepting a mission of Yasenia's level will bring many benefits to you.]

Sarah said, 'But it will also bring as many dangers... I think I rather take this slowly and not accept it for the moment. Also, if I can let the missions on hold, why should I reject any mission?'

[Orders received. Mission archived. Answering Host. Currently, Host can only archive three missions. This number can be boosted with points.]

Sarah nodded in understanding and was about to continue communicating with the system, but after hearing Yasenia bidding farewell to Evelyn, she decided to pay attention to them. "Goodbye, dear. I'm going to call Darling and Sweetheart. Take care."

Evelyn said, "Take care, girls."

Chapter 212:

Yasenia sent a message to Andrea next. She wanted to know about all her dears and then start her adventure with a calm heart. Her voice became coquettish, making the other three girls feel their ears tingling, "Darling~, Where are you~? I'm in a forest with giant trees!"

Andrea was together with another four people, one of them being the person she met earlier from the illusion sect. They were currently hunting for treasures together under her command because she was the strongest of them. Of the three men and one woman that Andrea had met, they were all from demonic sects and between the eighth and ninth levels.

The reason for them being from demonic sects is that whenever they saw someone from the righteous side, Andrea would have to go in another direction not to kill indiscriminately to keep appearances. Andrea's objective in blending with these people was to gain information about their intentions, in general, know if they had any involvement with Yasenia.

The area around them was a rocky place with small stony hills and very little vegetation. It was also very hot, and some rocks around appeared volcanic in nature. Andrea could guess this because her mastery of blacksmith required knowledge of all kinds of minerals.

Suddenly, from Andrea's communication device, Yasenia's coquettish voice filled the surroundings. The four people's heads whipped toward Andrea, 'Who has this seductive and bone-softening voice?'

All of them looked at Andrea curiously. Andrea felt their gaze but ignored it. She looked around, and after seeing no forests, Andrea said. "We aren't close then, my love. I'm in a rocky and volcanic landscape, and I can't see any vegetation near me."

Yasenia whined, softening the legs of the four demonic cultivators. "Darling too~? Evelyn was also away from me... It seems that we aren't going to see each other for a while. I will miss you, darling."

Andrea's tone softened, and she said, "I will miss you too, my love. Where are Kali, Angel, and Evelyn? I may be near them."

Angel smiled and said, "I'm with Yasenia, and Kali is also around! Thank you for caring, Andrea!"

Andrea laughed and said, "I'm glad you two are with her, Angel, Kali. Take care of Yasenia for the rest of us, okay?"

Kali spoke, "Don't worry, Andrea. I hope we see each other soon."

Then, Yasenia explained the area around Evelyn and asked Andrea to communicate with Evelyn for further details. Andrea didn't speak about what she was doing because she didn't want Yasenia to worry.

Even then, Yasenia asked her if she needed her help for anything and not to be stubborn and ask for help in dire situations. Andrea also nagged back the same things, creating a sweet interchange of worries between them, which left Yasenia with a wagging tail and a lovely smile. Finally, Andrea ended their interchange. "Love, call Cecile. I think she must be rather impatient to communicate with you."

Yasenia said, "Okay, darling~. Remember that you can also speak with me if you feel bored! I love hearing your voice."

Andrea laughed, "I love you, Yaseia."

Yaseia also chuckled, "I love you too, Andrea~."

Andrea placed her communication device inside her armor again and turned to look toward the others. One of the men looked at Andrea and said, "She sounds so seductive, like a lust spirit! We could share-"

BANG!* *CRACK!

With the sound of bones cracking, that man was blasted away by Andrea's punch. The other three were stupefied as that man tumbled out with a painful scream for almost 100 meters, showcasing powerful strength.

Andrea's deep voice sounded menacing as she said, "You better not have any funny ideas. Even if we are cooperating, remember who has the ability to kill all of you. Also, this is my first and last warning regarding my wife. If any of you dares to have any thoughts, be prepared to forsake your lives."

Even if they couldn't see the expression below her helmet, they all understood that this mysterious, seductive wife was completely off boundaries. 'Shit, she looked so chill and calm for the most part. Where was this aggressive personality hiding?'

The man who was blasted away was that person with control over illusions. He was very dissatisfied with Andrea and wanted to kill her, so he had been cooking up some plans for a while. However, he was becoming increasingly frustrated as time went on, 'Why the hell aren't my illusions working on her? She isn't even aware I've been trying to change her perception little by little and failing! What kind of training did she do until now!? Her mental defenses are like an indestructible steel wall.'

What was even more hilarious was that Andrea didn't know about these attacks at all! Her mental prowess was so high that her passive defenses were enough to fight him off without alerting her. This was because hers and the rest of our girls' mental defenses were shockingly strong compared to other cultivators.

The mental strength came from Yaseia, as she always pushed them to the limits during intercourse. There wasn't a single day when they were left with the ability to walk after being assaulted by the dragoness. Even when Yaseia was gentle with them, she moved inside them in ways that lit up all their pleasure nerves until they reached the inevitable climax again and again.

If we had to be honest, Yaseia's sexual skills could become more mentally challenging than overcoming passive and some active mental manipulation skills. And you have to remember that Yaseia didn't ever go all out except with Cecile and Tatyana, who could take her head on.

Either way, Andrea also didn't care about this because she was thinking of getting rid of these Demonic Cultivators soon. She hadn't learned anything useful, and their usefulness was coming to an end. Andrea continued walking forward with the four behind her and the crab at her side. 'Should I go with Evelyn? She may be far away. After I call her, I will look around for a little more before deciding; I may find something interesting.'

Yaseia then called Cecile. Sarah was honestly speechless, feeling her affection cooling down from the initial beauty shock. 'How many lovers does she have? Is she a scumbag with no respect for other people's feelings? That kind of character which goes around collecting women as if they were trophies?'

[Host. I find it commendable that your brain still has enough neurons to realize that falling in love at first sight is very dangerous. However, remember that the mission is archived, and giving up on it will make it disappear for good.]

Sarah frowned slightly, 'It shouldn't be too difficult seeing the number of lovers she has, right? Even if the mission says that her heart is closed, having so many lovers, how could that be possible?'

[Host. The rewards and punishment are based on difficulty and not randomness. The descriptions are also extremely accurate, so I wouldn't judge that early. I ask the Host to keep in mind that even if all evidence points that she is a person with fidelity issues, there must be something more below it.]

Sarah nodded and looked at Yasenia. No matter if she felt uncomfortable with the number of lovers Yasenia had, she still could feel her heart beating faster whenever she laid eyes on her.

Meanwhile, Cecile and Yasenia had been speaking for a while. Yasenia learned that Cecile was in a desert, and again, Cecile couldn't see any vegetation around. They concluded that they weren't nearby.

Yasenia knew Cecile would want to come to her side fast because she didn't like being away from her. Therefore, even if Yasenia was as eager to have her beautiful Phoenix beside her, she said. "Sweetheart, we are too far away, so first explore that area and do your thing. We can plan to be together after one month or so. We have three months inside this secret realm, so we will have plenty of time to look around together."

Cecile's voice sounded reluctant, "Okay, my love. However, you must be careful. Do not get entangled with new women, do not fight losing fights, be ruthless to your enemies, torture those that insult you...."

Cecile began giving a bunch of advice that Sarah found barbaric. 'What does she mean to deliver suffering to those that go against her!? Is this woman a Yandere or something?'

She looked at Yasenia and saw that she was happily smiling while hearing all of these things. Sarah was shocked. 'Is my common sense so out of touch in this world?'

[Host. Good luck.]

'What do you mean!?'

Meanwhile, even if Yasenia knew what Cecile was telling her, she didn't interrupt and listened to everything closely, answering whenever Cecile asked if she was listening.

Yasenia really liked when her lovers nagged her about her safety; it made her feel loved and cared for, and it swelled her heart with love toward them. Yasenia's voice slightly sweetened as she answered, "I will do as sweetheart says~. But you should also do everything you say and not be reckless! I love you~."

Cecile smiled, and her eyes became tender, like the ice melting in spring, blossoming feelings in the cultivators looking at her. "I love you too, my love."

Then, Cecile cut the connection, and her face turned cold, her eyes losing that appealing and alluring warmth they gave just one second ago. Many cultivators were thinking, 'If I can make her smile like that for me once, I can die happy!' Cecile, however, ignored everyone and continued looking around for the entrance to the ruins.

Yasenia cut the connection and sighed, "At least I can be with peace of mind from now on. Let's go toward that town you spoke about, baby. It seems like a good place to start our adventure! I bet we can stay there for the first two weeks or more, depending on what treasures are hidden there."

Angel began walking toward it, and the rest followed. Sarah spoke a bit with them, gradually becoming closer. Moreover, thanks to her system's functions, giving someone a good impression was quite easy. She could sometimes see options of dialog that would gain more affection points with Angel or Kali. But these options didn't appear when speaking with Yasenia, as if the system could not work toward her.

Because of her strange pauses when speaking and sometimes changes in expression, Yasenia was quite sure that she was communicating with someone, but she didn't know how. She had not seen any strange energy fluctuations around Sarah or unknown items on her. Yasenia was at a loss and began thinking of how to make her spill these secrets.

Of course, Yasenia wasn't expecting someone to speak about all their secrets just after meeting, but the fact that Sarah kept it a secret made Yasenia wary of her. To avoid anything strange suddenly happening, Yasenia was walking beside Sarah, speaking to her from time to time with a gentle smile.

Sarah was over the moon because she felt Yasenia was becoming closer to her and spoke more naturally, thanks to Yasenia's lead in the conversation. However, Yasenia's doubts grew as they talked to each other because Sarah's thinking process felt... Foreign. If Yasenia were asked to describe Sarah, she would answer that Sarah was a big interrogation mark for her. Something that didn't happen even when Yasenia spoke to seniors.

An example of weird logic in Sarah's words happened when Yasenia asked her about professions; the woman said that she hadn't learned anything. However, when Yasenia asked what she wanted to do, Sarah spoke about alchemy with concepts that she hadn't heard anywhere. This piqued Kali's attention too, but she and Angel didn't interrupt, as they felt that Yasenia's speaking tone was slightly different than normal. It was more discerning and less naturally seductive and bantering.

Yasenia asked about basic concepts of alchemy, such as temperature, use of flame, and way of burning the plants and processing them into pills.

To Yasenia's surprise, Sarah listened to her as if she was speaking about something out of this world and with a lot of eagerness. Therefore, in Yasenia's mind, Sarah's classification fell as a 'sheltered woman with zero experience in the world, but strange ideas learned from an unknown source.'

Chapter 213:

[Host. I feel that Yasenia's opinion about you is changing, but I can't tell the direction.]

Sarah asked, confused, 'What do you mean?'

[Host. Her affection parameters have probably changed. Although there have been changes until now, they weren't big enough for me to realize. This change has likely happened after your conversation, so I would recommend Host to think if you have said something that could put you in a bad spot.]

Sarah was even more confused, "'Probably changed"'? That is an awfully unclear description. I rather you do not say anything than saying things like this.'

[Host. Reading Yasenias feelings is extremely complicated; the barriers in her soul are extremely sturdy, and I can't do much with my current strength. You should feel glad I can tell this much.]

Sarah was about to continue speaking with the system when she heard Yasenias asking, "Who are you speaking with? Although I didn't want to delve into it, I'm getting somewhat intrigued about this person you keep talking to."

