

Chapter 14

Walking back into my room after dinner and our little meetup to talk about the journey tomorrow, my wolf hasn't stopped bugging me for a run, but I'm still holding the urge to shift into my wolf.

approaching my white room door, I sigh before I place my hands on the golden door knob to tilt it open, I roll my hands through my curly hair in an attempt to push my hair behind my ear.

I spot a figure from the side of my eyes, glancing up at the figure I see Sinclair's tall figure staring right at me from down the hall, I shiver in shock then place my hands on my chest.

He had this fire in his eyes like he had been missing something. He started walking towards me and I just stood and watched as he made his way towards me.

His eyes covered in lust over looking at my body the whole time walking towards me, when he approached me, he stood right in front of me resting his elbow against the wall and leaning closer to me he whispered "you look freaking hot Tonight" his eyes alone expressing his lust.

I giggled a "thank you" looking into his eyes, I felt the hit in the air about what was going to happen, I shyly brought my head down.

He used his fingers to raise my face up, "I've always imagined you pinned against the wall and screaming my name" he whispered, his face even closer to mine as he placed a soft kiss on my lips.

He holds me, leading me into my room and shutting the door behind him. He pulls me into his body and starts kissing me passionately, during which he removes my jacket and his shirt.

Chapter 14

His broad chest now visible and his eyes yellow as his wolf begins to take over, he pushes me onto the bed, kissing and rolling his hands through my body which causes me to moan out in pleasure.

He removes my underwear exposing my boobs then places a soft kiss on them, he sucks on them slowly and passionately making me scream out in pleasure, I place my hands on his back, my chest higher than the rest of my body as my head rests on the bed.

While he tried to unhook my jeans to take them off, a loud knock echoed through the room causing us to startle in shock.

We immediately jumped to our feet trying to dress as quickly as we could, the knock echoed through the room once more, "coming!" I yelled in response to the knock.

I walked towards the door still trying to catch my breath as I opened the door to see Lukas standing right in front of my door.

"Hey" he says in greeting with a small grin at the edge of his lips, "hope I'm not disturbing" he said looking over to Sinclair who stood with his arms folded and his clothes not well arranged "I was just leaving" he moaned out.

Walking past us without making any eye contact, I looked at Lukas who still had a grin on his face, "mind explaining what's going on between you and the lycan king?" he questioned his voice filled with curiosity as he glanced over my room to see my bed unkept, he nods his head "nice work ami" he says "it's nothing we were just" he interrupts me "just having a little fun?"

"You and the lycan?" He scoffs rolling his eyes "I'm not against it" he says raising his hands to the air.

"It's not what you think" I tried to debunk the clear allegations.

"It's alright" he says reassuring me "just be careful" he said his voice sending a sense of concern.

We walked out of my room before shutting the door. He turned to look at me to "get some rest" before shutting the door behind him.

I rolled my eyes and moaned out the frustration that lingered in my mind "ahh" Rolling my hands through my hair I glanced at my scattered bed knowing I have to rearrange it, I sigh before grabbing hold of the shits to arrange them.

I couldn't help but think about what might have transpired between me and the lycan king if Lukas hadn't knocked, I smiled at the thought while biting my lip.

After arranging my bed, I turned off the lights before laying down to sleep.

Waking up the next morning, it was the day when we went out to an enchanted forest in search of a woman who could provide us with answers to where the mist keeps appearing.

I slowly open my eyes, my vision blurred as I use my finger to clear my sight, still hearing the beeping sound from my phone I stretch to the cupboard To turn it off.

Falling back into the bed a heavy sigh escaped my lips "what a long day is gonna be " I muttered to myself.

Taking off the blankets I used to protect myself from the cold, I got on my feet and walked to the bathroom to prepare for the day ahead. After taking my shower I came out of the bathroom tying a towel then I heard a soft knock on my door.

Walking towards the door holding up my towel with one arm I opened the door to see Sinclair in front of it, "morning sweetheart" he said, making my heart skip a beat.

"Uh morning" I stuttered in response, getting silent in response from him. I looked into his eyes and I could see a bit of shame from last night.

His mouth gaped open but he couldn't utter any words, raising his hands mid air he said "I'm really sorry about last night, I was a bit carried away" he explained.

"It's alright" I whispered, placing a soft kiss on his cheek, making him grin.

"Well you're coming down for breakfast right?" He asked

"Sure I'll be right there" I responded, gesturing to him to shoot the door so I could dress.

After dressing I make my way down to meet the others, "hey" I say waving to everyone before taking my seat.

"Alright so what's the plan?" Henry asked, chewing on his fries.

"We go into the woods to find our forest princess" Rissa responds sarcastically.

"So how do we find her?" Nico asked, a bit concerned by his expression.

"According to the book, all we have to do is try and the forest will lead us right to her" Sinclair states firmly before taking a bite of his fries.

 +5 BONUS

Chapter 14

"My only fear is I just hope everyone comes back alive" he adds which sends tension throughout our bodies.

SURPRISE GIFT: 100 BONUS FREE FOR YOU

 GET IT

Comments

Support