

Her Burning Desire Chapter 30 - Tips

0 7 minutes read

Melony

As I made my way into our bedroom, I remembered I had told Olive I would inform her if anything important were to happen in my life. Grabbing my phone, I sent her a quick text.

**Hey, was in a fight with rogues. I'm fine, everyone is fine, except for the rogues. Your Alpha I am still deciding on letting him live or not though.****

I sat my phone down on the stand and made my way to the bathroom. I decided on taking a bath instead of a shower. I could really use the relaxation. After the tub was done filling up, I lit a couple of the candles and turned the lights off to really get settled. I was thinking about my argument with Theodore. I really didn't feel great about arguing with him, but I also just wanted him safe. The same reason he was arguing with me was the same reason for my argument with him. I was upset that he thought so little of me and that I wouldn't be able to defend myself. No, I haven't had the normal training that werewolves usually go through, but I have still trained. My dad is a Beta, and one of the best fighters in our pack next to our Alpha. He most definitely didn't let me slack off. Harper hated the fact I was fighting with our mate, she had been going crazy in my head since I took off. I decided I would reach out to Theo, anyway. I would really like to move past this. Then I got an evil idea in my head. Maybe I could tease him a little bit, push him, and make it worth my while. I'll definitely make it worth his time.

Theo... you there.

"Baby...I'm so happy to hear your voice." I could practically hear his sigh of relief through the mindlink.

We need to talk, Theodore. I did my best to still sound mad and upset.

"I know, I'm sorry Melony, I think I was just carried away at the moment. Seeing you so close to danger had me and Jackson going crazy." I could hear the sincerity in his voice. It almost made me feel guilty for what I was about to do.

Okay...We still need to talk. I tried to hide my emotion again. I so badly wanted to tell him it was okay and I felt the same.

It was as if I could see the big gulp in his throat. “O-okay...I will come to you..are you still in the room?”

Yes. I sat and waited in the bath for about another 5 minutes before I heard our door open. “I’m in here!” I yelled out to him. Theodore pushed the door open to the bathroom when his face landed on mine. “Have a seat Theo.” I pointed in the direction of the chair that sat across from me in the corner. “I am going to talk and you are going to listen. Alright?” He nodded in understanding. His eyes never left mine, even though I knew he desperately wanted to take in my appearance, being n.aked in front of him in the tub.

“I understand that to everyone in the pack you are their Alpha. What you say goes. I respect that, but here, between you and I,” I used my finger, moving it back and forth between both of us. “you are not the Alpha. I am your equal. I won’t accept anything less than that. You really hurt me out there today. You doubted my fighting abilities. Which is a bit uncalled for considering I was trained by my father, the second in command of their pack. You wanted me to leave you, my mate, behind to practically die so you could make sure I was safe. I did what I needed to do to make sure you were safe also. I knew that Mark would find us and we would have more back. I just wasn’t going to walk away and let you sign your death wish. What would I have done without you? You think I would have been safe after that? Absolutely not. You talked to me as if I was your child and not your mate. Now tell me, Alpha, what would you do if one of your members were to talk to you like you were beneath them?”

Without hesitation, he answered my question. “They would be punished.”

I nodded, “Hmm...I see. Well, I’ve thought about your punishment for a little while now.” I scooted myself up higher in the bath so I was sitting straight up. With the bubbles in the water, the only thing visible to Theo now was my face, shoulders, and my b.reast. I took one of my hands and took it up to the side of my face and slowly rubbed it down in the direction of my c.hest. I watched as his eyes moved with my hand. “I couldn’t really think of a good punishment that wouldn’t embarrass you in front of your pack or be little you...” My hand was now on my c.hest, I circled my finger around my perky little peak, then used my palm and started to massage one of the mounds. I let out a little moan, and watched as Theodore started to battle with his wolf, his eyes flickering with black. “Then I had an idea, what would really drive my mate crazy?” I started to move my hand down my stomach and eventually landed right on my core. I moved my fingers between my slits and found my little sensitive numb and started to circle it. I let out another moan. Then I lifted one of my legs out of the water and rested it on the side of the tub. "I think it would drive him crazy to have to sit and watch his mate give herself pleasure, but not be able to touch her himself." I put more pressure on my clit with my finger as I began to move a little faster, I heard a growl erupt out of Theodore's chest, and gave him a seductive smirk. I kept rubbing and then entered a finger and moved it in and out of my entrance, creating more pleasure. I threw my head back, closing my eyes, "Ohhh...this feels amazing..hmmm."

Without even realizing it, I look up and Theodore is naked, stepping into the tub with me. I gasped, "Theo...".

"Two can play this game, little mate." I watched as Theodore sunk into the water and his hand moved to his very erect cock. His movements of running his hand along his thick, delicious, manhood were creating ripples in the water. I slowly kept my pace on myself but I kept my eyes directly on my target. The sight before me was turning me on even more. Watching my mate pleasure himself, just by watching me. He let out a moan and I couldn't take it anymore. One swift movement, I went across the tub, straddling my mate. "I thought I made it clear when I said this was your punishment, Mr. Alpha." I whispered in his ear, and then nibbled on it. I lifted my bottom and placed myself right over his cock. Looking deep into each others eyes, I sank myself down on him hard. He stretched my pussy to the max. Then pain was mixed with pleasure when I started to move my hips. I gripped onto his shoulder and started to move faster up and down his long length. My head was thrown back with my back arched, causing my breast to be directly in his face. "Yes, my Alpha, YES!" I cried out. I felt Theodore's hands grip my hips as his started to meet me thrust for thrust.

"Goddess Melony, you feel amazing." I latched my lips to his and put all the desire I had burning within me into the kiss. Our tongues battled with one another while I released my moans into his mouth. I felt my release near, "Theo, I'm close. cum with me, Alpha." Theodore was loving my words, he let out a purr almost. I felt my body start to tighten. I reached behind me and started to massage his balls. My walls started to clench him tight, hitting my orgasm, when I then felt Theo stiffen and his released inside of me.

