

PART -28

NANDINI POV:-

i went home and changed my clothes , ran to kitchen switching on all lights so that ghosts may not come to me . When i was child i had fear of darkness but once my cousins took me to graveyard in night to prove ghosts are real to me i didn't see any ghost but when am in darkness i feel some negative energy in darkness so i quickly switched on television and bought myself some dark chocolate from fridge . I sat on couch alone eating dark chocolate watching animated movies for few hours . Later i felt the need to study tom i have tests in college i lazily dragged myself to study room without switching o lights anywhere in home i sat on study table and studied for three hours till it was time for dinner manik didn't call yet so i grabbed my phone and texted him to call me and started making myself a dinner singing sons of earth.

ME- how is your mom?

MY MAN- she is alright no danger but am staying in hospital and i can't call you no charging babe.

ME- I don't need you around me all the time i get that manik ? so shut your phone and sleep because you have less charging and i have to text someone that is not you and take care of your mom am busy and tired let me be .

MANIK- ok i said that wrong i dont know about you but i need you around me all the times .

MANIK- i swear to god don't ignore my texts Ms.malhotra.

i ran to hall and unplugged the wifi just in case i get tempted to apologies to him or anything . i set twelve alarms at 4 am so that i could rush out of this dark big house before manik reaches . I never regretted things in life but manik makes me feel like its wrong to show him that i need him and it made me wish i was never ever secretly married . A part of me said its okay because he was in hospital with his mother really not well . [☺] i must check on her even if she hates me i thought as i slipped into a sleep where i dreamt that i gave my project late and so i can't pass my MBA now .
