

Her Seven LBG 841

Chapter 841

Unable to accept being ignored, Raina softly called out, "Sir, I brought you lunch."

In spite of the confusion she felt, her smile shone brightly. She had obviously practiced smiling.

Vania began scoring Raina's performance once more. This time, she gave Raina's acting an even higher score.

Raina was certainly talented. Anyone who could continue smiling despite feeling intense shock was absolutely suited to be an actress.

Although Hanson could hear Raina, since he was not deaf, he still ignored her and continued to say to Vania, "I'm starving, darling. Feed me."

Raina was rendered speechless.

No matter how mentally strong one was, no one could keep their cool upon hearing that.

Was he really Hanson Luke, the incredible company president?

If memory served her right, when she handed him some documents that morning, he had roared and shouted at her until she left.

She must have been hallucinating to think he was speaking in a soft, loving voice.

Vania placed the cutlery in his hands. "There are three pairs of eyes here. Now is not a good time."

Her words were explicitly pointing out the presence of a third wheeler in the room.

He refused to take the cutlery and coldly shot a look at Raina while his smile vanished. "Take your food and scram."

He was now speaking in the same tone as he did that morning during Raina's first meeting with him.

It snapped her back to reality.

Today was her first day at work, and she had specifically put on a sensual outfit for the day.

When she found out there were documents waiting for the president's signature, she grabbed them and delivered them to his office even though the other secretaries all jeered and sneered at her.

At first, he only frowned as he asked her to put the documents on his desk.

Her perfume was too harsh on his nose.

However, she did not want to miss a chance to get close to him. Thus, she pulled her collar down and strutted over to him. "Any other others, sir?"

She had spoken in a slow, raspy voice that invited him to have his way with her.

She was confident in her approach as she had done the same thing several times before, and she had always succeeded.

This was not Hanson's first time encountering such a situation though. In fact, this was one of the most common tricks used on him.

He had instantly flung all the documents at her and roared, "Get out!"

She had nonchalantly shrugged and slowly strode out of the office.

Chapter 842

"Moreover, both of you aren't even on the same level. Do you really think you're that charismatic?"

Raina ignored their sarcastic remarks and threw the lunch plate into the bin before walking over toward the other secretaries. "You'll all be the first ones I fire if I manage to succeed." She had always disliked people who talked behind her back.

Hearing that, the other secretaries didn't feel threatened but instead laughed. "You should pray hard that you won't be fired." Normally, people with such intentions wouldn't last till the next day. Hanson hadn't had the time to take care of it yet since Vania was in the office.

"That's impossible!" Raina laughed arrogantly upon hearing that. She looked at them with contempt as she thought she wouldn't be sacked easily, given her family background.

Khan Enterprise was considered one of the most prominent enterprises within Hammond. On top of that, her father had carried out numerous collaborations with Luke Corporation. If corporate efficiency was taken into consideration, she assumed that Hanson wouldn't have sacked her no matter the mistakes she had made. Her dated thoughts were still stuck at the time in which collaborations were paramount to businesses. She hadn't considered the fact that Hanson didn't really care about the collaboration with her father's company at all.

Furthermore, those secretaries had already done a background check on Raina and found out that she was the daughter of the Khan Family who ran Khan Enterprise. To them, she wasn't a big shot, and they found the sight of her behaving so haughtily hilarious.

"We shall look forward to it, then," one of the secretaries ridiculed. "Why don't all of us make a bet about how long we think she will stay?"

At that, one of them chimed in, "I think it'll be by the end of today."

"By the end of the day? Don't you think that you're being too generous? Do you think that she could stay that long? I bet her time will be up soon."

"When exactly is that? You should give a specific time." All of the secretaries gathered together as they chatted about their speculation on the exact time when Raina would be dismissed, making fun of her.

Seeing that really made Raina's blood boil. She walked up to them and tore the paper they had used for jotting down their speculations into pieces. "What are you doing?" Everyone looked at her with disbelief for having the guts to lash out at them.

"All of you better pray for yourselves, too. Don't forget that I'm the daughter of the Khan Family. It would be effortless for me to deal with employees like you even if I was sacked." She scorned and crossed her arms in front of her chest as she looked at them with contempt. Do you think you're that great? All of you are just working as secretaries. You should spend your free time thinking about finding a backing so that you can keep your job if anything happens.

However, the secretaries didn't seem to feel threatened by her words and dismissed her since they believed that Khan Enterprise wasn't powerful enough to meddle in Luke Corporation's business.

