

Her Seven LBG 1041

Chapter 1041 Did You Go to the Wrong Place?

Even though things had escalated to this, Thomas still cared about and wouldn't abandon his family.

On the other hand, Yvonne became even more irrational and lawless after hearing from Jasmine that Benjamin would do anything to help her.

She used the manpower and financial resources she had to hire a gang of hooligans to attack Bryan's film crew.

A group of fifty to sixty young men gathered in orderly rows, each holding a weapon.

They all looked ridiculous in their skintight suits and oversized sunglasses.

As they walked, they carried themselves as if they were the best in the world.

It was so over the top that if there had been music playing, someone who didn't know any better might have thought they were filming a gangster movie.

When they arrived at the film studio's door, the gang leader raised his hand and signaled the rest to stop.

He shouted at the crowd, "Be sure to destroy everything you come across! Smash everything into pieces. Got it?"

The large sum of money that the gang was rewarded with, which they believe was incalculable made them unable to think straight and they were not thinking about the consequences.

They raised their hands and shouted, "We are feared wherever we go!"

Not only did these young men not know who they were going after, but they also had no idea that Yvonne wouldn't be able to clean up their mess.

They were acting hastily because they were all so blinded by money. Instead of first evaluating the crew's situation, they planned to swarm in with their weapons.

"Let's go, guys!" yelled the gang leader with enthusiasm.

With a single command, they all scurried toward the crew's filming location like ducks going in the water.

But as soon as they arrived, all these hooligans were dumbfounded.

"Wh-what's going on, Boss?"

The gang leader was also perplexed and wondered aloud, "Did we come to the wrong place?"

"Let me make a call and ask," he added while gesturing to the boys to not worry.

Immediately, Yvonne answered the phone. "Speak."

She said only one word, but it was clear that she was worried.

Given the time, those hooligans must have just arrived at the crew's filming location.

So, why are they calling me now?

Did something unexpected happen again?

But I hired a lot of people this time!

At this point, the hooligan treated Yvonne rudely, unconcerned about her identity or status. "What nonsense is this? There's no one here. Are you trying to trick us?"

Chapter 1042 Tricked Again

The hooligan shouted, trying to intimidate Yvonne.

"That's impossible! Did you guys go to the wrong place?" Yvonne got anxious.

He yelled the address to her over the phone. "That's the right address, correct? Do you really believe you can fool us?"

In a threatening manner, he continued, "You have three minutes. If you are unable to verify the address, we will withdraw and your deposit will not be refunded. Because of you, we've wasted a lot of time while we were here, so you'll have to pay us more."

These gangsters had wasted their time traveling all this distance when they could have been frolicking with escorts.

At the thought of the escorts, they all laughed obscenely.

At this point, Yvonne sensed that she might have been tricked again.

With a stern tone, she replied, "Just wait."

"If you don't get back to us in three minutes, we won't wait any longer," the thug threatened.

Yvonne was unfazed by what he said and simply hung up the phone.

She then dialed the staff member's number, and the call was answered immediately.

"How dare you give me false information?!"

Yvonne was furious, and the staff member could sense her rage over the phone.

"Wh-what information?" She was so scared that she couldn't speak clearly.

Although she recognized the caller, she was genuinely unaware of the details Yvonne was questioning her.

Simply put, the interaction between the two was advantageous to both parties. Yvonne had previously given her money in exchange for details about the crew.

The crew member informed Yvonne of everything because she felt it was unimportant. She couldn't help but feel that she made a mistake.

At this thought, she was afraid and couldn't stop trembling.

"Don't you dare act as if you know nothing!" Yvonne's voice was ominous and terrifying.

"This morning, I asked about the location of the crew's filming. Why did you tell me something that wasn't true? Do you have a death wish?"

The staff member was shocked, and she became even more terrified when she heard the final sentence. She certainly hadn't lived long enough!

She immediately explained, "The filming location was abruptly changed this morning, so I forgot to bring my phone when I went out because things were so urgent. There's no way I could have responded to your message."

At this time, she was in no mood to think about the context of the circumstance.

Instead, she just wanted to defend herself and get out of this situation because she was afraid she would lose her life given how enraged Yvonne was.

