

Her Revenge 101

Chapter 101

Maulda's pupils dilated, her gaze piercine

As they locked eyes, they tried to discern e shis be a selip to prevent her from closing the deal?

w's thoughts. ea's expression briefly showed a hint of sinister

Sell her artificial intelligence? Matilda was truly cunning. Though Matilda didn't understand artificial intelligence, she knew its valu

But since the technology came from Len, she naturally had control over it. Selling it required her consent.

Amidst their standoff, Matilda's phone buzzed. She answered the call.

Her subordinate said, "Mrs. Herry, they terminated the cooperation meeting

Matilda's expression darkened as she glared at tea.

the other party's Though she had returned midway, Matilda had immobilized the cooperation through a video conference with high-level executives. Her team was supposed to go over and verify the intelligent technology and sign the contract on her behalf.

Her subordinate added, "Their technical team found some intelligence codes they couldn't recognize while reviewing. They requested to talk to you, my person

After hanging up the phone, Matilda looked at Lea with an uneasy gaze.

Over the years, they utilized this intelligence technology to great success in both the Berry Group and Fraley Medical. Matilda had thought she had complete control over everything.

Realizing that Lea couldn't be manipulated anymore and that Mispayria had made significant breakthroughs in aviation intelligence. The gap was not so big anymore, each having its own advantages.

Choosing to cooperate with them would have boundless prospects.

But they said they encountered intelligence codes they couldn't recognize. At this moment, Matilda realized that she didn't have complete control.

Matilda glanced at Lea before walking away towards the hospital room.

As she left, Lea turned and clenched her hands tightly. Matilda's gaze made her feel her life was threatened.

After a moment of silence, Lea smirked slightly and entered the elevator

Arriving at the door, Matilda adjusted her hair and transformed her expression into her usual elegant demeanor.

With a creak, she gently pushed the door open. Ewan was holding his phone, messaging the private investigator he had hired at a high price.

Evan: What have you found? Send it all]

The private investigator: [We've found some evidence that your wife is indeed cheating. However, we've only scratched the surface. We need to dig deeper for safety reasons. Once we have everything, we'll send the data to you in a more secure Evan was anxious but had to comply with the detective's instructions.

Hearing the door open, he looked up and froze in fear as he saw Matilda. Despite her being the one in the wrong, he the wone who felt scared.

Thajmer 201

Looking at this splendid woman, he was unexpectedly so afraid

However, she was the one who had an affair, the one who was in the wrong, and the one who should be afraid.

Seeing him frozen in place, Matilda paused for a moment.

How did this happen? She approached him calmly, reaching out to touch him.

Then, Ewan instinctively pushed her away, slipping he wider the covers with his other hand.

He said "Don't touch me with your dirty hands, Matilda"

Thinking of his unborn child and her affair, Ewan found her repulsive

Judging from Helen's age, Matilda was already pregnant when she married him. She and her lover were before him.

How thin. Under this beautiful and elegant appearance was a frail woman

Matilda exclaimed indignantly, "Ewan, how many women do you have outside? Can you count them? What right do you have to criticize me?"

Her eyes contained scrutiny as if trying to see through him.

She had no feelings for him, and she didn't care about these things at all. Otherwise, she wouldn't have endured until now.

Ewan stared at Matilda, unable to say anything due to feeling guilty. His eyes were filled with anger and hatred.

"Let's not talk about that for now?" Matilda softened her tone. "The most important thing now is to heal your body. Christian is getting old, and I'm still an outsider. The Berry Group's vast business still needs you as the head of the Berry family to support it"

Ewan hesitated for a moment but quickly showed a fierce expression

Previously, he would have believed Matilda and listened to her. But now, he knew her ambition. He was more afraid of losing everything, afraid of death, and would definitely not trust her again.

“Go to Fraley Hospital, Matilda persuaded when he calmed down a bit. “It’s our own hospital with abundant resources. They can prioritize arranging a kidney donor for you. Nothing is more important than your health.”

Ewan sneered. “Can Fraley’s medical level compare to here? Haven’t they embarrassed themselves enough recently?”

After two days of treatment, his body had improved a lot. His trust in this hospital deepened.

Matilda was stunned and her face darkened.

Donna’s incident at Riverview Hospital had overshadowed Fraley Hospital, gaining fame and reputation. This enemy was indeed powerful.

These things weren’t so urgent. The most important thing now was her issue with Lea.

“What do you want?” Matilda lost her patience.

“My affairs are none of your business” Ewan was afraid she would harm him.

“Ewan, don’t be so childish. We are a married couple. We are one she said in a tough and domineering tone.

He sneered. “We are indeed a married couple. Find a kidney donor for me. You don’t need to worry about other things.”

With that said he ignored being owing her the cold treatment as well

Matilda stentily scolded for a moment, but saving he was else she was exhausted, and many important things were waiting for her so she left

Ewan’s reaction was indeed different from usual, Matilda was sure he had noticed something but didn’t directly expose it. He must be plotting, something

Although this matter was urgent, Lea’s threat to her was too great now. She had to deal with it first.

Ewan refused to transfer to Fraley Hospital. Matilda in a night in several servants and assistants from home to take care of him. He hurried at them but didn’t drive them as

11 Matilda suspected anything she would strike first

After school Lea came to see Ewan. Now, she seemed to be trying hard to please her father, the head of the Berry family.

She glanced at the servants inside and outside the ward. She smiled while watching Ewan drive them out with a contented look

Lea asked “Do you think you can hide your little thoughts from her?”

“Helen was sent to Fraley Hospital after you beat her. After dealing with the wounds on her face, she was taken away by more than a dozen senior bodyguards Lea continued. “She was taken to one of Matilda’s private residences, under 24-hour surveillance, completely airtight. Why is that?”

Ewan suddenly felt like a bucket of cold water poured over his head, instantly sobering him up.

Lea asked, “Don’t believe it? You can go check to see if she’s at home.”

Lea could see through Ewan with just a glance.

This rich heir, who had been raised in a wealthy family, had been depressed because he had married a woman he did not love. He had spent most of his life indulging in eating, drinking, playing, and women.

He was far inferior compared to Matilda’s intelligence and wit

In the past life. Ewan was schemed against and ended up dead.

Ewan quickly took out his phone, ready to call and ask the servants at the evilla if Helen was at home. But soon he realized. the servants at home were all managed by Matilda. Who should he ask?

Seeing him rack his brains, trying to find a trustworthy servant from his home, Lea had to remind him again, “Did my mom ask you why you beat Helen?”

Lea knew Matilda didn’t ask. After all, this was her territory, filled with her informants. From Ewan’s reaction, she could tell.

“Considering her extreme love for Helen, you disfigured Helen, and she didn’t even lay a hand on you. Lea paused for a moment, giving Ewan time to think.

“Why?” She paused again, giving him enough time to think before saying the last sentence with emphasis. Take care, Dad”

Ewan had a sudden realization.

Matilda came to see him to test his reaction. What was she going to do?

She had always been willing to do anything to achieve her goals, not even sparing unborn children. What else was she capable of?

For self-preservation, to achieve her goals, she would kill him!

