Princess Aeval Florentine's POV "Are you still not going to look at me?"	đ
"Tthey're waiting," my voice sounded so small even to my ears. "They can wait."	a a
I slowly looked up at him. Those midnight blue eyes with blood red outer rings kept me in my spot. They were truly mesmerizing. I	a swallowed as I kept staring into his eyes. He too made no e ort to do anything else.
"I've missed you. More than you can imagine." I had no idea what to say to that so I just stared back at him. Certain things I just couldn't say.	á
"Come inside Your Hi-" "Prince Phoenix or better yet just Phoenix." I nodded and heeded to	a
his request. "Do come inside Prince Phoenix."	a
As we walked in, I spotted Alex walking towards the meeting hall. Thank heavens for that. "Alex."
"Done staring at each other?" I hoped my cheeks weren't red at that moment.	a
I cleared my throat and glared at him. "Please show Prince Phoenix to the guest rooms," I forced myself to be civil with my twin. I guess he got the message so he didn't argue or make any more snarky remarks.	)
"I'm going to join my father in the meeting first." I informed and quickly walked away before either of them could say anything. However, I didn't go straight to the meeting hall. I went to the kitcher	1 and ate some bread as I didn't want papa to be mad. Once I entered the hall, I was greeted by some of the most powerful beings in the world. Now, I was one of those beings.	a a
"We were just confirming on how to go about it." my father informed me.
"So far I think this war strategy will work," added the elven King. Prince Zenas nodded at his statement.
"What is that blank area over there, Your Majesty?" I pointed to an empty space in the war map. It was located almost at the centre of the battlefield.
"The Dark Prince will lure all those trolls here and unleash the maximum extent of his powers. Your mother, the fae queen will help him by merging her powers with his. Hopefully, they are strong enough to destroy a very large number of trolls. If not most of them." King Epaphroditus replied. "I'll try my best. I can only do it once." My mother said. I knew she was going to go all out. I was proud of her but the thought of her getting hurt did not settle well with me.
"It will be enough. He will have all the help he needs." Alpha King Silvian spoke. "Plus, I think the princess has some hidden talents," he smiled at me. I gave him a polite smile. "I won't be as powerful as	a Prince Phoenix but I'm sure I can help." "You will and you'll definitely be needed in the battlefield Princess Aeval." I nodded at King Caelestinus. "The battlefield?" came a deep voice.	a a
I turned around to see the Dark Prince enter the meeting room. His eyes never le mine. "Yes, son. She'll fight alongside her army. Just like all of us here." The vampire king sounded exasperated.
"It's too dangerous," he blurted out. I could tell that he didn't want to show his feelings but at the same time he wasn't prepared to hear the news about me fighting in the war with them. He tried to hide his true emotions but I could see them clearly in his eyes. The alpha king sco ed, hiding his laugh. Laughing during an important meeting would be extremely disturbing so I kept my head down.	đ
It wasn't funny at all but Alpha Silvian was making it seem that way. "I will be fine." I said. His eyes hardened as I said those words. "You've	9 never experienced fighting in a war. How the hell would you know anything about it to make a bold statement like that?!"	a
I was shocked at his audacity to say that in front of everyone. In my castle too.	đ
"I know I don't have any experience fighting in a war, Prince Phoenix but I didn't train this hard for nothing. I am a royal fae and I possess the gi s of one. Gi s that can help us win. Moreover, what kind of a leader would I be if I just cowered inside my castle while my people and my beloved creatures risk their lives to save this world? What kind of a leader would I be if I hid myself knowing that I could have saved countless lives?" My parents smiled at me while the alpha looked at the Dark Prince	a and dragged his finger across his throat. He signaled something to the Prince which got him more irritated. The meeting room started to get hot.	đ
Oh no. Why did the Alpha King have to make the situation even worse?	a a
The elven King and my brother just watched as they were amused by all that was happening. Prince Zenas and his sister looked worriedly at their eldest brother.
"Do you know what's it going to be like tomorrow?!! It's going to be a bloodbath! Many will die like it or not and you can't save everyone-"
"I will try my best. I will give all that I have for my people." I couldn't just let him talk to me like this. A er looking at everyone in the room, I looked back at myself. "A er all these years I've finally understood the nature of who I am. I'm finally home where I belong. I'm with my family that I never knew still existed. So listen well, I will do anything to make sure I don't lose any of these again. You underestimate the love I have for my people and this kingdom.	a away. "But if you want me to sit this one out, that will not happen. I will do my part and I will contribute." My voice did not weaver.	đ
My sudden boldness caused his eyes to turn darker than they already were. He was pissed. Thank God I was surrounded by so many others. My father then cleared his throat.	a
"Is this unnecessary conversation over?" I nodded but I felt his heated gaze on me. Something told me this wasn't over. At least not for him. "Alright then, it's settled. All of us will be going to war no matter how dangerous it will be," my father eyed the Dark Prince and we all continued to make our final preparations for the next day.

That night.