By that time, Vania had seemingly turned into an emotionless feeding machine that was programmed to feed Hanson one bite after another. She couldn't help but complain in her heart when she saw how much he enjoyed it and that he was always looking for a reason to make her take care of him. After a while, even after Hanson had finished his lunch, he was still reluctant to release her from his hold.

Vania, who had had enough of his clinginess, immediately got up from his lap. That instant, she felt cool as she was finally relieved from the excess heat coming from him. "I shall leave first since I still have some work to take care of." If she continued to stay there, she believed he might even get her to do his work for him. By that time, she would have turned into an emotionless working machine instead.

"Alright." With great reluctance, he let her leave. He knew she might find him too clingy and get angry at him if he refused to let her go. Before long, he was already fantasizing about the time he would get to spend with her once they got home tonight. By then, they wouldn't be disturbed by his tactless employees, and it would be paradise on earth. With that thought in mind, he sent Vania downstairs, then returned to his office once again.

The moment he entered his office, he noticed Larry carrying an empty lunch tray while standing in front of his desk. "President."

Hanson's attention was on the lunch tray as he recognized that it was the one Raina had brought over earlier. "What is it?" he asked coldly and was curious to know what Larry wanted to tell him.

Larry, who could guess Hanson's thoughts, nodded and replied, "President, we noticed that one of our employees had tossed a lunch tray filled with food into the bin, which was a very wasteful thing to do. It doesn't conform with the state's initiative of reducing food wastage." Hearing that, Hanson nodded as a signal for him to continue.

Noticing that, Larry added, "Because of that, we will have to punish her accordingly so that it acts as a reminder for the other employees to play their parts in reducing food waste." Truth be told, Larry could tell that ever since Raina tried to seduce Hanson, Hanson had already planned to fire her, and this would be a good reason for him to do so.

Hanson was really pleased with Larry's report. "I'll let you be in charge of this matter, then."

"Don't worry, President. I won't let you down." Larry nodded.

With that, he brought the lunch tray and headed to the secretary's office before announcing, "Raina Khan, please bring your lunch tray over to the HR department."

All the other secretaries were puzzled when they saw Larry at their office with a lunch tray in his hand. However, everyone seemed to know what was about to happen when they heard Raina's name being called out.

"Why is Mr. Clark asking her to bring the tray over to the HR department?" The secretaries started whispering among themselves.

Chapter 844

"This isn't mine." Raina denied it with a frown.

"Don't try to waste my time on these trivial matters," Larry said while giving her a cold glance as he didn't want to waste his time on her. He would only show his goofy side when he was with Hanson. When he was in front of the staff, he would put forth a serious look that was intimidating enough for others to tense up in fear.

"Are you firing me?" Raina asked as she seemed to have made sense of the situation.

"It was never up to me to decide whether anyone should leave or stay in the company." Larry scoffed.

"So, are you telling me that President Luke is the one who fired me?" she asked as she narrowed her gaze. How can that be? Khan Enterprise and Luke Corporation are still business partners. There's no way

Hanson would fire me just like that. However, Larry merely looked at her with contempt before turning to leave.

"Where do you think you're going? I'm not done talking to you just yet!" Raina stopped him by grabbing onto his arm. She was acting willfully toward him just because of her status as the daughter of the Khan Family. He's only Hanson's sidekick. What right does he have to act so arrogantly toward me?

The next moment, Larry's gaze darkened, and his aura was no less intimidating than that of Hanson's. "I have said what I had to say. So, regardless if you have more to say, that would be none of my business, miss." The fact that he had just addressed her as 'miss' showed that he was unfazed by her status.

"You—" She was stunned by his words and not able to come up with a proper response for a moment. However, she quickly recovered as she wasn't afraid of him. After all, he was just Hanson's sidekick. "How dare you speak to me like that!" she finally exclaimed with a slightly shaky voice as he glared at her.

Larry ignored her and walked away.

"How dare you!" Raina stomped her feet while looking at his back.

Feeling frustrated, she walked over to Hanson's office and knocked on his door. "President, I need to speak to you." At that time, she had forgotten to speak in the coquettish tone she usually did.

Being the president of the company, Hanson wasn't someone that she could meet whenever she pleased. Suddenly, a few bodyguards went up to her and blocked the entrance to his office. Seeing that, the previously arrogant Raina didn't dare to make a scene as she might become a laughing stock and get criticized by the other secretaries if she did so.

Chapter 845

Meanwhile, the atmosphere in Eddie's darkroom was tense. He slammed the table and jeered, "Tell me, who exactly is this woman?"