This damn woman dared to have such thoughts. He had to kill her first.

Lea glanced at Ewan, and he finally fully realized what was going on. Lea could imagine his fate in her past life.

He was betrayed, cheated on, raising someone else’s child for eighteen years, the fate of those unborn children...

All of that, combined with his current situation.

This couple had completely turned against each other, just as she had planned. Lea had achieved her goal.

Chapter 102

Lepped

of them

the under lens wating in pick her up was parked night ouride the inpanest bajking. She primed (u pesenger Aweaking her rests up with jor

Atend sexi väring in the ever eat the old warmly and renderlying him brat to goal her n get in

Les her dimm sint que les feeling the pening of her heart and tation Sing her chest thod shows ugy pet several times and that relings and happiness was dertil. This mit be wh been in lose bellore and bad keng paved ite

Bee romance. Her calm beart was now stirred and she felt:

Lura

Toving been reboen for most a month now Lea had spent my nights alone in her nightmares feeling kagefal pen crawling back from bell rather than a normal Irving pervofi

The feeling with Ued around was so good

Aled with a smile, she asked Why are you here

Atred had already deven onto the road heading towards the Berry Mansion with the cityscape moving past the car need to go to verion heading to look at her with eyesfilled with reluctance.

When are you leasing Lea abe felt reluctant, wishing she could watch him twenty–four hours a day. However, compared

Monday among be replied, gang at her again His expression became solemn Tm sorry I might not be able to be with you for the SAT :

The SAT exam on Tuesday. He had stayed here intending to be with her for the exam

Les cursed and gave ed assuring smile. You don't need to stay. Don't worry. I do well

Her knowledge far exceeded the scope of the SAT exam She had always been a serious student. In the past month, she had Given this excellent opportunity, she was determined to give it her all and do her best

Yes I know” Alfred said not wormed

Alfred dropped Les off at the Berry Mansion and left only after watching her enter through the large iron gate

Ewan was prepared and diet dare to act rashly against Maci

Matilda too, remained inactive she laid out her plass and dealing with ber SAT exam.

Courode Bern family. Lea w cised on preparing for the SAT
On Montana

Lei was reviewing for the SST in her bedroom. After finishing half of her review minerals, she rubbed her forehead and glanced at the clock on her desk

After a minute of conception, she picked up her phone and called Jason Take me to the airport
Half an hour later as the car approached the apartment Lea's glanced on her laptop Where is Mr Alfred
The just left, and it will be another forty minutes before he arrives," Jason replied, glancing at Lea in the backseat through the rearview mirror, raising his eyebrows.

Her anxious rush from the mansion to the airport made her look like a girl deeply in love.

"Oh. Lea realized she had arrived early. "Let's park outside and wait.

Jason replied. "Okay"

The black Mercedes-Benz luxury modified car was parked at the airport entrance. Lea lowered her head and started working on her laptop again.

In the car, only the sound of her fingers tapping rapidly on the keyboard could be heard, a pace that set hearts racing

Forty minutes later, Jason received a message from Craig. He said, "Miss Berry, Mr. Alfred has arrived."

Lea quickly closed her laptop with a snap and turned to look out the window, just in time to see a black SUV approaching. It was Alfred.

She pushed the door open and got out of the car,

"Mr. Alfred. Craig, who was driving, glanced at his phone and said. "Miss Lea is here to see you off.

Alfred was handling business in his smart notebook when he heard this. Looking up, he saw a figure stepping out of the car ahead.

His gaze was immediately captivated.

Lea wore a white strapless petal dress, adorned with light yellow flowers that cascaded down the skirt. Her exposed shoulders and neck, paired with her flawless skin, gave her an air of pure yet charming elegance,

Her long, straight black hair was parted to the side. A pink diamond hairpin above her ear highlighted her exquisite features and noble demeanor.

Lea got out of the car and walked towards Alfred's car. After just a few steps, a group of people suddenly surrounded her

"Look, it's a beauty!

"She's so beautiful!

“Wow, my eyes are blinded by her beauty!”

“Quick, let’s take a picture. This will be the highlight of my social media for a year?”

“Is this gorgeous girl a famous star?”

The discussion kept going.

Then, a crowd of men and women swarmed Lea, asking for photos and autographs, even more frenzied than welcoming a top celebrity

Lea was stunned by such a scene for the first time. She didn’t like being the center of attention in public, especial when she was here to see Alfred off. She frowned, feeling annoyed by the delay

This way. A pleasant voice reached her ears, and her wrist was gently pulled. She turned her head to see Alfred

Before they could be surrounded, Alfred led her into the lounge

“So handsome!” a girl screamed.

already caused a sensation with her beauty. Adding Alfred to the mix made the crowd of admirers go wild

a frenzy

Craig Jason, and the accompanying bodyguards blocked the entrance

“Hey, we just want a photo and an autograph. We mean no harm and won’t bother them.”

Tina went scout. I want to talk to them”

Craig and Jason were rendered speechless

In the VIP lounge of the waiting area, Alfred let go of Lea’s hand. Her hand remained in its previous position, her palm burning hot like it was on fire.

Alfred turned to look at her and paused, his heart skipping a beat. At this moment, she looked like a young girl experien love for the art time, making him want to cherish and protect her.

Lea clenched her hand, trying to cool her palm. She looked up at him with eyes full of passion and pride. “Alfred, you are really handsome”

His gaze intensified, and he leaned in his long fingers caressing the corner of her eye, searching her eyes. “How handsome”

Lea held his hand, pressing her face into his palm. She carefully studied his features. “So handsome that I want to keep for myself, to hide you away”

In a split second. Alfred turned and pressed her against the wall, lowering his head to give her a deep kiss, pouring out his intense emotions.

The fierce and deep emotions took Lea by surprise. The man in front of her didn’t seem like someone she had known for just a month, but rather someone she had known for a long time

She quickly became breathless from the kiss, her eyes half-closed, her eyelids fluttering like butterfly wings, and in her blurry vision, the man before her became the Alfred from her past life.

The one who had silently protected her, and loved her deeply without words, making her heart ache with affection.

Through life and death, through time, he had come to be with her.

Lea was so breathless that her mind went blank, unable to think Instinctively, she wrapped her arms around his neck, returning the kiss. She went from passive to active.

Alfred's half-closed eyes suddenly opened wide. his gaze trembling with emotion.

Chapter 103

After a moment, he lowered his gaze, lost in Lea's heat and kiss.

When Craig and Jason arrived, they saw the couple intertwined like vines, inseparable. They blushed and quickly retreated, ting guard at the door.

dle, the kissing couple finally stopped.

Alped beat his long legs, pressing his forehead against hers. Their eyes had radiant gaze, and their breaths were mingling.

w you, I

Alfred panted and sand in a hoarse voice, "Lea, you are the most beautiful woman. From the moment I first saw wanted to possess you, to make you mine forever"

It had nothing to do with who she was, what talents she had, or what kind of soul she possessed. It was simply because of her

Lea looked up, her breathing heavy. Her eyes were wet and filled with intense desire.

Knowing what he had done for her in her previous life, he had long become her obsession. How could she withstand such teasing now!

