

HEAVEN SENT 1

Chapter 1 Ruin

In the Su Mansion.

Everyone was in a festive mood.

Because today, the daughter of the head of the Su family, Su Bei, was finally getting married to her beloved fiance, Du Luo.

The reflection in the mirror showed her finely carved features. She was like a masterpiece drawn by God on a canvas.

She was wearing a strapless wedding dress that enhanced her collarbones and made them more eye-catching.

The carefully tailored wedding dress hugged her slender figure tightly. And its beautiful, full-length ruffles made the eighteen-year-old Su Bei look more feminine.

In S Country, the legal age to get married was eighteen. So after her eighteenth birthday, Su Bei decided to marry Du Luo, the man she had loved for several years.

Although she had drunk a lot at her bridal shower last night, she still got up early to freshen up.

The day was breaking, and the sky was just turning bright outside as the sun was beginning to rise slowly from the east.

“Miss Bei, everything is ready now. It’s still early. Why don’t you rest for a while? We will come back for your makeup in two hours,” suggested the staff who was helping her dress up with a smile.

“Okay.” Su Bei looked at the dark circles under her eyes in the mirror and nodded.

She still felt a little groggy because she drank too much last night. So she picked up the glass on the table and drank two mouthfuls of water.

When the staff left, a maid came in with a pot of bird’s nest soup and put it in front of Su Bei.

Su Bei filled a small bowl with the soup, and gulped down two mouthfuls of it. Maybe because she drank too much wine last night, the tip of her tongue was bitter. The soup tasted a little strange to her.

After finishing the soup in the small bowl, she didn’t eat more. She just sat on the sofa and closed her eyes.

A few minutes later, the door of her room was gently pushed open, and someone came in quietly.

Su Bei didn’t fall asleep. She secretly half-opened her eyes and glanced around. She found out that the person who came in was Su Huixian, her half-sister.

Su Bei's stepmother was the one who had broken her parents' marriage, so she despised her stepmother and Su Huixian. She had never bothered to get along with them. So she wondered what Su Huixian was doing in her room right now.

Su Huixian took a quick glance at the empty bowl. Her mouth curved into a wicked smile as she lowered her head to look at Su Bei. "Su Bei, do you really think you can marry Du Luo? I am the real daughter of the head of the Su family. You will never know what is in this bowl of bird's nest soup. But I will make sure that you enjoy your wedding night in advance."

She then took out her phone, and dialed a number. "Are the two bodyguards I have arranged especially for Su Bei ready? Tell them to come here now."

Su Bei opened her eyes wide in shock upon hearing what Su Huixian had said. She knew that Su Huixian had never liked her. But she didn't expect that Su Huixian was this vicious.

It seemed that Su Huixian wanted to drug her and found someone to rape her. Such a vicious woman!

Su Bei stood up and sneered. Su Huixian heard some movements, so she turned around. Seeing Su Bei standing in front of her, she took a few steps back. "You... you are not asleep?"

"Su Huixian, it must have been very hard for you to pretend to be a good daughter in the Su family for a long time. Do you feel comfortable now that you have finally taken off your mask?" Su Bei said with a hint of mockery in her cold eyes.

"I don't understand what you mean." Su Huixian's face turned deathly pale. She was so scared to be exposed that her nails dug into her palms, and she couldn't dare to meet Su Bei's eyes.

Su Bei grabbed Su Huixian's wrist. She was taller than Su Huixian, so she blocked the way, not giving Su Huixian a chance to run away.

Chapter 2 Enough Is Enough

Su Bei used her other hand to pinch Su Huixian's chin, forcing her to open her mouth wide.

There was a rare coldness in Su Bei's lazy voice when she said, "No matter what's in this soup, it's yours now."

She then let go of Su Huixian's wrist, picked up the pot of bird's nest soup, and poured it into Su Huixian's mouth.

Su Huixian struggled desperately, shaking her head. But she couldn't break free from Su Bei's grip, so she had no other choice but to let Su Bei shove the bird's nest soup into her mouth indiscriminately.

"I didn't... Su Bei... You... Let go of me!" Su Huixian was choking and coughing nonstop. With a pitiful look on her face, she shook her head vigorously.