I was busy making sure my armor was ready for tomorrow when I heard so knocks on my door. Fearing it was the prince I tip toed towards the door as silently as I could. The knocking got louder. Shit. If anything happens I could still scream my lungs out right? đ I opened the door and was pushed back by a strong wind. I closed my eyes and staggered back due to the force. Then it was silent so I fearfully opened my eyes and saw a pair of beautiful brown eyes staring back at me. I squealed and jumped on her. "INDIAAAA!!!!" "Yeap I missed you too!!!" she laughed. I pulled her in and closed the door. "We can catch up in a few minutes but there's this thing." Her tone changed. "What happened? Are you hurt?" "I'm fine Eve-" "Aeval. Aeval Florentine." I shook her hand and giggled. a "Oh. Oh wow okay." "Yup." "I like it. I like it very much and you look so beautiful, so bright and" she pinched my cheeks. "You have flesh!!!" "I do," I laughed. "What are you doing here?! "Oh nothing. I'm just this awesome witch and I wanna show what all of this is made of," she said pointing at herself in a bored tone. a I chuckled at how calm she was. India was something else. "So tell me what's the issue?" She pointed behind me. "They are." I looked back and my jaw dropped. That wind! It was them! Sitting on my bed were Prince Timothy and Kyle. ď I couldn't help the huge grin that plastered itself on my face. I rushed to Kyle and crushed him in a hug. Both of us fell on my bed. "Evie! Or Aeval, or whatever. Do I have to call you Your Highness or something now?" he asked. đ "No!! I forbid you to call me that. You're family! I missed you," I kissed his cheek. "My brave knight." a "You can keep calling me that." He hugged me tighter. "Not to be a mood spoiler or anything, but Kyle needs to tell you something!" India's voice kept rising. "Yeah, tell her," the young prince added. He's so adorable. "Tell me what?" "Weeeeell...." "Kyle what did you do now?" I demanded. From their facial expressions it didn't seem like good news. a "See, we're not actually supposed to be here," Prince Timothy spoke before Kyle could say anything. "What do you mean?" I sat up on my bed beside the little prince. "Tim and I received direct orders to stay in the castle. We snuck out and followed the Dark Prince here." Kyle ended and waited for my reaction. I stared back at him as I processed the information. "Nooooo!!! Why??!! O gosh, what is wrong with you guys?!" "Exactly." India backed me up. "He's going to hurt the two of you. Slowly and painfully!" "But we have you. We can count on you for it not to actually happen right?" the young prince asked hopefully. He was so damn adorable. I couldn't say no to that face. ď "Prince Timothy-" "Just Timothy, my sweet princess." He winked. đ I narrowed my eyes at the little vampire but I couldn't help but smile at him. "Alright Timothy, here's the thing. You are Prince Phoenix's youngest brother. He wanted you to stay back in Red Kingdom to protect you. You went against his words and put yourself in a lot of danger. The war is tomorrow young man. I have no idea what he's going to do to you once he finds out." His shoulders immediately slumped. a "So I'm taken care of because I'm your brother and you'll protect me from that scary vamp right?" "Kyle, both of you worked together. You're both gonna get it." ď "What?! Aeval you gotta help!" a "I will but I won't be able to be much help if he loses his temper. Alex and I will save Kyle but you," I pointed to Timothy. "You're his family. Wait! Your family is here!! Just run to your father Timothy!" a Why didn't I think of that? "I could but the problem is he made it clear to everyone in my family that I wasn't allowed to come. So I will get it from all of my family members. I'm also wondering how my mother has not realized that I'm not in the castle." "Prince Timothy, she probably found out the moment you le Red Kingdom," India rolled her eyes. "No way!" Timothy said adamantly. "My dear prince, it's been a whole day since we le . She should know that you're not there by now and why do you think the Queen hasn't called your father out of pure panic?" She was right. Queen Charlotte probably already knew they snuck out. Timothy looked even more defeated. I ru led up his hair. "Alright, both of you just come down for breakfast at four thirty in the morning. Just let everyone see you. I won't let them hurt you guys. At least not here. I cannot guarantee your fate once the two of you return to Red Kingdom though." đ "Yesss!!!" Timothy and Kyle hugged me tight. "Yeah, now let's go. We need to get to our room." "All three of you are in one room?" I asked her. "Yeah that's the best thing for tonight. I can hide them," I hugged India good night and sent them on their way. I could see she was having a hard time keeping them in check. "Kyle I swear if you don't quiet down I will let Rexamus step on you," I heard her grumble before I closed the door. ď I was pretty tired myself. I drank some water and turned the lights o . Snuggling myself into my comforter did not help me sleep. How could anyone sleep?! Why was I even trying? Tomorrow was filled with so many possibilities. What if we're not strong enough? No don't think like that!! scolded myself. I tried to close my eyes and relax but my heart was too stubborn to slow down its thumping. a I let out a heavy breath and tried to calm myself. The moment I closed my eyes there was a loud knock on my door. It was frantic. Kyle. ď I grudgingly walked to the door to invite my silly brother in. I hope he didn't get himself hurt in this short period of time. "I told you not to-" my voice faltered and disappeared at the back of my throat, not wanting to come out again. Fearing for my life. I slammed the door shut but it didn't close all the way. Looking down, I saw that the Dark Prince had put his foot at the corner of the door frame to prevent it from closing. ď Before I could react further, he pushed the door open, let himself in and closed the door shut. I gulped and looked around me not knowing what I was even looking for. "Brave little flower," he said lowly. His voice chilled me to the bones. I looked at his eyes and saw they had gotten darker. a⁵ "I...I said what I had to say, how I felt." "Yes you did and now there's nothing I can do to stop you from going to war!" his voice rose up. "A war!" he spat.