Lea's look instantly shattered Alfred's restraint.

Alfred moved closer, pulling her into his embrace. He controlled himself with great effort, putting his cheek against hers.

Do well on your exam tomorrow, We have a long future ahead

"Okay.." Lea's voice was hoarse and unsteady, clinging to him, gradually calming the heat in her body.

Twenty minutes later, Alfred boarded the plane. Lea stood outside the airport, watching the plane take off and disappear into the clouds. At dusk, the summer sky was filled with dazzling clouds.

On the plane, Alfred told Craig, "Contact Eddie and move everything ahead. Finish it before dawn. I need to come back “Why the hurry?” Craig asked, puzzled.

Alfred replied, “To accompany her for the SAT exam!”

Craig was stunned Alfred, who was always strategic and composed, had turned into a man lost in infatuation.

Lea watched the plane disappear completely into the clear sky before getting into the car. Jason drove her back “Let me know when Alfred arrives in Iverton, Lea said.

Given Alfred’s status and the fate he met in his previous life, she couldn’t help but worry about his safety.

Jason replied, “Okay, Miss Lea”

It was already dark by the time they returned to the mansion. Christian had just returned from work for dinner, and Lea joined him.

At the dinner table, he gave Lea ample psychological support, but her experiences and temperament made such help

The SAT exam was a minor issue for her, though she still appreciated Christian’s concern

After dinner, Lea went upstairs to finish a bit more review.

Lea

When she fangled congrues Abheagh was already very late he will send her s

Les Mi Alfred) as safely strived in frerion |

ind

If

There was a reply from Les after nearly ten minutes. Having spent some time with her, Jason knew her babies if the

Jason waited

The minutes, but still no response. He began to worry

Frowning 1

number, but was met with, “Sorry, the number you have dialed is powered off

Lea never turned on her phone Jason’s heart sank, and he quickly grabbed two bodyguards and headed to the mansion

The servants quarters were about 300 feet from the main house. He arrived quickly Candice Blunt greeted him when he entered the hall. “Jason, what’s the matter?”

Candice was 45 years old and was a new chef hired to replace Melina

She was preparing ingredients for breakfast the next day, wat to make a good meal for Lea on her day

Jason said. "Miss Lea left her workbook in the car. I'm bringing it to her. She needs it."

Candice responded. "I see."

"Where is Mr. Berry Jason scanned the hall as he asked.

"He had to go to the company for some urgent business. He won't be back tonight," Candice replied

Jason frowned. Christian had returned home after dark and had dinner with Lea. Why would he need to go back to the company

He quickly went upstairs and knocked on the door. "Miss Lea, are you there? Miss Lea?"

Jason called out a few times but received no response. Growing anxious, he pushed the door, only to have it bounce back. It was locked from the inside.

He pounded on the door. "Miss Lea" Still no answer.

Then, Jason kicked the door open forcefully

The room was dark, illuminated only by the garden lights filtering through the glass window. He could immediately tell the room was empty. The bed was neatly made, and her phone was on the bedside table. It was powered of

He quickly called Alfred "Mr. Andrews, Miss Lea is missing!

At the airport in Iverton, Alfred was about to get into the car when he heard the news. He stood upright. "What?"

Jason explained the situation. "Mr. Andrews, should I inform Mr. Berry to start a search"

Alfred said, "No need to inform him Ill call Norman Hess. You start looking for her and notify Chris

She disappeared from the Berry Mansion Christian's resources were limited compared to his. Alfred had to handle this personally.

The would call Sammi Hess, Ison was shocked that meant they had to use military connections in Vaporleon City

Yaking minely Before son rout. mish, Aird had already ended the call and dialed another number.

Me and "Neman, use all your connections Vaporleon City to help me find someone.

" The vance on the other end was deep

Right now,

medhotely. You must find th voice was filled with a rare pleading tone.

ommanding, a soldier's voice. "Who is so important to you?"

Alfred urged, his mind focused solely on locating Lea. "Please!" His

On the other end, Norman was stunned. The powerful and seemingly indifferent heir of the Andrews family was begging for help I showed just how important this person was to him.

Norman–replied. "I understand. I'll arrange it right away."

After hanging up, Alfred turned to Craig. "Arrange a private jet. We're heading back to Vaporleon City immediately."

Craig looked surprised. "Mr. Andrews, what about the matters here?"

The situation required immediate attention. Besides, Norman was already handling things in Vaporleon City. Their presence there might not make a difference.

"We're leaving now! Alfred's eyes were filled with determination. It was a command.

Craig felt a jolt of realization, understanding Lea meant more than anything to Alfred.

Craig replied. "Yes, I'll arrange it right away."

Chapter 104

hile, in Berry Mansion of Vaporleon City

the phone, Jason was drenched in sweat, eone right under his nose was a serious failure, and if anything happened to Lea, it would be his responsibility. Hewn more desperate to ensure her safety.

When he came downstairs. Candice heard the commotion and was still waiting in the hall.

She asked, Jason, did something happen?"

"Nothing" he replied hastily, rushing out the door and calling Chris.

As soon as Chris heard that Lea was missing, she immediately mobilized everyone available to start the search.

In the president's office at Riverview Hospital, Chris watched as several technical staff members, who were also hackers, investigated the surveillance system around the Berry Mansion. They were looking for clues.

person couldn't just vanish without a trace. They should be able to find some clue that led them to Lea. However, they were short on people.

Chris quickly left the office and took the elevator to the inpatient department, knocking on Donna's room.

Shannon had just finished studying for her exams and had everything prepared for the next day, including her admission ticket and stationery.

She was about to go to bed, knowing a good night's sleep was crucial for performing well.

Hearing the knock, she opened the door, only to be pulled out by Chris, who closed the door with a bang.

Chris said, "Come with me, there's an urgent matter to handle.

“Urgent” Shannon looked down at her small white floral pajamas “Can I change my clothes first?”

Chris snapped, “Lea is missing!”

Shannon froze for a moment, then ran faster than Chris, reaching the president’s office swiftly.

Chris seated her in front of the computer. Lea disappeared from Berry Mansion. Start by checking the road surveillance system.

“Okay.” Shannon’s voice trembled as her hands shook on the keyboard, tears streaming down her face.

She prayed in her heart, Lea, you must be safe. We promised to take the SAT exam together, go to Conrad University, move to Iverton, and embrace a brighter future,”

After enduring so many hardships, they were finally close to achieving their dreams. How could Lea... She had to find Lea.

Shannon wiped her tears and sweat, steeling herself to start the search.

Besides checking the surveillance around Berry Mansion, she also pulled up footage from Berry Villa and Fraley Hospital headquarters to track the movements of Matilda, Helen, and Nixon. These were the people who had significant enmity with Lea and might harm her.

Shannon even hacked into the electronic systems of Berry Villa and found Matilda and Helen asleep, while Nixon was working late in his office. Everything seemed normal.

She stood behind her, following the same line of thinking

Later in Beton, Alfred carded a private jet bound for Vaporicon City to that short time, he had managed to mobilize search teams to thoroughly scour Vaporicon City. He made a call.

Under the vast night sky

the president’s

Vaporicon City was rife with hidden dangers.

