

Her Seven Little Bodyguards - Chapter 1111

Vonio glanced at her watch and asked, "Are they going to film us sleeping at this time?"

They had returned from Shobury, and it was already dark outside.

What is there to film?

The director's smile froze on his face, as if he had said something inappropriate.

However, Honson was looking forward to the show being broadcasted soon. After all, he enjoyed showing affection to his wife at all times. But he still had to consider his wife's feelings. At that moment, he glanced at his watch. "We will start filming at 8 o.m. sharp tomorrow."

Immediately, a grin appeared on the director's face. "No problem." They could start filming at any time. The production team guaranteed it.

This was the most anticipated show in history, and the director loved recording such passionate variety shows.

Vonio looked at the excited director and asked, "Who are the other three celebrity couples?"

The show was supposed to have four groups of guests.

However, the director's smile stiffened for a moment, and he nervously replied, "Um... The nature of the show has changed."

They held an emergency meeting to cater to the audience and made adjustments.

The originally recorded show had been changed to a live broadcast, and they would not be in contact with other celebrity couples for now.

Vania glanced at her watch and asked, "Are they going to film us sleeping at this time?"

They had returned from Shabury, and it was already dark outside.

What is there to film?

The director's smile froze on his face, as if he had said something inappropriate.

However, Hanson was looking forward to the show being broadcasted soon. After all, he enjoyed showing affection to his wife at all times

But he still had to consider his wife's feelings. At that moment, he glanced at his watch. "We will start filming at 8 a.m. sharp tomorrow."

Immediately, a grin appeared on the director's face. "No problem." They could start filming at any time. The production team guaranteed it.

This was the most anticipated show in history, and the director loved recording such passionate variety shows.

Vania looked at the excited director and asked, "Who are the other three celebrity couples?"

The show was supposed to have four groups of guests.

However, the director's smile stiffened for a moment, and he nervously replied, "Um... The nature of the show has changed."

They held an emergency meeting to cater to the audience and made adjustments.

The originally recorded show had been changed to a live broadcast, and they would not be in contact with other celebrity couples for now.

Having Hanson and Vania on the show was enough to create a sensation.

Besides, celebrities didn't like to appear on the same stage as them.

After all, no matter how popular a celebrity was, once they appeared with Hanson and Vania, their popularity would fade away.

The focus of netizens was always on Vania and Hanson.

Vania's eyelid twitched. Why am I not informed of this earlier? They really don't care, do they?

Regardless of the changes, she was still a boss who doted on her employees. She nodded in agreement to their proposal. "Alright, let's arrange it this way for now, and we will discuss it further in the meeting."

Galaxy Entertainment needed to grow and expand.

They couldn't just broadcast her own show.

Little did she know that she alone was enough to support an entertainment company.

Her daily income was equivalent to the annual income of some celebrities.

Afterward, the director's team left happily, looking forward to tomorrow's show.

There were tons of fans on the team who liked this couple. Hence, being able to watch the live broadcast on-site made them extremely excited.

After returning to the villa, Hanson and Vania found their seven little babies sitting on the couch like judges.

Hanson and Vania, who were once full of energy, were now completely subdued by their little ones.

"Where did you go?" James was the first to ask.

"Shabury," Vania replied, a hint of a gentle grin on her face.

Were the children angry because they didn't take them along?

"Let's go together tomorrow, then?" Hanson suggested.

The day after happened to be show day, and he would dominate the entertainment industry with their little ones.

Besides, he had yet to go skiing with his own little ones.

The expressions of the seven little ones changed visibly, showing a hint of desire, but they quickly turned their faces away.

Jack, unaffected, said, "Let's talk about today's topic first."

They couldn't forgive them because they offered to take them out.

Hanson raised an eyebrow, not expecting his little ones to be so determined. He asked, "What topic?"

"What did you two do today?" Jacob, who was usually soft-spoken, suddenly became assertive.

"Exactly what was posted online," Vania answered truthfully. The netizens had live-streamed the whole process, leaving no room for privacy.

But it was all for entertainment, and everyone was happy. There was no need to make a big deal out of it.

.

Her Seven Little Bodyguards - Chapter 1112

The seven little kids nodded, realizing that it was almost time.

"The morning medicine..." Jude hesitated to speak.

Vania immediately replied, "Of course, we drank it. How could we not drink the medicine you gave? Hehe."

As she spoke, she glared sternly at Hanson. If he dares to say otherwise, I will definitely knock him in the head.

Hanson immediately replied seriously, "That's right! Your mommy drank it all. There is not a drop left."

What was his was his wife's, and what was his wife's was his. If he drank it, it was as if his wife drank it too. There was absolutely nothing wrong in his statement.