Sarah's eyes widened, and her brain froze. 'H-H-How does she know!? System, can she read minds?'

[Host. I don't know what abilities she has. But I can guess that she used your expressions to decipher it.]

'My expressions? I am trying not to show any! How could she-.'

[Host. You should answer first.]

'Right... ' Sarah looked at Yasenias and spoke with a stutter, "W-What are you talking about, Yasenias?"

Yasenias smiled, but Sarah didn't see her eyes smiling. "I'm asking you, with whom are you speaking? And don't try to tell me that you haven't because it is quite obvious to me."

Sarah felt this pressure from Yasenias again, a pressure that came when Yasenias was asking something completely seriously. Sarah looked down and said, "I-I can't tell you. N-No matter what you say, I really can't tell you."

Yasenias lifted her chin, looking directly into her brown eyes with her goldens, and asked, "Are you trying to hurt me, Sarah?"

Yasenias saw Sarah's pupils dilate and panic spreading fast in her face. Yasenias's acute hearing also heard Sarah's beating heart accelerating, and her body began sweating. Sarah denied it instantly, "I'm not! I'm not! I would never hurt you! I've never wanted to hurt you since the beginning!"

Yasenias looked into her eyes for a little more time without saying anything, making Sarah so nervous that even some tears began gathering in her eyes. Yasenias thought, 'She can't fake these reactions, and if she could... Then, I would have to bow down to her.'

Yasenias released her chin and then turned around. "Let's continue then; I won't delve into your secrets anymore. However, if someone comes later and he or she is with you, alert us in time, even before they appear physically before us. Else, an accident is bound to happen."

Sarah felt her legs weaken when Yasenias released her chin. It was as if Yasenias pinched her entire body and soul with those fingers and let it free when she released them. 'My god, I thought I was done for! She can be really scary.'

Sarah was about to speak to the dragoness, not to let any misunderstandings between them, but she saw Yasenias look to the right and smirk, "Is he with you?"

Sarah looked to the side and shook her head and hands; if she had a tail, it would also be denying it. "He is not. I don't know him. He has nothing to do with me!"

Yasenia saw her nervous appearance and laughed, "Don't be scared of me, Sarah. If you truly don't have intentions to hurt me or my dears, then you can get rid of any fear you have toward me. Walk near me. If he isn't with you, then he can only be trouble."

Sarah hastily walked beside Yasenia and looked at the tall dragoness shyly. 'Does she want to protect me? Maybe she feels bad because of her previous outburst?'

Sarah didn't know why, but she always felt safer when the tall and voluptuous dragoness was near her. Yasenia radiated this confidence, letting all her allies feel safe and secure around her.

The person that appeared was a tall and slightly handsome man. He had blue robes and a sword hanging on his waist. The thing that Sarah was more worried about was his level. [Host. He is a half-step mental nourishing cultivator. His combat capabilities are very high.]

Sarah became slightly fearful, 'C-Can I win? Can Yasenia and the others win? What level are they?'

[Host, winning would honestly be hard without me taking over. You are too inexperienced, and although I can't analyze the strength of the other three, I can tell you what their levels are. Yasenia is level six, Angel is level eight, and Kali is level eight. Taking this into account and the fact that you also are in level eight, it should be in favor of the half-step cultivator.]

Sarah stepped before Yasenia and said, 'Be prepared to take over.'

Yasenia didn't miss this little detail and raised her eyebrow, 'Does she want to protect me? How cute~.' The dragoness felt as if a small animal was trying to protect her, not knowing that she could slap their enemies to death.

The man was actually from a righteous sect. He was one of the top talents of that sect, following the path of body strengthening. Even if he looked slim, he was packed with compact and perfect muscles. However, body strengthening always comes with some Yin, for women, or Yang, for men, strengthening, which meant that their lust also grew in proportion.

His eyes looked at the group of women, and first, he spotted Angel. His type has always been shorter women, so our little Angel was extremely attractive to him, 'Wow, she is cute and sexy! I really want to have a relationship with her.'

He also observed the others, and when Yasenia entered his sight, he slightly froze. 'My heavens, what is that? A seductive goddess that fell from the sky!? Although I still prefer the small one, having sex with this big beauty must feel divine!'

By the time he finished inspecting the four women, Yasenia's eyes had already chilled. 'I'm going to gouge his eyes out if he keeps looking at my baby with that gaze!'

The man approached with a gentle smile, but Yasenia had already seen through his bullshit. Even then, Yasenia still smiled and asked respectfully, "Senior Brother, I don't want more people joining our team. Could we please resolve this peacefully, and each goes our way?"

The man hummed pleasantly, 'Even her voice is attractive.'

He gently laughed and smiled, "You don't have to be on guard with me, beautiful lady. I've always thought that the more people, the better. I can also see that your levels are slightly low, so this senior brother wouldn't mind being your protector since I'm at the Half-step level! Moreover, I've naturally unlocked 54m of spiritual sense!"

Yasenia internally sneered, 'Bragging with that little number when my darling had developed 84 m just after crossing into the half-step?'

Yasenia was pissed off by him. It was a fit of irrational anger that burst after his gaze toward Angel and that statement. However, she still had the mind to give him one last chance to go away. Therefore, after patting the nervous Sarah, our dragoness walked toward him with sensually sashaying hips, a lazily swishing tail, and a natural yet seductive smile. "Senior Brother, I really don't want this to develop into a battle. Could you leave, please~?"

The man looked at Yasenia up and down, eating her with his eyes, and making Kali and Angel frown with cold-looking eyes. But he didn't realize because he didn't have enough eyes to look elsewhere besides our dragoness's jiggling softness, 'Is she scared of me? She should be because of our difference in cultivation. Hahaha, she is so stupid for showing weakness this easy. It seems that I'm going to have a good time soon!'

The man said, changing his tone because he thought Yasenia was scared of him. He was now speaking condescendingly, "Sure, we can each go our way. However, I have a condition."

Yasenia stopped fifty meters away from him and asked with a seductive smile and red-golden eyes, "And what would that condition be, senior brother~?"

The man found the red that was spreading through Yasenia's golden eyes quite attractive. He said with a smile, "I will let you and your friends go if you let me dual cultivate with you and that small blonde! What do you say? I think it is quite a good bargain and no one loses! Me fancying you should be something to be happy about, hahaha."

The only reason Angel and Kali didn't directly pounce on him was that they felt Yasenia's aura thickening. Yasenia blinked twice, 'Blonde? Huh? He wants to dual cultivate with MY baby?' Yasenia laughed seductively, surprising everyone present. "Hahaha~, I really didn't want things to end like this, but you are really letting me with no other choice."

Sarah was more nervous than anything. "Angel, Kali, will Yasenia be okay? He is much higher in cultivation, right? A-And why is she laughing like that?"

Angel and Kali sneered, and Angel said, "He is courting death. Just look and don't interfere."

Sarah was surprised at their change of personality. Right now, they both exuded killing intent, and their faces were extremely cold-looking, giving her chills. 'A-Are you sure they aren't Yanderes?'

[Host. I'm sure. However, be careful with the fox woman; she has extremely strong heart demons.] Sarah nodded and refocused on Yasenia.

Yasenia said, with the same sensual tone, "A pig wants to dual cultivate with me? Hahaha, I will give you five seconds to scram before I beat you to death. How about that?"

The man was stunned and then became angry, "How dare you speak to me like that?"

"One."

"A mere level six Cultivator going against me!?"

"Two"

"You are still counting!? I will make you and the ones behind you-"

"Three."

"-suffer for not accepting my merciful offer!"

"Four."

The man took out his sword and charged forward with all his strength, with the intent of pinning Yasenia down. However...

"Five."

The instant Yasenia spoke that word. She put strength in her legs and shot toward the man. Sarah saw with stupefaction as the floor below Yasenia sunk while Yasenia's body blurred, shooting forward with enough speed that she didn't perceive her movements until Yasenia appeared before the cultivator.

The next thing she knew, Yasenia was blocking the sword with her tail, and her body was crouched in front of the man. Her form was very similar to someone about to throw an uppercut.

CLANG!

A shockwave spread because of the collision of the tail and sword. However, to Sarah's surprise, the blade didn't cut through Yasenia's golden tail and rebounded, making sparks fly at the collision point. There wasn't even a scratch on it. 'How tough is that tail!? But will Yasenia be able to absorb the strength from that high-level cultivator?'

These thoughts weren't left unanswered for long as it wasn't Yasenia but the man who lost balance, surprising Sarah even more. Then, Yasenia clenched her fist, and from her crouched position, she used her whole body to deliver an uppercut to his chin.

Her legs pushed her body up, followed by her torso, transferring that momentum to her arm. The floor cracked under Yasenia and the sound of air exploding followed her fist as it approached the man's chin, completely unavoidable.

The man felt the pressure even before the fist hit him, and he began regretting everything, 'I messed with a monster!'

Sarah was horrified as Yasenia's fist impacted his chin. She was horrified because the fist didn't stop there. His chin shattered like glass as Yasenia's fist continued upward unimpeded, opening a hole in his face.

The man's head whiplashed, and the powerful momentum sent him spinning into the air, spewing blood, teeth, flesh, and brain matter through this opening. His face was extremely mangled and horrifying to look at, but he wasn't dead. As he spun in the air, his body couldn't even respond to the waves of pain assaulting his brain in torturous agony because of the terrible momentum that threw him into the air.

However, this torture didn't last longer than his fall. When he was about to hit the floor, Yasenia recovered her stance and punched forward, connecting with the falling cultivator. With extremely good timing, Yasenia's fist banged with his torso.

Sarah's horror grew as the man's chest swelled because Yasenia's [Dragon Strength] was expanding his insides unnaturally until his body couldn't hold this amount of pressure. A shower of gore stained everything before Yasenía, with flesh, bones, and other human parts going in different directions!

Two punches and one Half-step cultivator at the beginning of the level died, that was Yasenía's current strength. Under the Unification realm, she was almost matchless!

Chapter 214:

Sarah first was surprised at Yasenía's strength, but right after seeing the violent aftermath, her stomach churned, and she began puking at the side. 'W-What was that!? S-So merciless and, and, the man exploded... Bleurgh!'

The shock of the gory kill was so high that she didn't even register Yasenía's strength yet. She was leaning on a tree, emptying her stomach.

Angel and Kali looked at Sarah with confusion and approached her from the back, patting her. Angel asked curiously, "Are you okay? Did you eat something bad?"

Sarah was crying and puking as she thought, 'Eat something bad? Why are neither of you affected by what just happened!?'

Kali wasn't as naïve as our little baby, so she said with a little bit of pity. "Sarah. You have to get used to seeing this kind of thing, or you will die young. When killing, you can't have the luxury to grant a beautiful kill." Angel blinked and understood that Sarah's current situation was because of the cultivator's death.

Yasenía approached after taking the man's spatial ring. She looked at Sarah and saw that she had stopped emptying her stomach, but her face was still ruined with tears and snot. Yasenía sighed and said, "Sarah, You may have been sheltered all your life, but things are crueler than you think. This world may be beautiful from the outside with the countless mystical landscapes, beautiful-looking people, and impossible things to discover that can change your perspective of the world. Even I'm relatively new to this world and still have many things to discover and explore."

