

Her Burning Desire Chapter 36 - Tips

0 6 minutes read

Melony

“Mark, I need answers and you are going to give them to me. Don’t make me use my command on you.” I sent him a ‘don’t mess with me look’.

“UGHHH, fine. What do you want to know?” Mark asked, throwing his hands in the air.

“Were they together?” simple and straight to the point.

“No.” Mark answered flatly and I glared at him, not believing it. “They weren’t together in the way you are thinking. I think they fooled around with each other a few times, but they never dated. It was purely physical.”

“How sure are you? No emotional connection?” I countered.

“No Mel, Theodore doesn’t do relationships. He keeps emotions out of everything. He has just changed since you came around. You’re the only one I have ever seen him like this with. I swear.” I wanted to believe Mark, but then just as the words left his mouth, I felt a sharp pain straight in my heart. Like it was being ripped out of my chest. I clutched it and screamed. “AHHHH!” I couldn’t breathe. The pain was terrible. Mark was next to me in a second.

“Melony!! Whats wrong?! Are you okay?! sh!t! Theodore is going to k!ll me!!” He tried to lift me up. Just as quickly as the pain came, it was gone.

“Mateee...” Harper whimpered. Then it hit me. Theo was in there with Jessica!! I am going to chop his d!ck off!. I pushed Mark aside and barged through the door. There stood Jessica with her arms wrapped around Theo while Theodore was trying to shove her off. He hasn’t seen me yet, but she sure has.

“I TOLD YOU TO GET HER OUT OF HERE!!” I boomed. Jessica was instantly submitting to my commands, Mark was beside me doing the same. Theodore quickly turned toward me and said, “It isn’t what it looks like, Melony.”

"It may not be what it looks like, but I definitely know what happened. I felt it! You practically gave me a heart attack out there because you didn't make this sl*t leave like I had asked you!" my voice cold.

"W-wh-what do you mean?" he stuttered out. I know he didn't do anything wrong, or try to cheat on me. He was shoving her away and trying to get her to stop. I didn't care though, I was pissed. Fuming!

"This is what I mean!!" I turned to my side and gripped Mark by the shirt and pulled him toward me hard. Then I crashed my !!ps directly onto his.

"AHHH!" Theo let out a yell and gripped his c.hest, bending at his wa!st. I pulled away from Mark and he was stiff as a board. His face, pure panic, and shock. His eyes were as big as saucers. Theodore stood up, the pain gone since I released my hold on his Gamma. A deep, angry, threatening growl vibrated from Theo, his eyes blazing with fire, his target. Mark. I stepped in front of Mark, shielding him.

"NO! You don't get to be mad at him. You get to be mad at her!" I pointed a finger at Jessica accusingly. "You saved her twice, Theo. Now, either, you get her the fvck out of our territory or I will in fact rip her throat out."

Theodore turned to Jessica, "Jessica Smith, I, Alpha Theodore Nix of the Bloodmoon Pack, denounce you as a member and tracker of our pack. You are banished from our territory, you are now considered rouge and if you dare step foot on our lands, you will be considered a threat and k!lled instantly. You have 30 minutes to gather your belongings and leave!" He turned to Mark next. "Gamma, make sure she gets her things and see her off our territory. You are dismissed after that, but I will see you in my office first thing in the morning."

Mark gulped, a big gulp. Nodded his head and grabbed Jessica to pull her out the door while she was crying and throwing her body all over the place. As soon as the door shut, Theodore started in on me.

"You k!ssed my fvcking Gamma, Melony!!!" He yelled at me.

"and that blonde bimbo k!ssed you. It meant nothing, but you needed to know I could feel that and I would not allow her another chance to put me in that position again."

“I want to literally rip his head off right now!”

“I know, but your not going to,” I made my way over to him and placed my hands on his chest, rubbing across them and then wrapping my arms around his neck, “because it was my fault, not his. It meant nothing. Mark is like a brother to me, my lips are for you, Alpha.” I stood on my toes and placed my lips over his. It took him a minute, then he fell into the kiss and wrapped his arms around my waist, deepening the kiss. Eventually, we pulled away breathless and I looked up into his eyes. “Come on, its almost morning. We have had a long day. Lets try to get some sleep.” I pulled him to our bed and we both crawled in, finding the comfort of each other’s embrace. Sleep consumes both of us almost instantly.

