

The Heir's Revenge by Twine Twin Chapter 23

Jealous!

Dennis returned home at normal hours. Not like before who came home late. But still he felt tired. Dennis leaned back on the sofa after taking off his shoes. It's not easy being a leader in a big company. Dennis now understood why some rich people seemed glamorous. Nothing but comfort himself from the tired burden he bears.

“Dennis ...” Mrs Berlin approached her grandson unusually. The woman's face was more stern today. Dennis straightened his body. “Yes Grandma. Why?” he asked.

“How can investors withdraw their investment from Argonius company?” shoot Berlin head on.

Dennis straightened his body. “What do you mean Grandma?”

“Investors withdraw their investment in your company, don't you know about that, Dennis? How do you work?” Mrs Berlin looked even more sour at her grandson. Dennis took out his cell phone, checked something and closed his eyes afterwards. “Oh shit!” he said.

Mrs Berlin shook her head with her grandson. “Ask Bella to help you!” “Oma, what does that have to do with Bella? I can handle this problem. It has nothing to do with Bella.”

Mrs Berlin frowned. “No connection whatsoever? Don't you know who Bella is, Son! She's been in the business world for a long time. Bella's parents are also not just anyone. It must be because that is the reason why investors withdrew from the company.” Dennis cocked his head. He didn't agree with his grandma's idea. “Grandma, I can't...”

“You want Grandma to kick you out of the leadership chair, Dennis? Even if you're my grandson, you can't play around like that with the company. Dennis, you should know being a leader doesn't mean everything has to be about you regardless of your subordinates. Instead you have to sacrifice a lot for them to make sure that you can live properly, Son.” Mrs Berlin gave a briefing to her grandson. “If you can't afford it, I'm so sorry Dennis, Grandma will take firm action.”

Dennis played his tongue on the inside of his cheek. He clearly didn't like begging Bella. After that night's incident, Dennis didn't want to be seen toying with Bella anymore. Oh, he was just making friends with that woman but Bella misunderstood her actions. Now that it had an impact like this, if Dennis continued, the man might depend on Bella forever.

But if Dennis left Bella, it meant he had to be ready to give up his position as Mrs. Berlin said. The old woman didn't seem to be kidding. Dennis couldn't do that, how could it be when he was just starting out. As he was just starting to enjoy his first win over Rayinond and Jesselyn. Dennis still had many plans for his ex-wife and former master. Dennis's dream was still far from making the two people miserable. Dennis wanted so badly to see two people taste hell that he begged to die but God would not accept them. Such was Dennis's wish. Standing on the throne as Damara's successor is the way to find it all.

Dennis bit his lip for a while while closing his eyes. "Okay, Grandma! I'll try to contact Bella. Apologize to him."

"I hope you do it soon, Dennis. I doesn't want it to be too late." The old woman had now softened a bit but the aura of firmness was still thick on her face. Dennis nodded his head, "Okay, Grandma!" he said obediently standing up the stairs. His steps were heavy. He thought his work for today was over, but when he got home he had other things to take care of. Dennis admitted he was careless this time. He will certainly learn from that mistake.

"I love you!" Dennis whispered seeing his daughter who was smiling brightly welcoming him. At a time like this, Dennis needed a moment of calm. Adelia seemed to understand her father. lightly reached for Dennis's face.

"Pa...!" she said.

Dennis smiled a little. He kissed Adelia briefly before going to his room to clean himself. only then did he contact Bella according to her apology. The woman didn't pick up Dennis's calls several times, so he had to send Bella a message.

"I'm so sorry sir Dennis I'm busy. If you want you can wait until ten o'clock at night."

Dennis bit his lip. He knew Bella was selling high. But remembering his Grandma's words, Dennis held back a bit of resistance within himself. "It's fine, I'll wait until you can, lady!" Dennis replied then. Bella only read without giving a reply.

Dennis took a deep breath then exhaled. He tried to supply as much oxygen to his head as possible to calm him down.

"He already contacted me, looks like our first bluff worked, sir!" Bella's voice floated in Raymond's ears. The girl who had agreed to form an ally with him immediately contacted him to report the situation.

"Good news, Miss. I didn't go wrong with choosing a partner like you."

Bella chuckled lightly. "But I plan to give him the easy way. I have to restore my pride right? Only then will he have to pay for the wounds he gave." Raymond chuckled. "You look very impatient." "Of course, sir. Every time I think of his humiliation I burn again. Just imagine, some people are already gossiping that that master Dennis will be with me? Not long ago with Mrs. Berlin's sweet mouth at me, I didn't expect her to let her grandson bring a secretary at the party I attended. They shamelessly showed no guilt at all. Not! I can't accept that."

Raymond smiled faintly. "But it'll be back soon, right? In the end he contacted you."

"Thanks to you too, sir. I thank you for inviting me to join. Otherwise I would never have felt anything like this."

Raymond chuckled. "No, I should be the one thanking you, Miss."

"This is a profitable business partnership."

"Yeah, it's a profitable business partnership."

The two of them smiled at each other before Raymond ended the call. Raymond smiled faintly. The man's smile grew. It was probably Raymond's biggest smile since the incident at his wedding. The man's eyes were full of joy. "You looked happy after you got on the phone with that girl, honey." Jesselyn, who had been waiting for her husband for a long time, gave her comment. "Yeah, you should know my first plan with Bella almost worked. Can't say it worked. I didn't do anything wrong to take Bella Caithlin on our mission, honey. She is not only beautiful but also smart I can't wait to see Dennis begging me again."

Jesselyn licked her own lips as she straightened her nightgown. "You're sure you're happy because of the news. Isn't it because you just got on the phone with a pretty and smart girl?"

Raymond squinted. "What do you mean?" the man asked in his unpleasant baritone voice. He was offended by Jesselyn's words

"What? I heard you say she's beautiful and smart too."

Raymond put his tongue on the inside of his cheek. Don't forget the man's brow furrowed slightly. "You are jealous?" asked Raymond after some reaction "Can't I be jealous?!" Jesselyn spoke back "Damn Jesselyn! You're too childish."

"No, no, no!" said Jesselyn shaking her head. "Naturally I'm jealous because you pay more attention to him. You pay for the treatment even you wait for all the hospital reports. Not only that you paid for the plastic surgery, Raymond." "Damn you cursing just now?!" Raymond angrily gripped Jesselyn's cheek very hard. "You have no right to do that, Jesselyn Not entitled to!" Raymond snapped in his cold voice, "I'm your wife, Raymond. How can I have no right?!"

Raymond snorted this time he tugged at Jesselyn's hair making her feel pain. "What did you say wife Yes, you are my wife " Raymond nodded his head with his cold eyes looking at Jesselyn. "Listen to me my wife, you are just a stupid wife who can't do anything You should be grateful that I am still willing to accommodate you so you have absolutely no right to protest like that

Raymond shook his head a few times. "Ah, yeah, since you're stupid and uneducated you certainly don't know anything about business. This time Raymond gave her a disdainful look. "I financed Bella like that to bribe her to be on our side I'm not cheap like you who can only look for a host without any intention of helping It only clings to the good hosts and leaves the obsolete"

