

His Smile, Her Glow, My Betrayal Chapter 6 - Chapter 6

Chapter 6: Chapter 6

"I never agreed to this! What's the reason for our breakup? How can you just leave me in the dark like this?"

I looked at him with a cold smirk, "You don't even realize where you went wrong. That's why I want to break up. "

"You can just say it out if you have any dissatisfaction with me. "

But I did say it. And what did I get in return? Just "You're too willful".

I was wondering what kind of girl could remain indifferent when she saw her boyfriend being caring and attentive to another woman.

"Alex, I'm really tired. Stop entangling me pointlessly. Don't you think it's undignified?"

"Are you upset that I set off fireworks for Vivi that day?"

Look, even in this situation, he still used her pet name in such an intimate way while he just called me by my name.

Sometimes, I even thought Vivian was his girlfriend.

Nook a deep breath and asked calmly, "Do you know what day that was?"

Alex was confused for a moment.

I said, "That was my birthday, but I didn't receive your birthday wishes or gifts. All I got was your deception. "

"I... I apologize for lying to you, but I said that because I didn't want to make

I watched him silently, filled with disappointment.

I said so much, but he still didn't get the key point.

"I'm tired from working all day. Can I rest for a while, please?"

Alex hesitated, holding my wrist and reluctant to let go. "Bella, we..."

He didn't finish his words before his phone in his pocket started ringing.

Close enough to him, I could see the name flashing on his phone screen.

"Your Vivi is calling you again. Go see her. "

you angry. "

I pushed away his hand forcefully and turned around to go home without any attachment. Alex didn't chase after me. When I looked out the window, he was no longer in sight.

I pulled back my gaze and laughed at myself mockingly.

The next day, I arrived at the company and just sat down when my colleague came over with her phone.

"Isabella, have you seen the video of that couple? There's even a follow-up. "

I glanced at the video. Alex was facing away from the camera, his expression unclear, but Vivian, hugging him, had an unmistakable smile on her face.

The streetlights around were bright, and passing cars honked their horns as if providing a soundtrack for this beautiful scene.

"Ah, how romantic! The youtuber said she met this couple on her way home from work yesterday and thought the atmosphere was very romantic, so she recorded it. "

"Yes. Her boyfriend even spent a lot of money to set off fireworks for her, giving everyone in our city a chance to witness this feast. It's really enviable. I hope they will be happy. "

"They will definitely be happy. Look how much her boyfriend dotes on her. Maybe soon, we will hear the good news of their marriage. "

I listened to them, disappointment spreading in my throat like iced water to my stomach.

He was not incapable of love; he just didn't love me,

I saw through everything and suddenly felt relieved.

I responded with a smile, "Yes, they are quite a match. I hope as you wish they can get married soon. "

I hoped they would be together forever to avoid harming innocent people.