I woke up and heard the shower running. I did my morning stretch while stifling a yawn. I looked over at the clock on Theodores stand and it was only 8am. We had approximately 4 hours of sleep. Today was going to be a long day. I lay there thinking about the event that happened hours ago. I most definitely owe Mark an apology and I would make sure that Theo goes lightly on him. I tried to feel bad for Jessica for being a rouge, but I just couldn’t bring myself to do it. She deserved what she got. It is an act of crime to disrespect your Alpha or Luna and I let that woman go twice for doing it to me. By the third time, I couldn’t do it anymore. Besides, we were preparing for a war, and we needed our pack to have our backs. I trust every single person here to fight for me and Theo and protect us all. Jessica I wouldn’t be able to trust. If we went to war and she was there, I would feel like I would have to watch my back from her. If I was backed into a corner and needed help and she was the only one around, I had no doubt she would keep going and act like she saw nothing. I can’t have that in our pack. I decided I should get up and go talk to Theodore or, better yet, join him in the shower. I felt my stomach heat up in anticipation. I climbed out of bed and started to go to the closet for clothes when something caught my eye. I turned to face the window and taped to it was a note for me. I stood there not moving. I was in a trance.

I heard Theodore exit the bathroom, “Good morning Love,” I could hear him talking but I couldn’t answer him. “Melony?” He was getting closer to me, “Mel, whats wrong?”

All I could do was take my hand up and point to the note. I watched his eyes leave my face and followed the movement of my hand. I felt his calmness turn into sudden rage, as he stomped over and ripped it off the window. There in writing was a letter from the enemy.

Dearest Melony,

I am so sorry you couldn't make it last night.

I hoped something had just come up, but then again,

I don't really care. Since you didn't come willingly.

Then I will come and get you myself.

See you soon my love.

I was scared when I first saw the note, frozen in place, not moving. How could this note get so close to me? Did they come last night and I didn't notice? Were they right here while I was sleeping? I could have died. They were watching me. Then I got confused. How would they have gotten onto our land undetected? We would have been notified if there was a breach at some point. THEN I got angry. Maybe someone didn't get through our borders without being detected. Maybe they were already here. I turned to Theodore. "Theo, were you contacted about a breach at all? or anything unfamiliar outside of our packhouse?"

Theodore must have realized what I had figured out. He felt the same way I did. We were angry. How could someone in our pack betray us like this? I didn't think I could get any angrier. Then Theodore's words hit me and I was down right flaming angry.

"Another note. This time at our house. They are getting closer." He spoke so quietly I almost wouldn't have heard him, but my senses have gotten stronger since my powers have started to come in. What does he mean 'they'? Another note? Has he been getting these and keeping them from me?

"What do you mean 'another note' and 'getting closer' Theodore?!" my hands were on my hips and Theos' face looked like he had just been caught with his hand in the cookie jar. Which gave me the answer I needed. I marched to the closet to throw clothes on. When I emerged, I instructed my mate next, "I suggest you go get changed, you have some questions you need to answer because right now I am extremely mad at you!"

Her Burning Desire Chapter 37 - Tips

0 9 minutes read

Theodore

I mentally face palmed myself about opening my big mouth and telling Mel about the notes. At first, I kept it hidden from her because I didn't know what the threat was or who it was. Now we have more information and, with everything else going on, it just slipped my mind. Now I am walking down to my office like I am the one in trouble and being asked there. Which in fact is exactly the case.

I can feel Melony's emotions through our bond and they are all over the place.

As we walked into my office, I saw Mark sitting in one of the chairs waiting. Crap, I forgot I told him to meet me this morning. I go to sit behind my desk when my mate stops me.

"No, Theodore, for this meeting you're not the one in charge." She pointed to the chair next to Mark. "Sit." with her stern voice.

I walked over and sat in the chair with my arms crossed and sulking. If anyone else besides Melony were to talk to me like this, I would have bit their heads off by now. Unfortunately, my beautiful Luna could practically get away with anything. I roll my eyes and how bad I have it for her. I heard my office door open and lift my head to see Todd walking in with a guilty and scared expression on his face. Following behind him is my father, with his head hung and he's sulking also. A small smile spreads across my face as I realize I am not the only one in trouble right now. If I am going down, so are these s.uckers. I quickly mind link all the guys before Melony gets started with this interrogation.

Me – She summoned you all also?

Todd – "Yeah, she used her command on me to either show up or 'She would boil my skull'. I don't know if she is serious, but honestly, she scares me. I'm not taking any chances."

My Father- "She told me she would fill my ears with cement, and tell everyone that I was just losing my hearing from old age. So here I am."

I couldn't help the chuckle that came out of me. My lovely mate is brutal and intimidating, and I couldn't be prouder. I hurried and had to use my hand to wipe the laugh off my face when Melony shot daggers with her eyes at me. She meant business today.

“So Theodore, since you are getting the most entertainment out of this meeting, why don’t we start with you,” she crossed her arms over her chest and all her attention was now on me. “What other notes have you been given? and how long has this been going on?”

I cleared my throat to begin. “Well, it actually started on your second day here. The night we made amends in your room when I had to leave because Todd showed up. That was the first note we received. It was left at our boarders and a couple of the patrols had found it. I wanted to keep it quiet from you only until we had learned more information. I didn’t want to freak you out if it was just a love-sick ex-boyfriend or something that was heartbroken that you had left your pack with me. The day you came in and found Jessica on my desk, I was actually meeting with her to send her out and track down the scent of whoever had left the note.” Melony growled at the mention of Jessica. “She is gone Melony, stop it. Mark walked her out last night. You know this..”

