Chapter 11

Sinclair's pov

I hear the door of my office creak open, hearing Amelia's voice as she walks through the door my eyes are wide open hoping she didn't hear our conversation.

I glance at Adonis quickly stuttering before returning my eyes back to Amelia.

"Amelia uhh" I was interrupted by Adonis who I could see a drop of sweat roll from his face.

"Uh uh nothing, we were discussing on how Sinclair here," Adonis describes pointing towards me "was planning on taking you on a date."

She stared at me, making me plant my knuckles on my desk squeezing them with a small grin at the corners of my mouth before adjusting my collar.

"Yes," I say confidently "I was planning on taking you out with everything that's been going on I just need a break from things" sheepishly smiling at her hoping she hadn't heard what we spoke about.

She stood there a few seconds putting one hand on her waist just staring at me and Adonis before saying "sure!" But it's getting late though.

"That means you should prepare" I say walking towards her to usher her out of my office, with a pat on her back I say "see you downstairs in 30mins" before closing the door behind her, I lean behind the door resting my head on the door with a huge sigh of relief.

"That could have gone horribly wrong" Adonis says wiping his sweaty face with his palm.

I move towards him, "no one can know about what we discussed, is that understood?" I say in my alpha tone "yes sir" Adonis says giving me a reassuring look.

"Now, I have to prepare for my date that you've set up for me" I say smiling because I planned to take her on a date anyway but just didn't know when, with everything that's been going on.

I leave to my chamber to prepare for my little date with Amelia, it was my only chance to finally get some alone time with her.

I changed clothes, into a black T-shirt and a black jean to go with it and a scarf for the cold, styling my hair in my usual left pattern I apply some cologne then pick up my silver designer watch from the table and apply it.

Stepping aside to look in the mirror as my shirt tightly holds up my muscle and my chest well printed on my shirt, I roll my fingers through my hair making it perfect before walking down stairs in my brown leather laced shoes.

Standing right in front of the door with my hands in my pockets, i glance at the stairs to see amelia slowly descend in an all black gown with shiny glitters from top to bottom.

I smile a little before I grab her hands and place a soft kiss on the back of her palm.

"You look amazing" I say putting a smile on her face.

"Ouuu, where are you guys going?" Rissa asks sitting on the couch with her legs crossed. Beside her was Nico who had his left arm around her neck and Lukas, Henry and Adonis sat on a different chair.

"We will be back shortly" I say looking at Rissa who couldn't stop smiling for some reason.

"Be careful" Lukas says with a bit of concern laced through his voice.

Bringing my arm out Amelia puts her hands between mine as I open the door to leave, she waves at them then blows a kiss.

Putting my other hands in my pockets and my scarf around my neck just like Rissa has, I exhale seeing my breath clearly as snow flakes drop from the sky.

The ground is a bit clear from the snow unlike it was earlier, at least I can drive, we walk towards the garage opening it to see my black colored Benz truck.

"I didn't know you had a ride like this" she raised her brows and shakes her head slowly.

I grin without saying anything as I open the passenger side door for her before walking to the driver's side to enter, I shut the door and looked into Amelia's hazel eyes and whisper to her calmly "are you ready?"

She smiles and nods her head then I start the engine and drove off.

It was a short drive into the city, I didn't want to take her on a regular date to eat at a restaurant, so I took her to the top of the biggest and tallest mountain in my kingdom.

I parked close to the edge of the mountain where we could clearly see the entire kingdom from our view, we got a few snacks along the way too.

We sat on the bonnet of my car, it was already dark, the lights from the houses from the city projected an ethereal scenery, as the wind blew making me shiver a little.

I look at Amelia who is sitted beside me "are you cold" I ask as she nods her head and nestled on me and I wrap my hands around her.

"Tell me more about yourself Amelia, you've never spoken about your mate, do you have a mate?" I ask making Amelia sigh heavily.

"I don't have a mate, the only one I had rejected me on my 18th birthday in front of everyone in school." She moaned out.

"That must have been hard for you" I say rubbing my palm on her shoulder.

"I really don't like talking about my past" she scowls

"Tell me about you instead oldy." She says punching my belly.

I grin and tickled her a bit "well I was created many centuries ago by my mom who is the moon goddess" I slowly explained "no way, your mom is the moon goddess?" Her eyes widened in surprise.

I shrug "yes and besides being a lycan I'm also immortal and have no siblings"

"Hmm, I have no siblings too" she raises her head to look at me.

"Then we've got something in common then" I say placing a soft kiss on her forehead.

"Yes Sinclair just that you're a million years older" she says laughing hard.

"Well sweetheart, you don't have to call me Sinclair, you can call me sin" she looks into my eyes and I stare back into her hazel eyes, I glance at her lips with red lipstick, as I lean in closer to her and place a soft kiss on her lips.