We rode out our highs together, slowly coming to a stop. When I took my eyes back to Theodore, he gave me a very loving kiss. I smiled with our lips still connected as I started to lift myself and out of the tub. Theodore followed behind me, grabbing his own towel to dry off. "I will gladly take punishment from you any day of the week, my love.” he slapped my bottom as he walked past me to our room, and kissing my cheek on the way out.

As I made my way into the closet to grab clothes, I couldn't help but circle back to our problem. “Theo...?”

“Yes baby?” He poked his head in the doorway.

“Everything I said back there though I was serious about. To everyone here in this pack, you are Alpha, but us, I am either your equal or it will never work.” I glanced his way, trying to read his face. I pulled on my dark gray joggers and a loose white crop top. Just as I pulled the shirt over my head, Theodore grabbed my face with both of his hands.

“I listened to you, I heard you, and.... I saw you” He wiggled his eyebrows at me. I felt a blush sweep across my cheeks. “I understand what you are saying, I was in the wrong back there with how I reacted. I just can't lose you Mel. I love you too much to let that happen.” He embraced me and hugged me tight. I wrapped my arms around him, returning the hug, happy that we got past that issue. “I love you too”, I reassured him and kissed his cheek when I heard my phone ping.

I ran to it and saw I had a response from Olive.

**Well, let's make him suffer. Game night?? Meet downstairs in 30 minutes.**

I couldn't help the smile before turning back to Theo, “ We're going to have a game night tonight with Todd and Olive, who we are meeting up with in 30 minutes. Make sure you wear something comfortable.” I gave him a wink.

Her Burning Desire Chapter 31 - Tips

08 minutes read

Theodore

After Melony's Shenanigans in our bathroom earlier, we headed down to meet up with Olive and Todd for a game night. I have never participated in anything like this before. Board games were never my thing growing up. I much prefer to go outside and train, throw a football around, or hunt. I internally groan at what I am about to participate in. If this is what Melony wants to do, then this is how I am going to spend my night. This girl has me wrapped her finger and doesn't even know it. Hand and hand we walked down the stairs to meet

Olive, Todd and Mark outside of our rec room. Todd looked like he really wasn't thrilled about this either. In the meantime, Mark looked like a fat kid going to eat cake for the first time. I saw Olive shoot Melony a wink and that peaked my interest some.

As we opened the door and stepped inside, I saw the set up before me. The ping pong table was set up with 10 cups on each end while everything else had been moved out of the way. Melony and Olive walked to the stocked fridge and handed us all a beer.

"What is this?" Todd asked.

Melony shot him a teasing look and pointed to his hand, "That? That, my friend, is a beer."

Olive rolled her eyes at my mate's antics and explained what game we were looking at. A game called beer pong. It actually sounded pretty fun if I am being honest. Before we started the game, I had asked Mark to go check on our patrol and take care of the shift change so I could stay with my mate. He happily agreed as long as he got to play the next round of the game when he returned. It was nice that Olive had asked for the rec room to be cleared out tonight, so we were all alone. Once that was taken care of, we split into teams. The girls decided they wanted to pair up with each other, leaving my partner as Todd.

"We got this man!" He high fived me as we approached our end of the table. I looked at Melony across the table and was admiring how beautiful she was even when she wasn't trying and just comfortable. I met her face and she brought to fingers to her eyes and then pointed them to me. Meaning she was "watching me". I gasped and put a hand to my chest, mocking her. She quickly stuck her tongue out at me.

Poke that tongue out at me again baby, and I'll show you a couple more things you can use it for. I mindlinked her, and sent her a wink. I watched as a blush crept up her cheeks and I couldn't help but chuckle.

Olive then spoke up, "Alright, let's see what you guys got! You go first. We will give you a head start." She and Melony had a cocky grin on their faces. Todd took his turn and made it into one of the cups. I watched as the girls removed the cup and both took a drink of beer. I took my shot and it bounced off one cup and landed in another. The girls removed that cup also, taking another drink. Before they took their turn, they both took off their shoes. It peaked my interest but I just thought it was more comfortable for the to play in. Melony made her shot into the cup, but Olive's ball circled the top of the cup and popped back out of it. Todd and I took one drink. We are back up now and, naturally, both of us made ours into the cups again.

"Are we getting hustled?" Melony asked. "I think you have done this before and just lied about it." She was giving me a questioning look.

"No baby, I can't help it. I am just good at everything I do." I shrugged my shoulders.

"Yes, you are, and if you play nice you can show me again tonight just how good you are when you take me to bed." She winked teasingly at me, but this time it was my turn to have a small blush creep up my neck. I couldn't believe she just said that. I watched as her and Olive took off their shirts, leaving them standing before us in their joggers and sports b.ras.

What are they doing? I mindlinked Todd.

He shrugged his shoulders. "Maybe they just got hot. Between the beer and them being irritated that we are winning."

I nodded. He is probably right. Melony and Olive took another shot and they both made it. After we took our drinks, in unison, they both said, "Take your shoes off." I didn't think much of it and neither did Todd. We just did what we were asked, while they sat back giggling. Todd and I were up again and we both made it. This time, Olive and Melony removed their joggers and I took a deep breath watching my mate. Luckily, she had put spandex shorts on and so did Olive. Now, they have my curiosity even more.

"What game are you playing at, mate?" Todd spoke to Olive.

"I wasn't aware that you decided what I get do." She took her shot and she made it in the cup. "Now drink." She said with finality.

Todd and I took a drink and he didn't dare say anything back to her. I was very aware who wore the pants in that relationship. Which made me laugh internally at myself to see my Beta so wh!pped by a shewolf. Melony took her shot and they both said to us to remove our shirts.