“Oh I’m sorry, I can’t help that hearing that name only brings back the images of me being crushed in pain while watching her half n.aked body wrapped around you!” She threw her arms up in the air at me.

“AND MY MIND INSTANTLY THINKS OF YOUR LIPS TIED UP WITH MY GAMMA!!” I yelled. Now thinking about her and Mark k!ssing, it started to make my bl00d boil again. I heard a gasp in the room.

My father was scowling at Mark, while Todd was the first to speak up, looking at Mark. “You...k-k!ssed...our LUNA?? Are you insane?!?!”

Mark instantly threw his hands up in front of himself, “Listen, she k!ssed me! I was standing there shocked at the sight in front of me, seeing our Alpha with a blonde tramp wrapped around him, while Melony was screaming in pain. Next thing I know, I was grabbed by my collar and our Luna’s !!ps were flushed with mine! I was innocent on all counts, and if anything, I am the victim here!”

I was growling with my teeth gritted now, “You touched what is mine Mark!! Victim?! HA! You liked it!!”

“Listen, Melony’s freaking hot and all, but I felt like I was k!ssing my sister... disappointing, because I mean look at your mate, dude. I wish I could have enjoyed it.” Mark was shaking his head.

I literally had to let out a long breath and try to calm myself before I killed this it. “Mark... I know my mate is hot. She is beyond anything you or I could put together, but I am going to tell you once, and once only.....I am seriously going to kill you if you keep talking like this about Melony..” I looked at him and I knew my eyes had darken with my wolf wanting to come out. “Please stop before you dig this hole any further, I would hate to have to find a new Gamma and plan a funeral on the same day.” I felt sparks on my shoulder and instantly Jackson and I started to calm down.

“Alright Mark, I’m taking the shovel before you bury yourself deeper.” Melony leaned down and whispered to me “I am still mad at you and you need to finish explaining, but please, baby, calm down.” she kissed the side of my head and then took her spot in front of us all again.

After a moment, I was able to continue talking. “The night at the club is when I received the second message. Before I had realized you were gone, I was asked to the front door by an unknown source and when I got there they were gone. The only thing left was a second note basically saying the same things, ‘They were coming for you, you are his and not mine, blah blah blah.’ After that night I didn’t get to tell you because when I found you, you were upset and I didn’t want to add stress, after you had calmed down, well... we were...” I coughed to clear my throat, “You and I were a litter preoccupied.” I gave her my knowing smirk and watched as her cheeks flushed. Melony ended up nodding to me and turned to the others.

“So were you all told not to tell me and keep this information hidden?”

Todd spoke first. “No, Luna, we were asked not to tell you yet about the first note until we found out who the person was leaving the note. After that instruction, there was no more, we just have had a lot happening lately, especially with me trying to get our warriors the extra training.” He wasn’t lying though. I asked them to let me tell Melony about the first note, but after that I never asked anyone to hide anything.

“By the time I found out about anything, I was too busy contacting the elders and trying to figure out the prophecy. I found out about the white wolf the same time I found out about the first note.” My father answered.

She turned to Mark now. ” And you! Did you know anything?!” She seemed more angry with Mark and I, than anyone else. I get it though, I was her mate, and Mark was one of her best friends, someone she considers family.

“I swear, Melony. I had no idea.” Mark looked defeated.

“Baby, Mark had no idea about anything. I knew you both were getting rather close, and I kept him out of it all. Plus, while we were having our meetings, I needed him to look over you so I knew there wouldn’t be any danger.”

Melony started to pace back and forth, “So, what now? What do we do now?”

“Well, we will wait. That is what we do. We wait until they decide they are going to attack and then we fight.” My father answered her. I shook my head, agreeing with him.

“That’s exactly what we do, we wait until they carry out their plan.” I sat back in my chair now, relaxing some. Melony had seemed to move on from being upset at us all. Melony was packing back and forth with her face deep in concentration. “What is going on in that beautiful mind of yours, Mel?”

She paused and looked at us all with a very serious face. She stood straight with confidence. “What if we don’t wait?” All of us men shared a look of confusion before she continued. “Hear me out, What if we don’t wait? Everything so far in this has been on their terms. What if we take it into our own hands? We would have the upper hand.” I leaned forward on my knees listening to what she was saying.

My father spoke up, “Well, what do you have in mind, Luna?”

“Well,” She looked at me while she hesitated to continue, I had a feeling I wouldn’t like whatever she was about to say. “I think we should leave them a note. We know the location they have requested my presence before. I bet they have someone that checks in there periodically in case I were to change my mind and go. I say we should leave a note stating to meet me at a certain time at the location, but I will refuse to leave unless RK is present. I have had a run in with him before at the club. I remember his voice and scent. I would know if they tried to trick us.”