Hospital, Chris’s phone buzzed. Seeing it was from Alfred, she stepped aside, answering “Have you found her?” Alfred’s voice was low, but the concern couldn’t be completely masked.

Chris turned to the people in the office. “How is it?”

All of them said no,

She turned around and looked at Shannon

“No.” Shannon couldn’t bring herself to speak, afraid that if she did, she would break down into sobs. Tears streamed down her face, and she was terrified, consumed with worry.

Chris's eyes turned wet too. She steeled herself, focusing her attention back on the search. "Keep going she commanded.

more than ever, they couldn't let emotions affect their efficiency

The team continued their work, and the rapid tapping of keyboards soon filled the office once more

Jason received another call from Alfred

I've checked everything here. There's no trace, Jason reported.

Not all information could be accessed through electronic surveillance, so Jason had personally scoured every entrance and exit around the Berry family estate. There wasn't a single clue.

Jason said, "I keep looking, and I'll inform you as soon as I find anything

Then, Alfred called Norman.

Norman reassured. Don't worry. I've deployed military reconnaissance drones. We'll find her."

Hanging up. Alfred turned to look out the window.

The private jet flew above the clouds, deep into the night, surrounded by endless darkness.

His hand clenched around his phone, veins bulging and his entire body trembling involuntarily as tears welled up in his eyes Regret consumed him

He was so regretful that he wanted to strangle himself.

He should have stayed in Vaporleon City, guarding her closely during the SAT exam

Another half hour passed, and the team searching for Lea had scoured the city again. The city's communication channels "were filled with anxious voices ids, her vision began to clear. As she took in her surroundings, her pupils contracted in shock and terror

In the veil Lea saw herself lying on an aluminum table, her limbs rendered immobile by some drug. She was completely paralyzed, like a lamb waiting to be slaughtered.

Although her body was immobilized, her mind was clear, and she could feel every slight change in her surroundings

The room's temperature was close to freezing. The drug's effects soon made Lea understand her situation. She was in sealed space, completely isolated from the outside world.

"Oh, you're awake so soon!" A voice filled with excitement reached her ears. A face appeared above her, peering down in surprise. "No one has ever woken up so quickly under the effects of this drug. You truly are extraordinary"

Lea's pupils dilated again in shock. She recognized this face from the organ trafficking scandal at Fraley Hospital in her past life.

He was Frank Connor, a seasoned surgeon and medical doctor at Fraley Hospital.

He was in his fifties, tall and thin with prominent cheekbones. He had a high nose bridge, and eyes hinting at ancestry from

Ostern

Dressed in a white lab coat, he exuded a disturbing aura of madness.

Lea had a rough idea of her situation. She tried to close her eyes to calm herself but couldn't even move her eyelids. Thinking of the drug, fear and dread surged within her once more.

Chapter 105

“Marclooi!” Frank cuclaimed, looking into her eyes with delight the Creator it truly great.”

Ten sam the excitement building in his eyes like an addier getting his fix. He said her fear was marvelous.

Lea's eyes moved upwards, suddenly understanding the purpose of the mirror

Tou That was what Frank wanted. Her fear was the drug he sight.

gaze gradually calmed down. Fear?

Lea couldn't help but feel grateful to Abigail now. Abigail had taught her what fear was in her previous life, making her (endure along ordeal of pain and terror. No matter how terrifying, it was nothing compared to that Seving Lea's gaze calming down, Frank was like a junkie interrupted mid-high. His hunger almost drove him crazy, his whole body suddenly filled with a savage aura.

Soon, he laughed. Everyone lying here ultimately presented their fear perfectly to him, without exception. It had only just begun

“This is the most beautiful skull I've ever seen. he said, running his fingers along her hair. inch by inch, like an artist admiring a masterpiece.

His fingers moved downwards, touching her brow bone.

Frank said. “Though you're just a high school student, you must have studied human anatomy. I can feel the shape, size, and even the bone density of your brow bone.”

His fingers were icy cold. Their touch was eerie, sending shivers down the spine.

If Lea's muscles weren't restrained, she would surely be trembling now,

Although she knew what fear was and was brave enough, fear was still an instinct. But she couldn't show it. She couldn't let him have what he wanted. She had to stall, buy time, and seek a way out Frank's hands continued downward, like instruments, examining each of her organs.

He exclaimed. “Every one of your organs is perfect. You're the masterpiece of the Creator, a perfect woman Lea's gaze followed his movements, telling him she wasn't afraid. He inspected her organs, speaking disturbing words, occasionally meeting her gaze. It was like a battle.

His fingers brushed past her toes. When his patience was exhausted, he became frustrated. He took a deep breath and then calmed down a bit.

Fascinating Frank gripped the edge of the table with both hands, staring at Lea

“Not only are you the most beautiful woman I’ve ever seen, but your soul is also astonishing. No one lying on this operating table can be as calm as you, without fear, without shedding a tear. Among the many chosen ones, you’re the first Frank was attracted to, “You’ve surprised me too much. Soon, he frowned, deep in thought.

He said, “You’re just a high school student. This shouldn’t be. I’m curious about what kind of experience made you like this. I want to know. Unfortunately, I can’t let you live to study you. Because tonight, you must die.”

Frank’s hands moved over Lea’s body. His expression turned solemn, and his eyes had a hint of ruthlessness, revealing a batcher-like expression:

“Oh, by the way! You probably still don’t know why you’re here, do you?” With that, he turned a mechanism, raising the table

Then, a monstrous figure over 0.50 feet tall came into view. It was a human body!

Frank flipped a switch, and a bright, unique light illuminated Lea’s position from behind the body. From Lea’s position, she could see it the clearest. It was stitched together from human body parts like hands, feet, torso..

ched lines were grotesque yet organized. They were almost identical in size and shape, indicating the perfectionism con who did the stitching.

Frank lifted a corner of the cloths, revealing a row of instruments working below, displaying the vital signs of the

As a doctor, Lea naturally understood. Her pupils widened in shock and astonishment.

“You’re truly amazed by my masterpiece, aren’t you? Frank burst into proud laughter, his eyes bulging with excitement,

He exclaimed, “Isn’t it amazing? She’s actually alive!”

Lea was stunned. In her previous life as a leading researcher, she had witnessed many advanced medical technologies, but she had never seen such a spectacle before.

However, she quickly regained her composure. Limb transplantation technology had been studied for over a decade

In her previous life, she had led a team that matured this technology and promoted its use in the seventh year of the future.

Now, Riverview Hospital was already researching this technology, guided by her. It would take at most two to three years before it could be widely implemented.

Therefore, Frank's skills were not too far ahead. But Lea didn't show her emotion.

"That's right!" Frank walked over to the body, excitedly introducing her. "She's alive. She has life."

He caressed them gently as if caressing a lover. "Look at her legs, her arms, her abdomen... These were taken from different, bodies. Every organ, every part, is perfect."

He added. "When I removed them from the original body, they were alive, preserving the vitality of the original organism."

With these words, Frank looked into Lea's eyes. He tried to instill terror in her heart, to trigger her instinctual fear, the fear he desired.

