Chapter 921

However, Hanson did not want to waste such a good opportunity to show off. So, he took the cutleries from Vania's hands and gently offered, "Darling, you don't have to move. Let me feed you."

To that, she quickly refused him. "I'm not a child. I can eat on my own."

Moreover, two guests were sitting before them, so no matter what, they could not publicly display their affection as if they were alone.

Yet, Hanson did not even give her a chance to refuse. "I'm just returning the favor. You've always fed me, haven't you, darling?"

At this point, it was as if he did not mind disclosing the details of their private lives to Thomas anymore.

Following that, he scooped a mouthful of dessert and placed it near Vania's mouth. "Darling, this is your favorite."

His intent gaze seemed like it was saying, 'It's up to you whether you eat it or not.'

Naturally, she would not embarrass her husband before other people. Can't blame anyone that I've got such a haughty man for a husband. What else can I do besides pampering him?

Silently devouring the dessert, she deliberately made her voice gentle as she thanked him. "Darling, you can have it. If you're so focused on me, you won't be able to eat well. I'll be sad if that happens."

She expressed her affection intentionally because she wanted to satisfy his desire. The reason was simple; she knew from his behavior that if she did not comply with him, he would not stop.

Just as she had expected, Hanson nodded in satisfaction after hearing her words. "Sure, I'll listen to whatever you say, darling."

After saying that, he acted as if he had just noticed Thomas and Liam when he urged, "Hey, you two. Don't just sit and watch. Eat."

Thomas and Liam looked at each other before quietly taking a bite of their food. Would they have watched him if it had not been for Hanson's act? Fortunately, the atmosphere in the room improved after the meal.

Liam hesitated momentarily before speaking up, "Vanie, have you seen the news on the web?" He made it sound casual.

Nodding, she replied, "Of course. It's trending all over the Internet. How could I have missed it?"

"If that's the case, what are your thoughts on it?" Liam probed carefully, wanting to know how she felt about this issue.

Meanwhile, Thomas was all ears too.

An unperturbed Vania responded, "It's just some fake rumors. Why bother about it?"

"You're right." Liam nodded in agreement but questioned further, "But both of you are from the same company after all, and such negative news will affect your company. So, why don't you investigate who's behind it?"

Just as she had expected, Hanson nodded in satisfaction after hearing her words. "Sure, I'll listen to whatever you say, darling."

At that moment, Vania suddenly looked at Thomas and raised a vague question. "Even if I did, it won't necessarily be the true mastermind. Don't you agree?"

Thomas felt nervous from her gaze, but he did not know whether his guilt stemmed from his feelings toward her, or that there was a double-entendre in her words, which prompted him to worry for Yvonne.

Hence, he could only nod in agreement when faced with her question. "You're right. So, are you still looking for the real mastermind?"

He believed that since she could ask him that question so directly, it meant that she already had a plan.

Chapter 922

It seemed like he had already guessed who it was.

"If that's the case, why haven't you done anything?" Liam asked. Although Vania's actions would not be any much different from what he had guessed, he still wanted to hear it verbally.

Her eyes remained fixed on Thomas as she stated, "I want to give her a chance to start over, but it seems like she doesn't want it." Without answering Liam's question directly, she left it at that and stopped talking.

The light in Thomas' eyes faded, knowing that Vania was directing her statement at him. Oh, Yvonne. Look at what you have done. It seems like things are at the point of no return. I must move quickly to settle this matter.

Noting that their conversation had almost reached its end, Hanson coughed lightly to attract Vania's attention. He did not like that she was conversing too much with Thomas. It's already very nice of us to remind him, so what is he still looking at? He must be fascinated with my wife's beauty.

Hence, Hanson grabbed Vania's wrist and urged, "Darling, are you done eating? We still gotta accompany the kids."

That made her laugh internally. He was leisurely feeding me earlier, and now, he's so anxious to leave. His mood changes like lightning.

While looking at him, she sighed resignedly and agreed. "Alright. Let's go."

That excuse is so lame. He usually wishes that the kids would leave him alone, but he wants to head back and accompany them now? How fake of him...

If the kids were here, they would have expressed, We're just tools to help you grownups get what you want.

Meanwhile, Hanson arrogantly thought, You are my children, so you guys should serve your purposes once in a while.