Todd and I shared a look, but decided if we made it this far we might as well play along. Todd and I took our turn and we both did it again. We high fived and turned to our girls to gloat when we realized they both had their hands around their bras and removed them in one swift motion. I was way too focused on my mate to even dare look at Olive, not that I even wanted to, because I didn't. Melony, stood there before me, in her tight spandex shorts and nothing else. Her perky, full breast on full display with her perfect pink peaks standing at full attention. I licked my lips at the sight before me. I could feel Todd stiff as a board beside me, likely feeling the same way as me. We were so caught up in the sight before us I didn't hear anyone enter the room but quickly got knocked out of my trance when I heard.

"Damn! I am definitely getting the next round!" it was Mark and he was glancing at Olive and Melony. I instantly got pissed. So was Todd. We practically leaped across the table to our mates, hiding their bodies from other prying eyes. I snapped my head toward Mark.

"Unless you have a death wish, I suggest you place your eyes elsewhere!!" I growled out at him. When I turned back around, Melony had her crop top back on and her joggers. I let out a sigh of relief. Placing my hands on her shoulders, I looked between her and Olive, who was also dressed now. "What the hell was that?!"

Olive walked past me and tapped my shoulder, answering my question, "That my Alpha was strip, beer pong."

Todd took over this time. "I don't think either of us agreed with that. Strip, or Stripping was never used when this game was being described." Olive gave her best innocent face, with puppy dog eyes.

"We just wanted to have some fun. We thought you would enjoy it." She pouted. Todd sighed and wrapped his arms around her. He caved. I shook my head at them. I really didn't want to argue with Melony tonight after the day her and I had, so I chose to avoid saying anything about it.

I looked at Melony when I heard a belly grumbling. I smiled, "Is my Luna hungry?" I poked her belly.

She looked at me sheepishly, "I am starving, how about pizza and a movie?! We already had the pizza delivered. We just need to pick a movie out." We all quickly agreed and left the area to sit at the entertainment center. Olive and Todd sat together at one end of the sectional couch, while Mark sat at the opposite end. They were all sitting to the left of me, while I sat on the love seat with Mel to my right. Us guys out voted the girls and decided on a horror movie. Melony and Olive weren't too happy about it, but they s.uucked it up anyway.

After we had finished eating, I grabbed a big fluffy blanket and covered us up. Mel tucked herself into my side and I dr.aped my arm around her shoulders to pull her closer. Her scent was heavy around me tonight, and after the show she put on today I just couldn't keep my hands off her. I slipped my hand into the top of her shirt, grabbing a hand full of b.reast. I realized she had never put her b.ra back on. I c****d an eyebrow at her.

"I was in a hurry," she stated with a shoulder shrug.

I sat and massaged her b.reast under the blanket, then decided to tease her a little bit. I pulled one of her ni**les in between my fingers and rolled it around. Melony went stiff when the cutest little m0an had escaped her. Her eyes snapped wide with shock, I thought I was going to get yelled at when she gave me the most devilish smirk. She is definitely plotting a payback right now. She moved around wrapping her arms around my wa!st and resting her head on my upper c.hest to get more comfortable. At least that is what I had thought.

A few minutes later, I felt Melony rub her hand over my abs, and then slowly move lower and lower. I visibly gulped, nervous and whatever she had planned. When her hand sn.aked into the top of my shorts and right past my boxers, I knew she had already decided what her pay back would be. My heart rate increased but I tried to get it to calm down so the others in the room wouldn't notice anything. I felt her finger slowly move down the side of my shaft, and then she placed her thumb right over my slit, and massaged the head with her other fingers. I felt the warmth of her breath on the side of my face.

"Two can play that game, Alpha. Now you better be quiet, we won't want an audience." then she l!cked my jaw. I was trying so hard to stay calm and collected, I wanted nothing more than to turn her over right here and show her who would win this game. When her hand wrapped around my shaft and she started to pump me slowly, I thought I was going to lose it. I had decided I was just going to cut this night short and throw her over my shoulder and take her to bed. Just when I was just about to put the plan in play, I had received a mindlink from my warriors on patrol tonight.

"Alpha, we have a breach at the southern border. There is a rouge here, requesting the presence of you and our Luna."

I froze. Melony looked at me questionably when I spoke out loud to everyone. "We have a breach at our southern boarder, a single rouge." I looked at Mel, "He is requesting to speak to both of us." Melony's eyes went wide.

Her Burning Desire Chapter 32 - Tips

0 6 minutes read

Melony

"He is requesting to speak to both of us." My eyes went wide at the words that were leaving Theodore's lips. I am honestly not surprised that they are requesting me. I am surprised that they also wanted to talk to Theodore. If they plan on taking me, why would you want my mate there? I guess we will find out soon. I jumped up from the sofa, looking everyone over. "Well let's go see what he wants, sha'll we?" I grabbed Theodore's hand in mine and turned toward Olive and Todd. "Leave your links open just in case we need you. As of right now, you will both stay here to watch over the packhouse in case there is a diversion. Mark, you come with us, but keep a bit of a distance to check out the surroundings. We will make sure the other warriors stay put and alert all of the patrol to be prepared. Let's go." We all made our way out of the Rec room and toward the front door. Olive and Todd hung back and Mark allowed Theo and I to go ahead of him.

"You do my job so well I was confused about who the Alpha was for a second." Theo nudged my shoulder in a joking manner. "You handled that very well, like a true Luna, Melony." I gave him my best smile. It felt good that he was proud of me. "I know that we said we are equals, Melony, and that I wouldn't push you away when we both are in danger, but please keep your distance and stay beside me. We have no idea what the rouge came here for or if they are planning something else."

