Chapter 16

Amelia's pov

We took a break to rest for the night enjoying our snacks while sharing jokes amongst ourselves when the ground began to rumble, it was the black mist again.

I stood on my wobbly feet as the ground rumbled, it was like the earth was about to turn inside out, when suddenly the mist began to dash out from the nearest trees forming a circle around us which we couldn't escape, we formed a circle all our backs torching.

I picked up a brick close to my feet and threw it into the fast approaching mist but I didn't hear the sound of it landing.

"Stay close" Lukas ordered his voice hard.

It continued to draw closer and our bodies grew tighter together as the air around us became a mix of tension and fear.

I could see it circling us with no way of escaping, as it drew closer towards us, I tried to use my hands to create air to push it back by swinging my hands up and down, but to no effect and my hands got in contact with the black mist.

It pulled me into it and I yelled for help "lukas!" My voice trembling in horror of the black mist.

While I was getting swallowed by the black mist I could see Lukas struggling to help me, his eyes filled with disbelief, but sin held him to protect him from also getting captured like I was.

While I was inside the black mist, I could not see anything because of how dark it was, I tried to move but couldn't either, it was like I was floating, the rest of the mist gathered around me,

When suddenly I could see glimpses of a tall man, he was almost like a monster because of how big he looked, I tried to pick out his face but I couldn't and the image of the strange man vanished.

I was in total shock as to what was going on, I thought I was going to die when suddenly I felt my feet on the ground and the mist disappeared.

I immediately fell to the ground as I landed and my eyes slowly shutting as I slumped to the ground.

I could hear the voices of everyone as they ran towards me, but couldn't make out what they were saying.

In an instant everyone was around me trying to help me up, Lukas carried me up bridal style to place me on a mat set up by rissa.

Next thing i knew my eyes slowly parted as I looked around to see rissa by my side, her hands on my forehead.

"Are you alright ami?" Rissa asked as her words carried a mix concern and worry.

"I think so" I replied, trying to sit with my hands on my head furrowing my eyes, I felt like my brain was about to grow bigger than my head.

"Amelia, you're awake" sin said with concern, "how are you feeling?" He asked, walking towards me and squatting, his hands placed on my shoulders.

"I'm okay, just a little headache" I moaned

"What really happened to you, how come you didn't disappear like the others, do you remember what happened" Henry asked.

Narrowing my eyes trying to recall the incident that happened, I started calmly "it was really dark and I couldn't see anything, but there was this man," I paused expressing a confused look "he was really tall but I couldn't see his face."

"It's alright ami your safe now, we're just glad you're alright" Lukas said sincerely.

I nodded trying to get on my feet, I was put to a halt by Lukas, "no, get some rest" he said.

I lay down back to rest, drifting into sleep I see a man in my dreams, still couldn't make out anything of his face, walks closer to me, and i feel the allure to be around him, for some i couldn't resist him.

He placed a soft kiss on my lips, right before I woke up hesitantly with my hands on my chest.

Waking up it felt so real, I glanced at everyone who had already fallen asleep, I finally get the urge to shift and go out for a run.

I stand on my feet slowly walked away from where I had camped for the night in other not to make any noise to wake anyone up.

I went behind a tree to take of my clothes to a oid them get ripped while I shift, finally allowing Beth my wolf to take control.

I feel my bones crack as shift into my white wolf, I grabbed my clothes and placed them in my mouth and took off letting my instincts guide me.

I run for a few minutes letting out my frustration and and anguish clearing mind of any worry as I run faster, hearing sounds of cracking leaves from far behind I turn to look and I see a big black wolf running after me and I knew it was sin.

I kept running as he followed me, I got to a halt when I approached a river fall, i walked behind a tree to shift back and get dressed before sin got there.

When I walked out from behind the three, I spot sin standing a few feet away from me already shifted back and dressed.

He looked at me for a few seconds, the silence lingered in the the air as the sound of breeze and leaves where the only sound heard.

He broke the silence, "what's the problem? Why did you run off?" His voice firm but laced with a bit of concern.

"I'm fine sin, I just needed a run to clear my head!" I pouted making sin scoff to my tone, "clearing your head from what exactly?" He asked as the tension rose between us.

I turned away from sin to walk away but he followed me and grabbed my hand saying, "hey look, you can trust me ami I care so much about you" he said trying to kiss me but I turned my face away putting a frustrating look on his face.

Chapter 16

I just didn't want to get my feelings hurt, I worked hard to become the woman I am now and I didn't want to go back to the dark hole I fought so hard to escape from.