The door suddenly opened, and a handsome man strode in. Seeing the scene, he immediately grabbed Su Bei's wrist and pulled her away from Su Huixian.

He was utterly surprised. "Su Bei, what are you doing?"

“Du Luo, you’re just in time. Su Huixian put some drugs in the bird’s nest soup. She has also asked some bodyguards to rape me. Good thing I’ve seen through her soon. Now, I am letting her eat up the bird’s nest soup,” Su Bei replied calmly. A trace of contempt was visible in her beautiful eyes.

The gentle look on Du Luo’s face changed when he heard what Su Bei said. “Is it true?”

Su Huixian shook her head pitifully. “No, it isn’t. How can I do such a thing? Su Bei, I know that you don’t like me, and I can tolerate that. But how can you frame such a vicious thing against me? Mr. Luo, I really didn’t do that...”

Looking at her pitiful face, Du Luo felt a little sorry for Su Huixian. He then turned to Su Bei and said, “Su Bei, you are already the precious daughter of the head of the Su family. No one can take that position from you. Why do you have to do this to Huixian?”

Du Luo’s words sounded so harsh in Su Bei’s ears, and she also felt uneasy upon hearing him calling her half-sister only Huixian. When did they become so close?

“Are you suspecting that I am deliberately framing her?” she asked, looking at Du Luo in disbelief.

“It’s okay for you to be willful at times. But you have to know that there are things you can’t just joke about,” Du Luo said to Su Bei. He then looked at Su Huixian with pity in his eyes and added, “Huixian always puts up with you. But enough is enough.”

Su Bei stared at Du Luo’s handsome face. Seeing his self-righteous look, she felt so ridiculous.

She then asked in a sarcastic tone, “You believe her instead of me?”

Du Luo turned his face sideways, his fists clenching in his pockets. He didn’t answer her question.

“What is going on here? Why are you fighting again?” Su Xingfu, Su Bei’s father, and his wife, Xu Zhiqin, rushed into the room together.

Su Huixian immediately threw herself into Xu Zhiqin’s arms and cried aggrievedly, “Mom, I really didn’t drug Su Bei. I also did not find someone to rape her. How could I do such a thing to her?”

The expression on Xu Zhiqin’s face slightly changed. “Su Bei, there may be some sort of misunderstanding here, right?”

“I’ve heard everything she said with my own ears. She even called someone to tell the bodyguards to come to my room. How can it be a misunderstanding?” Su Bei said.

Su Huixian cried bitterly. “How can I do such a heartless thing and ruin your life? Doing such a thing will also ruin my own life. Do you think I am not afraid of being in jail?”

Xu Zhiqin’s voice was full of pain when she said, “Hubby, I believe that Huixian will never do such a thing. But since it seems that we can’t reconcile th

Chapter 3 Losing Everyone’s Trust

Su Xingfu waved his big hand and ordered, "Call the family doctor over to check what's in the bird's nest soup."

He knew that his two daughters had never gotten along. Su Bei, the daughter of his first wife, was the spoiled one, while Su Huixian, the daughter of his second wife, was more tolerant. Only with solid evidence could they solve this conflict.

The family doctor soon arrived with professional tools and began examining the soup.

"Huixian, give me your phone," Su Xingfu added.

"Su Bei knocked it to the ground! I haven't touched it until now," Su Huixian cried pitifully.

Su Xingfu picked up the phone from the ground and opened the call log. It showed that a call had been made around ten minutes ago, and the time matched what Su Bei had claimed.

Su Bei took a sideways glance at the call log. She wanted to see how Su Huixian could deny it with this solid evidence.

Su Xingfu dialed the unknown number that the call had been made to. Soon, an automated voice said, "Please press 1 for balance inquiries, and press 2 for the payment..."

Su Bei's pretty face darkened. How could this be? Just now, Su Huixian had called someone right in front of her eyes and asked some bodyguards to come over to rape her, but she had snatched the phone away before Su Huixian could finish her words. Therefore, it was impossible for the call log to have been tampered with.

However, the call log clearly proved that the last call had been made to the telecommunications company.

Everyone looked at Su Bei with suspicion and disappointment.