Yasenía saw that Sarah was looking at her, so she took out a towel and began cleaning her face. "However, our world is cruel, so incredibly cruel that no one that enters the cultivation road is free of blood. Every single cultivator you have met and will meet are people who had most likely slaughtered other people in cold blood to remain alive. No matter how righteous they are, how good their morals are, or any other personal qualities they have. There is almost not a single cultivator that wouldn't kill many to save themselves."

Sarah looked up at Yasenía with teary eyes, and Yasenía said mercilessly. "In the cultivation world, you either become an unfeeling monster toward your enemies or die early under someone that was able to leave this human part behind. I hope your sheltered self can understand this; even if mercy has a place in the cultivation world, it is something only the strong have the leisure to have."

"You choose if you follow us. Angel, Kali, let's go." Yasenía didn't say anything more and turned in the direction of the town, walking away. Angel and Kali gave Sarah one last look and ran after her.

Sarah looked at their back and wanted to chase after them. However, her steps flattered when she looked at the pieces of flesh lying around. Her eyes watered again, and she looked down, 'I-I've always ridiculed those MCs that didn't push forward after their first killing but now... I-I can understand how they felt.'

Sarah chuckled with ridicule toward herself, her tears falling and unable to take that step after Yasenias. 'I bet those "Self-righteous" protagonists I ridiculed just didn't want to kill because it was too hard to see something like this again and again. I can completely understand why they didn't want to. That sweet ideal of not wanting to see something like this and have everything go your way.'

Sarah slightly trembled as she thought, 'Moreover, what if Yasenias and the others suddenly consider me an enemy or an obstacle to gain whatever they need? Wouldn't it be me the next person to die like that?'

[Host. Although you don't need Yasenias and the others, it would be wise to follow them. It is rare to find people like them in the cultivation world who don't want to exploit others immediately. Nonetheless, we can also survive if we are by ourselves. Moreover, this choice won't affect your mission about Yasenias. The Host can freely choose what to do.]

Sarah looked at their backs which were becoming almost invisible due to the vegetation around them, and she cleaned her tears. 'B-But what if they suddenly attack me? Have you seen Yasenias's strength!? I'm not her match! She truly is a chosen one or whatever. She just punched someone four levels higher to death as if they were trash!'

[Host. Remember that you have one life-saving treasure. You can try to be with them and run away if you think they have bad intentions. Although I don't want to force Host, this is a great chance; something like this doesn't happen often. From the data I have from previous systems, there are instances of the Hosts never triggering quests like this one in their tens of thousands of years.]

Sarah weighed her option for some minutes, and suddenly something flashed in her mind, 'Right, what if a cultivator with bad intentions crosses my path? Wouldn't I be in more danger alone than by Yasenias's side? Moreover, although these shocks certainly made me fear her, I still...'

Sarah didn't finish her sentence, but she gritted her teeth. 'Fuck, fuck, fuck! I will bet, then! I will bet in the woman that bent me!'

She looked in the direction where Yasenias already disappeared and ran after them.

Yasenias hadn't sped up toward the distance because she was somewhat struggling. She didn't want Sarah to come with her as having unknown variables would mean more risk, but at the same time, she also didn't want to leave her behind. 'She is just a naive woman that hasn't seen the world; it would be too heartless to leave her behind. But...'

Yasenias didn't know what to do, so she sighed and thought, 'I will let her decide; if after five minutes I don't hear her coming near, I will just go.'

Angel and Kali followed after Yasenias, and Angel asked, "Why aren't we going fast, Yasenias? Are you waiting for Sarah to come?"

Kali said, "I don't think she will come, Yasenias. You didn't see it, but her face when you killed that man was so bad that I think a heart demon was born in her heart."

Yasenias's face became strange, "You are making me pity her more."

Kali sighed, "Although I don't like her since she has intentions toward you, I understand that we shouldn't shun every person that likes you."

Angel chuckled, "If we do that, we might as well live alone, hahaha."

Yasenia hugged each of them with one arm, squishing their faces on her big, soft, and fragrant breasts, "Let's wait for some minutes. If she doesn't come, then, we can go our way."

Both of them snuggled closer to Yasenia and rubbed their faces on her. Yasenia took this as an affirmative, so she stopped and pampered her two dears while waiting, petting them, kissing them, or coiling her tail around them.

After four minutes, Yasenia, Angel, and Kali heard the fast steps behind and sighed, 'I thought she wouldn't come... Well, better to have one more ally than one more enemy.'

She released the purring Angel and Kali, turned with a smile, and said to the running woman, "I'm glad you came after us, Sarah. I was beginning to think you were afraid of me~, hahaha."

Sarah looked at the gently smiling dragoness, and her pale cheeks blushed slightly. 'S-So she was waiting for me here? Did she expect for me to come?'

Sarah fumbled with her hands and said, "I-I will work hard, Yasenia. So don't leave me behind."

Yasenia approached and patted her head, "I'm looking forward to it."

Then, she turned around and said. "Let's try to reach there before Noon. Use your movement techniques and follow after me."

The other three answered, "Yes!"

They began running seriously, and Yasenia began gauging Sarah's real strength with this run. To our dragoness surprise, she saw that speed-wise, even if she was slightly inexperienced, she was faster than Kali and Angel. Yasenia began taking this woman more seriously, 'She is stronger than I thought; even if her speed isn't comparable with Evelyn's, it is close. And this is right now that she seems inexperienced. What will happen after she masters this movement technique or gains experience?'

An enormous elephant-like creature appeared in their way, but Yasenia didn't do anything. Sarah was about to ask, but she heard Kali speaking, "[Golden crown], kill it."

The [Golden Crown] had been following in the surroundings all the time, blending with the vegetation. Even if she was a three-meter-tall lady, she was practically in her own domain, making her almost impossible to detect.

The transmigrator girl saw with astonishment as the forest surrounding the fifteen-meter-tall elephant came to life with the cracking sound of nature. After the surrounding vegetation literally came to life, the roots in a 500m radius shot toward it. Sarah had chills going up her spine as the roots attacked like countless whips, spears, and hammers, lashing, entangling, piercing, or beating the third-rank middle-level beast.

By the time they reached its side, they didn't even have to slow down because it was already dead. Then, Sarah saw Yasenia touching the giant creature, and something transparent but visible wrapped it and sucked it into the beautiful ring in her hand.

For the next creature, an eight-meter-tall bear, Yasenia told Angel to face it. Angel took out her shield that almost covered her body and shot forward with tremendous speed, using her movement technique and leaving Yasenia and the rest behind. Her steps seemed illusory, and her footwork erratic.

The bear saw Angel approaching and roared angrily, slapping with its paw with the intent to flatten Angel. However, it completely missed its attack as it smashed toward an after-image created by Angel.

By the time the bear realized it had been tricked, Angel was below it and had charged enough energy to create a thick and powerful laser beam. The laser shot from her shield in a circular beam three meters wide and pierced the bear's head from below, creating an enormous hole in the skull.

Angel then jumped and sharpened the edges of her shield, slashing toward the neck of the tall bear. Like a hot knife through butter, Angel sliced the giant head of the bear into the air. Yasenia jumped and caught Angel midair, absorbing the bear inside her ring as she did that. Angel smiled sweetly and smooched Yasenia's cheek. Yasenia chuckled and let her go when they landed.

Without looking back, they continued running. As they ran toward the town, Sarah was completely stupefied at their killing efficiency.

Kali and Angel took turns and killed the beasts in their way with increasing efficiency as if they were swords being sharpened. They were like grim reapers taking wildlife left and right. And the artisan sharpening them and giving them advice from time to time was Yasenia, always providing accurate orders and tips that even Sarah could understand and implement.

They saw some cultivators moving around from time to time, but Sarah realized that Yasenia just looked at them for a short time and continued forward. Sarah was somewhat surprised, 'So she won't kill everything in her way; she even let some beasts go. What is going on inside her head?'

The beasts Yasenia didn't order to attack were intelligent, those who gained sapience. Yasenia could identify them easily because, at the end of the day, Yasenia was also an intelligent beast, a dragon in human form, but a pure dragon nonetheless. The only reason she was in human form was that her gestation and mother were human; it wouldn't be long before Yasenia unlocked her natural form.

Even if killing wild beasts that were unintelligent was something that Yasenia wasn't against, for Yasenia, beasts, humans, demons, or any intelligent creatures were the same. And although she had a slight bias toward humans because of her growing ambient and her lovers' race, she wouldn't kill indiscriminately intelligent creatures unless necessary or if they had pissed her off.

After 20 minutes of running around, they reached the area near the town. To their surprise, there was quite a crowd nearby. Yasenia and the others stopped and looked around to understand what was happening.

Chapter 215:

Where Yasenia and the others arrived was in ruins. The surroundings were filled with various structures, mostly toppled and crumbled with growing vegetation. Yasenia, Angel, Kali, and Sarah were hiding behind some tall trees where lush vegetation governed that area. Thanks to the state of the area around the town, the vision was mostly unimpeded.

They could see that the town Angel spoke about stood in the center of these ruins, but they couldn't see its state. A pristine white and grey wall surrounded it, reaching more than 200 meters in height. The town was big enough that calling it a city wouldn't be accurate, but not wrong either. In the area around the walls of the mysterious town, there were two main groups, one with humans and beast humans and another with humans and demons.

Even if there wasn't anyone fighting yet, the air around was tense. These two main groups were trying to gain the right to enter the town first. But there was a peculiarity on the town wall. Four gates could be seen on the rectangular wall, each with a word above them. They were one after another.

Yasenia read from left to right aloud, "Heaven, Earth, Mortal, Waste." Angel and Kali were confused as they didn't understand this language, this made our baby remember the stone stele she had seen before, but she would tell Yasenia later.

Yasenia clarified, "This is a language of the days before the Heavenly Cataclysm, it was the most common, and almost the whole world spoke it. Each zone has developed its own language during the last million years, but they all derive from this one."

They nodded understandingly. Yasenia looked at Sarah and said with a raised eyebrow. "But it seems I was not the only one who understands it."

Sarah blushed, 'Sorry, Yasenia. The system gave me the ability to read all languages!' Although Sarah didn't speak, they took her shyness and silence as an affirmation. They refocused on the four gates.

The heaven gate was an imposing eight-meter tall doorless gate. It had a lot of decorations on the frame, looking grand and imposing. The aura emitted from it was very thick, much more than anything Yasenia had ever felt in her life. Her tail was dancing with happiness just feeling it, and her [Celestial Pearl] spun silently. The tail and the pearl absorbed the ambient energy slowly and nourished Yasenia.

The earth gate also had a high amount of energy; it was still higher than their continent, which was impressive. However, it was incomparable to the Heaven gate. The decorations were simple and elegant and it was also doorless. It wasn't as big as the heaven gate, at four meters tall. It was attractive, but putting it in comparison, Yasenia found it lacking.

The mortal gate was as plain as it could get. It was normal in every meaning of the word. Two meters tall and surrounded by an arc of rocks. The energy it released was low even compared with the outside.

Finally, the Waste gate's turn arrived. Yasenia and the others were looking speechlessly at it. It wasn't a gate or a door. It was literally a hole in the wall that passed the fortress, and one would need to go on all fours to pass through it. Yasenia wasn't even sure she could go through it because of her big breasts.

Well, she wouldn't have to worry because our dragoness body was soft and flexible, but Yasenia wouldn't discover it as she won't pass through it. Yasenia felt that the energy going through there was so lacking in quality that she feared her cultivation would regress if she absorbed it.

Their attention turned toward the two big groups of cultivators. They didn't go forward. Instead, they stayed away, not gathering attention toward themselves, and listened to the discussion between the sides.

