

Her Seven LBG 931

Chapter 931

Yvonne was his younger sister after all, so it was impossible for him not to be worried. Afraid that she would run into more trouble out there, he immediately chased after her.

Fortuitously for Thomas, he soon caught up to her as she had not gone far. "Yvonne, stop being unreasonable and come home with me. You shouldn't let Mom and Dad worry about you." He sounded anxious. "If there's anything you're not happy with, we can talk it out."

"Unreasonable? I'm not!" At the sight of a frustrated Thomas, Yvonne snapped. "Stop pretending to be the good guy and worry about yourself. I'm curious to see if you can still act so proudly when Mom and Dad find out that you have feelings for Vania."

"Yvonne." He was infuriated. This was the third time she had mentioned this matter, so he could no longer endure her. "Perhaps our family has been too lenient on you, which is why you dare to spout such nonsense and not take any responsibility for your words. I don't think we can see eye to eye."

"You're right, and I don't want to see eye to eye with any of you." Yvonne's speech was still as sharp as a sword. "I'm leaving the Kepler Family, so leave me alone."

"Who's gonna fend for you, then?" Thomas almost screamed out every word.

"What? Are you saying I'm incapable on my own? Or do you think that only Vania can have her own business while I can't?"

"You want to start your own business?"

"What I'm going to do has nothing to do with you, Young Master Thomas."

Hearing her call him 'Young Master Thomas' was the last straw. Furious, he immediately let go of her hand. "Fine. Do whatever you want. I don't care anymore." Then, he turned around and left, not minding his sister any longer.

"I can't talk any sense into her. Just let her go."

"How can we just let her go? What if she gets into an accident or something?"

"From the way I see it, it'd be a good thing for her to get into some trouble so that she'll realize that she can't do anything on her own. By then, she'll come home."

This time, Yvonne had indeed angered Thomas.

"No way!" Jasmine yelled in Yvonne's defense. "You must bring her back now. If she doesn't come home, you can't come in here either."

After sighing, he reasoned, "Mom, she definitely won't come home with me."

Chapter 932

However, Raina was not answering her calls either.

"How dare she reject my calls?" While gritting her teeth, Yvonne decided to teach her a lesson.

At that moment, her phone suddenly rang. The caller's information showed a number she was familiar with, but she hesitated momentarily before deciding to answer it.

From the other end came a man's soft laughter. "Haha. Miss Kepler, have you considered our cooperation?"

The call came at the perfect time right after she came out of the Kepler Residence. It was as if everything had been planned.

With an icy tone, she asked, "You're following me?"

"Miss Kepler, what are you talking about? I don't understand."

The person who called was Eddie. Indeed, he did not send anyone to follow Yvonne and only happened to call her at such a convenient time. It seems like I made my call just in time. He was feeling proud.

When faced with her question, he calmly answered, "How would I dare to stalk the Kepler Family? I called you only because I wanted to talk about our cooperation. Are you facing any problems?"

"No." Yvonne rejected sharply.

Eddie, on the other hand, was even more convinced that something was wrong just by hearing her voice. Feeling delighted, he offered, "How about you agree to cooperate with me, and I'll help you make your wish a reality?"

Then, she snorted, clearly not believing in his words. If he possessed the ability to deal with Hanson, he would not still be hiding from him! Despite her mocking laugh, she still verbally agreed. "Sure. Let's see if you mean your words."

"Looks like I'm in for a celebration! Let's hope for a smooth collaboration." Eddie was not surprised when he heard her answer because he knew that she would agree to cooperate with him.

Yvonne became the first to initiate further. "Since you want to cooperate with me so sincerely, shouldn't you tell me where you're staying? Otherwise, how do you expect me to find you?"

On the other hand, Eddie had his phone on loudspeaker, so Brandon could also hear her request. Taken aback for a moment, Brandon shook his head to indicate the refusal. This was because the place they were staying at was very safe, so they could not possibly expose themselves. If they allowed her to come here unannounced, their position might get exposed.

"No problem." Yet, Eddie agreed. "Since you want to see my sincerity, I'll show it to you."

Meanwhile, Brandon was stunned and worried. Then, he heard Eddie continue, "But how could I let you come here alone on our first meeting? I think it'd be better to pick you up."