Su Huixian cried bitterly, as if she had suffered a great grievance.

Su Bei clenched her fists tightly. How could it be? Something didn't add up.

Fortunately, the family doctor could be trusted, so she turned to him and asked, "Doctor Wen, what have you found?"

"Miss Bei, there is nothing strange in the bird's nest soup," Doctor Wen replied softly.

"But it tasted strange when I ate it. And Su Huixian even admitted that she drugged it..." Back then, Su Huixian had spoken in such a cold tone that the memory was clearly etched in Su Bei's mind.

"There's really nothing strange in it, Miss Bei," Doctor Wen emphasized again.

"Su Bei, I told you, I've never wanted to hurt you." Su Huixian still looked aggrieved, immediately gaining sympathy from everyone who saw her.

Du Luo also looked at her gently to comfort her.

Compared with Su Bei, who was poised and elegant even in this situation, Su Huixian looked pitiful.

Finally, an idea flashed through Su Bei's mind.

She suddenly understood everything! From the beginning, there had been no drug in the soup. Su Huixian had pretended to make that phone call. She had orchestrated the whole situation to trick Su Bei into accusing her, so that when the truth was revealed, Su Bei would be unable to defend herself, and would lose everyone's trust.

Turning around to look at her father, Su Bei explained anxiously, "Dad, I know what's going on. Su Huixian did all this on purpose to..."

Before Su Bei could finish, Su Xingfu slapped her across the face.

Everyone was slightly shocked by the slap.

The atmosphere turned awkward and uncomfortable.

Su Huixian, who was standing behind Su Xingfu, raised her chin and flashed a triumphant smile at Su Bei.

However, Su Bei was not in the mood to look at Su Huixian. She covered her burning cheek and looked at her father in disbelief.

Chapter 4 Going Straight to the Civil Affairs Bureau

Su Bei looked at her father, who had always been nice to her and had never hurt her!

Su Xingfu's face turned livid with anger. "Su Bei, I know that you've always had a grudge against Huixian. But I never expected that you'd come up with such a vicious plan to frame her and destroy her image in my heart. It's all my fault. I'm the one who always coddled you and let you become so devious!"

He had lost all his trust in Su Bei. Covering her burning cheek, Su Bei looked at Du Luo, hoping that at least he would believe her. Today, he was her groom, so he would certainly believe her.

"Du Luo..." Before she could finish her words, however, she was interrupted by Du Luo.

His gentle face was serious at the moment, and his mellow eyes had turned cold. He said in a heavy voice, "Su Bei, you've really disappointed me."

He looked at Su Bei ruthlessly, as if he was looking at a stranger. But when he turned to Su Huixian, his eyes filled with intense sympathy and pity.

Su Bei was shocked by his words. Although she was angry, she couldn't help but find the situation ridiculous and suddenly laughed out loud. How had she become the target of public criticism today?

She had never cared much about Xu Zhiqin and Su Huixian before. In her eyes, Xu Zhiqin was a home wrecker, so naturally, she had hated the mother and daughter and everybody knew it.

Nevertheless, she had always thought that it was beneath her to set them up.

But today, those two women had not only set her up, but they had also gained sympathy from Su Xingfu and Du Luo.

At this moment, what broke Su Bei's heart the most was not the scheming minds of Xu Zhiqin and Su Huixian, but the distrust of her own father and fiancé!

From the beginning, they had let their feelings cloud their judgment. They had labeled Su Bei as the troublemaker in their hearts. They had wanted evidence just to help them confirm their doubts.

Su Bei had always thought that she was the real daughter of the head of the Su family, and that she would one day become a part of the Du family as Du Luo's wife, but now, she realized how ridiculous it all was.

No one believed her or cared about her at all!

Su Bei finally stopped laughing. "Du Luo, you've disappointed me too," she said plainly with a snort.

She picked up the scissors on the table and cut through the hem of her wedding dress. Then, she suddenly tore up the dress and threw it on the ground.

Du Luo's eyes darkened. "What are you doing, Su Bei?"

"This is exactly what you want, isn't it?" Su Bei usually looked bright-eyed, but now, her eyes were dim and watery.

She walked back to her room with heavy steps. Then, she took her suitcase and went downstairs.