” And then what, Luna? Would we hand you over on a platter? That cottage isn’t on our territory. We wouldn’t have our boarders to protect you.” Mark was now leaning forward, and seemed to be equally bothered by this plan also.

“Sort of...” and before she could even finish, I was up and out of my chair.

“ABSOLUTELY NOT!! No. Find another plan, or we will wait! I will not hand my mate over to that lunatic, not even over my own dead body!” I was mad now, actually upset. How could she ever think I would ever let her walk into this blindly, and alone. It would always be too risky.

Melony walked over to me, wrapping one arm around my waist and placed her other hand on my cheek, soothing me to calm down. “Listen, Please Theodore, just hear me out. We can have someone take the note to the cottage during the day with a time for me to meet with them. My parents have a friend that is a witch, remember? I am sure she could help us with our scents. We can have our warriors and your scent all masked. You will all be hidden around the cottage for my protection when I go meet with them. They wouldn’t expect it, they possibly wouldn’t have as many people with them for attack, which means fewer casualties. They wouldn’t have the upper hand, they would play into our trap and we could get this all done and over sooner.”

“I don’t think the plan is actually half bad Theo, good job Luna.” Todd gave his approval.

My father stood and walked over to Melony, hugging her, “I think you are going to be the best Luna this pack has ever seen. I agree with the plan, you seem to be falling into the leading roll very quickly and excellently.” He kissed the top of her head and pulled away.

Mark let out a sigh as he stood. “I agree also, but I get to be next to you the entire time. There will be no chance I will lose you. Plus you still owe me a sleep over.” He winked.

I gave him a pointed look, and he let out a laugh. Melony looked up at me with her big puppy dog eyes, those bright green-blue eyes caught my breath every time. “Fine. But only under two conditions.” She smiled widely, nodded up at me, and squeezed me tighter. “1. Absolutely nothing will happen unless it goes through me first. What I say goes.”

“Okay, I can agree with that.” she beamed.

I let out a breath knowing this will be where she gets upset and decides to change her mind. “2. When the fight starts... you leave. You and Mark will head back to our territory and get to safety. You don’t look back and you don’t stay and try to help.” Her jaw dropped instantly in shock of what I had just said to her. I watched the shock on her face, then turned to contemplation. I’m sure she won’t agree to this term, especially after the fight we had when those rouges attacked. Which is great because then we could put her silly plan to rest and wait for the attack on our ground where I know she would be safe. To my complete surprise though, Melony took a step back from me and put her hand out in front of her. \r\

“Deal.” She smirked at me.

Her Burning Desire Chapter 38 - Tips

0 7 minutes read

Melony

It was so hard for me to stand there and shake Theodore’s hand and agree to run from the war that was going to happen, I would have to turn my back while our pack members, my friends, and my mate fought in a battle that was caused because of me. I know I didn’t intentionally start the battle that was coming, and nothing I did could prevent it, it was all because some sicko had a weird obsession over me, so I still feel guilty about it all.

After we planned everything out, we started to put everything in motion. I wrote out a note and Mark and Todd were going to go deliver it to the cottage today. I called my parents and got in contact with our family friend, who happens to be a witch. It took some convincing on my end to get her to agree to help. Theodore doesn’t exactly have the best reputation in the supernatural world. Everyone only sees him as a cold-hearted beast. She ended up agreeing, in the end, which I was super grateful for. She still wasn’t comfortable enough to pass onto our territory, so by 5pm today she was going to drop off enough potion for about 200 werewolves at our front gates. She explained over the phone how it should be used and that it only lasts for 12 hours. Tonight we would all relax and have 1 more full day before we were to meet with the attackers. If everything goes to plan, by tomorrow night this entire thing will be over once and for all.

Todd and Mark had left to go deliver the note. Edward went to go make sure things were ready for all the people who couldn’t fight so they would be safely locked in our hideaway. Theodore and I were still in his office waiting for our lunch to arrive. We decided to have lunch together before he spent the rest of the day getting our warriors ready for battle. They would have to get out maps and plan where to hide, and the best approach to attack. After we finish eating, I am going to go and meet up with Olive and have some good one on one time with her.

After the meeting I was extremely tired. I haven't really been sleeping the best though with everything going on. I just felt super tired, so Theodore had me snuggle with him on his office couch while we waited for our food. Soon we heard a knock at the door and it opened with a young omega wheeling in our food cart. I sat up and let Theo go grab the food from her. When he returned to the couch, he placed our covered plates on the coffee table in front of us. He lifted the lids to reveal the food and the smell instantly made my stomach tighten up. The smell of fish. I quickly moved my hand to my mouth and ran to the bathroom. I could hear Theo yelling after me.