Chapter 933

"Interesting." It was rare for Hanson to smoke, but today, he quietly walked over to the balcony. He then lit a cigarette and puffed in two breaths of smoke before saying, "Keep an eye on them, and don't do anything for the time being."

Since the Kepler Family was looking for their demise, he would not mind helping them.

After Hanson finished talking, he hung up and took a look at the lit cigarette in his hand before putting it out. Since he was worried Vania might dislike the smell of smoke on his body, he stood on the balcony for a bit before returning to his bedroom.

Meanwhile, she had already been woken up by the noise and asked, "What's the matter?"

He did not keep anything from her and told her everything, "Eddie has appeared, so I gave out some orders. Let's sleep."

Nodding, Vania tucked herself into his embrace and hummed. "Don't think too much about it. Go to sleep." She knew this matter was not as simple as Hanson had told her. Otherwise, he would not be acting this way.

While having his wife in his embrace, he could feel her soft body against his and felt like he had ants in his pants. "What if I can't fall back asleep?" he whispered into her ears.

The sleepy Vania instantly had her eyes cleared up after hearing his words. "If you can't, why don't you head out for a short jog?"

Chuckling, Hanson wondered if he should praise her for her suggestion. She has such a strange way of thinking by asking me to go out for a jog in the middle of the night.

Tightening his arms around her, he smiled lasciviously. "Besides jogging, can we do some other kind of exercise?"

"It's not we, but you." Vania corrected his choice of words. No matter the time and place, this man is always thinking of doing it.

"You are me, and I am you. We're family, so it's not wrong to use 'we'."

"Ha. Ha." She sneered, letting him comprehend her meaning.

Meanwhile, Hanson maintained his grin. "Since you're so happy, I'll take it as you've agreed. So, let's start our midnight exercise." He showed that he had fully understood her meaning.

Vania was caught at a loss for words. When did I even say that? Why does he always twist my words?

Being pinned down again, she gritted her teeth in frustration. Why did the caller have to call at this hour and wake this demon? Now, I have to offer him my body for no reason. I'll note this down and take revenge later... Eddie has appeared, huh? So, he'll be the target of my revenge.

Chapter 934

What is it that's so mysterious?

Feeling Larry's probing gaze, Hanson withdrew his smile and snorted. "Is there anything else?"

"Uh..." Larry subconsciously nodded and seized the chance to remind him, "The president of Khan Enterprise is waiting for you."

Hearing that name, Hanson frowned, not knowing who it was.

Then, Larry considerably reminded him, "He's Raina's father."

"Huh?" Hanson frowned again. And who is that?

While supporting his forehead, Larry complained in his mind, It seems like President Luke only has Mrs. Luke in his heart.

As a result, he reminded his boss once again, "The secretary who tried to seduce you in front of Mrs. Luke." As he expected, Hanson's face fell right after hearing that.

"What does he want?" His tone was not particularly good, which was a clear indicator that he did not want to meet Peter.

"Luke Corporation and Khan Enterprise have some business dealings with each other," responded Larry.

"Oh. Would I be so blind as to choose such a lousy company to work with?"

Hanson could not recall choosing such a lousy company. It was so lousy that he had not even heard of the name.

Meanwhile, Larry sighed discreetly. It's not that bad...

Before he explained the situation, he secretly prayed for the sales department's director. "President Luke, that business deal wasn't approved by you. It's just some wood-related dealings and not a huge contract, so it was the director of the sales department who made the deal."

"Sales department..." Hanson repeated softly, but that soft voice made Larry shiver in fear again. This is a sign that President Luke is about to erupt in rage. I can't provoke him.

He was clueless as to what Hanson was thinking about, but it took a while before his boss piped up, "Let him in."

"Yes, President Luke." Subsequently, Larry dashed out of the office, worried that he would get implicated in Hanson's anger.

When Peter learned that Hanson was willing to meet with him, he entered the office beaming and flattered him. "President Luke, I've heard a lot about you. I am Peter Khan—"

Chapter 935

Usually, Hanson would not meet Peter under such conditions, but since he was in a good mood today, he wanted to meet the person running the lousy company he had never heard of.

If Peter could hear his thoughts, he would express, What you say doesn't hurt me, but this is utterly humiliating.