Alive? If Lea's facial muscles could move, she would only sneer.

She had performed too many heart transplants and other organ transplants and had harvested important organs. With her experience and mental strength, she could handle it..

Lea's reaction disappointed Frank but also amazed him.

Frank thought she was too interesting. When a soul like hers was subdued, the fear it showed must be the most wonderful in the world.

Frank's expression turned serious, and he turned to face Lea solemnly and arrogantly.

He exclaimed, "I'm not just a doctor. I'm a creator! This is the new species I've created, the Floater."

Frank's eyes gradually turned red, venting, proclaiming, accusing "People all have their cowardice, selfishness, vulgarity, and rewan Thee quien me complain about me aneme, feat my work, and delay my inventions"

blame

He became more actuated. "They're too stupid, south too many

with fli

Frank looked at h bering"

He reached out

hend and heart omo

ational united gently. "Bot the Floater ve created has none of humanity's flaws. She is a perfect , coming to stand in front of Lea You've seen it too. She doesn't have a head or a heart."

Lea's head again Tve finally found the right head and heart for her. Once I transplant your he will truly come alive. The history of humanity will begin a new chapter."

Lea's eyes wald, shifting her gaze to the Floater's body. Frank wanted her head and heart!

Chapter 106

Frank's lingers noved to Lea's heart and pressed down hard. He could feel her heart beating

He said. "Such a beautiful brain and heart. It will give my Floater magnificent soul."

Lea winced as his fingers pressed against her chest.

Her ability to perceive pain was heightened, too intense for someone about to undergo such torture. She couldn't move an inch, beads of sweat forming on her forehead.

"Oh, my goodness! I'm so happy, so excited!" Frank exclaimed, raising his hands to hold his head, attempting to calm himself down

He said, "I must be quick. This is not a simple task. It's not just about transplanting your head and heart. It's all the organs in your body, even your skin, hair"

He flipped the switch, lowering the table, preparing to begin.

He kept babbling, "I also need to model your head to create new templates for plastic surgery. Nowadays, plastic surgery only offers a few templates, resulting in a limited variety of appearances. People are tired of it."

Frank smiled eerily. "But you're different, you're too beautiful. Imagine if all those plain-looking women could be transformed into someone like you. The aesthetics of the world would improve, and people's eyes would be saved"

He continued. "Your skin will be transplanted to a wealthy heir who suffered extensive burns in a car accident. Your hands, so beautiful, will go to a talented pianist. Someone is eagerly waiting for your legs. You don't need to worry about limb transplantation. No one in the medical field can do it, but I can!

"My Floater is the best proof of that. Your kidneys have also been reserved by someone. He paused for a moment and then continued. In short, every organ in your body will be put to good use. But first, I must harvest all your organs! That's their condition

Lea's vision darkened. If her eyelids weren't under control, it would have been a closing motion.

Soon, her vision became clear again.

It turned out that Matilda and the others wanted to kill her in this way. They handed her over to this psychopath, this lunatic, this murderer...

Throughout history, she couldn't think of a more cruel way to die.

Frank joked. "Oops. I talked too much again. It's been an old habit since I started my PhD. I've been a lecturer at the medical school."

He was observing Lea at the table. It wasn't accidental. He deliberately said so to stimulate her, to make her afraid.

There was indeed fear in her eyes, but it was far from enough.

He was almost losing control. But he couldn't. This girl was incredibly clever. Once he lost control in front of her, she wouldn't fear him anymore.

Frank wanted her head, her heart, and every organ from her body. But more than that, he wanted her fear, like a junkie, waiting for his dose.

Lea stared into his eyes, her eyes were like a black hole, swallowing all emotions.

She couldn't be afraid. She couldn't show it. Otherwise, he would immediately dismember her.

But as she provoked him, Frank's anticipation grew stronger. She was such a fearless person. When she started to get scared he couldn't imagine how intense and delightful her fear would be.

Little beauty, let's begin! With a swish, the black leather case of surgical knives opened, revealing dozens of scalpels laid

A variety of different-sized scalpels from around the world were in his collection

Under the cold white light, they gleamed, reflecting a chilling light. With a scrape, he drew out a long, slender surgical knife: and held it in front of her eyes.

"Where shall we start? How about your feet? Starting from the big toe, I'll peel off your skin first. Don't worry. My technique is excellent. Even after peeling off your skin in one piece. There won't be any damage." Frank spoke slowly, transmitting information into her brain bit by bit, instilling fear in her.

Lea stared into his eyes, suppressing the fear deep in her heart, resisting to the end.

Frank had a sinister smile. He thought, 'Still so stubborn! But it's okay.'

Those stubborn and brave people started the same way. But when they watched their skin being cut open, inch by inch peeled away, and organs extracted, all they showed was fear.

Frank raised both hands, holding surgical knives in his palms. He closed his eyes, took a deep breath, performing a solemn ritualistic gesture.

"Let's begin." He moved to the end of the table, caressing Lea's right big toe, finding the position. He then bent down, raised the surgical knife, and gently cut through her skin.

Blood gushed out. Against the backdrop of her soft skin, it looked crimson and enchanting.

Frank's eyes lit up. He was instantly exhilarated.

Lea was forced to see every scene reflected in the mirror.

The drugs made her acutely aware of how the surgical knife shredded through her skin, magnifying the pain, and sending it coursing through her brain. Her pupils trembled, large beads of sweat forming on her forehead.

Was this how she would die? But she couldn't accept it.

She had just been reborn. Those who caused her, her child, and Alfred's tragic death were still living well.

And Alfred. Thinking of him, tears welled up in Lea's eyes.

She owed him her life. She missed him terribly. There was so much she wanted to tell him.

The wound on her toe was cut larger, more blood flowed out, and the feeling of pain intensified in her mind. Lea felt her life slipping away.

No! She didn't want to die! She was unwilling to die!

Frank smiled when he saw her expression at that moment. Lea's struggle, resistance, and fear were so exquisite.

This body shivered with excitement. "My knife skills are quite good, aren't they? It's a beautiful art. It's your honor to appreciate my technique..

Suddenly, a sharp surgical knife pierced into his eye.

"Ah! Ahh..." Frank cried out in agony as he stumbled back.

Chapter 107

Great feat" Lea mocked with a sarcastic laugh. Her tongue felt somewhat unresponsive, but each word was clear and

"You. Frank was shocked, Lea could speak. How was that possible? No one could resist that drug

He remembered now. She woke up early, attacked him, and now she could speak. The drugs in her body were gradually losing their effect. How did she manage that!

In the darkness of the rooms, Lea cut her wrist, letting the blood flow. How to reduce the dosage of drugs in her body. It allowed her limbs to regain then mobility faster,

Her acute awareness of death allowed her to wake up early. With her strong willpower and extraordinary burst of energy. she held on until now. She had to try harder to grasp at any chance of survival

In the darkness, Lea laughed mockingly

She mocked, Frank, you're just a failure! A coward! Ever since you started studying medicine, you've made repeated mistakes. In the eyes of your teachers, you're a problematic student, and in the eyes of your classmates, you're just a strange lone

She added. "Your doctoral thesis was revised multiple times and still didn't pass. Did you threaten your supervisor and use underhanded methods to graduate?"