A tall male Demon was at the helm; he had four pairs of wings and reddish skin. His head had a pair of black horns growing from his forehead, and his aura was thick and oppressive. His body was not bulky, but not thin either, with perfect muscles across his naked chest. "It is true that your group was the first to find the town, but that doesn't matter. There really isn't much to discuss, we are going to enter first, or we will kill all of you to go inside. Choose. "

A woman was leading the other group. She wasn't tall nor very beautiful; she looked like someone you would find in the streets and forget about her the next moment. However, her aura was stable like a mountain, and her face was fearless before the Demon. "You speak with a lot of confidence, Demon. Do you think you can come to our continent and run rampant without consequences? This isn't your playground!"

The Demon laughed aloud and said, "You are quite a bold missy. Do you know who is behind us? Our demon race has so much strength you can't even begin to understand what you are going against! Human, your continent will be overrun by us, and that's that. I'm giving all of you a chance to convert and become citizens under us. If you resist here, even if you don't die, once we go out, who will protect you?"

The Demon smirked and looked around at the cultivators that weren't in his group. "Even if you won't have many rights at the beginning, gaining power and rights isn't hard. In our society, strength rules! If you want something, snatch it! If you want someone, kidnap them! Haven't you thought many times about that person? That thing you have even dreamt of obtaining, but rules prevent you from it. Our society doesn't have that! Isn't it like an ideal come true? Join my side, and only riches await you." The Demon finished extending his wings and erupting his aura, giving a more impactful feeling. Many cultivators felt tempted by the promise of riches, power, and influence. They were things that would never fail to seduce a part of the population.

The woman didn't speak at once and first looked around. She saw that more people than she thought were struggling and tempted to go. So she said calmly, "If you are a man, when you go to their side, you will just be a puppet, a disposable piece, and a sacrifice in reserve to be used as they like. Worse, if they have a succubus, you will become cattle, spending your days as a cow on a farm."

The woman looked at the Demon and sneered, "If you are a woman, then you should be as prepared to become cattle for the incubus or breeders whose only objective in life is to give birth to demons. Moreover, even if you consider yourself strong, do you think those Demons will let you get the things you want if they fancy them? Your seniors will be suppressed by their seniors, and the juniors will suppress you. All they spout is pure nonsense."

The woman looked at the humans around the demons and said, her aura and tone still calm, but it was more impactful than if she was shouting. "I know some of you aren't with them willingly. If all of us attack them simultaneously, we can defeat them rather easily. Here, in the secret realm, we play in an even field since they are unable to use their powerful seniors in their favor. We are more, and together, we are stronger. Then, what is there to doubt but get together and defeat them."

Yasenia and the Demon raised an eyebrow with interest. The Demon thought, 'Even if she isn't beautiful, her will is strong, and her charisma is high. I would love to have her as my breeder. She is like a strong general. Her children must be high quality even if their features aren't very beautiful.'

Yasenia looked from the outside and hummed with interest. 'If I hadn't used my harem slots, I would have really liked to have her by my side. Even if we couldn't be lovers, being her friend would have been fine. She is rational, intelligent, calm and makes good decisions when everything is going awry. A single speech, and she has reversed the situation. However...'

Angel asked, "Yasenia, what will they do? Will they ally against the demons and follow that woman?"

Sarah and Kali looked at Yasenia with interest, waiting for her answer. Yasenia sighed and shook her head, "I don't think so. Even if what she said is true, those that are on the Demon's side may not be there out of fear. Remember that demonic cultivators existed before the demons arrived. Moreover, even if some cultivators are with the demons out of fear, they won't suddenly grow the courage to go against them no matter what you tell them. The reason they are beside them and not dead is that they value their lives much more than their dignity."

Yasenia patted Angel and said, "What they need are not words but actions that guarantee their safety. Worse, cultivators' egos are strong, so her telling people around that they will be used is mostly useless."

Angel nodded and continued looking. Sarah and Kali also looked curiously at the situation. And, to their surprise, it developed as Yasenia expected. No one moved, and those beside the demons that were forcefully there lowered their heads as if that would hide them from the glances around.

The Demon laughed and said, "Nice speech, a shame that you couldn't move anyone. Well, maybe that is not true. You actually managed to avoid the people from your side joining us for now. I'm getting increasingly interested in you even if your features are lacking~."

Kali sneered and spat, "Superficial creatures."

Yasenia scratched her behind the fluffy ear and gathered her toward herself. Kali instantly melted, and her tail began wagging, plastering herself all over Yasenia. The dragoness whispered in her fox ear, "Good girl~, don't be angry." Kali almost purred in comfort

Meanwhile, the woman didn't flinch and said. "Since we can't reach a common point, let's fight and get over this." She took out a spear and prepared herself for battle. The people beside her also did the same.

The Demon took out a serrated sword and laughed again, "So energetic! I hope you have that kind of stamina in bed! But, it would be best if you did not guide your followers to their death. How about this... We send our people to the gates, and the group that passes more people through the Heaven Gate wins and has their group going first. Quite fair, don't you think?"

The woman frowned and asked, "Where is the catch? I don't believe you, Demon, can be this reasonable."

The Demon shook his head and sighed, "So little confidence in me. My future woman being this distrustful hurts me dearly. Do you really think we are brainless monsters? If we were, we wouldn't be considered one of the strongest races in the world."

The woman ignored his remarks as if they were just the barking of a dog and thought about it seriously. "Swear it to the heavens, and we have a deal."

The Demon looked at the woman for some seconds and sighed. "Do you really think you are in an advantageous position? Well, your loss."

Then, he clapped once, and after myriads of howls, about fifty demons appeared from the forest to Yaseenia's right. The demon group suddenly doubled, reaching 100 people counting demons and humans. Compared to the 70 cultivators on the woman's side, they had the advantage in numbers and strength.

Yaseenia sighed and said, "The woman is in trouble."

Sarah asked, "Aren't their numbers still similar? I don't see it being very bad."

Yaseenia shook her head and said, "Watch the demon's next move."

The Demon looked with boredom at that woman and said. "And here I thought I could ambush you when you relaxed, making everything more fun... Anyway, let's go with the boring route. How many of you want to desert to our side now?"

Chapter 216:

Yaseenia sighed and said, "The woman is in trouble."

Sarah asked, "Aren't their numbers still similar? I don't see it being very bad."

Yaseenia shook her head and said, "Watch the demon's next move."

The demon looked with boredom at that woman and said. "And here I thought I could ambush you when you relaxed, making everything more fun... Anyway, let's go with the boring route. How many of you want to desert to our side now?"

The spectators saw with wide eyes as almost 20 people from the woman's side changed sides instantly. Although their faces were full of guilt, their actions spoke louder than that. The woman looked with cold eyes as those people left her side.

Yaseenia smirked disdainfully, "See? My mother has taught me a lot about human nature, and this is something that occurs quite often. Worse, it doesn't end here."

Losing twenty people meant that the numbers were fifty against 120, but they could still retreat safely with these numbers. However, to the woman's dismay, some people in the back of her group turned and fled, using their movement techniques and reducing the number of fifty to barely thirty.

It was like a chain reaction and the fifty extra demons appearing was the trigger. One thing led to the other, and soon, even those extremely loyal to that woman began getting more and more nervous. With the demon side gaining the advantage by the second, the people saw that they didn't have a chance, and fear of death invaded their bodies.

Yaseenia looked emotionlessly at that situation. "What is honor before certain death? What is righteousness before a threat to your life? How much is a person willing to sacrifice for a noble cause? How many would sacrifice their lives for a something that doesn't have a reward and a high risk of killing you?"

Tatyana had always taught Yaseenia one thing. Yaseenia said, "Before death, the true nature of someone rears its head. It is not a bad thing. It is just a thing that doesn't help when trying to push your nobles ideals. It is the will to survive. The will to remain alive."

Yaseenia patted Angel and said, "Many people rather become someone's puppet than die standing on their two feet. Humans are courageous until the risk of real death appears before them clearly. If the option where submitting is not horrible, most people will choose it over the risky and better path."

Yasenia said, "Prepare yourselves; when the combat starts, we will use it as a distraction and approach the gates. I will go through the Heaven gate. All of you choose wisely before entering."

Sarah asked timidly, "A-Aren't we doing the same? Using the woman as bait for us to enter the town safely?"

Yasenia looked at Sarah and said, her tone even. "Yes, we are doing the same. I'm not a hero or anything like that, Sarah. I will take the path that involves the least danger for the three of you."

Sarah didn't say anything more.

Angel didn't mind all that, so she said, "I will also go through the Heaven gate! Although they are doorless, I can't see through them. What if we appear in different places? I don't want to separate from you, Yasenia."

Kali nodded and said, "I think the same. Separating from you just after reuniting. I wouldn't like something like that to happen."

Sarah didn't want to be left behind, so she also said, "I will also go through it."

Yasenia smiled and said. "Then, prepare yourselves. I can guess that there must be a challenge of some sort to go through that door." Her golden eyes looked into theirs as she said the next sentence seriously. "If you take it lightly, you will die. So don't hold back."

What the demon did next was out of their expectations. Yasenia and the people silently watching the show heard the demon say to the woman, "Now that the advantage is so clear, we can enter the doors first, right?"

The woman, who had prepared herself to fight to the death, was confused, "What do you mean? Isn't it obvious?" Then, she steeled herself and said, "However, even if you can kill us. Know that I will take with me as many of you as I can!"

The demon smiled and nodded, ignoring the woman's last declaration. "Good, I'm glad we reached a deal."

Then, he turned toward the others and ordered, "Let's go. It doesn't make sense to fight here. We have clear superiority, and entering the town should be our priority. I don't want the worms hiding to benefit from it while we fight."

The demons obeyed him instantly and moved toward the town with calm steps. All the non-demons were shocked at his declaration for a moment, freezing everyone on the spot. The demon's movements woke the non-demons up from their stupor, and they followed them toward the town with strange faces. They thought they would have to fight with their previous friends, but it was all avoided just like that, as if it was an illusion or something.

Yasenia clicked her tongue, "He is smarter than I thought...."

Angel frowned and asked, "What do we do, Yasenia? They will take your treasures!"

Yasenia's face became strange for a moment, 'My treasures? Since when were they mine?'

However, seeing her panicking baby, she smiled gently and hugged her into her embrace, "Don't worry, baby. Since they don't want to fight... What better thing other than forcing them to fight?"

Angel looked up at the gentle golden eyes and smiled sweetly, "En!"

Yasenia looked up and saw the Sun approaching the Noon position. Her mind spun for a moment, and then a sensual smirk appeared on her lips. 'Perfect~. I can use this to create an attack that can change the tides~.'

Although she had previously said she didn't want danger to come to them, she really wanted to gain priority when entering this town because it could hold many treasures for her dears. So she decided to fight against the demons so that they would be able to enter fast. 'If I let them fight from the backlines, they will be able to support me with minimum risk.'

Another detail pushed Yasenia to make that decision. Tatyana's bloody face was still clear in her mind, and the dragoness wanted to coat her sword with Demon blood. She wanted a life of a demon for each drop of her mother's spilled blood.

Therefore, Yasenia began using a skill she developed these months. It was a skill that covered one of the weaknesses of her skill set. That weakness our dragoness realized was that her major skills needed time to gather energy and reach their maximum potential. After looking for ways to remedy this, Yasenia thought of a simple, efficient, but somewhat difficult way. "Why don't I create a skill that lets me gather that energy without needing my normal skills?" And although creating skills was very, very difficult, that is what our dragoness exactly did.