"Sir, Miss Bei wants to leave home..." A maid rushed over to Su Xingfu and reported the news.

"Don't mind her!" Su Xingfu was really angry. He thought he should teach his daughter a lesson!

However, Du Luo's eyes turned anxious. Just when he turned to chase after Su Bei, Su Huixian let out a groan and fainted.

"What's wrong with you, Huixian? Don't scare me..." Xu Zhiqin cried out loud.

Du Luo stopped and hurried back to Su Huixian.

Su Xingfu also took Su Huixian into his arms anxiously.

Su Bei looked back as she reached the door. After seeing what her father and Du Luo were doing, she walked out of the Su family without hesitation.

With all her luggage, she drove straight to the Civil Affairs Bureau!

Chapter 5 Finding a Man She Liked

Today was May 20th. In this country, this date represented love, so many couples chose to register for marriage on this day.

Su Bei had been worried that the Civil Affairs Bureau would get crowded today. Afraid that she couldn't register for marriage today, she had asked a servant to take the ID cards and every other type of document that was needed to the Civil Affairs Bureau before it opened. This way, she and Du Luo could get their marriage licenses as soon as possible.

But now that she wanted to leave home, she had to go there and take her ID card back first.

Su Bei began to feel a little uncomfortable on her way to the Civil Affairs Bureau, as if her body was on fire. This feeling was a little alien to her.

It suddenly occurred to her that she must have been drugged by Su Huixian after all!

What was more, the effect of the drug was very powerful.

If Su Huixian hadn't put the drug in the edible bird's nest, then she must have put it somewhere else. Su Bei had washed up in the morning, and she had also drunk some water. Therefore, there had been a lot of opportunities for Su Huixian to drug her.

But even if the medicine took effect now, it would be useless for her to seek justice for herself.

She knew that both her father and Du Luo would think that it was just another trick to protect herself.

She had never realized that Su Huixian could be so calculating that she would set a trap for her this way!

Su Bei was a righteous and honest person, so she was no match for someone as cunning as Su Huixian.

By the time she arrived at the Civil Affairs Bureau, she felt weak all over. Her small face was flushed a deep pink color, and was covered with a layer of sweat. She slightly blinked, revealing her watery eyes.

After finding the servant of the Su family, Su Bei finally got her ID card back.

"Miss Bei, this is Mr. Luo's ID card."

Su Bei gave him a small smile. "You can return it to him yourself."

Just the thought of Du Luo sent a chill to her heart, so she was very reluctant to touch his things.

The strange feeling in her body slowly became more and more overpowering. It seemed that Su Huixian had been determined to make her lose her virginity today.

But to Su Bei, it was no big deal. Today, she had lost almost everything. She had lost her father's love, as well as her fiancé's. Now, she had nothing left to lose.

Since she was doomed to lose her virginity, she decided to at least find a man she liked to do the job.

She looked around the Civil Affairs Bureau. At that moment, a man suddenly walked into the door. He was dressed in a well-tailored suit that enhanced his tall and straight figure. It was as if a light shone down on him from above, making him look impeccable.

The man's presence lit up Su Bei's bleak world in the blink of an eye.

He was followed by another man, who leaned in and said in a low voice, "Mr. Lu, she didn't come."

"Then you can tell her that she doesn't need to come here anymore," Lu Heting said calmly. But his words gave people a kind of invisible pressure.

After saying that, he turned around to leave, but Su Bei had already stood in front of him.

As soon as she had heard that this man's bride hadn't shown up, she had decided that he was the chosen one!

Being stopped by an unfamiliar woman in front of him, Lu Heting lowered his eyes to look at her face. The woman's face was as red as an apple, and her long black eyelashes were fluttering. She was enchanting and lovely. He looked at her with a frown, as if he was thinking about something.

"Sir, it seems that your bride didn't show up. In that case, I have a little favor to ask you," the woman said shyly. Her young voice was filled with energy.

"A little favor? Do you know who I am?" Lu Heting asked as he looked at her upturned face.

"Of course I do! You are Lu Weijian's driver. I've met you twice when you picked him up," Su Bei said with a charming look on her face.