From the moment she woke up, Lea had been listening to Frank and observing him. She analyzed him by using his information from her past life.

Frank didn't say a word, but she felt the raging, angry aura emanating from him, which indicated that what she said was mostly accurate.

Lea started again. Even after getting your degree, few hospitals were willing to hire you. You managed to find a hospital willing to take you in with much effort, but you made mistakes at work, even causing patients conditions to worsen of leading to their deaths”

She added, “So, you were surd, accused, and expelled. You’re a complete and utter failure! But you don’t even admit your mistakes and delude yourself into thinking you’re a creator. There’s no bigger coward than you in this world?”

She continued, “So, you can only kidnap people, inject them with drugs, control them, immobilize them, and then dismember them. You enjoyed watching them fear, just to make yourself feel good. Frank, you’re not only a failure and a coward, you’re also a twisted, perverted monster. You don’t deserve to live among humans!”

Lea laughed loudly “You’re a creator? Those failures of yours are garbage. That’s just your delusion, a joke!

“Shut up! Frank couldn’t hold back any longer, shouting sharply as he rushed forward.

There was no light, but he knew her exact position, “When I dismember you, you’ll know just how wrong you are!”

Just as he was about to grab her, she suddenly rushed up.

Frank heard a sizzling sound, and sparks flew in the darkness, ilminating the scene.

Lea grabbed the electric wire and pressed it against him. With a surge of electricity, both of them collapsed.

After a brief dizziness, Lea forced herself to wake up and heard frank groaning in pain. The electricity hadn’t killed her, nor was it endugh to kill him

She got up and ran out. She had to livel

When Timik woke up. Tem was gon

dissecting

The high from the disse ting room illuminated the center of the Fall. It was an abandoned underground storage room, with two floors covering thousands of siptare feet. It was Dier i

I had been abandoned over a year ago, with many circuits danged After Frank repaired it, it was transformed into its current sue

“Les Trohl you Yost cant escape: Frank searched every

He said

must be vo

mer id the lull

can move now, the drugs in your body haven’t worn off completely. You’ve lost a lot of blood, so you now. Good girl, come out.

He continued late now, you've wasted a lot of my time, and I'll be angry. When I'm angry, the consequences are severe, and you'll suffer even more torment. Come out!"

No response. The abandoned warehouse was silent, with only his echoes.

Frank was instantly enraged, roaring loudly, "Come out, Lea! Come out now!"

After a while of shouting, there was still no response.

"You think you can hide from me?" A sinister laugh escaped his throat as he walked toward the corridor.

"Thud, thud, thud. The ominous sound of his footsteps echoed

Wood Wood Woof. Before Frank reached the end of the corridor, he heard the growling of dogs, filled with hunger and ferocity. At the end of the corridor, in the last compartment, he kept six wolfdogs.

The wolfdogs squeezed their heads through the iron bars, baring sharp teeth and drooling like savage monsters desperate for food. He had raised these dogs here a year ago to process the meat he had left behind.

"Good babies!" Frank approached, petting their heads. You must be starving. Tonight's feast is already prepared for you. Go find her!"

With a swift yank, he pulled off the iron door chain. Before he could open the door fully, the pack of wolfdogs charged out, barking madly and running

On the second floor, in a dark corner near the stairs, Lea clutched a sharp piece of wood. She was ready to ambush Frank when he came for her.

When she heard the barking of the vicious dogs, she instantly froze.

In her past life, she was torn apart by wild dogs. Even though she wasn't afraid of death, this particular fear was enough to consume her. And these dogs were even more ferocious and brutal than the ones before

The barking grew closer. The lead dog had already picked up her scent and was racing toward the stairs. Lea realized the danger and started to run for her life.

In the pitch black, she couldn't see her path only knowing she had to keep moving. The sound of the wolfdogs chasing her grew louder, and she could feel their teeth gnashing, making her scalp tingle and her bones ache.

"Hahaha Frank followed the pack, sensing the fleeing Lea in the darkness,

She was scared, and he laughed with satisfaction. The laughter echoed eerily.

"Bang In the darkness. Lea suddenly burst through a door.

The wolfdogs stopped at the door, barking furiously at the wooden barrier. "Shh!" Frank calmed the dogs, soothing them until then loud barks became impatient growls

He approached the door and

This voice as if preaching. Tra, you have no meaning. No, it's not death. It's a great way out. Come back with me. Your death

He continued, "If you don't come out, these dogs will break in. They are the most ferocious breed, with wolf genes. They've been starved for nearly a week. They can chew through even bars."

He warned, "Once they get on my operating table they'll eat you inch by inch, leaving nothing behind. That pain will be far worse than lying

Inside the door, Lea pressed her hands into her hair, hugging her head tightly. She desperately tried to block out the sound of the snarling and barking wolfdogs

The memory of being torn apart by dogs in her past life was vivid, the terror of it overwhelming her willpower.

"Still not coming out!" Frank's patience had run thin, his voice growing more irritable.

"Lea. I'll count to ten. If you don't come out by then, my dogs will break in. He petted the neck of a nearby wolfdog, counting aloud. "One, two... seven, eight, nine, ten!"

He was furious and kicked open the door forcefully.

The dogs howled, and their eyes glowed red. They charged into the room immediately.

Suddenly, a spark ignited, quickly transforming into a wall of flames that blocked their path.

The wolfdogs, afraid of the fire, retreated with whimpers. Even Frank stepped back, startled by the sudden blaze. Then, he saw a small figure huddled in the corner, illuminated by the firelight.

Lea, covered in blood, looked back at him through her disheveled hair. Her eyes were shining with determination in the dim light.

The sight sent a shiver down his spine. She had managed to fight back even now.

When Lea fled to this room, it wasn't out of desperation but because she had smelled the alcohol, realizing it was a wine storage room

Lea had smashed the wine bottles, letting the alcohol spill out, and ignited it just as the dogs burst in.

If she didn't use this risky method, she couldn't get rid of Frank

Frank laughed again, with a mix of ridicule and rage. "Lea, you're courting death!"

The storage room was filled with alcohol, and she was now surrounded by a sea of fire. If the flames didn't consume her, the smoke would suffocate her.

She couldn't escape. If she did, she'd face the ravenous dogs and a murderous madman.

The unbroken alcohol bottles exploded, emitting loud bangs. Then, the fire grew fiercer

Lea coughed violently, inhaling a mouthful of dense smoke mixed with scorching heat that seared her throat and lungs. Her insides felt like they were being charred.

She couldn't control her breathing anymore and started coughing violently.

Soon, she started to suffocate, her brain starved of oxygen, unable to think.

Was she going to die here? It was so unfair!

Sun, Aue

She missed Alfred's ch. She wanted to speak to him, tell him her feelings, and at least say goodbye.

Alfred...