Presently, Hanson was flipping through the documents Larry had sent over. On them were the details of Yvonne and Eddie's phone calls. While perusing them, he thought, Birds alike flock together. I am kinda eager to see what kind of wave these two can create together.

After that, he threw these documents aside and began today's work.

Meanwhile, the children had successfully opened a clinic in the most prosperous part of Hammond, right next to Luke Corporation. The clinic was opened discreetly, for it did not even have an opening ceremony as it quietly began its business.

According to the children's plan, Lily would not show her face whenever she was diagnosing her patients. Instead, she would be reading the patient's pulse through a curtain.

This particular curtain was James' design. It was not visible from the outside, but Lily could see her patient from behind the curtain. It was so clear that even the patient's expression could be seen clearly, which was a huge help when she was diagnosing the patient's condition.

Since the clinic had just opened, there was not a single patient who came in. As such, the six boys comforted their sister. "Lily, don't worry. Today is just the first day."

Nodding, Lily told them about her plan, "I'm planning to establish an online consultation service and then introduce the public to the clinic after I've attracted the public's attention." She was very confident about her capabilities.

"Sure, we'll immediately start creating a website for you." The boys then began their work.

Meanwhile, an angered and anxious Jasmine looked at Thomas and questioned him, "Didn't you say you would get someone to keep Yvonne safe? Why is she now involved with Eddie Luke?"

When the news reached Thomas' ears, he immediately told his parents, "I don't know either." Indeed, he had no idea how she could have gotten in contact with Eddie. Therefore, he was also confused when he received the news.

"What should we do now?" Jasmine was feeling so uneasy that she was shedding tears.

On the other hand, Thomas did not expect the situation to turn out this way either. In fact, the people he sent had been following Yvonne. However, they lost track of her after she left the cafe and entered a car. To his surprise, he did not know that the car belonged to Eddie until he investigated the vehicle.

Moreover, he felt that their investigation had gone way too smoothly. It's either the news I received was deliberate or the investigation was just smooth... No, someone has to be leaking the news to me on purpose. Otherwise, how could we have found Eddie's information so quickly?

Chapter 936

However, he was politely stopped by the receptionist when he arrived. "Greetings, Mr. Kepler."

Stopping in his tracks, Thomas asked, "Do you not recognize me because I haven't been here for a long time?"

Back then, he used to be able to head in and out of Luke Corporation without any hindrance, so situations like today had never happened.

The receptionist revealed a formal smile. "Mr. Kepler, of course, we recognize who you are, but President Luke is in a meeting and gave the order that he will not be meeting anyone today."

"Is that so?" Thomas smiled, not intending to make things difficult for the receptionist.

Not seeing anyone because he's in a meeting? That must be a rule he made up. It seems like Hanson has already found out and guessed that I would be here... and he doesn't want to help me. It makes sense. We're love rivals, so how could he be so nice to help me?

Not wanting to waste any more time, Thomas turned around and headed for Galaxy Corporation. As long as Vania was willing to help him, Hanson would have to jump on board as well. At this rate, he was so desperate that he was even willing to give up another secret base in exchange. Otherwise, if the truth was exposed later, it would not be as easy to deal with as losing one secret base.

When he arrived at Galaxy Corporation, it was a strangely smooth journey to the top floor, yet when he opened the door to the office, he saw Linda sitting in the chair.

At that moment, thousands of thoughts flashed through his mind. Did Vania get someone to replace her just because she didn't want to see me? No wonder the way up here went so smoothly.

"Mr. Kepler." Linda was surprised to see him. Following that, she gestured for him to take a seat. "Why the sudden visit?"

"Where's your president?" Thomas did not beat around the bush and scanned the room as if he was looking for Vania's traces.

When Linda thought about the reason why Vania was absent today, her face blushed crimson while she explained to him, "Boss said she was too tired yesterday, so she's not coming in today."

Having said that, her cheeks were strangely red because the call earlier was from Hanson. The message was so crystal clear that she could not possibly get it wrong.

Meanwhile, Thomas could not tell whether Linda was telling the truth. Regardless, it meant that he would not be able to see Vania today. "Alright, then. If she comes to work, please relay to her that I came by." Ever since a point in his life, he could not reach Vania by phoning her anymore.