"Are..." You done eating? Would you like some more?

Thomas only managed to utter one word before swallowing the rest of his sentence.

Having seen through Hanson's thoughts, Liam could do nothing but shake his head in silence.

Subsequently, Hanson carried Vania in both arms and announced, "Darling, let's go home."

She thought, I'm going to play dead. Who is he? I don't know him.

Their interaction was so loud that it attracted a lot of attention around, but most importantly, it was an eyesore for Thomas.

He could feel that Vania loved Hanson a lot because no matter the situation, the person she subconsciously protected was always him.

While looking at him, she sighed resignedly and agreed. "Alright. Let's go."
As for Thomas, he was one of the people she would ignore.

Had it not been for the drama on the Internet, she might not even have spared him a glance. I don't know if I should thank Yvonne for causing this mess in return for a glance from Vania. Otherwise, how could I have the chance to talk to her?

Meanwhile, some excited bystanders in the cafe posted what happened on the Internet, and it quickly drew the attention of netizens. In addition to the previous news, they were eagerly awaiting Hanson and Vania's response.

Chapter 923

He had always been merciless, and though his post was written in such a formal tone, the people he punished in private never ended well. As for the protagonist of this whole drama, Vania was not in a hurry to make a response as she was waiting for the right time.

In their bedroom, Hanson was comfortably embracing Vania with one arm while holding his phone in his other hand. Then, she shifted her body while asking, "Didn't you say you wanted to accompany the kids?"

It has been two hours since we returned home. He hasn't even spared the kids a glance. Liar!

Chuckling, he argued, "Accompanying the children isn't as important as accompanying my wife. Moreover, those boys will have their wives to accompany them in the future, so there's nothing for us to worry about."

At that, Vania knocked him on the head. "Stop spouting nonsense."

What is he thinking? The kids are only five years old, yet he's already thinking about wiping them up. He deserves the title of 'Most Unreliable Parent of The Year'.

However, Hanson refused to admit his unreliability. "I'm not. Don't you want our sons to get their wives in the future?"

Not intending to argue with him on this matter, she retorted, "They say a daughter is her father's lover in his past life, so why aren't you accompanying her, then?"

"The lover in my past life was also you." He gave her a sideways glance before explaining, "What's more, just take a look at how many brothers she has surrounding her! Does she look like she needs me to pamper her?"

I don't have the sense of accomplishment that comes with being a father, okay? Those six boys would surround Lily every day and pile all the best things they could find before her. There is no room for me to do anything! Though I have a great fortune, my wife doesn't spend any of it, nor do my children need it. Is there another father in this world who is more of a failure than me?

If ordinary people had heard his thoughts, they would have asked him to shut up.

Thinking of that, Hanson deliberately acted pitifully while looking at Vania. "Darling, do you think I've failed as a father?" He desperately needed some comfort from her.

Immediately cupping her husband's face, she replied with a face full of smiles, "You're an excellent husband."

Men can also be fragile, so they need to be praised from time to time.

As she had expected, he brightened up as soon as he heard her words. The bothersome thoughts he had earlier were ditched to the back of his mind.

Tossing his phone away, he then turned around and pulled her into his embrace before luring her with his sexy voice. "If that's the case, which part of your husband do you think is the most excellent?"

"The lover in my past life was also you." He gave her a sideways glance before explaining, "What's more, just take a look at how many brothers she has surrounding her! Does she look like she needs me to pamper her?"

With a proud smile, he ran his fingers through her hair while not forgetting to seduce her. "Do you think your husband is exceptionally capable?"

That was right. He was implying his abilities in that aspect.

Vania's original intent was to continue praising him, but when she heard his ambiguous attempt, the words on the tip of her tongue were instantly swallowed back. Then, she looked at him with a hint of disdain. While we're here, he should be crowned 'Narcissist of The Year' as well.

Hanson caressed her small face while chuckling. He could tell what she was thinking just by the look in her eyes. Therefore, he deliberately deepened his voice to ask, "Does your silence indicate that I'm not?"

Men hate it the most when others doubt their ability.

"No, I think you're incredible." Vania immediately began flattering him.

Chapter 924

However, Hanson persistently maintained his indifferent attitude. "I don't think you mean your words, so I think I need to prove myself."