She studied in depth how her skills absorbed the Sun, Moon, and Star energy and tried to replicate that effect without needing to use [Sunrise], [Crescent Moon], or other skills. It wasn't easy because she had to analyze these complex skills that even changed depending on the Sun's and Moon's position in the sky. Nonetheless, after just one month of hard work, Yasenia developed three skills, surprising Madeleine and Tatyana once again.

Yasenia named them: [Sun Assimilation], [Moon Assimilation], and [Star Assimilation].

These skills absorbed the respective energies, converting them into a form that was usable to consume with her strong skills like [Noon], [Full Moon], [Starfall], [Midnight], and others. Better, she could use these skills in combat passively, increasing her normal energy absorption. However, there were two limitations to these skills.

First, she couldn't use them for cultivating normally, only for combat.

Second, she needed to be extremely careful with them because if she gathered too much of one element, it might backlash and damage her heavily.

Furthermore, the dragoness had created these three skills two months ago, so she didn't have much time to practice them to perfection. But she learned to use them in most situations because her comprehension abilities were absurdly high.

Of course, this wasn't the only thing she had learned during these months. During her research of [Sunrise] and the others, she managed to create three more offensive skills, named [Sun Dragon claw], [Moon Dragon Claw], and [Star Dragon Claw]. Yasenia didn't know if they could grow in the future, but they were useful for her current strength.

Yasenia used [Sun Assimilation], and the Sun energy began converging toward her in a whirlpool. Of course, Yasenia didn't do this on purpose. It happened because of her lack of expertise with these new skills, making her unable to use these skills stealthily. The dragoness's objective was to be able to use these three skills as naturally as breathing, allowing her to charge energy even in hiding, but she still wasn't skilled enough. In short, when she used this skill, it made their hiding spot quite obvious to all parties.

Yasenia knew it and walked out of that spot, [Draconic Heart] in hand. The seductive dragoness's sashaying steps and the giant sword as big as herself were things that some people recognized. Even then, whether people knew her or not, Yasenia's presence made all the cultivators pause to look at her and instilled many different feelings in them, leading to all the creatures around looking at her with excitement, fear, lust, confusion, or other emotions.

Among all the creatures present, those that recognized her the most were the demons and beasts in human form. The leading demon was surprised at first but then smiled savagely. "Well, Well, Well. Isn't this one of our main targets? Hahaha, to show yourself with just three people before almost eighty demons so confidently... I don't know if to applaud you for your bravery or call you insane."

Yasenia smiled seductively and said, "Three? Who said we are only three people?"

Yasenia looked at the cultivators behind the demon and said, "How about forgetting about those demons and coming to my side? I think I'm better to look at that him~."

The demon looked at the cultivators and said menacingly, "If you dare to move, I will kill you with my own hands!"

Yasenia looked at the woman that had been confronting the demon and said, "See that? You should have done that when the demon began tempting your people. You were lucky he didn't want to attack you and was more interested in the town. Else, you would already be dead." Yasenia's words trailed, "Or worse. Who knows? He was looking at you with a lot of greed. Anyway, do you want to join hands?"

The woman looked at Yasenia and said calmly, "We are still just over thirty people against 120. How could we win this? Aren't you a little stupid appearing here to side with me?"

Yasenia nodded understandingly, "Well, it is normal to think like that. All of you around, it should be time to show and show these demons that they are not in charge of things here, right?"

At this point, Yasenia didn't know if there was someone that would step forward to fight with her. If there were, she would be glad and gain allies. If not, she would start her second plan, which was inciting those inside the demon ranks. Of course, she had her methods to do this since she understood that rule by fear collapses only in one condition. It is a simple but sometimes difficult to accomplish condition.

Moreover, worst case scenario, she could still use a life-saving treasure and teleport herself and her dears away. There were honestly almost zero risks in her tackling this so brazenly.

However, Yasenia didn't expect her words to move more people than she thought.

Chapter 217:

There were almost 40 creatures that joined Yasenia from the surroundings. They were beasts in human form, some beast humans, and some students from the Academy.

Yasenia understood why would the academy students come out since she had worked her popularity and connections during the last months. Still, she didn't understand the motivation behind the Beasts and beast-humans. Yasenia's head spun rapidly. 'Empathy? Not possible, even if one or two would maybe join because of this, it is not enough to move almost forty people.'

Yasenia internally frowned, 'Do they want to support someone like them who has influence in a continent filled with humans? Also not logical to do that by joining a group that seems to be about to be destroyed... I can't understand.'

There was one detail that went over Yasenia's head, her dearest mother! Why would this happen except for that number one daughter-con demigoddess outside the secret realm? Tatyana wasn't someone that would send her most precious little treasure inside a dangerous place without backup plans.

Before entering the secret realm, Tatyana had ordered all the beast clans under her one thing. To tell their juniors to help Yasenia if they could when they met with her inside the secret realm. Of course, saying it literally like that could lead to some backlash because of indignation, so Tatyana approached it cleverly with her tactics.

Like promising treasures, status, cultivation methods, or even beast cores. The language she used was also careful and meticulous, leading the beasts to suggest protection for Yasenia from their own mouths. Tatyana knew that even if she could force them, it would eventually lead to instability and revels appearing.

Moreover, The beasts obeyed because the seniors of each clan knew Yasenia's bloodline level was practically unheard of in the Sky Continent and its surroundings. Not even their ancestors had such a high-level bloodline. Hence, they all hoped that the now young dragoness would one day grow into a ruler leading the beasts to a prosperous era. Nonetheless, even with all of these schemes, there were a lot of voices against the motions in the beginning.

Still, could they fight with Tatyana's serious effort in making this go through? Tatyana's invisible but all-powerful hand could reach everywhere in the Sky Continent!

During Yasenia's growing period, especially after she entered the Academy, the Death Empress continuously bent or crushed those opposing opinions as she willed them with numerous and different tactics. All so that her little treasure would have something to rely on if the path she chose had a dead end.

Conquer the continents? Gain influence to become a ruler? Go against the main powers to gain resources for herself?

Wrong.

Tatyana practically played the whole Sky Continent and the surroundings on the palm of her hand just so her little treasure always had a safe netting. Something to cushion her dearest's fall should she ever fail during the dangerous, difficult, and long path called Cultivation.

Meanwhile, after seeing so many people going out confidently behind Yasenia, the same effect that happened when the demon incited those people occurred, this time in Yasenia's favor. Other humans hiding in the surroundings also took a step forward, adding fifteen more people. This left Yasenia's side with ninety people, including the woman and her followers.

Although our dragoness was internally surprised and didn't understand why so many people suddenly joined her, she didn't miss the chance and acted confidently and smiled at the demon. "Look how badly you count. I have 90 people by my side, not three."

The demon sneered and said, "Even with that number, isn't your overall strength lacking against us? We still have thirty more people, enough to kill all of you easily."

However, there was one detail that every person ignored because of the movement of the surroundings. Yasenia's skin had already gained a beautiful golden color, and even her tail was becoming completely golden as increasingly more Sun energy accumulated.

Yasenia looked at the humans behind the demon again and said. Her voice now carried pressure way higher than her cultivation level. "Last chance. If you revolt and fight against the demons right now, some of you will survive, and we will jump right in to aid you—"

The demon knew where this was going, and he wouldn't let something like that happen. As Yasenia spoke, he punched a human woman beside him without holding back. The woman didn't even know what happened when the demon's fist smashed the side of her head with enormous strength.

BANG!

The sickening sound of bones shattering and her head exploding like a watermelon followed, splashing the people at that side. This terrified all the humans nearby. The demon snarled, "Those who dare go against me will have a similar fate to this woman! So you better fight seriously."

Yasenia internally smirked, 'Fool, although it seems like you gained control, you've actually let me gain more terrain like this. Now there will be resentment growing in every single person below that fear. Below that fear, there is an ember that I can fuel in an uncontrollable inferno!'

Yasenia didn't even flinch at that woman's death and kept looking at the humans and beast humans next to the demon as if her eyes were trying to tell them there was a chance. Pushed by this, they began doing small movements and gathering together. Yasenia didn't want the demon to realize, so she continued clashing with the demon, taking his attention toward herself. "You are so scary~. You've made it impossible for me to influence those people with that movement."

The demon looked at Yasenia coldly, "You are much chattier than I expected. I thought that dragons were straightforward creatures. But one that humans have domesticated is truly a disappointment. I'm getting doubtful about our seniors' claims that you will be able to breed excellent demons."

Angel and Kali almost shot forward to blow his head off, but Yasenia's arms stopped them and placed them behind herself. When she saw that they positioned, Yasenia smiled. By now, she had accumulated a ton of Sun energy, and now it was time to fuel that ember with her scorching Sun.

Yasenia began speaking while clenching the handle of her sword a little tighter. "You have a sharp mouth. It would be a good provocation if your claims were true. A shame, you will soon realize your—"

And without a word, while she was speaking, she suddenly raised her sword and pointed at the sky, holding it with two hands above her head. The demon instantly realized that something was wrong. "Prepare for combat!"

While the demon gave that order, Yaseenia's aura ballooned and exploded with tremendous might, pushing everyone around her almost ten meters! Then, with a voice as imposing as the midday Sun, Yaseenia roared! "Good! Since you've chosen to revolt, I will give you a chance!"

The demon and the others felt Yaseenia's current aura release and opened their eyes with shock, hastily gathering energy, but it was too late. The demon cursed, 'Crap! I've still underestimated her strength!'

All the energy she gathered during the conversation gathered in [Draconic Heart] and magnified, exploding with blinding golden light. As if a second Sun manifested on the land. Then, Yaseenia took a step forward and lowered her sword with both hands, shooting toward them an enormous Solar beam with a blurred draconic silhouette.

"[NOON]!"

ROAR!

With a dragon cry, the beam zoomed with excessive speed toward the group of demons!

The humans that wanted to revolt took the chance, and instead of creating barriers like the rest of the people, they backstabbed the demons and other humans, attacking right at this moment! Even if only 15 out of the 120 did this, the attacks beside them were extremely effective, making many barriers collapse because of a concentration lapse from the backstab!

The demon's eyes became bloodshot, "They still played me!? Fucking humans!"

The worst thing was that even if they wanted to deal with those humans, the demons and others didn't have the chance because Yaseenia's attack was already before them!

Yaseenia's [Noon] attack collided with the numerous barriers like a hammer slamming on glass!

BOOM!

The blurred golden draconic attack broke most of the barriers but didn't manage to pierce through. However, this was the effect of only the draconic beam, and there wasn't only one beam! Thanks to [Noon] 's special effect, when used at noon hours, an enormous circular beam would fall from the sky with the same strength as the previous beam, impacting right after the draconic beam.

BOOOM!!* *CRASHCRASHCRASHCRASH!

The beam destroyed the remaining barriers and fell onto the group of demons with tremendous might. The attack was like Heavenly Judgment condemning Yaseenia's enemies.

The backstabbing humans had already left the group while the demons and their followers defended, so the attack didn't even touch them!

The scorching Solar beam charred all living beings under the sixth level of the Mental Nourishing realm and heavily injured all those under the Half-step realm.

The aftermath of the attack was scary to look at.