"Tsk." The seven little ones all expressed their disdain at the same time. Judging from this scene, it didn't seem real at all.

However, they didn't pursue the matter further since the medicine was taken care of in one go.

At this moment, James was already circling around Vania. "Let's see if Mommy is injured."

It turned out that they were worried that Vania and Hanson had been injured when they entered the dangerous area.

They were different from the online fans who only praised Vania and Hanson's excellence, for they truly cared about their safety.

Vania was instantly touched and hugged James tightly

"I am fine. I'm really good at skiing. Tomorrow, we will all go again, and I'll teach you all."

She had yet to bring her little ones skiing on such a professional track before. This time, the whole family could go together.

"Okay, let's go together." They happily agreed.

Although they didn't like childish games, they loved going on trips with their parents.

At the same time, James spoke up once again. "Mommy, don't film dangerous videos like this in the future."

Then, he looked at Hanson. "Daddy, you have to take care of Mommy."

"Mhmm." Hanson nodded quickly, but when the incident happened, and Vania softly pleaded with him, he couldn't resist.

At this moment, Lily held Vania's hand and said, "Mommy, let me check your body."

"Okay."

After carefully checking Vania's pulse, Lily nodded. "You've recovered well. Tomorrow morning, I'll prepare another dose of medicine specially formulated for you."

"Do I still need medication?" Vania wanted to refuse a little.

She didn't feel anything when she went skiing today, so she probably didn't need to take the medicine anymore, right?

"Hmm?" The seven little babies looked at Vania again.

Vania immediately agreed. "I'll drink it, I promise."

"After speaking, she looked at Hanson for help."

Hanson glanced at his little babies and simply ruffled Vania's hair. "I'll give you candy later."

Candy again. Vania pouted and wanted to join the kids and started calling him "Daddy."

Hanson seemed to sense Vania's thoughts and immediately turned to face the kids. "Darlings, time to rest. We'll leave at 8 a.m. tomorrow."

They planned to stay in the Shabury for a day and have more fun with the children.

"Oh." The seven kids glanced at their father, who had many ideas, and returned to their rooms together. The next morning, the production team was already waiting at Haling Villa.

Although there was still more than one hour before the clock struck eight in the morning, the live broadcast had already started.

On their day off, the online fans had already logged in and were waiting for Vania and Hanson to appear online.

To ensure a smooth live broadcast, the program team invited a popular host from the entertainment industry, Joshua Cooper.

Joshua's hosting style was very relaxed, and he was often teased by guests, creating many popular jokes. He was a familiar face on television.

.

Her Seven Little Bodyguards - Chapter 1113

"Dear friends, we still have an hour before the appearance of our beloved couple. What should we talk about in the meantime?" Right after the host, Joshua Cooper, initiated the topic, the netizens began leaving messages on the screen.

'We don't want to chitchat; we want to see President Luke and President Greyson.'

'Did the crew reveal what they are going to do today? I'm so excited!'

'I think even when they just sit in front of the camera all day without saying a word, we'll still watch the show.'

'Why does the show start at eight? Can't it start now? Burst into their room, Joshua!'

'Let's give Joshua some encouragement so he has the guts to go in.'

After a suggestion from a netizen, the others followed suit.

'Let's support Joshua and let him knock on the door early.'

Upon seeing the comments, Joshua appeared frightened in front of the camera. Then, embarrassment washed over him as he said, "Dear all, do you want my hosting career to end early? If you have any opinions about me, please speak your mind instead of using this indirect method."

He didn't dare to provoke Hanson and acting sorry to be bullied by netizens was his signature move.

As soon as his aggrieved cry escaped his lips, the netizens in the live broadcast room burst into laughter.

'In order to satisfy the netizens who love you, do you dare to do it?'

'It's time to test your courage. Go on!'

'Stop hesitating. There's always a first time in life, and you may discover surprises everywhere.'

Subsequently, everyone started to provoke him into action instead, and Joshua had mixed feelings about it. "What surprise? Will I be fired tomorrow?"

'You're thinking too much. Maybe you won't even make it until tomorrow.'

'Hopefully, when you knock on the door later, you won't interrupt President Luke's good time.'

'We're praying for you. Go ahead and test your courage.'

'As a man, you can do it.'

The netizens' comments in the live broadcast room kept popping up, and even the dignity of a man was brought up in the end

Unable to tolerate it anymore, Joshua immediately stood up and said to the netizens in the live broadcast room with a stroke of determination, "Come on. Let's knock on the door together."

'Ah, the exciting moment is about to come!'

'Don't worry; we'll hang tight and support you.'

An uproar broke out from the netizens in the live broadcast room instantly, and they showered him with gifts. Nowadays, just the mere mention of Vania and Hanson was enough to attract countless viewers without even the need to show their faces.