I leaned up and kissed his cheek. "I promise, but please, relax, atleast until we know there is a threat for sure." I could feel the uneasiness and frustration just flowing off of Theodore in waves. This isn't the best situation for anyone to be in, but he still needs to stay collected in the mean time.

"I'll do my best." Was all I got for an answer from him. Hand in hand we made the rest of the way to our destination. As we were getting closer, the smell of rotting flesh was hitting my nostrils. I could see our warriors ready to defend their territory if need be, but it seems that this is a lone Rouge. Soon we were at the edge of our boarders staring at the dirtball, himself. Just being in his presence, I wanted to barf.

“My Luna and I are here. Now what do you want?” Theodore spoke in a gruff voice, letting his Alpha aura radiate off of him.

“I have come here with a message from my boss.” The Rouge spoke this time.

Honestly, I just wanted this to be over as soon as possible. I was becoming very nauseous the long we stood there. “I am running out of patience Rouge,” I spat at him, “give us the message and leave. Now.” He flinched a little at the command behind my voice.

“Ahhh, I see those powers are coming in quite nicely. My boss will be very hurt that you have been marked, but he will still enjoy the fact he can produce an heir from you.” In an instant, Theodore reached over, grabbing him by the throat and had him pinned against a tree. He was fuming mad.

“NO ONE WILL TOUCH MY MATE. NO ONE WILL COME NEAR HER WITHOUT DYING!!” I walked up and reached for Theo’s arm to drop the sc.umbag. Theodore calmed down from my touch and I simply nodded at him to release his grip. Once he fell to the ground, I approached him.

“Spit out your message so we can be on our way, or I will be more than happy to allow my mate to finish you off.”

“My boss has sent me here to seek you out and tell you that he will be coming very soon. If you do not wish war or any harm to your pack, he is requesting that you meet him in two days’ time at midnight. You will need to come alone. If you give yourself up, then he won’t attack. If you choose to meet him, follow this route and you will come to an abandoned cottage about 15 minutes from here. He will send someone for you that will meet you there.” With that, the rouge stood up and dusted himself off, taking off in the direction of the cottage he had just explained to us.

I know Theodore would never let me give myself up, and honestly, I don’t want to give myself up either. I know most people would be trying to save their packs, but I had complete utter faith in mine. We were one of the strongest packs, with big numbers. My powers are starting to kick in and Theodore is stronger also. We would more than likely defeat anyone coming our way.

Theodore told our warriors on patrol they could return to their stations. Mark was headed back toward the packhouse to make sure everything was still okay there. I was still feeling very nauseous, my mouth was watering and I couldn't hold it back anymore. I turned away from Theo and vomited all over the ground. I felt a hand glide across my back and another push my loose hair from my face.

"Mel, baby, are you okay? Do we need a doctor?" He sounded very concerned. I stood up, wiped my mouth and gave him a small smile.

"I'm okay, that Rouge smelt awful. It made my stomach upset. Plus, I don't drink, so adding the alcohol and pizza together on top of that, it was bound to happen. I am okay though. I feel much better." I tried to lessen his worry.

Without any reply, Theodore picked me up bridal style and started to carry me the rest of the way. "Theo! I can walk, you know!" I smacked his chest.

"Yes, and I can carry you, you know that?" He was mocking me. I decided to just lean against his chest and breathe him in. He smelt amazing. I could feel his emotions through our bond. I felt his contentment, but I also felt his worry, fear and panic. I was wondering what could make him so worked up because it shouldn't be from me getting sick. I was most definitely okay. We entered our room and he sat me down on the bed. He turned to walk away from me to go and wash up.

"Theodore?" He froze. "I won't leave. I have no intention of meeting up with him or turning myself in." I know he can feel my sincerity. "I know it may sound selfish because I am supposed to be your Luna and protect my pack, but I don't want to do it. I have complete confidence in our pack that we can beat them. Besides, even if I did turn myself over, he knows you would come after me, and would still attack anyway." I could actually see the deep breath that Theodore had released after hearing that.

Theodore approached me. I expected him to tell me something about how everything would work out. Instead, he crashed me into his chest and pulled me into a tight hug. He kissed the top of my head and then lifted my chin to look into his face. "I love you so much. You know that? I am so happy to hear you say all that, even if he got you. I wouldn't stop fighting until I found you. You aren't weak for thinking this way. If anything, it makes you the strongest Luna ever to face your problems head on and not abandon your people. Let's rest tonight and worry about all this tomorrow. Right now I just need to cuddle you and forget tonight."

Theodore stood and stripped his clothes and settled into bed next to me. He pulled me over to his side, wrapping his arm around me. I draped a leg over his and rested my head on his chest. Placing a kiss on his chest, "I love you too, Theo."

With that, I heard him slowly drift off to sleep. I lay there thinking of a plan that night, about my powers and how we could make sure we would defeat this unknown person. I also need to talk to Theodore about officially making me Luna. Tomorrow I decide, then let sleep take me over.

Her Burning Desire Chapter 33 - Tips

08 minutes read

Melony

It has been two days since Theodore and I have talked to the Rouge. Tonight would have been the night I met up with my kidnaper, but I had promised Theo that it wasn't even a thought in my mind. We have talked to our pack about everything that has been going on and made a plan for when the mystery person decides to attack. I have joined in on training in the morning recently, but the only person I am actually able to train with is Theodore. My powers have kicked in full force now and Theo is the only one I can physically train with, without hurting. Both him and I have gotten a lot stronger. I am super fast, all of my senses have been heightened. Based off what the Elders have told me, I should be immune to silver and wolfsbane now, but Theodore is over protective, and won't let me test that theory out.