Startled by how angry Eddie got, Brandon replied to him honestly, "She is Raina Khan, the daughter of the owner of Khan Enterprise, Peter Khan."

Hearing that, Eddie remained quiet as he was waiting for Brandon to tell him more. Brandon continued with his explanation, all the while observing Eddie's expression. From the information that he got, Raina was merely an overseas graduate who was interning at Luke Corporation upon returning to the country. There was nothing special about her.

And it was only because of that which enraged Eddie even further. "Huh, this woman managed to get the chef whom we have worked so hard to arrange into Luke Corporation fired on her first day of work. She sure is something." He scoffed at the thought of it. He thought that Hanson had gotten lucky again as he had managed to dodge the other schemes that Eddie had planned as well. This time around, the fact he had indirectly avoided Eddie's scheme was so bizarre that it seemed like even God was on his side.

Noticing how enraged Eddie was, Brandon didn't dare to speak of anything else but instead reported a piece of news that he assumed was good news, "Young Master Eddie, we were also informed that Raina had been sacked by Hanson."

"Wow, this sure is breaking news," Eddie said so sarcastically that it was hard to tell whether he thought of it as good or bad news.

"This way, the business dealings between Khan Enterprise and Luke Corporation would come to a halt. We might stand a chance because of this."

"We have never dealt with Khan Enterprise before, nor do we have a clear picture of the current situation yet, so we shouldn't act too rashly."

Eddie rejected Brandon's suggestion. "Just get someone to watch over them."

Hearing that, Brandon nodded and asked carefully, "Should we start arranging for another chef to enter Luke Corporation?" They never expected Hanson would inadvertently sack the spy that they had arranged.

"Since the chef had been sacked, they would need to recruit a new chef. Just be more careful this time around." Eddie would never let go of any chances to place a spy within Luke Corporation. He was dead set on making his evil plot against Hanson a success, which was impossible to accomplish without a spy.

Meanwhile, Hanson had already gotten the investigation results on the chef from Larry. The smile on his face got wider as he read through the documents, but his expression was so eerie that it was terrifying.

Chapter 846

Another thought suddenly struck Larry as he said anxiously to Hanson, "Should we send someone to keep an eye on Khan Enterprise as well?"

He wasn't worried that Peter Khan might do something to oppose Luke Corporation. Instead, he was concerned that Eddie might gang up with them.

"What storms can a gathered bunch of shrimps brew up? Give them a chance and let them do as they like."

Hanson was like a lord in control of the whole situation, paying no heed to the gathering of a few soldiers trying to oppose him.

And, of course, Larry trusted in his own president's methods. "I'll keep an eye on them and immediately report to you as soon as they do something."

Hanson nodded. "Go."

He was actually looking forward to seeing what would happen next.

After all, he wanted to know what sorts of new tricks Eddie might pull.

Work could get boring sometimes anyway, so he didn't mind playing along with Eddie's game a little longer.

Meanwhile, Raina Khan had already gone back to the Khan Residence in disappointment, carrying a pile of things in her arms.

"Dad, you have to help me," she wailed suddenly, as if she had just experienced the indignation of a lifetime.

Seeing his precious daughter in such a miserable state, Peter immediately said with a breaking heart, "Who bullied my dear Raina? I'll definitely stand up for you."

She sat down next to him and leaned against him, reliant. "I got fired."

"Fired?" He was stunned to hear that word.

He had spent a lot of effort getting Raina a job as a secretary at Luke Corporation. How could she possibly be fired in just one morning?

He then asked in an anxious and worried tone, "What happened?"

Peter was worried that his daughter had offended Hanson somehow, and it might work against him in the future.

Naturally, Raina didn't dare to tell him the complete truth. So, she could only omit most of the details as she said angrily, "It's all because of Hanson's assistant! He didn't like me, so he gave me trouble and found an excuse to fire me."

She dared not talk bad about Hanson straight on, but she could do that with Larry.

However, when Peter heard that, he asked in confusion, "Are you talking about Larry?"

He had partnered with Luke Corporation before, so of course, he knew what Larry was like.

Now, as he looked at his daughter, he began to doubt her words a little. He insisted sternly, "Tell me the whole truth."

This incident might affect the partnership of their companies in the future.

Luke Corporation would be unaffected if their partnership were to be canceled, but things would be different for Khan Enterprise.

"Don't worry."

Peter comforted her for a bit, then went to the study, saying that he had something to take care of.

Meanwhile, words of Raina's incident had already reached Yvonne's ears.

"How foolish." Yvonne put down her phone and sneered.

Is she planning on winning over Hanson with a stupid plan like that? Don't make me laugh!