The filming crew who was following Joshua gave him a thumbs-up. "We hope you'll still have this courage later."

"Good luck. Go on."

"We'll accompany you the entire time."

Looking at the filming crew, Joshua was speechless. What do they mean that they're accompanying me? They're just following me to film the show, okay? All they do is bully me.

Successfully provoked by the netizens, Joshua knocked on Vania and Hanson's villa door with the crew behind him.

At the moment, Vania and her family had already woken up. After all, they had a program to film today and were going to take the children out to play, so they got up early to prepare.

Hearing the knock, Vania knew that it was the filming crew and raised her hand to check her watch. "They're so early again?"

It seemed to her that the crew were always impatient whenever they came to film them.

However, Hanson didn't want that. His eyebrows shot up, and he leaned against Vania, wrapping his arms around her waist, saying, "Since they're here, just let them in."

Hanson, who usually disliked interviews, couldn't wait for the filming crew to come in now.

Her Seven Little Bodyguards - Chapter 1114

At this moment, Hanson wanted to show more affection, embracing Vania so tight that she couldn't move. This pose is perfect, he thought.

Simultaneously, the seven little ones turned to him at his behavior and snorted in disapproval, thinking that he was acting childish.

James was the first to walk to the door and open it. "Please come in." He had a mature and regal appearance, which resembled Hanson and was a miniature version of him. Although he was small, his presence was in no way weak at all.

The netizens in the live broadcast room originally thought that it would be Vania or Hanson who was going to open the door. To their surprise, a child had opened it instead.

Initially, they were looking forward to a good show, but the person they anticipated didn't appear, and now, all their attention fell on James. His expression was unusually cold for his age, and he instantly won the hearts of a group of middle-aged women.

'Wow, he's so handsome! I want to marry him.'

'Isn't this the young President Luke? If I can't have President Luke, I'll wait for his son to grow up.'

'Does the little boy want to come into my arms? I have the urge to go to President Luke's house and steal his child.'

'He's so cold and aloof. Will he be even more outstanding than his father when he grows up? He's another heartthrob.'

'So handsome at such a young age. Is he going to get even more attractive when he's older? Another lady-killer.'

'Suddenly, I want to watch the child's live broadcast. Joshua, will you and the production team consider this? Let's have a live broadcast with the children today.'

Even Joshua was surprised at the person in front of him. Although he's not President Luke, nobody got mad. Looks like I won't be canceled, he thought.

However, when he saw the suggestions from the netizens, he immediately shouted into the live broadcast room, "It doesn't seem to me that you guys are making requests but trying to get me canceled." After speaking, he put on a straight face and said to the camera, "Hello, dear netizens

The upcoming live broadcast is me embarking on an adventure."

'Haha, it should be called, 'Joshua's road to getting canceled.'

'What about 'Emergency Situation of Joshua?'

'Don't be ungrateful. You already have an independent program. From the beginning until now, you're the only one we're watching and the most popular host now.'

"Is this for real? Aren't you guys on my channel just to see President Luke and President Greyson? I'm only the sidekick of my channel," Joshua whined. What else is more depressing than this?

'Haha, don't act so pitiful. Hurry up and go in. We want to see President Luke and President Greyson.'

Joshua complained helplessly, "You guys are so fickle." After wasting some time at the door, it was time for him to go in.

The little one looked very polite, so Hanson must have allowed him to enter. With a jittery heart, Joshua walked through the doors, but after taking a step, he froze in place because Vania and Hanson were locked in an embrace.

Furthermore, Hanson's eyes seemed very resentful, as if blaming him for coming in late.

Is this an illusion? Joshua wondered.

Meanwhile, the netizens burst into laughter upon seeing his nervous and helpless expression.

'The opening of this program is so exciting. It's top-notch, indeed.'

The camera turned, and the netizens also saw the scene of the couple hugging each other.

'The other guy is right about the exciting opening.'

'Nothing beats coming at the right time, and it looks like Joshua bumped into them when they just started because Hanson is still holding Vania's hand tightly.'

Feeling slightly embarrassed, Vania squirmed slightly, but Hanson remained still and looked into the camera with a cold face. "Is the production team breaking the rules again?"

Without a doubt, he knew what the production team was up to, and the shocked Joshua turned stiffer after hearing Hanson's words.

.

Her Seven Little Bodyguards - Chapter 1115

It's not the production team who decided to knock on the door early, Joshuo thought. I'm so naive to think that President Luke won't blame anyone for this. Is it too late for regrets now? Otherwise, should I say that I've made a mistake?

