Chapter 9

"You mean all of us will be going into a creepy forest, where we have no idea what dangerous creatures could be there to risk our lives just to find a woman?" Rissa moans

"If you put it that way... yes, it's our only hope to finding solutions" Sinclair states

Listening to everyone exchange words in arguments on why we should and shouldn't go to an unknown forest in search of a woman we know nothing about, the sound of their voices echoing inside my head.

"Alright!" I yelled making everyone to come to a halt, "why are we arguing over some useless matter, we are werewolves and the reason we are all here is to find solutions to this freaking black mist thing, and this book already showed us a way and I'm sure together we can get through whatever is out there" I said exhausting every bit of air in my lungs.

exhaling Adonis said "she's right" putting his fingers on his eyes and rubbing in a slow motion.

"We don't have much time anymore, prepare your bags we're leaving in the morning" Sinclair instructed in his alpha tone before walking away.

"Since we'd be leaving for an evil forest tomorrow, why don't I show you around huh" Rissa said, winking at me, before grabbing my hands and pulling me off my sit, staggering behind her. I waved at the boys who just sat and watched us.

Walking through the door, the snow flakes dropped slowly to the ground already covered in snow, "no way we are walking with cold" I groaned.

"Stop being such a baby ami" she says, raising her brows and tightening her lips.

"BABY!" I yell using my hands to hug myself trying to keep myself warm.

"Come on, you're a werewolf and besides it's not so cold in the city" rissa says, taking a step at a time trying to escape the hip of snow on the ground.

Following behind Rissa, wearing just a top and blue jeans I hugged myself tightly as we manoeuvred our way through the snow.

"I should have stayed at home" I muttered

We walked down a hill leading to a bridge which leads to the main town.

"So ami, tell me what happened between you and sin earlier?" Rissa asks curiously

I try to hide the smile on my face by tightening my lips "nothing" I said

"Ami?" She gave me a glaring knowing I was lying

"Alright" I shake my head then sigh "well we were just talking that's all and I sat on his lap" turning my face in the opposite direction from rissa who I knew was staring at me

"I know something is up, I haven't seen sin like this in years" she says stroking her chin.

I didn't say anything else as we walked through the bridge to get to the city, I changed the topic because I wasn't comfortable talking about Sinclair.

"So tell me, how did you and Nico meet?" I say drawing my hands on the rail of the bridge.

Putting a small grin at the edge of her lips, "well me and Nico meet like 5 years ago, we were walking past each other on a crowded street and he knocked me over, then offered me a hand, when I grabbed his hands we both felt it, I mean my wolf was over the moon and from there we just got along till now I think it was destiny that brought us together, how about you?"

Instantly the smile on my face disappeared, taking a deep breath as my shoulders slumped. "Well not much though, other than I got rejected by my mate on my eighteenth birthday" I say, stretching my bottom lip out and knitting my brows together.

"Oh my gosh ami, I'm so sorry you had to go through such pain, I'm sure you'd find someone better" hugged me tight as we got to the other side of the bridge I said "it's fine really I'm over that son of a bitch" I pout.

"Let me take you to my favourite ice cream store" she smiles then grabs my hand as we walk together.

The city is quite cold but not as cold as the castle, it seems the snow isn't much here but I'm still freezing though.

We walk a few minutes silently. I just looked around the place with many buildings and people around. It's really noisy here, we finally made it to the ice cream store, opening the door, the bell sounds from the top of the door alerting everyone someone walked in.

Making our way to the counter, greeted by the waitress, who seemed familiar with rissa, she said

"I'll have my usual and my friend here will have"

"I'll have a strawberry and chocolate," I interrupted rissa.

We had our orders taken then we sat and waited for our ice cream.

"The city is really beautiful and rowdy" I said to rissa

"Yeah we have a lot of people here and tourists as well from around the world so it adds up" she replied.

We finally got our ice cream and just sat and enjoyed it in silence.

When we finished, we got up to leave the store then the ground began to rumble

"It's happening again," Rissa moaned.