Without waiting for her response, he dominantly pulled Vania under him.

Why is it always me who gets implicated in the end? she thought.

On the other hand, the seven children were focused on the computer. After finding a few key points, they soon tracked down all the users who had criticized Vania and mercilessly reported them before allowing the authorities to deal with them.

Lily watched as her brothers successfully finished the task with ease and clapped her hands. "Whoa. You guys are so awesome." After that, she looked expectantly at her six siblings and said, "Dear brothers, can you guys help me sign up for the Medical Grand Prix?"

The Medical Grand Prix was the most authoritative competition within the medical field. It would only be held once a year, and all of its contenders were medical professionals in the field. They either contributed exceptional research topics to their peers or cured a once-incurable illness.

As for those who won the competition, they could even address themselves as an exceptional miracle-making doctor.

Lily saw that all of her brothers had signed up for the competition, but she had not even participated in it once and wanted to catch up with them. Moreover, participating in the Medical Grand Prix was something she had long anticipated. Yet, her six older brothers had no intention of letting her do so.

In the meantime, the six boys looked at each other and responded unanimously, "No."

Our sister is so pretty and excellent, so she will become a sensation after joining the competition. What if a jerk with bad intentions takes a fancy to her? What can we do then? We will absolutely never allow a b*stard like Daddy to approach Lily. Moreover, if someone found out that Lily is The Great Chemist's successor, they might bear ill intentions and secretly harm her. That would be even more dangerous.

The boys did not want their younger sister to be involved in any accidents or danger. Therefore, the six boys strictly refused her request in the name of protecting her. Plus, this was the only time they had ever rejected her.

"But why?" Lily asked unhappily. She had begged them for a very long time, but her brothers still would not agree to her request.

Then, the six boys unanimously replied, "You're still young."

While pouting her lips, she refuted in an aggrieved tone, "But we're all the same age."

In the meantime, the six boys looked at each other and responded unanimously, "No."

The six boys forcefully twisted the facts and argued, "You're our younger sister, so you're the youngest."

Nevertheless, as soon as they saw the aggrieved expression on Lily, they immediately felt flustered.

As a result, James instantly coaxed her, "Lily, let's not think about the competition. How about I make a few more of the robots you like?"

Then, Jack also piped in, "And the game you liked playing. How about I create one and we'll play together instead?"

"I'll make you some desserts now." Jacob dashed into the kitchen after saying that.

Morales and Morgan surrounded their sister and lightly tugged on her soft hand while suggesting, "Lily, what would you like us to draw for you? We'll immediately head over and draw it."

Meanwhile, Jude was also standing nervously beside her. His emotionless face finally shifted as he asked, "Lily, do you want to listen to a story? Or do you want me to sing you a song?"

Chapter 925

At this rate, all the boys were surrounding their sister, each showing off their talents and wanting nothing more than to give her the absolute best. They wanted to make her happy and forget about the competition, in which she wanted so badly to participate.

Still, Lily remained disappointed while pleading, "But a small part of me still wants to participate in the competition. That way, I can be as excellent as you guys."

The other six could fully understand their sister's thoughts, so they huddled together to come up with a plan.

It was then James piped up, "Why don't we help Lily open up her own clinic? Then, she can be a world-renowned Miracle Doctor."

Not only could they realize her wishes, but they could also save more people, which was a good deed. Most importantly, she would not have to show her face in public. With that, all the kids granted their agreement to the idea.

"Lily, what do you think?" asked Jack. He also thought James' idea was excellent since the six of them could open a clinic for her.

Seeing that this was the next best thing, Lily found it plausible, for she could at least make her dreams a reality. Therefore, she nodded in agreement. "Sure."

All my brothers won't let me show my face in public anyway.

"That's great! Come, let's get to planning." Soon, all the kids sat around and began to devise a plan.

As for Vania and Hanson, they had zero clue about any of this. Similarly, the kids wanted to keep this a secret from their Daddy and Mommy.

Meanwhile, the news about Vania and Hanson on the Internet also vanished after his tweets.

When Yvonne saw that the pot she had stirred returned to its tranquility, she felt a ball of rage burning inside her. Moreover, the variety show that Vania and Hanson starred in began its premiere, making the two a trending topic again on the Internet.