However, it seemed that nothing he said would work anymore, and he was in a dilemma at the moment, which led to the amusing expression on his face. The netizens laughed out loud upon seeing it; indeed, this kind of scene was their cup of tea.

'Here comes the exciting scene.'

'This is what we want to see.'

'Can the production team give Joshuo a close-up? Take a screenshot of it and turn it into an emoji pack.'

'Joshuo is on the verge of being concealed again.'

Right then, Joshuo approached the camera with an even more dumbfounded expression. "Dear fans, aren't you guys going to consider my feelings at all?"

'We don't want your feelings since we just want to be happy.'

'Since it's a live broadcast of President Greyson and President Luke, we want something different.'

'Yes, exactly.'

Seeing that the netizens unanimously supported Vonio and Honson, Joshua immediately jumped on the bandwagon and made a pleading gesture toward Honson. "President Luke, please spare me."

Honson was becoming more and more like a variety show guest, looking at Joshua and spitting a single word, "Reason?"

His concise and domineering style was what netizens liked the most.

'President Luke can be both salty and sweet.'

'My heart melted instantly after hearing this, and it's another day of falling in love with President Luke.'

'My blood isn't flowing through me properly. This is too much for me!'

'Invisible temptation is the most terrifying.'

Despite all the exaggerated reactions from the netizens, Joshua didn't have time to be as infatuated with Hanson as they were, thinking in his heart, What reason should I give? But he couldn't say it out, so he could only lower himself even more and said with respect to Hanson, "President Luke and President Greyson, I'll be your butler throughout the whole filming process today. I'm at your service at any time."

'Joshua has great skills. Let's support him as a butler.'

'I support Joshua becoming a butler and want to see it happen.'

'How can such an amusing program exist?'

'It's already so funny at the beginning. Will we be laughing our socks off later?'

Hanson glanced at him and went along with him. "Do you think that anyone can be my butler?"

All of Hanson's butlers had generous salaries, corresponding to their abilities

Even the servants at home were graduates of prestigious management universities.

His concise and domineering style was what netizens liked the most.

'President Luke can be both salty and sweet.'

'My heart melted instantly after hearing this, and it's another day of falling in love with President Luke.'

'My blood isn't flowing through me properly. This is too much for me!'

'Invisible temptation is the most terrifying.'

Despite all the exaggerated reactions from the netizens, Joshue didn't have time to be as infatuated with Henson as they were, thinking in his heart, What reason should I give? But he couldn't say it out, so he could only lower himself even more and said with respect to Henson, "President Luke and President Greyson, I'll be your butler throughout the whole filming process today. I'm at your service at any time."

'Joshue has great skills. Let's support him as a butler.'

"I support Joshue becoming a butler and went to see it happen.'

'How can such an amusing program exist?'

'It's already so funny at the beginning. Will we be laughing our socks off later?'

Henson glanced at him and went along with him. "Do you think that anyone can be my butler?"

All of Henson's butlers had generous salaries, corresponding to their abilities. Even the servants at home were graduates of prestigious management universities.

His concise and domineering style was what netizens liked the most.

His butler hadn't appeared for a long time because he now lived with Vania. Still, that didn't mean that his butler could relax. On the contrary, the butler had to handle many aspects of Hanson's life with great care.

His butler hadn't appeared for a long time because he now lived with Venie. Still, that didn't mean that his butler could relax. On the contrary, the butler had to handle many aspects of Henson's life with great care.

Upon hearing Henson's words, the netizens started playing music for Joshue, and the music was as sedate as it could be.

Playing his part, Joshue weiled, "Is this my destiny?"

Seeing his painful expression, the children decided to help him, and Jeck said nonchalently, "Todey, we're going to Shebury for e trip. Be our butler, Joshue."

'Wow, is he the second child? He seems even more errogent.'

'He speeks like e boss right from the stert.

,

'Cen Joshue teke cere of them ell by himself? Otherwise, I'll immedietely buy e ticket end join them.'

'Teke me with you. I went to be e butler for the young mester, too'.

While the netizens were giddy with joy, Joshue wes in terror. They ere seven little princes. If I cen't teke cere of just one of them, things won't be es simple es the end of my cereer, Joshue thought. But et this point, he hed no other choice end could only nod. "Todey, I'm your butler, end I promise to teke cere of you end meke you heppy."

His butler hodn't oppeored for o long time becouse he now lived with Vonio. Still, thot didn't meon thot his butler could relax. On the controry, the butler hod to hondle mony ospects of Honson's life with greot core.

Upon heoring Honson's words, the netizens storted plying music for Joshuo, and the music was os sod os it could be.

Plying his port, Joshuo woiled, "Is this my destiny?"

Seeing his poinful expression, the children decided to help him, and Jock said noncholontly, "Today, we're going to Shobury for o trip. Be our butler, Joshuo."