The group of demons had at least 20 dead people and many more injured ones. The humans who retreated were now on Yaseenia's side. This left 60+ people with the strength to fight on the demon's side facing off against 105 people on Yaseenia's side.

A single attack had turned the tables!

Everyone was looking at this with wide eyes. 'What the hell was that attack!?'

Yasenia's voice woke them up from their stupor, "What are you standing there for!? Attack!"

The people snapped out of their daze and charged forward. The Demons weren't stupid, so they decided to disperse around, fleeing from the group of cultivators. Some of them even ran toward the town's gates to try their luck. The head of the Demons was one of them as he shot directly toward the Heaven Gate. He was injured, but nothing serious, so he was confident of entering through the gate.

Yasenia followed behind him with Angel, Kali, and Sarah in tow. Even when she saw his direction, Yasenia didn't do anything to stop him, and she let him enter through the door. She was curious about the challenge in the door, so she wanted to use these injured demons to test their strength.

Yasenia saw that he had come to an abrupt stop when he was in the middle of the passage of the Heaven gate. Our dragoness could notice that he and the other demons suddenly stopping was intentional; something stopped them.

Yasenia also stopped and looked at him curiously. She was aiding the humans by shooting [Crescent Moon] and [Shooting Stars] with her tail toward other escaping demons. Angel had created the [Glass Golem Formation], and Kali had ordered the [Golden Crown] to rampage around together with them, summoning some dryads and treants to aid the golems and the [Golden Crown]. Like this, none of them moved from beside the others and still helped the rest of the cultivators.

Sarah was busy enough trying to ignore the absolute massacre going around to attack and holding back from collapsing. Even if she was strong, that was when fighting against non-human cultivators. In those fights, she could still argue that she was killing savage animals that would otherwise kill herself, just an escape mechanism. But it wasn't the same when fighting against humans.

It wasn't that Sarah was racist or anything, but being from a peaceful world where only humans live, she couldn't spontaneously develop empathy for the other races and creatures. Therefore, killing a human was much more difficult than killing a non-human. And even then, killing a non-human was still somewhat hard.

Yasenia ignored Sarah's plight and focused her interest on the demon. Suddenly, one blue lightning bolt struck the demon horizontally from the end of the gate. Yasenia observed closer and realized that the demon couldn't move even after the attack. She muttered, "So we can only receive the attacks passively."

Chapter 218:

After the demon entered the Heaven Gate, he prepared his serrated sword to receive the trial. The lightning that shot from the Gate bolted toward him extremely fast. Surprised by the lightning speed, the demon waved his jagged sword quickly. Darkness and magma attributes gathered around his blade to create a powerful attack.

BANG!

The attacks collided in a big explosion, damaging the injured demon. He only took a single step back, clearly having the strength to spare. Yasenia frowned, 'That's it? It should be much harder, right?'

While the demon leader resisted this lightning bolt, more demons arrived and tried to pass the gates. Even if they were smart, all of them were quite arrogant, so out of the twenty demons, 15 went to the Heaven gate, three to the Earth gate, and two to the Mortal Gate. Those who went to the mortal Gate were low-level demons who miraculously survived Yasenias [Noon] attack and were injured. Else, they would have tried to enter through the Earth Gate.

Yasenia resumed jogging lightly toward the Heaven Gate while lightly helping the people that were struggling with their fights, observing the other Demons. That blue lightning struck all of them once. And this revealed that the lightning was actually quite strong.

Out of the 15 that entered the Heaven Gate, that attack slammed ten of them so hard that they were blasted away with scorched bodies, completely dead. This surprised everyone observing the Heaven Gate so much that even the fighting people were distracted. It wasn't that the demons that were instantly overcooked were weak. Most of them were top-level Demon Viscounts and Viscountess, but they died so easily!

Yasenia observed that the lightning was also of the same strength in the Earth and Mortal gates, and when they shot, they killed almost every single one of them, making our dragoness even more confused. 'What's the point of placing various gates if the challenge is the same?'

The two in the mortal Gate died miserably without a chance even to fight back, and of the three in the Earth gate, two died, and the other remained standing half-dead. Yasenia heard the demoness in the Earth gate shouting that she still couldn't move and wanted to leave, saying words of surrender and things like that. Still, it seemed that once you began the trial, you couldn't stop.

Suddenly, a second bolt shot toward the unmoving demons at a much higher speed and strength than before, including toward the demoness in the Earth Gate.

RUMBLE!

The demon leader smashed it into pieces with another skill, but the strength it carried made him take seven steps back and damaged him, worsening his previous injuries. He was now grunting in pain as chunks of his wings and flesh were completely carbonized by the lightning.

Of the other four in the Heaven Gate, three died against this second bolt, turned into literal ashes, and the other one was heavily injured, unable to even stand. That demoness in the Earth gate couldn't even bear the lightning strength and directly exploded when the powerful energy invaded her body. Thankfully she was charred beyond recognition, so the show wasn't too visceral, as only black things spread around.

Yasenia was frowning deeply. She had even stopped attacking as she focused on the remaining two demons. 'Is there no difference between the gates? Maybe it doesn't matter which Gate you enter from? Is it a test of attitude? Something like those that enter from the Heaven gate won't receive rewards because they are arrogant? It shouldn't be like that, right?'

The woman who faced the Demon leader reached Yasenia's side at this moment and asked; her tone was gentle as it was thanks to Yasenia that she could still remain alive. "What are you thinking about, Yasenia? I see that you are frowning."

Yasenia didn't say anything as she was focused on the remaining two Demons. She saw an archer nocking an arrow from her periphery and preparing to shoot toward the Demons. The woman also saw it and was about to stop him, but Yasenia's tail coiled around her mouth, stopping her.

The woman's eyes opened wide as she looked at Yaseenia's calculating dragon eyes. As if she was looking at an interesting testing subject. A shudder went up the woman's spine as she watched the cold and emotionless eyes. 'I must definitely not offend this woman!'

The arrow left the bow with a small shockwave and shot rapidly toward them. The demon leader's face contorted with anger as he saw that arrow approach without being able to protect himself. However, he didn't have to worry. Everyone saw that arrow explode before it reached anywhere near the demons. The demon was about to laugh when a deafening rumbling sound was heard as blue electric currents danced around the arch of the Heaven Gate.

Yaseenia's heart sank, and her face became solemn as she grabbed Angel, Kali, Sarah, and the woman with her arms and tail, jumping away from that man with all her strength. The floor under her exploded as her body flashed in the distance, moving almost one kilometer away extremely quickly.

Then, a bolt of extremely thick lightning struck that archer before anyone could react. It was so wide that not even the strongest lightning Yaseenia had received from heavenly lightning could compare.

BOOOOOM!

An enormous explosion rocked the land and everything in a five-hundred-meter area around the impact point. That man and the people nearby were incinerated as paper would inside the hottest of fires. Yaseenia still had lingering fear as she muttered, "So, no interruptions."

The woman, Kali, Sarah, and Angel, were so shocked that they lost their voice for a moment, feeling their heart about to burst because of this near-death experience. Then, the woman asked Yaseenia with a slight tremble in her voice, "Why didn't you stop him? You saw him nock the arrow, right? You even stopped me from intervening! You could have saved the twelve lives that were lost!"

Yaseenia's golden indifferent eyes moved and locked into the woman's brown ones, making her feel suffocated. Yaseenia's current gaze had zero of the playfulness and seductiveness she normally revealed. "Why should I advise them? Even if we aren't enemies, we are rivals when getting treasures—one less person, more loot for me and my dears. Twelve less, then that is even better."

Yaseenia refocused on the demon that was laughing and cursing at everything he could. "Moreover, would you participate in those trials knowing people can always interrupt?"

Sarah and that woman had a chill going up their spines. 'Note to myself, avoid fighting for treasures with the dragoness!'

Even from their current distance, they heard another rumbling sound inside the Heaven Gate. It wasn't as overbearing as the previous one, but it wasn't weak by any means. A third bolt of lightning shot from the Heaven gate, much stronger than the previous two. Yaseenia's pupils thinned into vertical lines after feeling the power behind that lightning. 'Strong!' Yaseenia felt that its strength wasn't even comparable to the previous two.

The half-dead demon didn't even put up defenses as the lightning impacted him, creating another demon-sized charcoal piece.

The demon leader shouted as he gathered all the strength he could and slashed toward the powerful blue lightning bolt.

BOOM!

"AAARGH!!!"

An agonizing cry followed that explosion as a black body rolled on the ground, limp and without strength. There wasn't a single patch of the demon's reddish skin that remained undamaged. His right arm holding the sword was no more, and even three of his eight wings disappeared without a trace.

Nonetheless, Yaseia saw that he was still alive. Yaseia frowned and approached the Heaven Gate rapidly. 'Crap, will he be able to enter? I was careless thinking that he would die in the trials after being injured by myself.'

The heavens gate opened, letting the demon a way to walk in. The half-dead creature stood up and began walking toward the Heaven gate with pieces of himself falling off and his thoughts blurring. 'Yes, I will reach the town first! Hahaha.'

However, even if he survived the third bolt, it was too much for his body to maintain. After just five steps, his consciousness slipped, and the demon succumbed to his injuries, dying while standing and walking toward the opened Heaven Gate.

Yaseia stopped moving and looked at the demon deeply. Even if they were enemies, she could respect this kind of determination to move forward no matter the body's injuries. Yaseia walked forward and said, "Rest in Hell, Demon."

Yaseia then praised sincerely. "He was strong. If he weren't taken by surprise by my attack and entered the Heaven gate after being injured, he would have been able to pass it without injuries."

Kali nodded, "I wouldn't have a chance to fight back against him one on one. Even if I summoned the [Golden Crown], I would still be only able to run away."

Even Angel nodded, "Yeah, Kali and I would have had to join forces to fight against him. And even then, our winning chances would have been fifty-fifty!"

Yaseia patted them both and smiled, "Well, he is now dead, no need to worry- Huh? Are they stupid?"

Yaseia said that because she saw a cultivator shoot toward the heaven gate, aiming for the spatial rings that didn't break and were below the Heaven Gate. Angel saw that that man was only at the ninth level and asked cluelessly, "Why is he suiciding, Yaseia? I don't understand..."

Yaseia and Kali chuckled and saw from the sides. Yaseia said to that woman, "Aren't you going to stop him?"

The woman shrugged and said, "You convinced me. One less stupid person in my team would benefit me."

Yaseia laughed and saw how, without any suspense, the man was locked in place, unable to move, and struck by the blue lightning bolt. The bolt destroyed the man inside-out, creating another charcoal piece in the road.

Yasenia hummed, "So... We've seen that that lightning strength is the bare minimum to pass the trial unless...."

Yasenia looked at the Waste gate. "I suppose that gate should have smaller requirements to pass."

Angel pouted, "I'm not a waste! I refuse to pass through there!"

Yasenia patted her head and said, "However, baby. I don't want you to challenge the Heaven Gate. You have a high chance to die."

Angel shook her head and said, "I will go through the Heaven Gate! The first and second bolts are bearable! And if I use my summons and formations cleverly, I'm sure I will be able to survive against the third lightning bolt!"

Yasenia frowned and said, "Are you sure? I know you aren't a wallflower, but it is quite strong... Take a pill to strengthen- Wait, maybe it is illegal to do that too? Can we even use summons? Ugh, why isn't there something to tell me the rules!?"

Yasenia suddenly thought of something somewhat evil, 'Should I do that?'