Almost all of the feedback they received was positive. This scene made Yvonne so furious that she wished she could smash the phone in her hand this instant.

At that moment, Thomas returned home. Seeing her furious visage, he inquired, "Yvonne, what's the matter?" Then, he noticed her tightly grabbing her phone, so he asked again, "Did someone call you and said something?"

She reprimanded, "No." After that, she turned around and went back to her room.

However, he stood in her way. "Yvonne, stop being angry for a moment. I have something to tell you."

All my brothers won't let me show my face in public anyway.

Feeling confused, she stopped in her tracks and looked at her brother. "What do you want to say to me?"

While looking at the gloom on Thomas' face, she could feel that he was about to say unpleasant, which was nothing like what she wanted to hear. Subsequently, she stood before him and questioned, "Thomas, you're not going to talk about Vania, are you?"

He did not dodge but nodded instead. "I do want to talk to you about something related to her."

"Ha!" Yvonne sneered before throwing a snarky remark at him. "Oh, Thomas. You seem to have deep feelings for her. Up until now, you're still all about putting in a good word for her."

"Yvonne, I'm trying to help you." Thomas' voice grew colder because he felt utterly disappointed in the way she behaved.

"How so? I'm all ears." For some unknown reason, she had zero trust in him.

Chapter 926

However, Yvonne stood in her spot, and her gaze became even more confused.

Thomas had no choice but to explain, "I will forever and always be your family, and no matter what happens, my only wish is for you to not get hurt."

He was telling her that despite his feelings for Vania, he would never stand on her opposing side for that reason; they would always be family regardless.

While looking at her brother in disbelief, Yvonne was silent for some time before speaking up, "What do you want to tell me? Stop beating around the bush."

Knowing that she still had some resentment inside her, he could not do anything but sigh at this moment. Then, he looked into her eyes and asked, "The post about Vania on the Internet... It was you who did it, right?"

Dumfounded for a moment, Yvonne sarcastically replied, "Thomas, are you here to help Vania get a confession out of me?"

Meanwhile, Thomas disregarded her sarcasm and continued, "Do you sincerely think that Vania is so clueless that she won't know you did this?"

Frowning suddenly, she deflected. "What are you saying? I don't understand a word."

Why should it be my fault if Vania receives backlash from the Internet?

"Didn't you send someone to investigate this matter?"

"Of course, I did, but Kiki is just a nobody in the entertainment industry. How could she have the guts to do such a thing?"

"What's there to be afraid of? Aren't there plenty of bold celebrities who aren't afraid of anything? Why can't she be bolder than she looks?" Yvonne completely disagreed with Thomas' statement.

After sneering, he argued, "This lovers-to-enemies trope will never fool Vania." He emphasized, hoping that she could understand.

Yet, she completely missed his point and sneered instead. "Thomas, how do you know she won't fall for that? Did she tell you something?" Then, she scanned him from top to bottom. "Did you meet her this afternoon? Aren't you afraid that Hanson will find out about it?"

Thomas' eyes turned icy for a moment. "You don't have to worry about me. We're now talking about you."

"If that's the case, then I don't need you to worry about me either." Yvonne was furious and could not bother with anyone's lecture.

Chapter 927

"You should stop what you've started on the Internet. I will find a way to persuade Vania not to pursue it."

"Ha." Yvonne sneered, not listening to a word Thomas was saying.

Then, he warned her again, "If you continue to be so stubborn, you'll eventually pull the entire Kepler Family down with you. Do you want to see that happen?"

Yet, she was still immersed in her world as she growled back, "Thomas, you can't even afford to keep yourself safe, so how are you going to protect me? What's more, why should I be afraid of Vania? Can't the Kepler Family deal with one woman?"

"Yvonne, you're underestimating her." Thomas cautioned his sister, "You'd better not do anything rashly because Vania is not someone you should offend."

Otherwise, how could our secret bases have suffered such massive losses without us knowing? There's also the accuracy of her intelligence. We couldn't find out how she got to know about our secret bases. All of this suggests that Vania's identity is more complicated than simply being the president of Galaxy Corporation. More importantly, she has Hanson Luke's support. That is an even more difficult person to deal with.

"I'm not afraid." Yvonne did not want to listen to anything Thomas said as she had her thoughts and ideas.