'Wow, is he the second child? He seems even more orrogont.'

'He speeks like o boss right from the stort.'

'Con Joshuo toke core of them oll by himself? Otherwise, I'll immedietely buy o ticket ond join them.'

'Toke me with you. I wont to be o butler for the young moster, too'.

While the netizens were giddy with joy, Joshuo was in terror. They ore seven little princes. If I con't toke core of just one of them, things won't be os simple os the end of my coreer, Joshuo thought. But ot this point, he hod no other choice ond could only nod. "Today, I'm your butler, ond I promise to toke core of you ond moke you hoppy."

.

Her Seven Little Bodyguards - Chapter 1116

After Joshuo finished speaking, he couldn't help but turn to the comero, commenting, "Do you think I hove it eesy? I come here to host, but I've become o butler now."

Though he was only holf-joking, he hodn't finished his words when Honson interrupted him, osking, "Whot's the motter? Do you not wont to?"

He immediotely roised both honds. "How could that be? I'm more thon honored, President Luke."

He was telling the truth, for he was indeed willing to toke on the role.

After oll, not everyone hod the chance to become Luke ond Vonio's butler, even for o doy.

Sometimes, opportunities come unexpectedly.

It wos o greot odvontoge to ossociote oneself with the Vonio Greyson ond Honson Luke.

Seeing that Honson didn't hove any objections, Joshuo mustered up the couroge to speak ogoin. "Well, President Luke, could you give me o roise?"

After oll, the program wos only poying him to host the show.

Couldn't he eorn o little extro by being his butler?

Honson snorted coldly. "It seems like you're still not sotisfied. In thot cose, I con reploce you ot any time. I believe mony people out there ore willing to toke your ploce."

Joshuo immediotely roised his honds, decloring his loyolty os he spoke. "Not ot oll, President Luke. You con be my employer for the rest of my life."

This was a good job, and anyone would be willing to take it.

President Luke continued, "I just said that you're not qualified."

Wanting to add on, he continued, "Our program doesn't need a host, so your appearance fee counts toward your butler fee."

Joshua was speechless.

He couldn't refute Hanson's explanation, and it seemed like there was no way of earning another stream of income

Joshua was destined for misery, given his circumstances in the entertainment industry.

Nonetheless, even if it had been another host interacting with Hanson, they would have been equally speechless.

Meanwhile, netizens noticed that even though Hanson had said so much, he still didn't let go of Vania's hand.

This public display of affection continued for a long while.

'President Luke, can't you let go? Aren't you tired of holding hands yet?'

'He's doing it on purpose, isn't he?'

'Alright, that's enough PDA for now.'

Although Joshua had been demoted to a butler, he maintained his professionalism and asked Hanson, "President Luke, when are we leaving?"

Since the live broadcast had already started, they might as well set off ahead of time.

This was a good job, and anyone would be willing to take it.

President Luke continued, "I just said that you're not qualified."

Wanting to add on, he continued, "Our program doesn't need a host, so your appearance fee counts toward your butler fee."

Joshua was speechless.

He couldn't refute Henson's explanation, and it seemed like there was no way of earning another stream of income.

Joshua was destined for misery, given his circumstances in the entertainment industry.

Nonetheless, even if it had been another host interacting with Henson, they would have been equally speechless.

Meanwhile, netizens noticed that even though Henson had said so much, he still didn't let go of Venie's hand.

This public display of affection continued for a long while.

'President Luke, can't you let go? Aren't you tired of holding hands yet?'

'He's doing it on purpose, isn't he?'

'Alright, that's enough PDA for now.'

Although Joshue had been demoted to a butler, he maintained his professionalism and asked Henson, "President Luke, when are we leaving?"

Since the live broadcast had already started, they might as well set off ahead of time.

This was a good job, and anyone would be willing to take it.

The earlier they began, the more footage they could broadcast, and their program's ratings would increase.

The earlier they began, the more footage they could broadcast, and their program's ratings would increase.

Henson sought Venie's opinion, asking, "When do you want to leave, darling?"

In turn, Venie asked her children, "What do you think, darlings?"

"Let's leave now," suggested Jacob.

Compared to James and Jack, Jacob was much more adorable.

Although netizens had seen Jacob before, they were charmed by him nonetheless.

They couldn't help but sigh. How many times did Venie save the galaxy to be able to give birth to such different yet charming kids? They are adorable!

'I'm still curious, though. How did President Luke and President Greyson give birth to so many children?'

'Men, I went seven kids of my own too.'

The conversation somehow returned to the topic several days ago.

A few concerned netizens asked, 'If this continues, are you sure the live broadcast won't be halted?' To prevent such a good live broadcast from ending, the other netizens immediately stopped asking such questions.