"You're too modest. I'll relay your message." Linda assured him in a formal tone before seeing him downstairs.

Chapter 937

"Mom." Thomas stopped her. "This matter has nothing to do with Vania. This is all because of the choices Yvonne made."

A stubborn Jasmine could not comprehend what he was saying. "What do you mean nothing to do with her? Would Yvonne have acted so rashly if it hadn't been for her? Yvonne is your younger sister. If you're not gonna care about her, I'll think of a way myself."

"I've never said that!" Thomas roared. On top of his bad mood, he was feeling even more frustrated after Jasmine's fit.

"If you do anything now, you'll only cause more trouble. Let me think of something."

"What else can we do?"

After sighing, he pleaded, "Let me calm down and think." With her cries and screams, he could not even think straight.

Meanwhile, Benjamin was also having a headache from all the bickering, so he told Jasmine, "That's enough."

Seeing that both the father and son were heated up, she quieted down. Then, she snorted and began pacing around the room, indicating that she was feeling anxious.

"I'll try to find Bryan," Thomas suddenly spoke up.

Bryan and Vania shared a close relationship, so he should have a way to visit her whenever he was in the country. After saying that, Thomas immediately went out the door.

This was his final hope.

In the meantime, Bryan was enjoying his time off when he received a call from Thomas. "Thomas, I have time. Come on over." He chuckled. Assuming that he wanted to come over for a drink, he immediately told him the address.

He was currently having fun at the shooting range, and Thomas was quick to arrive within ten minutes.

"Over here." Bryan happily beckoned him over. "Let's compete with each other. My skills have improved a lot."

He had played with Vania a few times in private, and she had taught him a few tricks, which greatly increased his skill level. Hence, he was now full of confidence.

"Sure." Though Thomas was not in a good mood, he still agreed to Bryan's suggestion. Since he had so much on his mind, he missed all ten shots.

Feeling puzzled, Bryan asked, "Thomas, do you have something on your mind?"

This isn't your usual score.

While nodding, Thomas initiated. "Let's sit down and have a chat." His patience was already at its limit after playing with Bryan for such a long time.

"Sure. What's the matter with you?" It was rare for Bryan to see him behave in such a way.

"I..." Thomas was a little hesitant as he did not know how to say it.

Chapter 938

At this point, Bryan could not understand why Yvonne would leave home all of a sudden. The only explanation he had was that she was pretending.

Thomas replied solemnly, "I only wanted her to stop. I didn't expect that she wouldn't listen to a word I say and fought with the entire family."

A shocked Bryan was also surprised at Yvonne, who was so persistently obsessed with seeking revenge. He sighed and said, "It seems like Vania was right."

"Are you saying that she has already expected this?"

Bryan nodded in response. When hearing about Yvonne leaving home, there was an inexplicable feeling inside him, but he knew it was not happiness.

"Thomas, is there something more serious than her running away from home?"

"What?" Bryan's countenance drastically darkened after hearing Thomas' words, and he even sprang to his feet. As if finding his actions a little exaggerated, he quickly sat back down.

Turning to face Thomas in surprise, he asked, "Are you for real?"

While nodding, Thomas confirmed Bryan's thoughts. "Yes."

No one knew more about the matter between Eddie and Hanson than their group of friends. If Yvonne collaborated with Eddie, it would be nothing different than declaring war on Hanson. Inevitably, it would affect the Kepler Family, so it was no wonder that Thomas felt so frustrated.

"So, you came here to ask for help?" It was then that Bryan finally realized why Thomas had come here.

"Since you came to me, it must mean that you're out of ideas."

Not knowing what to say, Thomas could only continue drinking his water.

He continued to ask, "Thomas, what are your thoughts on this?"

"The Kepler Family will try our best to help Luke Corporation, but all we ask is that they spare Yvonne," Thomas replied affirmatively.

While frowning, Bryan inquired, "So, you want me to help you get in contact with Vania?"

Except for Vania, no one in the world could make Hanson meet with someone he refused to.

At that, Thomas hurriedly nodded. No matter what conditions Bryan named, he would agree in a heartbeat. Of course, though, there were not many conditions to ask for when it came to helping out a friend.