Faced with her current self-righteousness, he felt an ache in his head while warning her, "Oh, dear sister. Please just stop what you're doing. The Kepler Family can't take losing anything else to pay for your actions!"

If the Kepler Family loses any more secret bases, it will ruin our constitution for sure. Moreover, would Vania still accept using our secret bases as compensation this time? The chances of that happening are slim. Moreover, she had deliberately told me this at the restaurant today. If I can't persuade Yvonne to stop, Vania will punish her.

"Thomas, why do you keep taking Vania's side? Shouldn't we be thinking about how to deal with her?"

Feeling defeated, he sighed and said, "I think I'll let Dad and Mom talk to you. I can't seem to put any sense in you." He had given up trying to persuade her at this point.

Her mind was now filled with ideas to take revenge on Vania, and she could not even listen to a word he was saying. Moreover, she had gone so far down that road that she was starting to not be able to analyze the problem.

"Are you trying to use Mom and Dad against me?" Now, Yvonne was even pissed at Thomas. "If that's the case, you can let Mom and Dad come over. I'm sure they won't be as timid as you."

Oh. My. God. Thomas felt that he could not communicate with Yvonne anymore. Therefore, he turned around and went to Benjamin's study.

It had been a long time since Benjamin had appeared in public. Ever since the loss of those two secret bases, he felt so defeated that his mood remained downcast. Presently, he was in the middle of reading a document sent over from the company.

Chapter 928

Therefore, Benjamin had full trust in his son's capabilities. When he saw that Thomas was explaining this situation so seriously, he waved his hand to indicate that this matter was over. However, he still asked worriedly, "But how about Yvonne?"

The person he was worried about now was Yvonne, and he knew how much she despised Vania. The resentment she had for Vania was so strong that she could not stand her existence. How could Yvonne not make a fuss about it if she found out that Thomas and Vania had established a partnership with each other's company?

Of course, Benjamin would not want her daughter to get hurt, and Jasmine would not agree to that either.

When Thomas heard Yvonne's name being mentioned, his eyes dulled a little. "She's the reason why I'm here."

That instantly made Benjamin anxious. "Did something happen to her? Is Vania not willing to let Yvonne go?"

What he was worried about at this moment was that Vania would send Yvonne abroad again. Feeling puzzled, he asked, "Why would Vania agree to cooperate with you, then? Did you use Yvonne as a condition to make her agree?"

If that were the case, he would rather not get involved in the jewelry industry than let Yvonne suffer any grievances.

Thomas explained, "It was Liam who made this cooperation possible, so it has nothing to do with the Kepler Family. Moreover, she doesn't want anything to do with us." His tone was undeniably somber.

"Oh." After getting his confirmation, Benjamin felt relieved, and his expression eased a lot as he sat back against his chair. "So, what's the matter?"

Thomas replied with a heavy heart, "Dad, you don't usually surf the web and read online news, so take a look at this before I explain everything to you." As he spoke, he took out his phone, which was displaying all the negative news about Vania.

Unable to understand the situation, Benjamin asked, "What does this have to do with Yvonne?"

"Vania has investigated this matter and found the mastermind to be Yvonne."

Benjamin was stunned. "Did you investigate this matter?"

They could not just believe Vania's words, so Thomas gave him the investigation results he received.

After looking at its contents, Benjamin had a rough idea about the incident. He asked curiously, "But from the information you just gave me, I couldn't see any relation between this matter and Yvonne."

Nodding, Thomas answered, "Yes, you're right. I didn't believe it at first, but I bumped into Vania and Hanson when I was out having lunch with Liam. She mentioned this matter to me herself and said her people had witnessed everything with their own eyes."

That made Benjamin's frown deepen as he suddenly became agitated.

Chapter 929

"I'm worried about Vania's revenge. It is something our family won't be able to withstand."

"Revenge?"

Recalling the secret bases he lost, Benjamin shivered in fear. "What do you have in mind?" It was then that he finally understood the urgency of this matter.

The Kepler Family's business could no longer withstand further setbacks.

Then, Thomas responded, "I've spoken to Yvonne earlier, but she's so dead set on wanting to take revenge on Vania that I can't talk any sense into her. I've tried my best."

"What do you mean by 'you've tried your best'?" Benjamin could not understand why his son would use such a phrase. Why so somber? That's just your sister.