The staff member started crying, which irritated Yvonne.

Yvonne was now certain that she had been set up yet again.

Chapter 1043 Men in Uniform

The gang leader was stunned for a moment before realizing what was going on.

These men were there to apprehend them.

"Run!" He yelled, and all the hooligans scattered in all directions in an attempt to disperse the police force.

They didn't expect the police officers to be so determined to catch them that they had officers surrounding them.

Right now, they had no way of escaping.

"You..." The gang leader repeated the same word several times while looking at the police officers but said nothing else.

The police team's captain was the first to respond, "Heh heh!"

"Someone reported that you're planning to cause trouble, so we're here to arrest you per the law."

These hooligans had previously been to the police station and knew what it was like inside, so they were adamant about not being arrested.

None of them wanted to lose their freedom.

They immediately began begging, "Officer, we were just passing by and weren't causing any trouble. Besides, there's nothing here, so how could we possibly do anything?"

all just a continued to blabber as

out of here and not bother laughed and asked, "What's in in their hands out of fear as soon as they

"W-we picked those up."

just things

They spoke nervously.

the cop was amused by their

Where

just out for a walk when we noticed these items and decided to take one each for yourself. What do you plan to do with always prioritized reliable evidence when making arrests, the hooligans, thinking he was clever,

other one thought it sounded right and chimed in,
for cash that you've resorted believed them and nodded quickly. "We have The cop snorted. "Are you sure you weren't planning to vandalize and that

Chapter 1044 Show Us What You've Got

When the hooligans were apprehended, the cop even recorded a video of the arrest, which appeared to be intended to be shown to a certain someone.

Yvonne was still angry about what happened this morning when she received a video from one of the hooligans.

She angrily muttered, "What do these losers want again?"

She watched the video and saw that the hooligans had been arrested.

"You've gone too far, Vania Greyson!" she yelled.

She became even angrier when she saw the message underneath the video.

"It looks like Miss Kepler doesn't have good judgment when it comes to hiring people."

The message was written in her usual tone.

Yvonne gripped her phone irritably. "You will regret this, Vania!"

With that sentence, she wanted to reply to Vania, but Vania had already blocked her.

Ugh!

her phone. Her hand trembled from the rage

Greyson! Don't even think about living a good life up her retaliation against Vania and see immediately arranged for a team of where the filming crew was, outdoor shoot, and they had finished filming for the down the mountain, they were knew that it was of everyone, and announced, "Don't worry, began to calm down when they

the hooligans burst out laughing, mocking Bryan's hundred people, whereas this film crew only had front of everyone and declare that he would handle the situation at hand?
to take a beating for these had one bat and could he get his confidence gang leader roared, "If you're wise, don't fight back. We'll spare you if you let us beat you up. If you aren't the hooligans waved their weapons in an attempt to scare the crew

Chapter 1045 Give Me the Number

They all stared at him as if they were assessing the truth behind his words.
Then, one of them suddenly burst out laughing and said, "You think you can scare us? Let me show you what we're capable of!"
He then faced the other hooligans and shouted, "Guys, let's teach this ignorant young man a lesson. Let him know who truly rules Hammond."
Calling Bryan 'young man' was the way the hooligan leader mocked him.
Bryan, on the other hand, couldn't be bothered with them because Hammond was not theirs to rule.
At this point, his bravado was infuriating the crew members, as it could incite the small gangsters to attack them without warning. They wouldn't have time to call the cops if that happened!
Just as they thought they were doomed, a convoy of armored vehicles appeared out of nowhere, giving them hope.
The crew was shooting an outdoor scene in the mountains, which were mostly deserted and had uneven terrain. It was the perfect place for a brawl.
rescue team to arrive. They didn't expect a were about to
by the crew
forward and glanced icily at the gang gangster no longer sneered at Bryan, instead warily asking, pointing give me their phone number or another way to get in words and asked again, "Is thought that even if they did give the contact information, it would be fake and they wouldn't be able to contact the client at explaining, Bryan said, "Believe it or not, it's up to at each other, seemingly considering so we might as well give him the number. It's pointless to keep her number

We might not be able to escape from this place alive if we don't that, some agreed while

Chapter 1046 Let's Teach Him a Lesson, Boss!