"Melony! Mel, are you okay?" He sounded so concerned for me, but ultimately, I was completely embarrassed that he was watching me wrench in his toilet. He bent down beside me and rubbed my back. "Are you sick? Maybe I should get a doctor, Mel?" I was finally done emptying my stomach and sat back against his chest.

I shook my head no, "I'm okay, honestly, I think with everything that has been going on, and only getting a little sleep, it is just taking a toll on my body. It's crazy what stress can do to a person."

"Well, do you want to try to eat something?" I shook my head no, again. "Okay, well, how about you take off today and rest. We have a big day tomorrow and I have a lot of planning to get finished. I probably won't be up in bed until late, but you can just relax and try to get rejuvenated for tomorrow night." He pulled me in tight to his chest and kissed the top of my head, standing us both up.

I wrapped my arms around him tightly, "I am actually going to go and meet up with Olive. She wanted a girls' day today. We were going to just hang out in her room and watch movies and snacks. I'll be down there if you need me."

"Okay baby, but please make sure you rest." I nodded and started walking to the door. I placed my hand on the handle of the door and opened it to leave. I stopped myself before exiting.

"Theodore?" He stopped walking and turned back around to face me.

"Yeah?" He looked at me with confusion.

"I love you, forever." and I gave him the best and weakest smile I could.

He smiled back at me and nodded, "I love you too, Mel, always." I blew him a kiss with my hand and walked the rest of the way out of the office, and headed toward Olive.

I made it to Olives' room a little after 1pm today. It is currently 4pm and we have done absolutely nothing besides talk, paint each others nails, and watch Netflix. I started to not feel well again a little bit ago because the smell of the nail polish was making my stomach upset again. Olive had the nail polish out again to do her second coat on her toes, and this time I couldn't hold it back. I ran to her trash can in her room, not making it to the toilet in time. I finally stopped throwing up and looked up to Olive as her jaw was hanging wide open, staring at me in shock. "Can you close that thing before you start catching flies!?"

She closed her mouth dramatically with her own finger, then she narrowed her eyes on me like I had done something wrong. I cringed my eyebrow at her. "Problem Olive?"

Her face began to soften and turn to one of confusion, she tilted her head to the side like she was studying me for a moment. Then she stood up and walked to her bathroom. She returned to hand me a long white box, "What is this?" I asked.

"Go take it, I think you will find it very helpful." She was back to painting her toes acting like nothing was happening. I flipped the box over to see the words, 'Pregnancy Test' written across it in big pink letters. Surely Olive can't believe I am pregnant, right? I just have a stomach bug, or it's the stress of everything that is happening. I mean, I have been feeling nauseous a little often, even when we went to meet with that rouge several days ago. I have noticed my breasts do feel heavier but I assumed it was from training more often than I am used to. I have had more of a strong appetite lately, but I mean look at my mate, he is to die for. I have been extremely tired lately also.

I stood up staring at the box in my hand, okay, I'll take it. It can't hurt to at least rule a pregnancy out of the options for what is going on with me. I walked into Olive and Todd's bathroom and sat down on the toilet. As I removed the stick from the packaging, my hands started to shake some. I was nervous. I mean I never in a million years thought I would be where I am now. If I was pregnant, what would Theodore think? We haven't even really talked about kids. Sure, we discussed if we wanted them at one point but we never talked about him and I having kids, or when we would start trying. I decided to just hurry and get it over with.

I peed on it, I sat it on the counter and was currently washing my hands. By the time I get done washing I should have my result. I dry my hands and place the towel back on the counter. I look at myself in the mirror and fix my hair, pulling it up into a messy bun. I have on black joggers and a baggy white sweatshirt, with my white fuzzy socks. I am glad I didn't put make-up on today, because once I finally convinced myself to flip the test over to look at it tears instantly streamed down my face.

'POSITIVE'

was written in the result box of the test. I was crying and I couldn't stop. Honestly, I didn't know if I should be happy about this or not. So much is going on right now. If I tell Theo, he won't let us continue our plan for tomorrow, and I really need this battle to be over, especially if we are going to have a pup. Maybe I can just tell him when the battle is over. I wouldn't be in any danger anyway. I promised him I would run to safety when the fight began. I just needed to be there to put the plan in motion. I walked out of the bathroom after throwing the test away. I still have tears streaming down my face. Olive looked up from her spot on the bed. Her face turned sad. I nodded my head yes to her and watched as she opened her arms wide open, inviting me into them. I crawled up the bed and laid down with her holding me tight. My tears started to slow and I could feel us both start to get sleepy, but I wasn't leaving her yet.

"Olive?" I felt her heart rate pick up, "Please don't tell anyone, I don't want Theo to know right now."

"I won't tell your secret, but Melony, you aren't alone in this." I felt her tears drip onto my sweatshirt. "We both can go through this experience together. I had that test because I thought I needed it, but I stopped by the doctors on my way home from buying it and they confirmed I am pregnant also."