However, they quickly realized what Venie's babies just said.

Another netizen asked, 'Are you guys heading to Shebury? Are we going to witness President Luke and President Venie's skills?'

The earlier they began, the more footage they could broadcast, and their program's ratings would increase.

Hanson sought Vonio's opinion, asking, "When do you want to leave, darling?"

In turn, Vonio asked her children, "What do you think, darlings?"

"Let's leave now," suggested Jacob.

Compared to James and Jack, Jacob was much more adorable.

Although netizens had seen Jacob before, they were charmed by him nonetheless.

They couldn't help but sigh. How many times did Vonio save the galaxy to be able to give birth to such different yet charming kids? They are adorable!

'I'm still curious, though. How did President Luke and President Greyson give birth to so many children?'

'Mon, I want seven kids of my own too.'

The conversation somehow returned to the topic several days ago.

A few concerned netizens asked, 'If this continues, are you sure the live broadcast won't be halted?' To prevent such a good live broadcast from ending, the other netizens immediately stopped asking such questions.

However, they quickly realized what Vonio's babies just said.

Another netizen asked, 'Are you guys heading to Shobury? Are we going to witness President Luke and President Vonio's skills?'

.

Her Seven Little Bodyguards - Chapter 1117

'Do you think we can still make it if we head to Shabury right now?'

'Let's head there. Who knows, we might bump into them by chance.'

Since the live broadcast began in the morning, when the netizens heard that Vania and Hanson were taking their babies to Shabury, they immediately bought tickets and went there in hopes of meeting them.

Watching the live broadcast on their phones was not as exciting as seeing the family in real life.

As a result, tickets to Snow Mountain Ski Resort were sold out in less than a minute.

Some netizens were too slow to even get tickets to go to Shabury.

The journey ahead would take two hours.

Joshua asked the viewers, "Should we pause the live broadcast for the time being?"

After all, Hanson, Vania, and their babies were feeling sleepy once they got in the car, and nothing interesting could be broadcasted.

'No, don't do that.'

However, the netizens immediately refused.

Even if Vania and Hanson slept throughout the live broadcast, the netizens wanted to watch them—that was how loyal these fans were.

During the journey, the live broadcast did not see a drop in viewership. On the contrary, the number of viewers increased.

Meanwhile, the netizens at Snow Mountain Ski Resort were decked out in professional skiing gear.

Although there were a variety of styles, they looked mostly the same.

However, Vania and Hanson stood out as they were followed by seven neatly-dressed children.

The babies wore helmets and goggles, making it hard to see their faces, but their auras couldn't be concealed.

The whole family headed straight to the highest-level track at the snow skiing resort, which was the track where Vania made a name for herself.

"Mommy, it's our turn to perform," said James confidently to Vania and Hanson.

Only adults went on such high-level tracks, and children typically did not lurk around there.

Moreover, ever since Vania and Hanson were framed and put in danger, the skiing resort went through a few upgrades and improvements.

Now, there were strict requirements to enter the high-level track.

Although enthusiastic netizens had bought all the tickets to the ski resort, they couldn't see them in person since they weren't qualified to ski on the high-level track

As such, the netizens could only find a place to sit and watch the live broadcast on their phones.

Of course, a few netizens managed to gain access to the same skiing track as Vania, Hanson, and their babies.

However, instead of Vania and Hanson, they were surprised to see the seven babies.

Without even warming up, these five-year-olds were about to ski on the high-level track, attracting everyone's attention.

"Are they already this capable at their age?"

"Aren't their parents worried?"

"Are they even qualified?"

People around the track began to whisper.

After all, this was the first time any child dared to challenge a professional track with such difficulty. Everyone stopped skiing to watch them.

Vania looked at her babies and asked worriedly, "Can you guys really do it?"

After all, her babies had limited experience in skiing, and this was their first time on such a high-level track. She was very worried.

However, when she thought about their abilities, they could probably do it since they had said so.

Vania still respected their thoughts.

The seven babies nodded in unison. "Yes, we can."

Their voices were deafening, and it caused a burst of applause from the surrounding fans.

"Come on, kids! You can do it."

The fans on the scene were cheering for the babies like a cheerleading squad.

The seven babies raised their hands together and waved.

The scene was so spectacular that the netizens watching through the screen could feel the excitement.

'Let's cheer for the babies! They're incredible.'

'It's a shame I can't be there, but I can most definitely feel the atmosphere.'

'Can't we have a multi-angle live broadcast? I'm dying to watch them perform.'

Her Seven Little Bodyguards - Chapter 1118

'Like father, like son. Even at my age, my legs would turn jelly at the high-level track now.'