Just now, she had overheard the part about his bride not showing up, but she hadn't overheard his title—Mr. Lu!

Chapter 6 Doing It with Licenses

Driver? Did he look like a driver? With brows slightly furrowed, the handsome Lu Heting lowered his eyes and looked at the young woman's smiling face.

Su Bei chuckled softly and said, "But based on your appearance, you should be the CEO. It's really a waste that you're only a driver."

Lu Heting raised his eyebrows, and the corners of his mouth curved into a faint smile. A hint of interest flashed across his eyes.

"Why me?" It was so rare for Lu Heting to have such patience.

"Because... you... You are the most pleasing to the eye here." Su Bei staggered. It was as if she was so drunk that she was about to faint.

Lu Heting's eyes narrowed. The young woman seemed drunk, but he couldn't smell alcohol from her body. Obviously, someone had done something to her.

But she had good taste because she came to him.

"So, can I?" The effect of the drug on Su Bei's body had already reached its peak. All she wanted right now was to sleep with this man in front of her. But even if he was only a driver, she still had to make him agree in a respectful manner.

"Okay, I agree." Lu Heting took the ID card and the signed marriage application form from her hand. He then handed them over to the assistant behind him. "Go ahead."

The assistant was stunned for a moment before taking them.

After five minutes, two copies of marriage licenses were delivered to Lu Heting.

He took them, picked Su Bei up, and carried her in his arms. He then walked out with his long and strong legs and put her into his Bentley.

“Let’s go home,” Lu Heting said to the driver. He then pulled the partition between the front seat and the back seat. Su Bei, who was still in his arms, looked really bad, so he had to do something immediately.

With the marriage licenses in his hand, a hint of interest flashed through his eyes. He seemed to like what had happened just now.

Two hours later, Su Bei was still deep asleep in Lu Heting’s arms.

Although his desire hadn’t been satisfied, he didn’t force it anymore.

Now that they had gotten their marriage licenses, they had a lot of time to do this again.

It had been two hours, but Lu Heting noticed that they hadn’t reached the Lu family’s villa yet.

He lifted up the partition and asked the driver, “What’s the matter?”

“Mr. Lu, there’s a road accident ahead, and the road is blocked. We can’t get through. There are too many cars behind us as well, so we can’t move back,” reported the driver.

Lu Heting lowered the partition again and looked down at Su Bei in his arms. Her eyes were closed, and there were tears in the corners of her eyes. She was crying just now. Such a fragile young woman!

He checked her ID card. She was only eighteen years old. It meant that she had just turned into an adult and reached the marriageable age of S Country. No wonder although she looked so stubborn and pretended to be familiar with love affairs, she still shed tears in the process.

While Lu Heting was sizing up Su Bei’s little face with great interest, his phone suddenly vibrated. He had a phone call, and it obviously disturbed her sleep because her body moved.

He gently put her down, afraid of waking her up. Then he got out of the car and answered his phone.

At this moment, the entire overpass was packed. Since they were stuck, many people got out of their cars to smoke and chat. So Lu Heting’s move wasn’t obtrusive.

Su Bei was awakened when he got out of the car.

She looked around, wondering where she could be. Then she sat up, rubbed her eyes, and recalled everything that happened in a daze.

In the Civil Affairs Bureau, she had stopped Lu Heting, the driver of the Lu family, who she had only met twice before, and had asked him to have sex with her.

Was it over now?

She softly hissed when she felt pain. It was really not a good experience at all.

Chapter 7 Pregnant?

When she came to her senses, Su Bei quickly grabbed her ID card on the seat.

As she touched the marriage certificates, she unconsciously opened them and saw her name.

The other name next to hers was Lu Heting!

That was the driver of Lu Group's young master.

She had truly got the marriage certificates with him!

Su Bei looked at the two names side by side in utter shock.

She had only meant to sleep with him once, but he must have gotten the idea she wanted this for the rest of her life.

Regretful, Su Bei wrapped a strand of hair around her finger, wishing she could slap herself.

"Is Lu Heting out of his mind?" Staring at the marriage certificates, Su Bei continued, "Anyway, this isn't all his fault. I said something at the Civil Affairs Bureau that made him think I wanted this. But I don't have the right state of mind to get married or the confidence to make a relationship work. I don't know what to do to get other people's trust in me..."