breathing. "You're in a lot of trouble Timothy. You're not getting out of this one." King Caelestinus warned.
"You're forgetting fucking blondie," the Dark Prince gritted out while pointing at Kyle.	ä
"Yes you too!"
"You will not punish them, I will!" Prince Phoenix said.
"Please he didn't mean any-" "He's right sweetheart. They must be disciplined." Everyone stared at Queen Aurora when she stopped Princess Aeval.	a
"It's not going to be all sunshine and rainbows today. We are at war. We are all going to be fighting in the battlefield. Who's going to look a er the boy? What if something bad happens or what if things get out of hand? These two should know the limits to certain things. Not everything is fun and games," the Queen spoke sternly. She even glared at Kyle and Prince Timothy.
"Finally, thank you." Prince Phoenix nodded at the queen.	å
"For now let them be taken underneath the castle along with the elderly and those who are unable to fight," the princess said trying to solve the problem as fast as she could. Maybe when all of this is over, they will forget about these two, she thought to herself. The Prince and Kyle made a face to show that they weren't pleased at all. Prince Alexander signaled for Kyle to keep his mouth shut and for the first time the boy obeyed.
"What was that?" King Caelestinus asked his second son to speak up.
"What? Nothing. I didn't say anything?" he mumbled. "What?!! You knew they were going to sneak out and you didn't tell our brother?!!" Princess Esmeralda spoke way too loudly. Prince Zenas paled as he stared at his sister dumbfounded. "Busted," the alpha snickered.	รือ รับ
"What the hell?" the Dark Prince demanded.	u
"What?!! Why are all staring at me?!! I didn't-" "You will be punished as well," he spoke with authority. Everyone else just kept quiet a er that. Princess Esmeralda wanted to burst out laughing but she held herself back. The alpha caught up with it and shook his head at her.	a"
"We move out now!! It's time!!" the Dark Prince ordered and everyone began to move.
"Missed the drama this morning Urien. Where were you?" the alpha king asked.	å
"Listening from the outside," came the Elven King's simple reply before they parted ways	å
All the leaders of their respective armies took their place on the battlefield all over Golden Haven. Once every single soldier and fighter stood in place, they waited in silence.	a
Not the kind that calms you down.
The kind of silence that was filled with anticipation and fear of the unknown. One could feel his or her heartbeat pounding in their head. The lack of sound was gripping their guts. A er a long period of time, the still air was shattered by the deafening howling of the wind that blew all across Golden Haven.	å
The Dark Prince and his army who were stationed upfront of the border readied themselves for the worst. He closed his eyes and focused on his sense of hearing. Seconds ticked by before he detected sounds of heavy footsteps.
Marching. Thousands of them.
"Brace yourselves!!!! Today we show them what we're made of! Today we know not of failure!! Only victory!! Once this war is over they will abandon all thoughts of conquering any other land!! At least whoever survives!!" with that he drew out his sword and faced whatever was to come. The ground was already shaking. Princess Aeval stood beside her father and looked at the thousands that were running towards the Dark Prince's army with full force.	đ
"This is it, my princess. Fight them will all you've got." King Sindrion told his daughter. That was the last thing she heard before heavy metal clashed with one another.
More of them were running towards the east. "Charge!!!" Prince Alexander yelled before leading his army. "Now Aeval!" her mother gave the order. The young princess flapped	å her wings and rose up to the sky. She connected herself with everything around her. Especially the giant trees that stood tall and proud.	å
'Ready yourselves!!she said the command in her mind. As the giant trolls were a few hundred meters away from the fae army, she stretched out her hand and li ed them upwards forcefully. 'Now!!'
Hundreds of thick roots sprouted out from the ground. A part of that few hundred made a strong fence at the front and the sides of the trolls, e ective trapping them within a border. The rest of the roots came up like vines, stabbing or circling themselves around the necks of the trolls killing them within seconds. The princess called upon more trees, and everything that lived in the forest of Golden Haven. Wild bird and animals heeded to her command. They killed every troll within their eyesight.	්
Once the trees did their job, it was all too easy for Prince Alexander's army to swamp them to bits.
Although the Dark Prince was doing all he had to do in the battlefield, he didn't miss the stunt that his Little Flower had pulled.