"Yvonne thinks I'm boosting the enemy's aspirations while undermining our own." Thomas came clean. As if he was afraid Benjamin could not grasp the seriousness of this issue, he added, "We can't let Yvonne continue battling Vania. If we don't stop her, Yvonne will be in trouble, and our hands will be tied by then."

Since Benjamin had also thought of that, he nodded to indicate that he understood what Thomas was saying. "I never agreed for her to enter the entertainment industry, so it'd be better if she's out of it completely. However, persuading her to give up won't be easy."

He sighed in defeat because he naturally knew his daughter's character. Since Thomas had already tried persuading her, the results would not be any different if he went himself.

After hesitating momentarily, Thomas suggested, "Dad, I have a good idea."

"Say it. What should I do?"

"Why don't we bring her on vacation? Let her enjoy the beautiful scenery from all around the world."

Who knows, maybe she will forget about all of this pettiness?"

The members of the Keplers had their fair share of holidays, and Yvonne had been to countless historical sites and scenic spots. However, it was very rare for the whole family to go on vacation together. Perhaps having some family time could change her mindset.

Nodding, Benjamin agreed, "Since we don't have any better ideas, let's go with yours first."

Thomas nodded in response. "But we might need Mom to be the one who suggests it to her."

It was a definite failure if he mentioned it, and Yvonne might not listen to their dad's words either.

"Alright. I'll tell your mom."

"Dad, let me go with you." Thomas was afraid that his dad would not be able to persuade his mom.

As soon as they saw Jasmine, Thomas immediately told her everything. After knowing the whole story, she could not help but break out in a cold sweat.

Chapter 930

Thomas scrunched his eyebrows at that. He knew Yvonne was not in a good mood, but he did not expect her to be so unreasonable. She believes the things I did for her will harm her. She is indeed very stubborn.

Sensing the rising tension, Jasmine quickly spoke up with a smile, "Yvonne, your dad just happens to be on break recently, so we're thinking of going on a family holiday. We'll let you choose the location, so why don't you tell us where you want to go?"

Hearing that, Yvonne sneered and turned to Thomas again. "Is this your idea?"

Is he that protective of Vania?

Before he could say anything, Benjamin piped up, "What are you talking about? This trip was your mom's idea." He was now a little dissatisfied with his daughter's attitude.

"Oh, really?" she spoke sarcastically. "According to my memories, whenever Mom went on a vacation, she would usually go with her besties. Why did she suddenly think of going as a family?"

"You're being completely unreasonable." Since Benjamin had been bottling up his dissatisfaction, he was immediately infuriated after hearing those words. Then, he thought about the secret bases he had lost because of her and was nearing the edge of exploding.

He rarely told her off, so it was evident how angry he was at this moment. Therefore, Jasmine hurriedly comforted both of them. "How can you say something like that and anger your dad? We rarely go on a family vacation, and it just happens that your dad has been free recently, so that's why I suggested this family trip. Don't you want to go?"

Yvonne used to enjoy traveling all over the world. "Nope." Yet, she did not even think about it before rejecting the idea, which shocked her mom.

"Why?" Jasmine asked without thinking, trying to show her concern.

"I have something to do." At this point, Yvonne was starting to feel impatient and wanted to end this conversation as soon as possible.

Benjamin roared, slamming his hand on the table. "Look at yourself! Is this how you should be talking to your parents?"

Had this been the old Yvonne, she would have been terrified by the angry Benjamin, but she was not the slightest bit afraid. Rather, she retorted bravely, "Don't you guys think that your behavior is strange?"

"We're doing this for your sake," Jasmine persuaded sincerely. Indeed, she could do anything for Yvonne, but she could not afford to let the entire Kepler Family fall because of that. If that were the case, she would be the criminal who destroyed the Kepler Family, which should never happen!

Instead of answering her, Yvonne turned her head to face Thomas. "What did you tell Dad and Mom?"

Nodding, Thomas admitted. "I told them everything. The Kepler Family cannot afford to lose anything else."

Afraid that the siblings would break out into a fight, Jasmine hurriedly persuaded them to stop. "Thomas is right. Your dad and I don't want to see you get hurt, and we don't want the Kepler Family to suffer any more losses, so please, understand our situation."