'Sorry, Lu Heting,' she thought.

She quickly put her ID card in her pocket but didn't dare to touch the two certificates beside it again.

Realizing the car was parked on an overpass, she looked out of the window and saw the man's back. The sun slowly rose, covering his tall and strong figure, as if he had a special light around him.

Without any hesitation, she opened the door and got out of the car. Then she made her way through the crowd and other vehicles, quickly disappearing in the distance.

Since the overpass was congested with cars and angry people, naturally, no one noticed where that tall and fragile girl had gone.

Afterward, Su Bei went straight to the airport, where she bought an air ticket and flew to the United States.

The first thing she did once she arrived there was to draft a divorce agreement and a commission for the attorney who would take care of it. Then she sent the papers to her best friend and asked her to forward them to Lu Heting of Lu Group.

She didn't think she could handle a marriage or any kind of relationship now and refused to restrain Lu Heting with the marriage. As long as he signed the divorce agreement and submitted it, everything would be fine.

Such a short marriage could be treated as if it never happened to him.

However, four months later, Su Bei found herself pregnant.

Everything had happened so quickly after her escape that she hadn't considered taking a morning-after pill. At the time, Su Bei hadn't thought she would have a baby.

Since her period wasn't regular, and she had chronic gastritis, she didn't pay much attention to her symptoms. She thought all the discomfort she felt was caused by her stomach disease.

It was not until her symptoms worsened that she went to the hospital and found she was a few months pregnant already.

Once Su Bei got the examination report, her pretty face fell, and her heart turned into a mess.

She closed her eyes then, and suddenly her mind was filled with images of Lu Heting's face.

As she opened her eyes again, Su Bei reread the examination report carefully and confirmed she was indeed pregnant.

How could a woman unable to maintain a relationship get along well with a child?

Su Bei's eyelashes fluttered weakly as she thought about what to do. Clenching her hands, she finally decided that the best solution was to have an abortion.

"The baby is already a few months old. We can't operate you anymore."

"You can't have the abortion here. I'm sorry, Miss Su, it's impossible."

"Besides, you're expecting twins. Are you sure that's what you want to do?"

These were twins. Was she really considering killing them?

Su Bei closed her beautiful eyes, trying to hide her sadness every time she had to hear those kinds of responses.

A few months later, in a hospital in the United States, Su Bei entered the delivery room.

By the time she opened her weak eyes, she met the doctor's regretful gaze as he said, "Miss Su, one of the children was seriously ill. We've done our best, but..."

A mix of joy and sadness took over Su Bei's heart. She had never felt so torn in her life.

Chapter 8 Giving the Child Back to His Father

Five years later.

Su Bei had just arrived at the Jingdu Airport.

With her chestnut hair hung over her shoulders, the woman in a beige long coat and high-heels looked at the strange yet familiar clouds in the sky while holding a suitcase.

She was only 18 when she left. Now that she came back, she was already 23. Her previous baby face, however, had grown mature and more beautiful with time.

A four-year-old boy in a formal suit could be seen accompanying her. Judged by his stern little face, one could assume he would become a handsome man in the future. Pursing his thin lips, he followed closely behind Su Bei as she walked.

“Da Bao, Xiao Bei!” A woman suddenly rushed over and hugged Su Bei.

At the sight of her old best friend, Lin Moli, Su Bei held her back.

Releasing her friend, Lin Moli couldn't wait to lower her head to look at Da Bao. She then said in astonishment, “Xiao Bei, your boy is even more handsome in person than in the video!”

“Of course. He's my son, after all,” Su Bei answered with a smile.

“Good to see you, Mommy Moli.” Da Bao looked up at Lin Moli and greeted her politely before resuming his cold demeanor.

Lin Moli gave him a thumbs-up and said, “Nice! Keep up with the little CEO's attitude!”

Da Bao smiled briefly in response, and then once again, his poker face was back on.

Lin Moli couldn't help but shake her head, feeling sorry for her friend. Su Bei should have had twins, but unfortunately, the other baby was born with an illness and didn't make it. If only that child had survived...

