

The Heir's Revenge by Twine Twin Chapter 14

Wedding Party

Dennis glanced at his watch, he had been waiting for Tiara for almost two hours, but his new secretary had not yet returned. Meanwhile, Dennis seemed ready to go to Raymond and Jesselyn's wedding. "Did she run away after getting the money from me?" Dennis mumbled who was starting to feel restless. "Just watch out for him to embarrass me again this time." Not long after, a girl in a long dress came running up to him. "Sorry for making you wait so long, sir," said Tiara, catching her breath.

While Dennis just stared, he didn't even recognize his new secretary, because Tiara looked so beautiful in that luxurious dress. Dennis was thinking, apparently he was not wrong to choose his new secretary to accompany him to the party that night. "Sir?" Tiara interrupted Dennis's thoughts.

"Ehm... You're so slow. You know I don't like slow people." "Sorry Mister. I was confused about what kind of clothes to buy, but when I told the shop assistant that I was looking for a dress to accompany Mr. Dennis to a party, they immediately chose the best dress for me. By the way, did you like my performance tonight, sir?" replied Tiara.

Dennis nodded his head, his expression flat, making Tiara feel unsure about her appearance that night.

"Let's go before the party ends," said Dennis as he got into his car. "Are you going to drive by yourself tonight?" asked Tiara. "Yes."

"Where is Mr. Lewis, sir?"

"He has to do something else." "Then let me drive tonight. I would be very reluctant if Master drove by yourself." Dennis threw his sharp gaze at Tiara. "I'm just asking you to accompany me to my wedding, so just sit tight and don't bother me too much," Dennis said coldly. Tiara seemed to swallow her own saliva. "O-o-okay, sir," she said later. They went to Raymond and Jesselyn's wedding party which was held at the megang building. When he got out of his car, Dennis immediately saw Raymond and Jesselyn's pre-wedding photo. Dennis felt his breath catch, something suffocating in the center of his heart. His heart burned to see Raymond and Jesselyn hugging each other affectionately in the photo. What burned Dennis at that time was not only jealousy, but also a burning hatred. Again,

Dennis remembered how cruel the betrayal had been by his ex-wife and former employer. Maybe even until the end of his life, Dennis would never be able to forget what Jesselyn and Raymond had done to him.

Tiara, who was standing next to Dennis, seemed to be tracing the direction of her boss's gaze. She was actually very curious about what Dennis's relationship was with the two brides, but Tiara was also afraid to ask Dennis directly, what else Dennis had forbidden her from talking much.

A few minutes later, Dennis turned his head to Tiara. "Come in!" he asked, holding out his hand.

Nervously, Tiara took the CEO's arm, but unfortunately the pounding in her chest only grew louder. How could I not, Tiara was holding a CEO from the biggest company in the country. And now all eyes are on them. They are the absolute center of attention.

"Tiara, why are your hands cold? Are you sick?" then Dennis asked.

"I-I'm nervous, sir," said Tiara. "Keep your head up, don't embarrass me at this event." Dennis also moved his hand to Tiara's waist to hug the girl. Unfortunately, this actually made Tiara even more cold sweat. While holding Tiara, Dennis stepped over to Raymond and Jesselyn. Jesselyn glared at Tiara. 'Who is this girl with Dennis?' Jesselyn's heart sank. While Raymond seemed to smile cynically. "I didn't expect you to actually have the courage to come here," Raymond said.

"I'm not as cowardly as you think," Dennis replied. "Okay, should I call you brave from today on?" "I don't need your flattery. Happy new life, and enjoy the rest of me." Raymond's ears reddened at the sharp sarcasm from Dennis, but he tried to restrain himself because he didn't want to spoil his own show. "Accept your defeat gracefully, Dennis. Because starting today, Jesselyn is officially my wife," said Raymond. Dennis smiled sarcastically. "I don't feel lost at all, in fact now I feel like I'm winning," said Dennis. The corner of his eye glanced briefly at Jesselyn. "Hope you don't regret your choice, Jesselyn," said Dennis to his ex-wife. There was nothing Jesselyn could do but bow her head, because long before the wedding day, she too had regretted leaving Dennis. And now Jesselyn felt jealous when she saw Dennis holding another woman. Meanwhile, Bella Cathlin, who was also present at the event, was wide-eyed when she saw Dennis holding a girl. At first, Bella Cathlin thought that it was impossible for Raymond to invite Dennis, because Bella knew Raymond didn't like Dennis, and vice versa. But unexpectedly, it turned out that Dennis was present at the event, and what surprised Bella even more was that Dennis brought a girl who wasn't her.

Bella's chest heaved up and down with emotion. She immediately took out her cellphone from her bag and called Lewis to ask for an explanation. But unfortunately, Lewis didn't pick up Bella's call.

"Where is he? He said he'd help me to get Dennis, but why would he let Dennis have another girl?" Bella groaned.

Not long after, Bella saw Dennis and Tiara about to leave the party. Tiara immediately confronted them both.

"Mr. Dennis, what are you doing? Why did you bring another girl to this party? Haven't you asked me out before?" Bella said directly, without further ado. "Oh, Bella, you seem to have misunderstood, didn't I tell you that I never thought of our meeting as a date," replied Dennis, still looking calm.

As Bella's jaw tightened even more, her chest also felt tighter. "But, with this, it means you've been playing me, Mr. Dennis! I can't accept all this," Bella said in a trembling voice. Bella threw her sharp gaze at Tiara. "And you are a thief girl! You have stolen Mr. Dennis from me. I don't accept it!" cursed Bella. She raised the glass in her hand, ready to pour Tiara with the drink in the glass. But suddenly....

Duaarr....

"Aaaaaa....!"

Everyone screamed at the sound of a loud explosion inside the building. Immediately, the lights went out, making the atmosphere even more chaotic.