Theodore has introduced me as his Luna and mate to all of our members. Today we will have the Luna ceremony, so when we go to battle I will be connected to our pack link. Olive and I went out shopping yesterday to purchase my dress for the ceremony, and of course grab a few extra things that we thought were necessary. I hadn't seen my mate since last night. Olive thought it would be a good idea for us to miss each other a little bit before the ceremony. I am with Olive in her and Beta Todd's room for us to get ready for today. We had about an hour and a half before we had to start my hair and make-up.

"Tell me you are missing me just as much as I am missing you right now." My belly was instantly filled with butterflies hearing his wonderful voice through our link.

If Olive didn't scare me so much, I would have ditched her last night. I can't wait to see you, Alpha.

"You too, my Luna." He cut the link after that.

"Is our Luna missing her big bad wolf right now?" Mark asked, mocking me with his lip poked out.

I rolled my eyes at him and huffed. "Leave that lip poked out there and bird will poop on it, Gamma."

"That's a myth, Mel." He responded back to me.

"Fine, then I'll just remove it." I winked at Olive. Mark gave me a face of shock.

"You girls are ruthless and scary." He shook his head.

"YEAH! and don't you forget it!" Olive chimed in. "In all seriousness, you need to get out now Mark. I have to prep our Luna here and she is about to have all of her goods on full display in a minute."

"What do you mean?" I asked her.

"Oh you will see." she had evil grin on her face and I wasn't so sure I actually wanted Mark to leave. "Now, out!"

"Fine! I will go find Theodore and see if he needs any help. I know Todd is making sure everything is set up, so I'd rather avoid that at all cost." With that, he left through the door. I turned my attention back to Olive, who looked like she was up to no good. She has something hidden behind her back.

"What do you have back there?" I pointed at her.

"Strip and lay down on the bed." She said without answering my question. I squinted my eyes at her.

"Listen, I love you, but not like that, Ol." I was waving my hands at her in front of my chest in no expression.

"Mel, go to the bed. We are waxing you. You're about to have one of the biggest days of your life and your baby-smooth skin is going to drive our Alpha insane. He will love it, and so will you once his rough hands are touching all over your smooth sensitive goods.” She crossed her arms and gave me a death glare.

“Fine. Only because you scare me when you get like this!” I removed my clothes and laid down on the bed spread eagle for my best friend. I am sure this was a sight to see. Once I was laid down she moved closer to me and started to place the hot wax across my lady bits. I was so nervous because I had never done waxing before and the only person to ever be this up close has been Theo. Kind of awkward honestly.

“Okay, this is going to hurt. I am not going to lie to you, but you need to stay still because we don’t want the rest of the wax to drip between the curtains down there, if you know what I mean..” She gave me a suggestive look. Without a warning, I felt her grip the cloth laid over part of the wax and she pulled it, and ripped it right off.

“F*CK!!! OLIVE! What the Hell was that?!” I about near jumped off the bed. She started to laugh and pushed me back.

“Were not finished! We have to get the rest of it off!”

She pulled more off and this time I let out a growl. This sh!t hurts. Why would anyone willingly go through this?! She pulled and ripped again, telling me we had 3 more to go. I held my breath waiting for her to pull another one off, when the door burst open and there stood Theodore and Mark sweaty and out of breath with concern written all over their faces. Mark’s eyes were shocked looking at the scene before him, and Theodore, was mad?! No, he was furious! Then I realized what this must look like. I was laid down on the bed with my legs bent up and spread wide open while Olive was kneeled down in between my legs, just inches from my p.ussy. Oh sh!t! I sat up on my elbows and used my foot to slowly push Olive back from me. She looked at me confused, when I motioned my eyes to the door. She turned to face them when her eyes went wide and looked from my mate, to the current position I was in.

“What in the sam fvck am I looking at right now?!?!” Theodore roared.

Mark walked up to Theo and placed his hand on his shoulder, patting it. “Looks like Olive is having her dessert rather early tonight,” He moved and sat down in the chair beside the bed, and folded his arms behind his head. “and I am here for the show.” he said smugly.

We all yelled at Mark at the same time. “GET OUT!”

With a dissatisfied sigh, he pushed himself up from the chair, hanging his head, mumbling while going to the door, “Get out Mark. Shut up Mark. You can’t have a sleep over with my mate Mark. Don’t look at b00bs Mark....” he trailed off as he closed the door behind him.

Olive spoke up first. “Alpha, it most certainly is not what it looks like.” Then she stuck out her hands that contained the wax and the cloth strips.

“Theo, baby. Come here. Please.” and I gave him my best puppy dog eyes. He walked over to the side of the bed and bent to my level. “Will you hold me until she is finished? This sh!t hurts!” I begged him.

“She’s just being a baby,” Olive rolled her eyes. “it really isn’t that bad. We are just making sure things are all nice and smooth for you tonight, Alpha.” I swear I saw a blush form on Theo’s cheeks. He was adorable. I hadn’t seen him all day, and I needed his touch. Just when I pulled him down to me to give him a kiss, Olive took her position again between my legs. She ripped it off, and I let out a muffled yell into Theodore’s mouth when the door burst open again. Except this time, the growling was coming from a very pissed-off Todd. Behind him stood Mark with a smirk on his face and poked his tongue out at us and then ran! That little chicken sh*t!

Theodore, Olive and I sat there with very surprised faces. When Todd stepped forward, “Explain to me what I am looking at right now?!” I can only imagine this sight must look way worse then it did when Theodore walked in.

Theodore stood up, “Listen Todd, this most definitely isn’t what it looks like.” hand in the air with surrender.

Once Olive finished waxing me and she got the men chased out of her room, we both started to get ready. Theodore had a stylist team show up to do our hair and make-up. We were getting our dresses on before we headed downstairs to start the ceremony.