Chapter 108

"Lea, Lea." Lea brand a faint call, lifting her head to see a blurry figure out and

Alfred. A shiver ran through tea, waking her up a lat. She opeted her eyes wide and saw a tall ge

Frank exclaimed as the tall figure charged an hem directly

Before Frank could fuish his sentence, a pundi landed on his chest. His boses shattered and he flew back and falling to the ground

A of

"Went end weed park rd dogs rushed forward, surrounding the intruder

"Get out of the way, damn dogs "The man shoved the dogs away, desperate to get into the fire to see Les. This time. Lea heard his voice more clearly and saw his figure there distinctly, wasn't Alfred

Les coughed and took a deep breath, but it got stuck in her lungs, and she couldn't breathe anymore. Everything went blark as she collapsed Bang

A broad embrace caught Dea. "Hang in there." A deep rich voice Jure a cello, resonated in her ears, each word struting a rhard in her heart. She struggled to open her eyes and Law Alfred.

Alfred looked at Lea in his arms on her wrists and feet. She looke with fury, wanting to kill.

ally pale due to the drugs and covered in blood, with obmoun trned blood red

Whoosh Alfred tore off his thin windbreaker and wrapped Leahy, then picked her up and headed our Lea Seaned against his chest, utuble to ser

his breath wide

was hum It en Allied.

Alfred, 1 Ima "Lea spoke

"I know I know Tes, I know everything Alfred's voice was hoarse barely audible, as he kept talking to her, trying to

Des. comfort her, his eyes blurred with tears. He held her tightly, looking at the wall of fire ahead has eyes reflecting the faces burning red. He promised inwardly. I have to go out I have to save her. I have to make sure the lives be

"Alfred Lea brand Alfred say he knew the massed ham, a smile appearing on her lips as she fainted softly in his arms.

Alfred hesitated for a moment, that the wombat far rily brought him back tra holding a tighter and charged through the fire wall thinking I have to make sure she loves I have to "Over here in the area of flames, a strong force pulled Alfred, guiding them out the door. It's too dangerous here "

Alfred looked at the person in surprise, then glanced at Frank who was writhing in pain against the wall. Leave him alone

"Got it" The rescuer dragged Frank from the corner by the collar and followed Alfred and Lex out quickly

Not long after explosions sounded behind them. The wine barrel in the room exploded from the sending flames kang into the night sky

Lea woke with a start abruptly. She found herself lying on a hospital bed, with the pale light from overhead, casting down

| "You're

surprised voice

Lea nursed her heart quickly. um Alfred. Alfred was sitting by the bed looking at her wake up surprised with emotions eyes reddened, as glistening

He had expected her to

"Alfred. Lea's voice was hoarse as if there were sand in her throat. Last night, her voice had been damaged by the smoke. As soon as she spoke, her eyes filled with tears. She leaned to the side and threw herself into Alfred's arms. He immediately held her tightly here? What

After calming down in Alfred's arms Lea fully woke up. "Aren't you supposed to be back in Iverton? Why are you here and time is it now? She anxiously got out of bed. She still had the SAT exam. She wondered if she had missed it. Alfred pressed her back into his on June 7th, 6:30 in the morning

Lea let out a long sigh of relief, and a smile appeared. “Luckily, I haven’t missed the exam! She dreamed of getting into her dream university and going overton with Alfred.

Seeing this, Alfred felt a pang of sorrow and pulled Lea into a tight, comforting embrace. Worried about her condition, he reluctantly let go after a while. Til call Lorrard to check on you,

“No need I’m fine Lea tugged at her hospital gown. Her left wrist hurt and her right toe ached, but the wounds had been treated. It was a normal reaction. These injuries weren’t too serious. She could bear this pain. Her mind, still clear from the remnants of the drugs, felt sharp and alert. That stuff really wakes me up. It’s truly a blessing. Just wait for my good results.”

Alfred couldnt do anything but feel sorrowful for her.

“Where’s Frank: What happened to that underground storage room? Lea asked.

The Fraley Group and the Fraley Medical were giant entities and Lea had never found an opportunity. Now, she had Frank. As long as she had this leverage, she could bring down Fraley Hospital and destroy the Fraley family. And that storage room. was the evidence repository. This is a life–and–death game. I’ve survived, so this time, they won’t live, Lea thought as she smiled, her pale skin glowing with a radiant hue. Her crystal–clear eyes shimmered with a light that seemed capable of destroying everything in its path.

Alfred’s breath hitched, determined never to let something like this happen again. “He’s alive and under control. He stroked Lea’s hair, calming her down. “The underground storage room has been handed over to the military for a secret investigation. Their thoughts aligned. Knowing what Lea wanted to do, Alfred had prepared everything for her.

“The military Lea was taken aback. Involving the military could affect her actions. She had finally caught such a good opportunity.

“Don’t worry, they’re just investigating and controlling the situation. They won’t interfere with you,” Alfred comforted.

Lea’s anxious heart finally settled. She also realized that he had called in the military to rescue her and help her. She could imagine what he and everyone had gone through that night to find and save her. She nuzzled her chin against his chest. “Alfred, don’t worry. I won’t let something like this happen again, I’ll arrange for more security measures to protect myself

Alfred had a lot he wanted to say, safety measures he wanted to arrange for her, but now he couldn’t voice them. He lifted Lea’s chin, his tone both a command and a plea, “Lea, don’t leave me alone for the rest of my life.” His voice was hoarse, and he was trembling. He was terrified of losing her, of being left alone. She had no idea how scared he was.

“I won’t Lea stood on tiptoe, hugging Alfred’s neck tightly, promising with all her might. “Til be with you forever. We’ll always be together” litarhatherightly, drawing comfort from rach orter Outside the window, the sky brightened as the sun se ight on them that merged their shadows into one

After a while, Lea finally calmed down I need to see Frank before going to my exam

Alfred nodded “Don’t push yourself too hard. You can take the exam next year it needed. If you want to go to Everton, I’ll find a way Wherever you want to be. I’ll be there with you.

Lea pondried silently, not saying another word. She understood then what it meant to truly love someone In her previous life, Milton’s love had come with conditions and expectations, which were constant goals to achieve and values to create. Milion was so adept at nanipulating emotions that it was hard to notice his true intentions. “Tknow” Lea nodded.

“Let’s get you changed, Alfred sail, opening a bag and taking out some clothes. The bag had been packed by Jason when he retrieved Lea’s belongings from the old residence after she was rescued and sent to the hospital. There were the clothes she needed inside

Lea undid a couple of buttons on her hospital gown but paused, looking up at Alfred, her cheeks flushing

Alfred chuckled and ruttled her hair. Til go get breakfast ready for you” He took a step towards the door, then turned back and whispered in her ear with a magnetic, teasing voice, Im afraid if I watch, I won’t be able to control myself”

Lea held her breath, her face turning red down to her neck. Alfred kisard her neck lightly before leaving the room. She had to take a few deep breaths to steady her heartbeat before changing her clothes.

Twenty minutes later, Alfred returned with breakfast. As he opened the door, his eyes widened in surprise. Lea was wearing a long white dress that reached her ankles, covering the scars on her legs. She wore white shoes, and over the dress, she had on a blue school jacket. The dress’s puffed sleeves peeked out from the jacket, tied with a bow, hiding the scars on her wrists. Her long hair was styled to cover the bruises on her forehead, and she had applied light makeup to conceal the lighter injuries on her face. Even her pale complexion now had a hint of color. No one would believe she had survived a life–and- death ordeal just the night before.