Wanting to meet the netizens' demands while safeguarding her babies, Vania arranged for a comprehensive camera set-up and a professional rescue team.

After all, they were children, and accidents should still be taken into consideration.

The seven babies were already standing at the starting point, exuding a strong presence and incredible professionalism. Even the way they positioned themselves at the starting point earned praise from the onlookers.

"Mommy, Daddy, give us a countdown."

Vania and Hanson were standing next to each other, and they said in unison, "Three, two, one... Go!"

Vania was startled as the seven babies slid out in perfect formation, with no one competing for first place.

Soon, they started showing off their skills, sometimes side by side, sometimes in formation, cooperating seamlessly like a bunch of acrobats.

When they were close to the finish line, the babies somersaulted in the air, then landed smoothly at the finish line, maintaining all sorts of winning poses.

If there were firecrackers at the scene, they would probably be going off by now, with gongs and drums resounding in the air.

Needless to say, the applause continued to rise and fall, and the live chat was filled with gifts.

'Incredible! It was the most thrilling and inspiring performance I've ever seen.'

'Although it's not a competition, it's even more exciting than watching one.'

'The babies have perfectly inherited President Luke and President Greyson's strengths.'

'I have nothing else to say. I'll just give them a thumbs-up.'

'Can we see President Luke, President Greyson, and the babies skiing together as a family?'

Hearing the netizens' requests, the family immediately fulfilled their wishes and lined up at the starting point.

At this moment, the other tourists made way for them, forming an exclusive path.

They shouted in unison, "Five, four, three, two, one... Go!"

The family slid out together, changing formations, and their moves became even more difficult.

When they arrived at the finish line, they performed two consecutive somersaults, with moves much more challenging than before.

'Whoa, isn't this acrobatics at this point?'

'They're still five-year-old kids

Sigh, my five-year-old is still playing in the sand.'

'I turned around and saw my own kid picking their nose, and I had the urge to give them a little kick.'

The video of them skiing had already gone viral on the internet, having been liked and shared like crazy.

Much to the delight of the netizens, the family enjoyed their time together.

The live stream passed by, leaving the netizens in constant surprise.

Although it lasted for 12 hours, the netizens were still enjoying it and couldn't get enough.

'You guys promised a 24-hour broadcast, so why did you stop broadcasting when you went to sleep?'

'Can't you broadcast the remaining 12 hours tomorrow?'

'We want to see President Luke and President Greyson sleeping together, though.'

'Gosh, what are you guys hinting at? Let's keep it PG18, alright?'

An official statement had been released by then, and everyone was happy.

Vania and Hanson took the entire entertainment market by storm, and the entertainment industry underwent earth-shattering changes.

The two of them changed the broadcasting format of many programs. Previously, pre-recorded programs at fixed times were no longer as popular as before.

Live streams that happened anytime, anywhere attracted netizens the most.

"Did you have a good time today, darling?"

"Yeah." Vania and Hanson hugged each other.

Their seven babies were somewhat disdainful. "You've been hugging each other all day, you know."

The two of them were practically hugging wherever they went. Except for the time spent skiing and playing, they were always together.

The babies began to deeply despise Hanson. It wasn't like they had no clue what their daddy was up to, after all.

Her Seven Little Bodyguards - Chapter 1119

A public display of affection was his goal. Hanson never let go. After all, there was nothing embarrassing about it in front of his children.

He asked his children, "We have another episode tomorrow, so where do you want to go?"

James coldly replied, "Why do we have to join you two in a show of affection?"

Participating in the show was secondary, as taking the little ones on a trip was also on the way.

A public display of affection was the main theme for Hanson.

Seeing that his little plan was mercilessly exposed by his own children, Hanson didn't feel embarrassed.

He replied, "Because we have seven more viewers."

The seven little ones were speechless. Well, our dad is pretty good, but he talks too much.

Jude looked at his dad and asked, "Aren't you afraid that we will steal the limelight from you and Mom?"

"Exactly. Today's comments didn't pay attention to the affection between you and Mom," Morales and Morgan glanced at the phone and honestly replied.

The seven little ones had already had enough of the public display of affection every day. They really didn't want to go through more of it.

Hanson took the phone and looked at it. Indeed, the netizens were praising the little ones.

No one cared whether he and his wife were always hugging each other.

Hanson fell into deep thought. This won't do. My goal hasn't been achieved yet.

Perhaps his little ones were right—if the couple brought them along, all the attention would be on the seven little ones.

And so, he said to them, "You don't need to participate in tomorrow's recording."

The screen will only show my wife and me, and the netizens won't be distracted, right?

"That's great!" the seven little ones replied in unison.

Finally, they didn't have to watch their dad show affection anymore.