I wanted to be happy, I really did. Olive and I would get to experience this all together. Our kids would grow up and be friends just like her and I were. We had our loving mates, a good home, and had each other. But here I am, still crying on her chest because I have to keep this to myself and pray we will make it out of this battle alive before I can tell my mate he is going to be a father.

Her Burning Desire Chapter 39 - Tips

06 minutes read

Theodore

After Melony walked out of my office earlier today, I have been busy ever since. I wanted to try and get everything planned and completed so I could spend all day with my mate before the battle. We should have the upper hand going into this, but anything could happen at anytime, especially if someone from our pack is a traitor and working with them. They could already know our plan going into this and the last thing I want is Melony's life on the line.

I mapped out all of the hiding locations for our warriors around the cottage. I have some hanging back to protect our borders because if they do get past us we still have to protect our territory. I ran through the plan with Todd for all the women and children that wouldn't be fighting and getting them to the safe house. Normally, the Luna would be in charge of getting everyone to safety, but unfortunately, we need Mel to carry out our plan. Olive is the next in line to take the responsibility. Todd is going to go over all the details with Olive in the morning. I know Todd is completely relieved that Olive will stay in the safe house, considering they just found out she is with pup. I am extremely happy for them. I can't help but picture my mate round and carrying a pup of our own. I was able to walk to our front gate and pick up the potions that were left for our warriors and myself to take to mask our scent. I really hated working with witches but Melony insisted that her parents had been friends with Belinda for a long time and she is truth-worthy. I was very surprised to learn that Belinda is actually Melony's Godmother.

Melony walked into my life and literally changed everything. I was making alliances with witches. I gave leniency. I was talking to members on personal and friendly levels. I still trained everyone hard and expected the best out of our pack, but I allowed them time with their families and for themselves. I was going into battle over my mate and Luna. I promised myself years ago when my mother had passed I would never take a mate. I thought my mate would weaken me, and I would fall apart as Alpha. So far, Mel has done nothing but blindsided me. She has made me more forgiving. She makes me see the good in people. She has made me more protective over my pack because now I have her to protect also. She is all I think about day and night. She has opened my heart and crawled inside and taken it over completely. She is the most beautiful person, inside and out. She brings light to my life, happiness and laughter. She makes me feel like a hormonal teenager sometimes. Her gorgeous green-blue eyes that light up whenever she sees me, or the way they turn purple with lust, or when Harper takes over. Her smile is contagious. I love her so much and I can't imagine anyone else being by my side anymore.

I am finally finished with all the planning and Todd and I are headed down to his room to meet up with the girls. It's 11PM, so who knows what they have gotten themselves into? We walk through his door and the sight before us has us both awestruck. Olive is up on the pillows sitting higher than Melony with her arms wrapped around my mate. Her head is resting on the top of Melony's head. Mel is snuggled into Olive's chest, hugging her tightly. Both of them are sound asleep.

I'll grab Melony and be on our way. I will try carefully not to wake up either of them. I told Todd through our link. He nodded in agreement, walking around to the side where Olive was sleeping. As we both got closer, we noticed that both of the girls had tear streaks staining their faces as if they had been crying. I looked at Todd for answers but he shrugged his shoulders at me.

"I haven't heard from Olive all day. Maybe they just missed each other?" I wasn't sure if it was a question or a statement.

I'm not sure. I haven't heard from Melony either. I'll ask her about it tomorrow or when she wakes up. I will let you know what I find out. With that, I slowly bent down to scoop Mel up into my arms and carry her up to our room. As if it was the most natural thing, she snuggled right into me and let out a cute little sigh of contentment. Her arms instinctively wrapped around my neck and I could feel her breathing in my scent. I couldn't help the goofy grin that spread across my face. I dipped my head down to kiss the top of her head and made my way to our bedroom.

Once inside our room, I had laid Melony down on our bed and I made my way into our closet to change into something comfortable to sleep in. I could hear the blankets rustling around while I was finding sweat pants to pull on. When I emerged from the closet, Melony was facing toward me, lying on my pillow, looking at me through her hooded eyes.

"Hey baby." she gave me a lazy smile. She looked so cute, tired and sleepy but shinning with love for me.

"Hello my love." I leaned in the doorway just looking at the beauty lying on my bed.

Melony

I woke up to Theo laying me down on our bed, his scent engulfing all around me. I rolled over to his pillow to take a look at the clock on his stand and saw that it was a little after 11PM. Theodore walked out of the closet and I felt myself instantly start to heat up. His tousled hair, with gray sweat pants, and no shirt. His muscles were on full display. His bare chest I just wanted to lick and kiss all over. I gave him the best smile I could after just waking up. "Hey baby."

A small smile spread across his face, "Hello my love." His deep husky voice was not helping with the wetness that was pooling between my legs. I saw Theodore's eyes darken a little more. "Mel, I can smell your arousal from over here, you little tease."