“I put on some makeup, Lea said, feeling uneasy under Alfred’s gaze. She had become adept at these things. In her previous life, she had studied fashion, dressing, and makeup to fit in with high society, to avoid embarrassing Milton, and to win his favor.

Alfred walked up to Lea, his eyes filled with admiration. “You look cute

They ate breakfast together before Alfred took her to see Frank. As the hospital room door opened, they both paused in surprise

Standing in the doorway was a figure that was hard to miss, a man towering at 6 feet 4 inches with a strong build. He was around Lea's age, his eyes red with worry as he looked at her. He was the first man who arrived at the underground storage room last night

"Yannis Sanders, the young man introduced himself, seeing Lea's confusion.

A month ago, Yannis got dumped at Lorrard's clinic and Lea performed heart surgery on him, saving his life. He had been brought to this hospital for the best treatment and had mostly recovered. Last night upon hearing from Lorrard that Lea was missing, Yannis had started searching for her.

Lea remembered, Yannis was the boxer she had saved at Lorrard's private clinic a month ago. He had been the first to arrive at the underground storage room last night to rescue her.

"Miss Lea!"

"Miss Berry!"

John, Lorrard, Charles, Chen, Joga, and the rest of the team at the story time and now they were all there

I feel they almost shed their life, it came to the Fumany gene wound at them. In past after getting To fit they were all and dreptul e non lee box often, gestalten by the here people food few differen Bey only cared a

Having lived was this was the best e Tra Jelt wired for. This weather to be bonding angerti exuletea pret happy and wash of lenging It makes my mothe theme Verendered and for dhe shkel up a bit I'm fire Thank you all the year trip Her speeds were led with ARE RE apped "We glad you're okay Yourwed us to death than they went in the g veggen tremend to glow"

just Alfred Seving Alfred standing beltinel Fra Chris done con Alfred hard and hork from Feromong að t forces ren the military to search every inelund Vepenty for ex

even

Thos Thank you tea's see was low and aim, but her gratitude was endent

Jeten singed forward and deeply boord "Mi Berry. I was my religrockwerage all promoments Hered at end surfing ente as he spoke being how frantically Alfred hard coverfied for Lea yesterday Jeven relied sex cex your Afford almost friend but anirreplaceable part of his life. And she had a fallen as the hands of murderon matale who intentent dismember her If Lea hadn't been rescued sutely, Jom wealed the hot brydreterone

ve

ble to aboutse

to as per the Everyone held their breath watching Jason solemaily. Forry person there would have preferred. For Charles and Lorrard. Lea was the heart and future of their medical dreams. They were willing to pay any printo her Lewand her As for Vannis, he was saved by 1e Heward for his life and was ready to repay it. Chris admired Lea and cared for her and like Gring and deli, she was willing to sacrifice herself for Alfred, and naturally, for low as well

Lea looked at person, feeling their genuine concern, and a warmth spread in her usually calm heart. It wasn't her fault she said, helping Jason straighten up. It was my fault for giving the enemy an opportunity. I'm sorry you all had to suffer he knew Matida and her group would target her, yet she still fell into their hands. It was her lack of vigilance and preparation

Jason's returned red, tears welling up

Lea's response left everyone a bit stunned. They hadn't expected such magnanimity from someone young

"Get up Craig also helped lift Jason, "We'll strengthen the defenses from now on!

"Who are these people that want to kill you so badly? Everyone turned to look at Yannis, who had spoken. His thick eyebrows and long, dense eyelashes framed his sharp gaze

The grudge must be enormous to plot such a cruel fate for someone. The enemy's nature must be extremely ruthless and

Chapter 110

Rogue chilled the Thy lives ally was this had it my ser and physical and and engariand the an

Everyoor treated a ghoff and end theirs, in what they needed with they t ever, demon led mat

vor and goms the me ground whing in pon bar will spended. Then we may teen die

"They Learnt the mer to Alfred, completely

And weched to another surveilles tend teen boys have the the Sperial gellice were warming the place hering

my the trend wings for say der

I thought we the body parts she had seen alde, Prakse been in her reges, wodd's with and devour Aber en often the wind Aifred. Can we job

"That They tend the benjod's help myney and weed.

Sexcontacted

in the

him to thy Frame They must go there

information, thereby detectives had they deal with my mything Then, using she could expect the served Fedley Marie That washermal

With Wartime Set Seem Alteen when He you the planned wedge the Yarry

Laugh Astent with spangle and charting in and they the and was Yes who endure and be the go to the reskins when their people followed the memes they leave

Lex the themes and shared the other We do the sa

With take you to the eye" Alfred and grading and hering they had parked the Shannon who had been eating two deadly ter

When I was found and home the hunger wounds in the meaning stimmen innan ay be because of her di Yo you that you sath Youth

wowe skulls, hevone capable, and take control of your destiny

Cha dusid Shammon's talent and knew how much she had suffered under her mother's abuse, Chris wanted a better By o stanon and urges her with every word tea also hopes you'll do well on your exam

"Tsunderstand" Stammon nosided, determined. She knew this was the only way she could help herself and Lea in the future. "Hooks Chris She returned to her spital rooms to sleep, preparing for the exam.

Early this mining, Mon waiter!

emotion and rushed over to hug b to go to the exam venue together. Seeing Lea, Shannon couldn't hold back her Les gently patted her back. "Let's get exam together. Her voice was low but full of determination:

"Sure Shannon mosklesl vigorously, her voice choked with sobs Despite the dark circles and red, swollen eyes due to the lack of sleep last night, she was excited and energized. There was nothing more motivating than this.

The three of them went downstairs, where Jason was already waiting in the car. Once they got in, the car headed towards the

In the car, Shannon was nervous but, after last night, felt highly alert and confident despite only sleeping a few hours. She was reviewing her notes, using the car ride to study more.

Leawixcahn Sheshes ked the online news on her phone and asked Jason to turn on the car radio. Sure enough, they heard a news report "According to reliable sources, a wealthy heiress was kidnapped. Fortunately, she was rescued by a military disine during a reconnaissance operation. She has been safely retired, and the authorities are currently handling the aftermath The news had made the trending list, but barely. It was understated, without follow-up, lost in the daily urban Lea tapped her phone, closing the page. The news had clearly been managed, skipping over the shocking details behind it. Even its trending status was likely artificially boosted Such meticulous meilia handling, was Chris's doing. It revealed the incide without giving away too mal to contuse the mastermind behind it, buying Lea a significant amount of time. She pondered. It's time to call home and let them know I'm safe! She dialed her grandfather's number.

At the Berry family residence, chaos reigned Everyone was silent and fearful Christian stood in the hall, his hair even whiter than before, his eyes swollen and red from lack of sleep. is presence was suffocating the servants,

"You don't know! You don't know! What do you guys know?" Christian roared in fury. "She was taken from right here. He pointed with his case at the stairs "Kidnapped" He continued, "There's security outside, surveillance cameras, and staff inside. How was she taken, and none of you know anything? Can't you find out? Did she simply fly away?"