Meanwhile, the netizens couldn't get enough of this kind of live show

They started a heated discussion online.

Other directors also started to try it out.

They invited popular celebrities from the entertainment industry to do live shows.

And the celebrities were very willing.

After all, who wouldn't want to ride on popularity? It was also an easy way to gain favor.

But at this time, even if Vania and Hanson weren't directly competing, the live show's popularity still couldn't rise.

Many netizens were still re-watching the live show of the two today.

Now, all the celebrities were praying for Vania and Hanson to quickly return to their old profession and stop taking resources from the entertainment industry.

Just when the netizens were enjoying themselves, the person in charge of the tourism department in Sunderland suddenly came out and posted a tweet.

The content of the tweet accused Vania and Hanson of taking their children to a high-level ski slope, posing a safety hazard.

In the article, the person was self-righteous and used harsh words.

Most importantly, he requested the relevant departments to thoroughly investigate Vania and Hanson.

'Who gave you the courage to do that?'

'I can only say that his courage is commendable, but his intelligence is lacking.'

As soon as this article was posted, it immediately caught the attention of a large number of netizens.

But the current netizens were not as easily brainwashed as before.

They had their own opinions and views.

They didn't agree with this tweet.

'There are clear rules for entering high-level ski slopes, and there are clear regulations for entering the scenic area.'

'Since Vania and President Luke can enter, it proves that they have permits. What's wrong with that? Even if there is a risk, they are the ones who will bear it themselves. What does it have to do with you?'

'Is this the leader who took the initiative to present the banner? Now, he's here for revenge.'

Her Seven Little Bodyguards - Chapter 1120

'This leader's behavior is really terrible.'

'A person with such character is not worthy of being a leader. A thorough investigation must be conducted.'

After the leader of Sunderland posted the tweet, he kept looking at the contents on Twitter.

To his surprise, all the comments were criticizing him.

It was completely different from what he had imagined.

He immediately called Eddie.

Eddie Luke had successfully bribed the man with money.

As soon as the call was connected, he complained, "Mr. Luke, the situation online is completely different from what you told me."

He now realized the danger. If this continued, his position would be in jeopardy.

After all, how could someone in his position have clean hands?

He dared to come out and accuse Vania and Hanson because he believed that Eddie could protect him.

But now it seemed that Eddie did not have that ability. It seemed like he was deceived.

Meanwhile, Eddie impatiently reassured him, "Don't worry. I have already taken care of the next steps for you. You won't be put in a difficult position."

After that, he didn't communicate with the leader anymore and hung up the phone directly.

The leader of the tourism department in Sunderland looked at his phone in confusion

He felt uneasy, knowing that he seemed to have made a very wrong decision.

Now that there were more and more criticisms online, he could only follow Eddie's request and send another tweet.

He claimed that his account had been hacked.

The hacking incident couldn't be verified, but it saved him a bit.

At least, the tweet was sent promptly, which gave it a little credibility.

However, things were not that simple.

The technology department of Luke Corporation directly posted evidence.

They tweeted, 'Evidence as shown in the picture. Take responsibility for your own words and pay for the wrong decision.'

The Luke Corporation then directly filed a lawsuit.

The leader of Sunderland was terrified. He didn't expect that his tweet would get him into a lawsuit.

He knew the strength of the Luke Corporation. Once the ball started rolling, it would be impossible to come out unscathed.

He was trembling with fear.

But the matter didn't end there. After all, being sued was far from the end of it.

After the Luke Corporation's official tweet, the Galaxy Corporation also immediately sent a tweet.

The Galaxy Corporation wrote, 'Reporting the leader of the tourism department of Sunderland.'

Then they attached a picture, which showed the man's records of violating laws and regulations over the years.

Each one was enough to keep him in there for a year.

'A classic example of trying to gain an advantage only to end up worse off.'

'I want to see the leader's expression now.'

'He who dares to publicly accuse others is so unclean himself, eh? Haha!'

'A typical case of digging one's own grave.'

The leader of Sunderland didn't expect that this would be the end result.

The things he did were so secretive, so how could they be discovered? Now that they were exposed publicly, he had no way out.

His phone slipped from his hand, and he sat on the ground in despair, thereafter being taken away by the police officer who came to arrest him.

Everything happened very quickly.

The official judgment was made overnight, bringing great relief to the people.

'President Luke is not to be trifled with.'

'He is a great leader who eliminates harm for the people.'

'It's better to keep a low profile when doing things. Eddie sure didn't expect that the person he just tried to win over was taken down by Hanson before he could even use him.'

Eddie was furious.

Seeing his expression, Brandon immediately advised him, "Young Master Eddie, please don't be angry. He doesn't matter that much, anyway."

.