With a smile, Su Bei couldn't help but remember Lu Heting's face every time she looked at her son. At such a young age, Da Bao already resembled his father a lot, even in his manners.

However, the man was just a driver for the Lu family, not a CEO.

Wanting to give the mother and son a nice reception, Lin Moli took them to a buffet restaurant.

Since Da Bao was wise enough to pick up his food by himself, Su Bei didn't have to accompany the boy.

As soon as Lin Moli sat at the table, she whispered to her friend, “Are you really going to give the child back to his father?”

“I have no choice.” Then she raised her voice again and added, “As his father, he's the most suitable person to take care of Dao Bao until he grows up.”

“Is there really no cure for your disease?” Lin Moli asked worriedly.

“I have advanced gastric cancer. I only have a year left. I don't want to waste time on useless treatments. I'll try my best to earn as much money as possible this year so that father and son can live happily for the rest of their lives.” A faint smile appeared on the corner of her lips as if for a brief moment, she had forgotten the sadness her condition brought her.

Although she seemed calm on the surface, no one knew the pain she had been carrying inside.

For an instant, Lin Moli didn't know what to say, so she silently put a bowl of porridge in front of her before speaking again. “I had sent him the divorce agreement as you said back then. I don't know if he is married or not nowadays...”

“That's why I want you to help me take care of Dao Bao for the next few days. I need to find out more about him. If he has remarried or has a child, I won't disturb him anymore. But if he doesn't have anyone and is willing to take responsibility for our son, I still need to make sure he's not a terrible man.

After all, Da Bao will have to live with him for so many years.” Before she came back, Su Bei had already thought about everything.

“Of course, leave Da Bao to me. I don’t have a job now anyway, so I have plenty of time,” Li Moli assured her and then handed her a bunch of keys. “I’ve bought the house you asked for.”

Chapter 9 Meeting a Driver Also Needed an Appointment

Su Bei had worked as a model in the United States for many years and made some money. Now, she spent all her money on this house in order to secure the life of her son, Da Bao.

She knew that Lu Heting was just a driver. It would be a heavy burden for him to bear the responsibility of being a father when he was totally unprepared.

That was why she had to get everything ready earlier on her own.

After the meal, Su Bei said goodbye to her son.

She squatted in front of him and kissed him on the forehead.

Da Bao reached out his hand and patted her head. “Xiao Bei, a girl should know how to protect herself when she works outside. Also, don’t work too hard.”

Lin Moli’s eyes twinkled with amusement when she heard this. The two people in front of her didn’t act like a mother and a son, but like a father and a daughter.

“Okay, I will,” Su Bei assured him with a bright smile.

After that, Su Bei took a taxi to the new house that she had bought with Lin Moli’s help. Without even taking a look at the house or unpacking properly, she just kept her luggage there, changed her clothes, and took another taxi straight to the Lu Group.

She had met Lu Heting twice before their marriage—both times at a friend’s party. One of the guests had been a man called Lu Weijian, who was said to be from the Lu Group. After getting too drunk, he had asked his driver to pick him up. And both times, the driver who came to pick him up was Lu Heting.

Since Lu Heting’s temperament was unique and different from other drivers’ dispositions, Su Bei had noticed him at a glance.

She wasn’t familiar with Lu Weijian, so she couldn’t ask him about his driver. Therefore, she decided to go to the Lu Group in person to find Lu Heting.

She walked elegantly into the building in her high-heeled shoes.

When she arrived at the reception desk, she asked politely, “Excuse me, may I see Lu Heting? If I’m not wrong, he works for Mr. Lu Weijian.”

"I'm sorry, miss. You can't meet him without an appointment." The receptionist took a look at the woman in front of her and found that she was beautiful. Therefore, she chose to act very polite, but she didn't dare to break the company's rules.

Su Bei was taken aback by her response. Did meeting a driver also need an appointment? The Lu Group was really an extraordinary company!

Su Bei had no choice but to ask, "Then can I make an appointment now?"

"Of course. I will inform you of the result in about fifteen days," the receptionist replied politely.

Fifteen days? What kind of driver was he? Why was there so much of a build-up just to meet him?

Su Bei couldn't wait that long.

