

Chapter 19

Chapter 19

Lukas's pov

We walked just out of the train where Henry was standing, tension filled the air, as my wolf could hear the sound of heartbeat.

We stepped out of the train to see that we were in a different environment all of a sudden.

"Where the fuck are we" Adonis whispered. The sky was now dark with twinkling little stars, the ground was white and there was nothing on the ground looking as far as my eyes could see, it was as quiet as a graveyard, it was almost like we were on the moon.

"Everyone stay put" sin instructed, his eyes carrying a shade of fear and curiosity.

I have never experienced any such thing my entire life, maybe the witch is playing a game with us, that can only be the logical explanation as to why we are in a different place all of a sudden.

"what if this was another test" rissa mouthed, her voice trembling, nestled with Nico whose facial expression looks more or less confused.

"We need to keep moving if we want to find out where the hell we are," Sinclair said, gesturing to us to follow behind him.

I suddenly get this feeling and I could tell it was my alpha instincts kicking in and I can feel that this place is absolutely no good.

But staying in a particular place is as good as suicide even though we didn't know where we were or where we are headed, but sin was definitely right we had to keep moving.

"Stay close everyone" I say, stretching my hands out to comfort Amelia while turning in circles ensuring we were safe. Ever since I met her that night in the woods and accepted her, she's been like a little sister to me and I would never let anything bad happen to her.

We moved slowly and silently trying not to make any sound considering everywhere was dark and we could barely see far ahead of us.

We took out our weapons in preparation for the worst, the emotions between us was very tense.

We kept on moving on high alert suspecting that we were being tested by abia, I stood just behind sin with Amelia by my side and Adonis, henry, nico, and Karissa behind.

Sin got to a halt, "I think the ground is breaking" he said confusingly.

"What do you mean the ground is breaking?" I questioned my forehead furrowed.

Getting no response from sin who stood in front of me motionless, he yelled "run back!" Placing his hand on me and nudging us back.

Hearing a crackling sound coming from the front of us, the ground began to break fast as we ran trying to escape but the cracking was rapid and there became a chasm just where we once stood as we fell deep into the opening.

We fell into a place that looked like a cave, we all fell hard and struggled to get on our feet, glancing up I saw a man dressed in a black attire that covered his head down to his feet holding a long stick, all that was visible were his white glowing eyes.

As I slowly got to my feet, I helped Amelia who was whimpering.

Sin was already on his feet, "who are you and why have you brought us here?" He asked in his alpha tone, yielding no response from the figure in front of us.

Sin shifted into his wolf and growled deeply taking heavy steps trying to reap the man as he pointed the staff towards sin and he got trapped in a cage.

"Perfect he has magic" Amelia mumbled rolling her eyes.

The rest of us shifted into our wolves, growling as we ran to attack the figure in front of us.

He stood without fear and motion remaining speechless as he pointed the staff towards us and everyone teleported into the cage except for me and Amelia.

Amelia tried using her powers but it didn't work against the figure before us.

"What do you want?" I snarl.

He says nothing as he points his staff towards Amelia "her soul" he utters in a low tone.

"Not going to happen" I snap, as I grab a sword from Amelia as I aim and throw it at exactly the head, but it stops just in front of his head and drops to the ground, leaving my eyes wide and my mouth open.

Sin growls angrily as he tries to break free from the bondage of the cage but comes off with nothing.

"Give me her soul or you all die" it mumbles, as i stand in front of Amelia, i yell "not going to happen." My tone was hard as I spread my arms around Amelia behind me protectively.

It takes a step forward, points the staff to me. I reappear inside the cage with the rest leaving Amelia to defend herself alone.

"I guess I would have to take you out myself" Amelia mumbles, cracking her knuckles and growls shifting into her wolf.

She runs towards the man-like figure but before she could get close enough to make any contact it raises it's left arm towards Amelia and tightens the fists strangling Amelia in the process.

We all tried to break free from the cage, but even with our wolf strength it proved useless.

We watched as Amelia slowly got strangled and the man walked slowly towards her.

Amelia breathlessly mutters "help" as her eyes slowly close and she drops to her knees.

I was almost in tears seeing Amelia getting strangled.

"Take my soul instead" I offered causing the man to stop releasing a little growl

"Are you sure you want to offer your soul for hers?"

"Yes" I said "just let her go" my voice trembling as I was almost breaking a tear.

"As you wish" the man says, bowing towards us as the cage suddenly disappears and he lets go of Amelia saying "you pass the test." Before he vanished.

Rissa, already in tears, ran towards Amelia helping her stand on her feet "are you alright?" She says desperately.

"A test?" Adonis said as annoyance boiled on his face, "you have to be kidding me." He says placing his hand on his forehead.

Sinclair sighs heavily "what now" he says.

We all reappear in the original environment in front of the train before Abia's spirit appears before us saying.

"You have passed the test Lukas by proving yourself a worthy leader prepared to die to protect your friends, now who's next?" she let out a devilish laugh before disappearing.