Chapter 939

But you've overestimated my kindness. Moreover, the matter with Eddie is all under my control.

Then, with a displeased tone, she said, "My last name's Greyson, and my husband's is Luke. So, we won't be sticking our noses into the Kepler Family's business."

Without waiting for the other end to respond, she chuckled and continued, "How's your break going? I have a new script on hand, so when are you going to start shooting?"

Since her tone had changed too quickly, Bryan was stunned for a moment. Then, he caught on to her topic and replied, "You just have to say the word, and I'm there."

Jennifer had already finished her break recently, so he was bored being here alone.

Meanwhile, Vania was still chuckling. "You'd better stick to your words. Or else, I'll ban you from the industry."

That was just a joke.

"Of course." Bryan hung up after exchanging a few more words. Next, he looked at the disappointment on his friend's face and sighed. "You heard it too."

"You're welcome, man." Bryan hesitated for a bit before giving his advice. "If it were up to me, I think it's good to teach Yvonne a lesson. Otherwise, she wouldn't realize her actions were absurd."

Now that things had come to this point, Thomas had no choice but to say, "We can only act according to the situation. I hope she realizes this sooner and returns home on her own."

Knowing that he was not in a good mood, Bryan did not pester him with his game any further. "Go on with your matters."

"Okay. Thank you for today." Thomas thanked him again before leaving.

Meanwhile, Hanson was scrutinizing every single one of Thomas' actions. "Let him do whatever he wants," he told Larry, who was reporting to him.

Even if Yvonne had teamed up with Eddie, there was no reason for him to be worried either. However, he was pissed that Thomas had gone and found his wife.

"May I know if this is Lily's guardian?" It was a call from the children's teacher, Ms. Foster.

"Yes," he replied, not worried about anything. According to his children's intelligence, he could rest assured whenever they were outside.

"Hello?" Seemingly to not have heard Hanson's voice, an anxious Zara called out again.

Chapter 940

The young nurse seemed to have encountered such a situation numerous times. She only greeted them calmly. "Hello, all. You need to go to the information desk to inquire about the patient's condition. I will take you there."

Vania was still crying as she stayed in the same spot. "My daughter! How is my daughter?!"

It was as though she couldn't understand the nurse's words as she kept holding onto the nurse and repeating the same words.

Hanson, who was behind Vania, couldn't help putting a palm over his forehead as he quietly complained, Her acting is a little over-the-top. Where's all this even coming from?

He let her cry her heart out for a while and eventually walked over steadily.

At the same time, he was also looking at the nurse with a pained expression as he stated, "I apologize. We're panicking because our daughter suddenly fell sick."

The nurse hadn't looked at the couple closely enough to recognize them when Vania suddenly lunged at the nurse earlier.

Now that she was looking at Hanson's face, she was hit by the sudden realization that she knew the familiar face. His aura especially feels like that of President Luke's.

However, before the nurse could react, Hanson had already pulled Vania toward the information desk.

Vania promptly stopped sobbing the moment she was dragged away.

Hiding in his arms, she stuck out her tongue at him playfully and asked in a low voice, "How was it? Was my act convincing?"

The man only slightly parted his lips. "It was a little too much," he admitted.

At this moment, the director of the hospital came over hurriedly with the attending physician.

As if an important person had died of illness, they lowered their heads when they saw Hanson.

Vania started bawling her eyes out again as she hid in his arms. "Boohoo!"

Pretty decent actress, I must say. The sudden cry startled Hanson, but his face remained impassive despite his grumbling. "What is the matter?" he demanded.

The director didn't dare to speak and he quietly led the couple to the ward.

Lily was poisoned at school. Fortunately, her class teacher immediately sent her to the hospital after realizing what had happened.

Once she was admitted to the hospital, Lily had been transferred to a ward, and April was the one who personally diagnosed and took care of the child.

As soon as Vania entered the ward and saw her daughter lying on the bed, she threw herself beside Lily and proceeded to howl and cry.

Her babies watched on in confusion. What is going on? Mommy, you are the president of a big company. Shouldn't you be able to take stress better than this?

Lily, especially, wanted to sit up because of Vania's cries.

Her cries were honestly frightening.

This was already his second time watching her putting on her best performance.