I slipped my dress on and watched Olive approach me. She looked so lovely in her long emerald dress with her hair up in a simple updo. We both had tears in our eyes taking each other in. I wore my white dress that was covered in lace, the back sipped up to the middle of my back. It had see through lace on the sleeves, and on the sides of the dress. It was a mermaid style dress that showed off all my curves. My eyes had smoky eyeshadow, light pink lipstick, and simple eyeliner with mascara. My hair was half up and half down, curled. Olive embraced me, telling me how proud she was of me, when there was a knock at the door. Walking in the room was my father-in-law, Edward and Todd.

Todd took Olive by the hand and they left the room, leaving Edward and I alone. Edward stepped closer to me. "Melony, it would be my honor to walk you to my son during the ceremony. I know your father can't be here but it would be my pleasure to give my daughter to my son on this glorious day." My parents couldn't be here today because I told them not to. It is too risky for anyone to travel in and out of the pack right now with the current threats we have. If something were to happen to them, I would never forgive myself.

"I would really appreciate that, Edward." I replied with a genuine smile.

"Before we go, I would like to give you something." He reached into his pocket and pulled out the most beautiful pearl necklace. "This was Julie's, Theodore's mother. She wore this on the day of her Luna ceremony and I know that she would have wanted you to wear it also. She would have loved you Melony," Edward started to get teary eyed, which made me tear up also. "you are like a daughter to me in just the short time you have been here. You and Julie are so much alike, it baffles me. I could not of chosen someone better than you to be my son's mate, and the pack's Luna."

"I really appreciate your kind words. I love you as if you were my own family, Edward. I love everyone here, I truly mean that." I really meant everything I was saying.

He nodded, taking my arm in his and patting it. "Okay, enough of that. An old man like me shouldn't be crying and you are too beautiful to cry. Now let's go make you our Luna, my dear. My son has been crazy all day waiting to see you."

With that, we made our way out of the room and down the stairs, and outside where the ceremony was being held. I love these people, I love my pack, and I love my mate. Today, couldn't possibly get any better. It was going to be a wonderful day.

Her Burning Desire Chapter 34 - Tips

0 8 minutes read

Theodore

I stood at the front of all our pack members on the stage, facing the walkway that Melony would be walking down. Today is a big day in our world. Almost like a marriage ceremony. After today, Melony will officially become my Luna and be tied to everyone in our pack. I was surprised when she asked me about it. "Theodore, do you think we could have the Luna ceremony soon? Like 2 days soon? If you don't want to or you aren't ready, I totally get it. Just with everything going on, I thought... umm.. it might be a good idea for me to be linked to our pack members and be able to communicate with everyone when the war begins. It would be helpful to help protect our pack." I could hear her words in my head as if she were saying them again next to me. I had never been so happy. Little did she know, I wanted her to be able to mindlink with the pack also during the war, mainly, if something were to happen to her. But here she was my stubborn little mate, worried about everyone first, that's exactly how I knew she would be a great Luna. Most of our members still haven't met Melony, so this will be the first time they are going to see her. All of our warriors have met her or atleast seen her, but their families and the other members have not.

Just then, I heard the whispers of everyone before me. I looked up and made eye contact with the most gorgeous woman I have ever seen. My mate. She was beautiful, her white dress complimented every curve and dip of her body, her brown hair was perfectly pinned to see her beautiful face. My eyes landed on her neck and saw my mother's necklace. My father must have asked her to wear it. The gesture meant a lot to me. He told me he was going to ask Mel if he could walk her down the isle to me and I told him I believed she would be grateful for it. All of our members were talking amongst themselves. I could hear a few things. "Our Luna is beautiful," "She looks amazing," "we're so lucky," "I think our Alpha is crying." That one got me. I reached up and sure enough I had a few tears escape my eyes. Melony's eyes were full of unshed tears also. She was captivating. I could feel her emotions through our bond, love, lust, proud, and nervous. As father and her approached, I held my hand out to help her up onto the stage with me.

Her hand in mine sent sparks straight through my body. I gave her hand a gentle supporting squeeze. Relax Mel, I'm right here. I linked her.

She gave me a simple smile and nodded when I turned around to give my speech. I introduced her to the pack and explained who Melony was. In detail we explained about the prophecy. At mid-night we would take a pack run together and I didn't want our members to be surprised when they saw Harper. I told them how much she means to me, and how she will be the best Luna for our pack. Everyone cheered when I was finished. I could see the adoration in Melony's eyes when she looked out at everyone. Elder John then walked up to the stage to do the bonding of the pack with Melony and I.

"Melony Tucker, do you accept Theodore Nix as your Alpha, your leader, and Mate?" John spoke.

"I do." Melony beamed.

"Do you vow to protect and nurture this pack, love and cherish everyone here in Bloodmoon, and accept this place as your own, to stand by your Alpha, support him, and help guide him while you lead this pack together as one?"

"I do." She nodded.

Elder John brought the small cauldron and knife to Melony and I. I took the knife and sliced my palm to let my blood drip into the cauldron. I then handed the knife over to Melony and she did the same as me. Once that was finished, we both drank from the cauldron. I went first and felt Melony and my bond strengthened. Once she took her sip, I watched as she stumbled backward like an invisible force had pushed her. She gripped her head with her face all scrunched up. I knew instantly it was the link to the pack. She was getting everyone's links all at once, and they definitely weren't going to quiet down anytime soon.

I walked toward her and wrapped an arm around her waist to help her balance and brought a hand up to her cheek, moving my thumb across it. "Baby, focus on me. Push all the noise and voices back and just focus on me. Look at me. Listen to me. Just place your mind on my voice now." I saw as her face slowly started to relax little by little, before she gave me a mega-watt smile and jumped to crash her body into mine. Her lips were on mine and I couldn't help but deepen the kiss. I heard a voice clear behind us, making us pull away from each other. Melony looked up at Elder John sheepishly, and I just grinned ear to ear. He then spoke up to the crowd.