However, after giving it some thought, she found that the incident might actually benefit her in a certain way.

Perhaps I should meet Raina Khan and have a talk with her.

In under five minutes, Yvonne managed to get Raina's number.

"Who is it?" When Raina picked up the call, there was an obvious annoyance in her tone.

She was currently still peeved about getting fired.

So, when she received a call from an unknown number, and the person didn't even say anything, she immediately grew even madder.

"What's with the bad temper, Miss Khan?" Yvonne's proud voice sounded leisurely.

It was a fact that the status of the Khan Family was below the Kepler Family, so it was only natural for Yvonne to be arrogant in front of Raina.

"Who on earth are you?" Raina was already greatly aggravated by the incidents happening to her before, and now that someone was commenting on her, she was beyond pissed.

"Let's meet up, Miss Khan. Then, you'll know who I am when we do."

Yvonne's tone was calm, laced with a sense of authority that didn't allow others to say no as an answer.

Raina was absolutely furious inside. She had never suffered so much injustice before, so her tone was even more unpleasant as she said, "Do you know who I am?"

In her social circle, Raina was the one with the best family background, so no one dared to shout at her or order her around.

Now that someone suddenly gave her orders, she felt indignant.

Yvonne chuckled lightly over the phone. "Of course, I know who you are. You're the daughter of the Khan Family, Raina Khan."

Her tone was so nonchalant that anyone could hear her disdain regarding Raina's identity.

"You know me?" Raina asked, puzzled. She had a surprised look on her face.

Since the person knew who she was, why would they call her out of the blue and talk to her so arrogantly?

She decided to teach this woman a lesson so that the latter would remember to watch her words the next time she talked to her.

Yvonne wasn't the least bit afraid. "I'm the one calling you, so of course, I know who you are."

How silly is she? How can she ask such a funny question?

Raina gritted her teeth upon hearing Yvonne's nonchalant tone.

How dare she! How bold of her! Why is everyone bullying me like I don't matter?

She immediately said in an angered tone, "Send me the address. I'll go meet you right now."

Chapter 848

Raina dressed up with the latest seasonal outfit from Chanel, then put on exquisite makeup before heading out for the meetup.

At the cafe.

Yvonne was drinking coffee leisurely. After all, the Keplers had provided her with the best education, so as she sat there right now, her aura was simply outstanding that anyone would take notice of her right away.

Raina, who had rushed over in a rage, gave Yvonne a once-over upon reaching the place. "Were you the one who called me?"

Yvonne didn't answer her question but instead pointed at the seat in front of her and said, "Have a seat."

From her tone, she sounded like she was giving commands.

"Hah."

When Yvonne said that, Raina was being even more apparent with the judging glare she was throwing at Yvonne.

This woman's outfit was definitely limited-edition and tailor-made. It was multiple times more expensive than the clothes she was currently wearing.

Also, from her aura, it was safe to say that she was no ordinary person.

Though, Raina felt that the woman in front of her looked familiar. It was just that she couldn't quite put her finger on who exactly the woman was.

"If you don't want to sit, we can talk while you stand." Yvonne ignored her and continued drinking her coffee.

Raina, who was already pissed, was even more upset when she heard Yvonne's arrogant tone.

She snorted at Yvonne again before sitting down on the other seat.

Hints of disdain were evident in her eyes. "I don't care who you are. Why did you call me here?"

She still sounded very furious, and she had her 'stubborn young lady' attitude on full display.

However, in Yvonne's eyes, her stubbornness and unruliness were nothing to take note of.

After all, Yvonne grew up spoiled and pampered as well. Moreover, the Keplers were of an even higher caliber, so she was even more arrogant and proud in the social circle.

Yvonne smiled coldly as she looked at Raina. "Do you talk to everyone in that tone, Miss Khan? Won't you even consider your position and status? Aren't you afraid that you might be digging your own grave?"

She wanted to use her pride to rein in Raina a little.

Raina was so mad that she rolled her eyes. She wasn't afraid of any trouble at all.

After all, the troubles she had gotten herself into before were all resolved by her father.

It might be true that she was in a lower social circle, but her family had the highest status among them.

However, unbeknownst to Raina, the circle she faced right now was no longer the one she knew so well.

She was oblivious to Yvonne's background and her objective of asking her out here, so Raina continued to act all high and mighty in front of her.

Seeing Raina's expression, Yvonne knew what she was thinking right away. She took a sip of the coffee leisurely as she said, "Khan Enterprise is only considered a company of above average among all the companies in Hammond. You don't really have the right to be so arrogant, Miss Khan. I'm sure you do know that there is always someone better than you, yes?"