But she didn't have Lu Heting's phone number or address. She didn't know where else to find him except at the Lu Group, so she relented. "Okay then. Please make an appointment for me. Thank you. By the way, is there any other way I can contact him or see him?"

The receptionist was used to hearing this, because many people wanted to see Lu Heting as soon as possible. Without skipping a beat, she smiled politely and said, "Sorry, but no."

But in her heart, she scoffed and thought, 'Mr. Lu is not a person who is easy to meet. These women are getting bolder and bolder. Do they think they can get anything just because of their beauty? Otherwise, why would they come to make an appointment?'

Su Bei had no choice but to leave and wait for the result.

'I have already known that the Lu Group is one of the most powerful companies in Jingdu City. Five years ago, I was able to meet the young master of the Lu Group in person, but now, I can't even see a driver of the group. I didn't expect that. Things have really changed over the past five years!' Su Bei thought secretly.

Suddenly, she saw a car pull up to the entrance.

The window of the driver's seat was rolled down, and the car was moving very slowly, which gave Su Bei enough time to see the driver's face—that same familiar and handsome face that she had come here to see!

Chapter 10 Why Had She Come Back

As the car passed her, Su Bei recognized the man who was sitting in the driver's seat. It was her husband, Lu Heting!

It seemed that he was more mature than five years ago, and even at a glance, his temperament seemed to be calmer and wiser than before. She had always known that he had a handsome face, but she had never thought that even his side profile would look this good. His sharp jawline looked perfect.

"Lu Heting!" she cried out without thinking.

Hearing this, the man turned his head sideways and shot her a cold glance, but then he turned back to the front and continued to step on the accelerator without looking at her anymore. The car quickly moved forward.

In just a moment, he had already put considerable distance between him and Su Bei.

Su Bei immediately snapped into action and ran after Lu Heting's car. "Lu Heting! Lu Heting! Please stop the car!" she shouted.

But the car was moving so fast that she was left far behind in the blink of an eye.

Looking at the cloud of dust caused by the car, Su Bei bent down in frustration and gasped heavily with her hands on her knees.

She was sure that the man had seen her, but he had completely ignored her.

"Doesn't he remember me? Well, it's possible," Su Bei murmured to herself. "After all, that special time we had shared happened five years ago. After that, our paths have never crossed again."

But for the sake of her son, Su Bei had no other choice but to meet Lu Heting somehow.

In the car, Lu Heting hesitated for a moment, but he still kept driving.

Was it an auditory hallucination?

Was it because he missed her so much that he often had such uncontrollable illusions?

Lu Heting raised his head and rubbed the space between his eyebrows. It was not until he saw the reflection in the rearview mirror that he realized that it was not a dream.

On that fateful day, this woman had floated to him like a beautiful cloud. After disappearing for five years, she had finally appeared in front of him, like a lovely elf.

If the two marriage certificates didn't exist, proving that the woman was real, he would have thought that he had just imagined the whole thing in his head.

A faint smile appeared at the corners of his mouth. That day, the girl had hurried to ask him for help, and he had helped her in the car. Then he had answered a phone call for a few minutes. In that gap, she had left without saying goodbye and disappeared without a trace!

A few days later, she had even sent him the divorce agreement.

From beginning to end, everything had been under her control.

That divorce agreement had caused him a great deal of heartache. So for the past five years, he had never asked anyone about her whereabouts. He had forced himself not to look for her.

But now, she was back?

Yes, it seemed that she was.

After moving forward for a while, Lu Heting suddenly slammed on the brake, leaving skid marks on the road. The car had almost crashed into the fence, and he could smell the smoke from the tires.

He opened the car door and got out quickly. Then, he turned around and ran to the place where he had seen Su Bei just now, his long legs making his every step powerful.

Just when he was about to reach the destination, Lu Heting slackened his pace. He regained his usual calmness, but he still couldn't hide his anxiety.

Why had she come back this time? What did she want to say to him? Did she regret her actions back then?

However, when Lu Heting finally reached that place, he found that the woman had disappeared without a trace, as if she was never there at all.

It was as if history had repeated itself!

Lu Heting knew that this woman wouldn't stay for him!

So why had she come back?