"I now would like to introduce to you Luna Melony and Alpha Theodore Nix of the Bloodmoon pack!!" All of our members were standing, clapping and hollering out in excitement. It made me extremely happy to know they were very accepting of Mel. I grabbed her hand and spoke to everyone.

“Members of Bloodmoon! Please celebrate this day with us! We have food, music and drinks all available in our ball room. At midnight I would like everyone to meet back here so we can all go on our first run with our Luna together! Let’s all have some fun today!” I looked over at Melony and something about her just seemed off. Her eyes were a little hazy and she seemed a little sluggish. I pulled her aside from everyone. “Are you okay Mel? Do you feel alright?” I was rubbing my hands up and down her sides when she moved closer and rested her head against my chest. I took a hand and caressed the back of her head.

“I’m okay, I’m just really tired. Maybe I just need to sit down for a little bit.” She gave me a small smile. I pulled her into the ballroom and sat her down at our table. We ate and talked, a few people came and introduced themselves to Mel. I didn’t leave her side at all. We sat there watching over our pack, seeing them dance, laugh and mingle amongst each other. I was leaned back in my chair, my arm draped across the back of Melony, while she leaned into me and resting her head on my chest. I felt her move and looked down to meet her eyes as she was staring up at me.

“I really feel much better, Theo. Why don’t we get out of here?” I could feel her heartbeat pick up.

“Like take you to bed...out of here?” and I wiggled my eyebrows up and down at her.

Melony’s hand slipped down to my thigh, rubbing it slowly, as she gave me a simple kiss on my jaw line. “That’s exactly what I mean.” I didn’t even give her time to react. In an instant, I was standing up, grabbing her hand and dragging her toward the exit. I heard giggles from behind me. “Theo, slow down, why the hurry?”

We were just outside the ballroom. I turned around and pushed her up against the wall, trapping her between my arms. “Baby, I have been dying to get you out of this dress from the first time I saw you in it.” I grabbed her hand and placed it on top of my manhood, my pants being the only thing separating the two. “You feel that?” Her face instantly heated up, her eyes big and she nodded to me. “I’ve been that hard since you started walking down that aisle toward me. I need you now.” before I could react, Melony threw herself at me, crashing her lips on top of mine. She opened her mouth, giving me better access. Goddess, she tasted so sweet. I picked her up by her a.ss, and ran toward the stairs to our room. Her legs were wrapped around my waist, and our lips never disconnected until I made it to our door and her mouth started to trail along my jaw, and down my neck. When she started to nibble at my mark, I was losing control.

“Baby? How much do you love this dress? Because if you keep it up, I will rip it off of you as soon as we walk through this door.”

She let out a little moan as she continued to explore me. “F**k the dress. I want you.” she licked me.

I shoved my way through the door and ran to our bed. I threw Melony down and in one swift motion ripped the dress into two right off her body. If I thought she looked good before, she really was killing me now. She sat there with one leg propped up and the other hanging off the bed, wearing the sexiest white lace lingerie. She had her bottom lip pulled between her teeth and her eyes were purple and full of lust. “Screw this!” I let out. I dropped my pants, and peeled Melony’s panties off, or lack there-of I should say. I grabbed her waist and entered her core quickly and eagerly.

“Goddess baby, your so wet for me.” I started to slide in and out of her, her moans driving me crazy.

“Yes! Yes, Theo! Harder! Please..” I placed her leg over my shoulder, both hands on the bed next to her head and drove myself deeper and faster. I felt Melony chasing her release. She was so close. Her pussy contracting and squeezing my cock. I was close.

“Do you like this Melony, does my cock bring you pleasure?” I was practically panting. My words brought her to the edge and she exploded around me, milking me dry. Her orgasm brought me to mine.

“Theodore!!” She screamed, riding out her high.

“F**k, Melony!” Then I collapsed on the bed next to her.

I felt her hand brush across my forehead pushing the hair from my eyes. “Well, that was quick.” She giggled.

I laughed with her. “We can play later, I couldn’t wait to have you any longer.”

"I said it was quick. I didn't say it was bad, Theo. I loved it." She kissed my lips before hopping up from the bed.

"Where are you going?" I whined.

"Someone ripped my dress, I need to find something to wear." She mused, "Or I could go back down like this.." I released a threatening growl, earning myself a chuckle from her. She emerged from the closet in a new outfit and looked adorable.

I grabbed her hand. "Come on love, we have a pack run to lead."

Her Burning Desire Chapter 35 - Tips

0 7 minutes read

Melony

We made our way back down to the celebration which was coming to an end so everyone could go on the pack run. When Theodore announced for everyone to head outside, my nerves instantly kicked in. My palms started to get sweaty, my stomach was in knots. Theodore and Mark are the only ones here who have ever seen Harper. Once everyone sees her, then they will all know the prophecy that we have talked about is real. We have had talks with them, but seeing is believing and they are all about to see me tonight. Theodore was helping get everyone outside while I stood back admiring everyone. I'm sure he could feel my anxiety. He looked up making eye contact with me after helping a little girl get on her father's back for the run. I gave a small smile.

"Relax Mel. Harper will be loved by them all."

I released a long breath that I didn't realize I was holding. I looked over to my right and saw Mark waiting for Theodore and I. The Gamma protects the Luna, so Mark would be running with Theo and I tonight. Olive and Todd were at the very back to protect the pack from anyone that would want to sneak up on us that way. They are second in command, so their position is to protect everyone just as much as the Alpha and Luna. Mark must sense my hesitancy as he approached.

"You got this Luna. Don't worry about it. Honestly, your wolf is badass. Anyone would be an idiot not to respect the fact that Harper is our Luna here." With a squeeze of my shoulder he walked away, shifting into his wolf.

Theodore let Jackson take over and standing across from me, was the big black wolf himself.