"We don't care who you are! None of you can leave today."

"It seems like you guys are the real nobodies here! I've been giving you too much credit."

Bryan blinked and coldly said, "Remember, everything you're about to experience is thanks to the Keplers. But if you must remember one name, it's Yvonne Kepler. If you ever want someone to hold a grudge against, find her!"

The hooligans who were supposed to charge forward stopped dead in their tracks as soon as they heard "the Keplers."

They knew that the Keplers were not to be provoked.

But what did the filming crew have to do with the Keplers?

And why did they have to find Miss Yvonne Kepler for revenge? Wasn't she already publicly arrested?

These hooligans didn't understand the affairs of wealthy families. They just took orders online and did the job.

those who they couldn't afford lot of these hooligans, and there were always a few who had Keplers to scare us? This filming crew isn't even invested in think he's just talking nonsense and let's get hooligans suddenly became restless again. The little bit of fear that remained had disappeared in an leader's attention because he appeared to be too composed and acted as was under subconscious pressure. He reprimanded the hooligans second thoughts. They tried to persuade him, "Boss, what are you still worried about? I think this guy is just a the hooligans

beginning to the end, which made people suspicious. Even the people in the filming in the filming crew, the teach him a lesson,

the hooligans finished speaking, another team of

Chapter 1047 Yvonne's Crazy Behavior

"Heh heh! Too late." Bryan sternly waved his hand.

The people in the armored vehicle immediately got off with their weapons.

"Let's get working! Don't let any of them go." The captain ordered and quickly surrounded the group of hooligans.

The moment the hooligans saw the clothes they were wearing, their legs began to feel weak.

Some of the cowardly ones were unable to handle it and fell to the ground. They only had the thought "We're done for life" in their minds.

They all dared not to resist, and under intense pressure, they formed a neat queue and boarded the vehicle.

Just then, the convoy's captain approached Bryan and formally questioned him, "Young Master Bryan, do you have any other orders?"

"That would be it. Take them away."

"Yes, Mr. Jones."

and Hanson before

gang was finally seized, the crew breathed

on?" the director hesitantly specifically targeting Bryan. Fortunately, Bryan question, so he simply looked at the director and said, numerous people, she needed to after realizing his reluctance to speak. It was fine as long to the entire crew, he wouldn't be able to handle such a heavy responsibility. He was afraid he might not be able to person just now referred to Bryan as Young Master Bryan made him realize Bryan's like himself should not

...

hired were brought to the police station where find out that they were both tricked

they would have to live

all deeply

I have to be so dumb today? This would not have occurred if I had given him the phone number

Chapter 1048 Seven Gourds

Raul was also quite troubled. "What else can we do? Just be more careful in our future actions."

Every time he thought of this, a fit of anger surged within him, as he had needlessly lost many subordinates.

That woman, Yvonne Kepler, was truly a disaster.

Realizing the seriousness of the situation, the underling dared not inquire further, afraid of provoking even more anger from the boss.

On the other hand, Yvonne soon encountered a problem.

She could no longer conduct business transactions on the black market.

Frowning deeply, she stared at the notifications that repeatedly showed she was being rejected from business and muttered to herself, "What's wrong?"

Could it be that her phone number was blocked due to frequent transactions?

After all, these kinds of businesses were often closely monitored.

It wasn't uncommon to run into problems.

So, she changed to another number, but the messages she sent were still rejected.

finally realized that her IP didn't believe that those small-time hooligans had such capabilities. After all, they relied on this to make money. They wouldn't want explanation was was forcing her to find the moment, Yvonne had no choice but second episode of "All-Around last episode, in which she painted with dance, was still being enthusiastically as the program preview was released, her performance was selected as the

to anticipating to take the stage, and every time the host saw her, he was eagerly asked, "President Greyson, is there anything you'd like to always ask the same question whenever I interview you. I guess I'm not very professional as you manage to surprise us,

"You're doing a great to the audience and asked, "What would you all like to reacted, the host exclaimed first, "Ah! President Greyson, can you can you? We were wondering that too,"

"Yeah, I can give it another audience shouted again, "We want to see the dance painting