Chapter 849

Yvonne didn't want to tell Raina her full name.

At this moment, Raina was already in deep thought. None of the Keplers I know of holds that much authority. Wait, she can't possibly be one of the members of the reputable Kepler Family in Hammond now, can she?

She knew the power that the Kepler Family possessed and had seen the news about Yvonne when she was abroad. In the news, it was said that everyone was criticizing Yvonne for ruining the relationship between Hanson and Vania. Ever since then, she was nowhere to be seen, as if she were too embarrassed to meet anyone at this moment.

As she recalled the news, she snickered at Yvonne in contempt inwardly, as she never thought Yvonne would use such a stupid method to seduce Hanson. If it were me, I wouldn't have let myself be in such a situation, she thought.

At this moment, Raina was contemptuous of Yvonne's foolish action. However, she had never suspected that the so-called Yvonne was the one sitting right in front of her. After a while, she said, "Miss Kepler, may I know why you called me out of the blue and invited me over here?" She felt that the woman before her must have wanted something from her since she invited her for coffee without any particular reason.

Hearing her words, Yvonne went straight to the point, not even caring whether Raina had found out who she was. "Do you like Hanson?"

When Raina heard her words, she was startled as she didn't expect that Yvonne was here for him. However, her question was a good one. Do I love Hanson? No, I'm just seeking pleasure from the feeling of being able to subdue him. That's why I don't have any hatred toward Vania. Though, I can't tell this to some woman I have just met. Thinking about it, she retorted, "What does this have to do with you?"

Can it be that she likes Hanson too? Is that why she is here to provoke me? If that's the case, she is looking for the wrong person.

"Of course, there is," Yvonne said nonchalantly.

Noting the unpleasant tone in her words, Raina was back to her arrogant self as she looked at Yvonne. "Well? Why don't you tell me about it?" she said coldly.

However, Yvonne didn't reply to her and said, "Just give me a yes or no."

Seeing that she was this arrogant, Raina was more than sure of her previous guess. It seems like she is also in love with Hanson and is here to cause me trouble, she thought. Then, she asked, "Could it be that you like him too? Are you here to claim your ownership toward him?"

Chapter 850

When Yvonne heard Raina's question, she was momentarily stunned. At that moment, she wondered if she was wrong for thinking that Raina was a fool. Could she possibly be a scheming person too? Otherwise, she wouldn't have asked me back. If she were someone as dumb as Kiki, she would have agreed to my offer right from the get-go, Yvonne thought.

Although many thoughts flashed across her mind, she put on a neutral face and said, "I already know that you were being fired from Luke Corporation because you tried to seduce Hanson. Am I right?"

This incident was being spread widely in Hammond. Though, it was uncertain whether Hanson had let the news spread on purpose or it was being leaked out by some gossip employees. And now, almost everyone knew about this.

When Raina thought about this matter, she was furious and thought, Now I have finally believed in the saying that good news never goes beyond the gate, while bad news spreads far and wide. I was only giving lunch to him. How did everyone know about this?

"Is Miss Kepler also from Luke Corporation?" she asked.

When Yvonne heard her sudden question, she was slightly startled and answered, "No."

Hearing her words, Raina asked, "Since you are not an employee there, how did you know what had happened in the company?" Her tone was unfriendly. It was like she was trying to pick a fight with Yvonne.

When Yvonne was getting questioned again, she looked at Raina, eyeing her up and down. It seems like I have made a wrong assumption. Raina is not easy to mess with, she thought and replied, "You can hear everyone talking about it everywhere. Even if I refused to listen to this matter, I would still have a vague impression about this."

However, Raina wasn't as dumb as looked. She insisted on getting a proper explanation. "How could you be so sure of the authenticity of this matter merely based on what you heard from others? No matter what your identity is, I have the right to sue you for spouting such irresponsible words, and you can't stop me from it."

When Raina had finished her words, Yvonne was dumbstruck. Initially, she thought that Raina was just some foolish woman. After all, it wasn't a brilliant idea to seduce Hanson in public. Plus, Raina's attitude was arrogant in the previous call, so Yvonne had assumed that she was indeed not the brightest bulb. She had even labeled Raina as a foolish person in her mind. However, Yvonne never expected her to be quick-witted.

At that moment, Yvonne, who was always an atheist, suspected that Raina was being possessed by someone, and by the looks of it, she seemed a lot like Vania. Did Vania learn to move her soul to another vessel? Thinking about it, Yvonne huffed and thought Vania was going against her in every way possible.