"Why am I teasing? Come lie down Theo, please?" I poked my bottom lip out in a pout. He slowly made his way over to the bed and I scooted over to make room for him. He seems pretty tired, so maybe I should just let him sleep. Theodore turned to face me and pushed the hair from my face that had fallen over my eyes. I looked up at his handsome face.

"Melony?" He was looking at me like he was trying to figure something out by looking in my eyes.

"Hmm?" I answered.

"Are you okay? When I arrived to pick you up from Olive and Todd's room, it looked like you and her had been crying, you had stains down your cheeks. I haven't heard from you all day. I am worried about you, Melony. You got sick earlier, now I find you cuddled up with your best friend crying yourself to sleep. Are you okay? Did I do something?" All of a sudden, Theodore let down his wall he had up in our bond and I felt all of his worry and concern. I feel so guilty not being able to tell him the truth right now about the baby, but as long as everything goes to plan, I will be able to tell him no later than tomorrow night after the battle. I just have to get through the next 24 hours.

"I'm okay. Olive told me she was expecting a baby and it made us both super emotional. I am really happy for her and Todd." I could feel Theodore nodding yes.

"Todd mentioned it to me today. I am happy for them also." I wonder how he feels about them having kids right now. If it were him and I, would he be upset? Maybe I could get an idea of how he would feel about it once I told him.

“Do you think it is too fast for them?”

Theodore took a minute before responding to me. I don't know if he was thinking about his answer or if his sleep was taking him over, but what he said took me by surprise. “I'm not sure, I think for every couple it is different. If they are happy, then I am happy for them. It's actually pretty common for werewolves to have kids soon after finding their mate. Plus, I am 28 and Todd is 27, so we are already past the age people usually have children. I'm glad we haven't had that happen yet with everything that is currently going on, but if you came and told me you were carrying my pup, I would honestly be thrilled. Nothing would make me happier than spending the rest of my life building a family with you.”

I couldn't help it, I had to kiss him. I turned my head up and plastered my lips to his. Telling him with a kiss how grateful I am for his answer. He is the absolute love of my life. I can't wait to share this happiness with him.

Her Burning Desire Chapter 40 - Tips

07 minutes read

Melony

Theodore was so tired last night from all his preparations the day before that we laid down and fell asleep in each other's arms. I woke up probably 10 minutes ago just thinking of the events that are about to unfold and then I started thinking about the little bundle of joy I have growing inside my belly currently. Hearing Theodore tell me, he would be happy if I was carrying his child were the exact words I needed. I just need to get through this mess so we can share this joy together. Instinctively, I ran my hand over my belly saying to myself 'Don't worry little one, mommy will make sure you are protected through all of this'.

“No one will hurt our pup Melony, I will make sure of it!” Harper was already so protective over our child, and it warmed my heart. She was thrilled about this also. I could feel tears spring from the edge of my eyes.

I turned over on my pillow and looked at my mate. He's seriously sculpted like a god. I ran my eyes over his arm that was tucked behind his head and practically drooled from the sight of him and his perfect muscular body lying there sleeping. I'm starting to get myself all worked up now and turned on from this sight. What is wrong with me? I was just on the verge of crying and now here I am a crazy turned-on mess. An idea popped into my head.

Theodore said we would have all day together today, and he was so stressed and tired from yesterday, I bet I could help him start this day right.

I lifted up the blanket, and slowly made my way between Theodore's legs, leaving myself hidden by our comforter. I made it down here and he is still sleeping. Now I have to try and remove his pants to free his c0ck without him waking up. I slowly slid my fingers in his wa!st band and pulled them down until his h.uge e.rection sprung free. I felt Theodore move some and instantly froze. I waited a couple of seconds but I think he went back to sleep. My eyes are locked on its target, and I !!ck my !!ps from the anticipation. I take one hand and grab him by his shaft and allow my tongue to slowly move across the tip before I s.uck him fully into my mouth. I take my time and s.uck him slowly in and out while I move my hand up and down at the same pace. I can feel him growing harder. Then I hear a few sleepy m0ans leave his !!ps. I know he's awake because I can feel his emotions open up through our bond. I felt the blanket lift up and raised my eyes upward. Just as he started to speak, I took him further into my mouth, hitting the back of my throat and quickened my pace.

"Melony, what are you...ohhhh fvck...mmm, baby what are you doing to me.."
He let out.

I responded with the link. I am just giving my Alpha a proper wake up call, lay back and enjoy my Alpha. I smirked with him still fully in my mouth while I watched Theodores head hit the pillow and he cried out in pleasure.