Looking at Angel's big blue determined eyes, Yasenia sighed, 'Morality be damned, my baby's safety comes first!'

Yasenia looked around and found a male earth golem summoner that wasn't in the 105-people group that fought against the group of demons. Yasenia kissed Angel and Kali and said, "Wait for me here, my loves."

Angel and Kali nodded obediently. Since their dear dragoness had told them to wait there, not even gods could move them! Yasenia laughed gently at their determined eyes and turned toward the man with a calculative light dancing in her slit eyes. Then, she began walking with sensual movements toward him, attracting attention toward herself.

The man with three earth golems behind him was thinking about which Gate to take when he heard steps approaching and looked in that direction, only for his brain to freeze. Walking toward him was a sashaying, tall, and voluptuous dragoness with a face that could charm gods and mortals alike. Her seductive smile on those oh-so-kissable moist lips was making his heart go astray. The charming golden slit eyes that were unmistakably locked onto him had their ends slightly raised, hooking his heart away. He subconsciously gulped. 'Shit, who is this goddess, and why is she walking toward me with that gaze!?'

Yasenia showed a blush and cut eye contact with the man for a moment, but then as if recovering, she looked again toward him with doe eyes and walked more confidently toward him. These confident steps only made her softness jiggle more apparently, elevating her own charm. 'She is so cute but sexy when she showed embarrassment! My heavens, thanks for making me attractive to her!' The man was about to die of a heart attack because of excitement before Yasenia even reached his side.

When the big beauty reached his side, her voice caressed his hearing sense, making his body tense. Yasenia's voice was mellow and slightly low, seducing even his soul away. "Big brother~, Are you planning on entering the town?"

Chapter 219:

When the big beauty reached his side, her voice caressed his hearing sense, making his body tense. Yaseenia's voice was mellow and slightly low, seducing even his soul away. "Big brother~, Are you planning on entering the town?"

The man had to look up slightly since Yaseenia was taller than him by half a head. However, this only made Yaseenia's seductiveness more prominent in his eyes. Yaseenia leaned forward slightly to be at eye level, accentuating her voluptuous figure and attractive facial features.

The man's heart pounded as he involuntary stammered, "I-I was planning on that, yes. Why is l-l-little sister asking?"

'Fuck me, why am I speaking like a fucking virgin!?'

He saw how her beautiful straight eyebrow lifted, amused at his stutter, and heard her speak with a smile in her voice, "Little sister? You are very cute, but this little sister is not little in any place~ fufufu~."

The man looked down and gulped again, "E-En, not small at all."

Yaseenia approached even closer, carrying her sweet floral scent with her, and whispered sensually, "Strong big brother~, I have two pills that will aid us with the gates. Do you want to cross with me~?"

The man felt blood rush to his two heads and shouted in his upper head, 'Yes, yes, yes! Important things must be said three times!'

He wanted to show courageousness to compensate for his previous blunder, so he nodded, puffing his muscular chest. "Of course, little sister just has to follow after me! I will protect you, so you only have to walk behind me."

He said it like this because he sensed Yaseenia's cultivation was only in the sixth level while he was in the ninth. 'I have to protect the big beauty! I'm sure she will be grateful and ma-maybe I will receive unexpected rewards! So excited!'

Yaseenia laughed charmingly and answered with a smile, "So courageous~. I will trust big brother~." Internally, however, she was thinking with pity, 'I'm sorry, random stranger. Sometimes sacrifices must be made.'

From the side, Angel and Kali saw the exchange calmly. In their minds, there wasn't anything that could shake their trust in Yaseenia. Even if Yaseenia suddenly kissed him or something, they would wait patiently for Yaseenia to return and explain her reasons. But they wouldn't have to worry because something like that wouldn't happen.

Sarah, however, felt uncomfortable in her heart. She hadn't been able to advance in their relationship too much while coming here, so she was feeling jealous of that man that was gaining Yaseenia's attention. Small feelings of jealousy naturally grew in her heart, 'Why is she being so flirty with a man? Doesn't she like women? She is too close.'

When she looked at Angel's and Kali's calm faces, she was even more disgruntled. 'Why aren't they being affected by this?'

Sarah asked, "Are you going to let her flirt like that? Don't you feel jealous? You should stop her."

Kali and Angel looked at Sarah, confused. Angel asked, "Jealous? Why would we be?"

Sarah frowned, feeling wronged. 'Is their love so small that they don't care about what she does with other people? Or maybe being in her harem has desensitized them from Yaseenia getting close with other people?'

Sarah asked with a little hostility in her voice, "Aren't you jealous of her interaction with that man? She is practically plastering herself on him. Look at them!"

Angel and Kali looked at how Yaseenia was hugging the man's side and squishing his arm between her breasts, but in their eyes, they also saw how Yaseenia's tail always slapped his hand away when he tried to touch her indecently.

Moreover, even if they were close, Yaseenia's body signals weren't eliciting closeness for them but a predator's attitude while slowly making her prey fall in her claws. Therefore, more than jealousy, they felt pity for that man. Kali sighed, "Jealous of the man that may die shortly after? I feel more pity for him than any other thing. Yaseenia's company should be a good reward before he passes away."

Sarah's eyes opened wide, and her thoughts became sluggish, not understanding how she reached such a conclusion. "Die? What are you talking about? Why should he be about to die? Did he do something wrong?"

Angel was about to explain, but Kali hugged Angel from behind, placing her tail in front of her to distract her. Kali was 170 cm tall, so she was tall enough to hug Angel comfortably from behind. Our baby saw the fluffy fox tail waving before her, and her thoughts drifted to the wide light green bushy tail, starting to pet it. 'Wow~ so soft~.'

Kali smiled gently under the veil seeing Angel's reaction. Our fox wasn't very fond of Sarah, but she could stand her presence since she was a naive woman who was inevitably falling in love with their dear dragoness. Still, unlike Angel, Kali didn't miss her previous hostile tone, lessening that small goodwill she previously had. Kali said with a calm tone, "Sarah, just look, and you will understand. Sometimes, even if we must be ruthless, sacrifices have to be made. Oh, look, they are already in front of the gates."

They all focused again on the dragoness that was dragging the man by the arm, squishing his arm between her breasts. More people were focusing on them, especially those who knew Yaseenia. Many of these spectators knew about Yaseenia's sexual orientation, so they were sure that this clever dragoness was cooking something under her seductive gestures toward the man. "Big brother, which gate should we enter?"

The man was currently feeling in heaven. He was really tempted to say the Heaven Gate to impress the beauty, but he wasn't confident. Even if he wanted to brag, he wanted more to survive to enjoy the big things pressing on his side later. Therefore, he said, "How about we try the Mortal gate? With little sister's cultivation, this Gate should be good enough. I don't mind passing through a lower-level one for your sake."

The man said with righteousness, "I will give up my chance to enter through the Heaven gate so that we can be together, little sister!"

Yaseenia said in a coquettish voice, "Big brother is so mighty and caring~. Here, this pill will strengthen big brother and me. I don't want anything bad to happen to big brother." Yaseenia used her fingers and fed him the pill while looking at his eyes. The man took slight advantage to lick

Yasenia's finger, making Yasenia flinch slightly and chuckle, "Such a bad boy~. I will punish you later."

After Yasenia's teasing and swallowing the middle-level Earth-ranked pill, the man almost couldn't hold back from directly kissing Yasenia! 'She is such a goddess! I'm going to work hard to marry this woman!'

Yasenia looked at the excited man with pity as she stealthily cleaned her finger in her robes, 'I'm sorry for playing with you. However, thankfully you have chosen the Mortal Gate, so you may survive if the Gate doesn't react to pills or summons.'

Yasenia said with a seductive whisper, "Big brother, how about you go first and show little sister your handsome appearance? I will be cheering on you and might reward big brother later if you impress me~."

After hearing her whispers, the man's body was tense in more than one sense! Then, reluctantly separating from the fragrant and seductive body, he took wide strides toward the Gate, "Just look, little sister! This Gate will be a piece of cake for big brother!"

Yasenia cheered, jumping up and down, "Go, big brother, you can do it!"

The man looked back only to see Yasenia jumping. The poor man and many people in the surroundings almost tripped, 'BIG HEAVENS, THE BOUNCE! How can a body be so jiggly!? It is criminally attractive!'

The man looked back toward the Gate and let other thoughts aside, taking deep breaths to relax his body. Then, he took out a sword and walked toward the Gate, feeling the power from the pill in his body. Yasenia stopped cheering and became extremely calm as if another personality had switched with her. 'Well then, Mortal Gate. Will you allow him to take the trial normally?'

The man felt the spiritual pressure locking him in place, as he had seen before, and the blue lightning rumbled on the end of the Mortal Gate. Then, the bolt shot toward him. The man placed his three summons in front of the lightning as he prepared to receive the attack.

Yasenia observed with delight that the lightning wasn't any stronger than the previous times. 'Not only is the lightning bolt the same, but the summons can also move around and block lighting. Moreover, the Gate hadn't reacted to the pill he ingested. Good, with this I can be more at ease letting Kali and Angel challenge the Heaven Gate.'

The lightning actually destroyed the three summons and reached the man. Nonetheless, it was very weakened. The man swung his sword with all his strength, colliding with the bolt!

BANG!

The man took three steps back while charring wounds appeared on his body because of the dreadful lightning. However, he survived in quite good health thanks to the temporary strengthening effect of the pill.

Then, he prepared for the next bolt activating more strengthening skills, but he suddenly felt the spiritual pressure dissipate and saw the door opening. He thought with delight, 'So the Mortal Gate only has one bolt! Good!'

Until now, besides the Demons, a very small number of people had attempted the Gates. None of them had managed to pass the trial, so he was actually the first to overcome the test. All thanks to Yaseenia since, if it weren't for her, he would have probably chosen the Earth or Heaven Gate, leading to another death.

Yaseenia was also surprised, 'Don't tell me... Is the Mortal one bolt, the Earth two, and the Heaven three? Was it a coincidence that the demons attempting them died in the last bolt, making it appear like the same trial?'

Yaseenia laughed wryly, 'Maybe even if you pass the heaven gate with tricks, the challenges inside would kill that cultivator anyway? Well, this is good news.'

Suddenly, Yaseenia heard the man's voice call her with excitement. "Little sister, have you seen big Brother's handsome appearance? Do you think you can do it?"

Yaseenia stopped her thoughts, 'Right, what to do with him... I targeted him because he seemed like someone bad at first glance, but he was quite a gentleman. He even didn't try higher gates to accompany me.'

Of course, Yaseenia didn't blame his flirty actions. It was her who approached like she wanted something to do with him, and he answered accordingly. In this situation, Yaseenia was the 'bad guy.'

Yaseenia hummed and said, "I don't think so, big brother. The lightning bolt is too strong... I will go to another place, good luck, big brother!"

Then after waving, Yaseenia turned and left, leaving a stunned person at the gates. 'W-Why didn't that go as expected... But, thinking about it, if the lightning can damage me so much, it might truly be dangerous for my little sister. Don't worry, little sister, I will-'

The man opened his eyes wide when she saw Yaseenia reach Angel's and Kali's side and kiss them on the lips. Worse, the big beauty picked the blonde girl up between her arms, and the other person accommodated in that embrace with extreme familiarity. 'W-What's happening? Why do I feel the horses running on my head?'

Then, he saw Yaseenia take that group of girls toward the Heaven gate as if she were the leader of that group. Something clicked in his currently green head, 'I've been duped. FUCK!'