Theo came through on the pack mind link. "Without further ado, I present to you our Luna! Harper and Melony will lead our pack tonight on our run!" He cut everyone else off, and focused on me now. "Mel, you need to shift now."

I nodded, knowing he was right. I took a deep breath and looked up at the sky and saw the moon shining brightly over us. I closed my eyes and slowly let Harper take over. I felt my body start to warm, I heard the cracking and popping of my bones and joints. When I opened my eyes again, I was standing at a much lower level, looking Jackson right in the eyes. I bounced my paws off the ground at how wonderful it felt to be in wolf form and not hiding. I started to get a bunch of link

"Luna, you are beautiful."

"The Luna's wolf is almost as big as our Alphas wolf."

"Our Luna looks so strong. We are so lucky."

"I vow to always protect you, our Luna."

Harper then spoke to me for the first time in awhile. "They love us, Melony, they are all accepting us!" I could feel her emotion run through me. She was happy and proud, but I also felt her relief. Neither of us could help the tears of joy that were forming in the pits of our eyes. Jackson walked up and licked his mate and rubbed up against her to show his love and appreciation.

"I told you they would love you. We all do. You are the best Luna they could ever ask for. Now shake those tears and take us for our run!" Theodore's voice always gave me so much confidence.

Alright Harper, let's do this. Lead the way, my beautiful wolf.

Harper took over and looked up at the sky, letting out a loud howl. All of our pack members joined in and I am sure for miles from here you could hear the howling. Then all you heard was the noise of paws beating off the ground as Harper took off with Jackson beside her. It took about an hour for us to run around our borders as a group. Usually we would be done after that, but I told everyone we would do one more lap and as we passed the members' houses they could break off from us. I didn't want anyone traveling back to their homes this late on their own. Not with a threat against us still out there.

After the last member was dropped, we shifted back to our human forms. Theodore and I made our way back to the packhouse with Mark, Olive and Todd. I realized it was nearly 2am, and stopped dead in my tracks. Everyone came to a halt and Mark instantly started circling me with his back to me with his hands up in front of him.

"Where's the danger Mel, I got this!" Mark whispered loudly to me. I started to laugh at how ridiculous he looked right now, while the others just looked at me like I was crazy because they had their eyes peeled everywhere for danger also.

"There is no danger! You can all calm down." my laughing coming to a stop now. Olive crossed her arms at me and stomped her foot.

"That's not funny, Melony Tucker! Your life is literally being threatened right now!!" She was scolding me.

"I know! I just stopped because I realized I should have met up with my stalker 2 hours ago. They would have known by now that I wasn't coming."

"Well, too bad for them because you aren't going anywhere!!" Theodore pulled me into his tight embrace.

As we got back to the packhouse, Theodore broke off from me and had to go to his office real quickly with Mark and Todd. He wanted to make sure all the warriors were in place because we didn't know when the attack would happen, since I had officially ignored their request. I told him I would head to our room and wait for him. As I stepped onto our floor, a strange scent had hit me. I've smelt it before, but it wasn't common to me, I couldn't place it. As I got closer to our door, the scent seemed to be getting stronger. I slowly placed my hand on the handle and turned it to peak in. It seemed dark at first, as if no one was there. I walked through the doorway and the light next to our bed flicked on.

There lying on MY bed was Jessica. The stupid tramp was in a piece of lingerie that hid absolutely nothing. "Why are you in my mate and my room?!" I boomed.

Jessica just smiled as if she was winning this little battle between her and I, knowing I needed to get a handle on my emotions so she couldn't use them against me. She sat up and swung her legs over the side of the bed. "Well, well. You aren't exactly who I was hoping would walk through that door, or who I was waiting for. Your mate and I were supposed to have this night together. You were supposed to be gone."

I could practically taste the lie as it rolled off her tongue. Although I was confused about what she meant by 'I was supposed to be gone'. I huffed and crossed my arms, "I don't know which mate you are waiting for, but I definitely know that it is not mine."

She walked her way closer to me now, shaking her pointer finger back and forth at me. "mm, mm, mm Melony. Don't you realize it yet? Theodore can't take you as a mate. Your weak. You may produce him a strong heir, but that is all you will ever be to him. I was here before you, and I will be here after you. Don't be mistaken." Now I was seeing red. I opened up the mind link with Theo.

Come get your bimbo before I snap her neck!!! I shut the link off after that, blocking everyone out.

"You are nothing to this pack, a washed up coward, you will never truly be a Luna, or a companion to my Theodore."

That's it, I have had enough! I charged at her, too fast for her to even realize what was happening. I grabbed her by her throat and backed her up to the wall beside the door. "Let's get something straight right now. I am Theodore's mate. I bare his mark just as he bares mine. You will never touch him as long as I live. HE. IS. MINE. You might think I am weak, but I believe you're the one hanging by my hand right now. Cat got your tongue? You don't have anything nasty to say now while your life is in my hands, huh?" I smirked. I had my hand tightly around her neck, but not so tight that it would cut off all oxygen from her. Then I felt sparks glide across my back and a hand reached for my arm, sending sparks everywhere it touched.

"Melony, you need to release her." Theodore's voice came out smoothly.

I kept my eyes pointed at my enemy right now, and didn't dare move a muscle. "Melony, baby, let her go. I know you. You wouldn't be okay if you actually killed her right now. Your heart is too big to hold regret like that." He's right. My hand loosened and Jessica fell to the floor gasping for air.

I faced my mate. "I let her go, now get the n.aked sl*t out of my room, I will wait outside." I couldn't look at her anymore, I couldn't see her around Theodore dressed in nothing like that. I grabbed Mark by the arm and pulled him outside with me. I closed the door and leaned against it, taking a deep breath. Attention to Mark now. "So, how much of a problem will she continue to be?".