I moved my hand faster, s.ucked him harder, tightening my cheeks and rolling my tongue all around. I felt Theo's hand move to the back of my head and grip my hair, moving me to match his thrust. I could feel his c0ck start to twitch and constrict in my hand, knowing he was close. Theodore reached down to get me off of him but I pushed his hands away and growled. The vibration from my growl pushed him right over the edge and he exploded in my mouth.

"Goddess Melony...Mmmm" I s.ucked and moved until he rode out his high, ropes and ropes of his deliciousness sliding down my throat. When I knew he was finished, I !!cked him clean and moved up his body to lie on his c.hest. I folded my hands and rested my chin on them, looking my mate in his eyes.

He moved his hand to tuck my hair behind my ear, "I could wake up like that every day, and I would be the happiest man alive." He smiled and pulled me up higher and into his arms.

“Hmmm, I’ll keep that in mind, Alpha.” I gave him a playful wink. I stood up from bed not ready for the fun to be over yet. I had my back facing Theo and I reached behind and undid the clasp of my b.ra. I slid it off my body and moved to hand it on the edge of the bed. I turned toward him, gripping both of my b.reasts and kneading them. I let my head fall back and my hair was hanging loosely, cascading down my back, and let out a soft little moan. I took a few more steps toward our bathroom and slowly bent over, removing my pants and underwear, giving him the perfect view of my bottom. I was still bent over, slipping my feet out when I turned back and saw Theodore was now sitting on the edge of the bed watching me intently, his eyes dark with lust. I took another few steps into the bathroom and sat myself up on the counter. I’m playing with fire here, but I am okay with it. I spread my legs wide and let my finger find my clit. I started to circle it and moaned. Then I opened the link up to Theodore. “You coming to play baby, or do I need to do it myself?” I heard a growl released from our bedroom and the quickened footsteps of my mate and he was standing before me in just seconds.

“Goddess Melony, you look fucking perfect.” Before he could do anything else, I reached up and pulled him down to meet my lips. Our kiss was heated and passionate. I bit his lower lip and he opened his mouth a little so our tongues could tangle and massage each other. His hands were sliding up and down my back until he started to kiss my jaw, down my neck, his tongue slid down my stomach and soon he was kneeling before me. He used his hands and shoved my legs apart, his warm breath now hitting my bare core.

“You smell delicious, mate.” I bit my lower lip in anticipation. Then he gently separated my lower lips before his tongue started to devour me completely. My head rolled back on my shoulders, I was a moaning mess. His tongue circling my clit. He inserted two fingers, pumping them in and out of me, hitting that right spot everytime. I gripped his head and started to rub my core over his face, helping myself reach my orgasam.

“Yes! Theodore! YES!! FK! I’m going to c.um Theo!” I rode his face faster and he was moving his tongue, hitting all the right spots. My toes started to curl and my abdomen was tightening up, my legs squeezed against Theodore, when I released myself, having my biggest orgasam yet. “Fuuuu*k, yess.....”

My eyesight was a haze as I watched my mate stand back up in front of me and release his hold on my legs. I was completely sated. Theodore took his fingers to his mouth, licking my juices off of him as he smiled. “Mmm, You tasted so sweet baby, by far the best breakfast ever.” He smiled and leaned in to kiss me.

When our lips connected, I could taste myself on him still, and it was like I didn't just have the best orgasm of my life, I was ready to go again. We pulled away and Theodore searched my eyes.

"I need you inside me, Theodore. My body is craving you." He winked at me.

"I think I can cure that hunger baby." He lifted me off the counter and carried me into the shower where he took me two more times and each time he had me crying out his name.

We finally made it out of the bathroom and both of us got cleaned up and dressed. We decided we would have a relaxing day with each other before tonight. Right now we are going to go down and watch a movie and get pizza with our friends, then we will come back up here to our room and rest before we have to head out. We walked out of our room and down to the rec room hand in hand. After our morning with each other, we were both in completely good moods. I hadn't felt nauseous today yet and I was actually starving.

"There the love birds are!" Todd yelled out.

"How are you feeling this morning Mel? No sickness today?" Olive asked me and I hurried and shot daggers with my eyes her way. Her eyes went wide. "I'm so sorry, Melony, I forgot, I promise I didn't tell Todd, the secret is still safe!" I nodded.

"I think they had a wonderful morning. 'YES Theo, YES' in a deep voice, "You taste delicious mate". Mark was smirking at both of us. Theodore was literally red from embarrassment. "Next time I won't try to wake you up, I'll just send a text again!"

"What's wrong, Marky Boo? Someone jealous they aren't having the best sex of their life yet?" I countered back to him. He gave me a dirty look and I stuck my tongue out at him. I snuggled into Theodore, "Alright enough of that, Theodore and I have a great sex life, Mark doesn't. I feel fine, Olive, thanks for asking. Now let's watch this movie and get pizza, I am starving." I sat down on the couch next to my mate and snuggled into his side while his arm was wrapped around me. This is one of the best days I have had yet, but I have a feeling that it is all about to change.