But remembering the pill, he relaxed. He scratched his head and sighed, 'Well, at least I could pass this challenge easily, thanks to that pill. Sigh, I should have followed my grandpa's teachings, Do not trust beautiful women if they approach so blatantly. They always have a secret agenda!'

The man shook his head and entered the town through the Mortal Gate. Yaseenia saw his reaction and was greatly surprised, 'There is no malice within him? Now I feel bad... I almost guided to his death a very good guy.'

Angel saw Yaseenia's face and kissed her cheek, "What's wrong, Yaseenia? Does something hurt?"

Yaseenia turned to kiss her dear baby and said, "Nothing wrong. Let's continue toward the Heaven Gate."

Angel smiled sweetly and nodded, "En!"

Yaseenia sighed with a smile, 'I feel my soul healing just looking at her innocent and cute face.'

Yasenia rubbed her face on Angel, making her giggle, and trying to get infected by her baby's pureness. "I love you, Angel."

Chapter 220:

After nuzzling with Angel a little bit in a lovely exchange, Yasenia said, "Although this is a guess. It is quite easy to see that the Mortal Gate shoots one lightning, the Earth Gate shoots two, and the Heaven Gate shoots three. Which one will you choose?"

Angel looked at Yasenia and said with conviction, "Since external aid is okay to use. I will go to the Heaven Gate."

"No." Was what Yasenia wanted to answer. How she wished Angel and Kali wouldn't take the high risk that the Heaven gate posed and entered through the Earth Gate. However, she knew that they were their own person, and they were also strong.

Yasenia said as a last desperate attempt at changing Kali's and Angel's intentions. "I know you are strong and you want to prove yourself, but remember that demon. Are you confident in defeating him? You are not, right? The Heaven Gate was able to kill him."

Angel frowned and said, "But that was because he was weakened! Didn't you also say that he would be able to pass without problems with the proper preparation? If he can, then so do I."

Yasenia shot herself in the foot with her previous comments! She looked at Angel and sighed, defeated by those determined big blue eyes. "Well, you are not a weak woman. First, see if your summons are allowed. If they are, then you can try the Heaven gate. Kali, I will tell you the same; unless your summons are allowed, you can only go through the Earth Gate."

Kali and Angel nodded seriously. They have been training these months, and although they can't win against Yasenia in a spar, they aren't weak by any means. Moreover, if their summons couldn't accompany them inside the Heaven Gate, they would be the first to change their objective toward the Earth Gate.

Even if they had their own pride, you have to ask yourself this.; what is more important? Being able to impress Yasenia, showing their courage and strength by passing the Heaven Gate? Or being able to remain alive to receive Yasenia's pampering? That's right, that isn't even a question!

When they approached the Heaven gate, the people surrounding the gates observed them. Besides that man Yasenia helped, there haven't been many more people entering. Those that managed to enter went through the Mortal Gate, and there were even some people that passed through the Waste Gate. Yasenia had seen through her periphery that there wasn't a trial for those that crawled through that Gate or, more appropriately, that hole in the wall.

Kali summoned five dryads and commanded them to enter through the Gate. The Gate didn't react and let the summons pass. But when they were about to pass without a trial, an invisible aura burst the five dryads into pieces. They didn't even have a chance to resist as their bodies exploded.

Yasenia nodded, "So you can fight with them, but if the summons tries to advance past the Gate, they will be eliminated."

Angel golems had a similar reaction, letting Yasenia be at ease. Yasenia looked at them and smiled, "Baby, Honey go for it. I will be looking from here."

They both nodded and prepared. Angel summoned ten Glass Golems and strengthened them all she could with different skills.

Kali summoned a total of ten treants and five caster dryads, all led by the [Golden Crown]. She also used her reinforcement skills on them, but she reserved some for later.

The reasons they didn't summon more were two. The first and less important one, because the Gate's corridor wasn't too wide, but they could have summoned double the summons to enter without a problem. The second and most important one was that their reinforcement skills couldn't be applied to many summons. Their current summons already occupied a big part of their meridian energy flowing capacity, so summoning more and buffing them will only increase their energy consumption and meridian strain.

This was one of the reasons that people didn't just spam skills in combat and used attacks. It was like lifting a weight, you can do it continuously, but even if the weight is small, it will eventually lead to the person's incapability to hold them longer. The skills also had their own "weight" when they used them.

Then, they went forward and entered the wide and tall Heaven gate with confident steps. Yasenias whole body was as taut as a tensed bow, prepared to shoot forward at any moment. Even Sarah and the other woman could feel Yasenias tension and aura.

The moment they stepped into the corridor leading toward the inside of the town, two lightning bolts charged and shot toward Angel and Kali simultaneously.

Angel and Kali weren't stupid, so they didn't waste their summons with the weak lightning, tanking it themselves. They rather become somewhat injured than lose one summon to this relatively weak lightning.

Angel used her shield and reinforced it with [Glass Enhancement], a variation from Andrea's [Metal Enhancement]. When the lightning was about to hit, Angel slanted the shield perfectly to let most of the lightning rebound. This lightning wasn't only pure energy and had some physical qualities. Hence, this tactic worked.

As Angel expected, when the lightning collided with her shield, it created a big explosion that didn't carry much strength. This explosion sent Angel sliding back one meter with a hurting arm. However, her feet didn't leave the ground, and her face remained focused. Her injuries weren't big enough to decrease her combat capabilities.

Kali, on the other hand, told her Dryad casters to use their [Root Walls] together with herself and the [Golden Crown]. The lightning sped rapidly and collided with the five [Root Walls], destroying them one by one. There wasn't any suspense.

The first wall burst apart, the second wall had an enormous hole, the third wall's hole was smaller, and it continued to reduce when it impacted the fourth one. By the time it reached the fifth wall, it was weakened enough to only leave a hole big enough to let a person slide through it. After overcoming the first five walls, it smashed onto Kali's wall, only leaving a dent, unable to pass it.

The first lightning thus was overcome quite easily by the two girls. The people around opened their eyes with wonder and exclaimed. "Those two are powerful!"

"Someone knows who the little fairy is? I want to marry her!"

"I wouldn't try my luck with her. I think she is one of the women of the Heavenly Dragoness's harem."

"The mysterious fox girl also looks attractive. Look at that perfect body proportions!"

"I agree with the brother here. Her body is just right to snuggle into a man's embrace!"

"Tsk. I had heard that all the women attracted to her were beautiful, but I didn't expect someone like that little blonde girl. What a waste! Can't you have just beast-humans and leave the human women to us?"

"Right, she can't even give them children. A relationship between women is bound to fail, or end up adding a man in between."

Yasenia's eyebrow twitched with annoyance, 'Why is it a waste? Do you want to speak with my tail to see if it is a waste or not? Moreover, who can give them more powerful and beautiful children than me?'

Still, even if she was somewhat annoyed, she was more proud than anything else, 'Umu, umu, kept praising them! I know they are genius~ They are my carefully nurtured dears after all!' Therefore, because she was in a good mood and still worried, she didn't say anything and continued watching Kali and Angel.

Sarah frowned, "Aren't they too backward in their thinking?"

Yasenia and the woman were confused and were about to ask, but the rumbling sound of the Gate made their attention refocus on the situation before them.

The second Lightning bolt shot out!

Kali and Angel didn't change strategy, except the two of them put two summons before the lightning.

Angel used two of her ten Glass Golems. Angel's eyes cleverly flashed as she first sent one of them running toward the lightning, leaving the other before her. When the first Golem was about to get hit by the fast lightning, Angel's silvery voice chanted, "[Golem Explosion]!"

A laser shot from Angel's shield, hitting the Golem instantly. Then, the Golem shone with multicolored light for a second and exploded powerfully. The rainbow-colored explosion was extremely strong and reduced the lightning's strength by half.

Angel didn't do the same with the second one and reinforced it with all her strength. The rest of the lightning landed on the Golem standing before herself. The power was too great for the reinforced Golem, bursting it into pieces. Angel observed the lighting becoming weaker but not disappearing.

Angel prepared her shield, and like before, she parried the lightning masterfully, sliding even less than with the first. Angel thought, 'So exploding them is more effective than letting them block... Good to know.'

The quick-witted little Angel sent the two golems instead of only one for this reason. She wanted to test which method was more effective to counter the third bolt better.

Meanwhile, Kali used a new skill she acquired called [Overgrowth]. The skill would make one of her plant summons berserk, increasing its strength exponentially. Kali had tested that a single Treant with [Overgrowth] could fight against five treants without it. However, the cost was that the summon would die after using it for a short while.

[Overgrowth] was created after her recent research in life energy; it ignited the life energy inside the summon to strengthen it temporarily. The other limitation was that she could only strengthen two summons simultaneously, similar to the previous limit of her skill [Nature's Blessing]. Even so, after ingesting the [Attribute enhancement pills], Kali had more mastery over the Life and Nature attributes, elevating [Nature's Blessing] to five summons.

However, even if the summons would die shortly after the activation, in this case, it was worth it since the powerful lightning would obliterate them anyway.

The lightning bolt smashed the first empowered treant, blasting it into pieces, and continued forward. The second treant's fate wasn't any different as the bolt's power crushed it and zoomed toward the remade wooden walls. Then, Five continuous explosions signified the destruction of five out of the six [Root Walls]. The weakened lightning bolt managed to smash through the last wall and rapidly approached Kali.

It was clear that the difference in strength from the first to the second bolt was high.

Kali took out her sword and swung it toward the lightning bolt with all her strength.

Sword and lightning clashed, creating a shockwave and moving Kali some steps back. However, the lightning was so weakened that it only did slight burn damage to her skin. Kali didn't even flinch at that level of pain.

The people around went crazy with excitement!

"They are so powerful!"

"Worthy of Academy students. Even if they are in the eighth level, they aren't any weaker than a half-step!"

"I really want to see that veiled woman's face. With that much talent and elegance when waving her sword, she must be fairy-like under the veil."

Yasenia's smile was now wide and prideful, and her tail wagged happily. 'Of course they are excellent! Praise them, praise them more!' Yasenia really wanted to shout to the world that those excellent women were hers, but Yasenia knew that it was far from over, and her body was still extremely tense.

At this moment, the third lightning came into being and rumbled with terrible momentum, making Yasenia's tail stiffen together with the rest of her body. Her pupils were thinned to vertical lines as she leaned forward. The accumulated strength inside of her was so high that the floor under Yasenia was cracking slowly, her toe-tip sinking into the floor slightly. Just a small trigger, and our dragoness would become a literal arrow as she zoomed forward.

Angel had placed the remaining eight golems in front of her, ready to blow all of them up. However, this wasn't all. After training a lot with Yasenia and Tatyana, their battle approaches have become cautious but proactive, which means that no matter the strength of their adversaries, they would always assume that their opponent is stronger than what appears on the surface. Slowly but surely, they are becoming people that would hunt a rabbit with all their strength before confirming that it was indeed a normal rabbit.

Therefore, Angel had prepared another formation for this last lightning. It was her reliable [Laser Prison Formation]. As Angel chanted, the glass nodes in the surrounding lit up and shot colorful lights in different directions, creating a beautiful geometrical pattern. During these months, Angel improved this formation and was able to skip the combination step, making its creation much swifter.

The third lightning shot out with a terrible rumbling sound! Kali and Angel looked at it with serious gazes as they used their resources without holding back!