Chapter 992 I Need Four Rocks

And that was the story of how he got a surprise visit from the four of them when he opened the door.

"Well, aren't you guys well-informed? To think you already found out when I have just succeeded."

I'm the only person in this lab. Who could've let such important information out? Or can it be that we're actually telepathically linked?

However, none of them made anything of his accomplishment right then, and it was Liam who broke it to him. "We need a private place to talk."

"What? Is Hammond too small for big shots like you guys to find somewhere else to talk?" As if there's anyone else in the whole of Hillsworth who can compare to you people! Need a place to talk? Huh!

Meanwhile, Hanson lifted and moved him aside before reminding him, "Close the door."

"Do I look like a server to you, Hanson?!"

Hanson shot April a nasty look at that, and the doctor shut up at once. After closing the door, he went to stand in the middle of the bunch. "What's going on? Why are you guys being all mysterious?"

I get her, but what do pebbles have anything to do with this matter? Why'd she need four of them? Despite Liam's doubt, he never questioned Vania's request.

On the other hand, Hanson turned to look at his wife and examined her. Is she going to give me a surprise again?

Vania patted April's shoulder and said, "Off you go now. You'll soon find out what I need them for."

"Okay," April replied. When he reached the door, he suddenly came to his senses and turned around. "Vania, I'm well known here. I'm not going to embarrass myself by picking up rocks!" That's too embarrassing! I can't do that!

"Since it's Vania's order, cut the crap and do that right away!" Hanson, who always doted on his wife, landed a kick on April.

Vania demanded, "I'll leave it to you. Don't disappoint me."

"I'll tell my subordinates to do it, then." Knowing he had no choice, April immediately called his assistant and told him to bring several people to the garden and look for four rocks.

The assistant was dumbfounded upon hearing that, but he didn't dare refute April. Could he extract anything useful from rocks? I suppose a doctor's mind differs from the average person's. Several minutes later, the assistant brought exactly four rocks to April's office and put them on the table. After all, there were plenty of rocks in the garden, so it wasn't hard for him to find them.

As April looked at the exact number of rocks, he landed a kick on his assistant. "Although I told you to get four rocks, couldn't you pick up more?"

I just did as I was told. Why did you change your mind all of a sudden? "I thought you knew exactly how many you needed."

"How dare you talk back?" Worried that Vania might need more rocks, April told his assistant to go to the garden and pick up more.

"There's no need for that. These are enough." Vania placed the rocks on her palm and weighed them. They're of the right size and weight.

She hadn't used some skills for a long time, so she decided to seize the chance and find out if she could still use them effectively.

"Are these really enough, Vania?" Although April had no idea what she was going to do, he knew it must be a difficult task.

Vania arched her brow. "Don't you trust me?"

"Of course, I trust you."

All of them had never doubted Vania's abilities.

"Cut the crap, then. Let's go."

After hesitating for a bit, Bryan asked, "Do we set off right away, or do you want to wait for a while longer?"

Chapter 994 Was it you?

As Vania looked at the man in front of her, she smiled faintly. Am I that weak? Don't they know that I'm a taekwondo master?

"That woman is out of her mind!" April exclaimed.

They instantly saw a car charging toward them at an unusual speed.

"I didn't expect her to attempt murder twice in a day!" Bryan gasped. Doesn't Yvonne know that it's a crime to kill people? She's insane, and no one can save her!

"Run, Vania!"

All the men stood in front of Vania at that moment. Since they were unsuspecting, it was too late for them to dodge the car. Nevertheless, Vania remained in the same spot as she flicked her fingers. The next instant, all four of the car's tires went flat at the same time as the vehicle flipped over.

All of them were dumbfounded upon seeing that.

Bryan and April had unique ways of thinking, so they said at the same time, "What's going on? Did the heavens save us or something?"

They exchanged glances and saw the shock behind each other's gazes. Even Hanson was startled.

Liam turned around and asked in disbelief, "Was it you, Vanie?"

He finally realized what the woman needed the rocks for. Her rock-casting skills were indeed impressive, and the woman was confident when she did that.

Even Liam didn't have the confidence to accurately strike all four tires. As he recalled Vania's expression earlier, he was amazed.

"Was it really you, Vania?" Bryan had always admired Vania, so he readily believed she was the one who did that.

"Did you use the rocks my assistant got for you?" April was flabbergasted. At that moment, he realized he knew little about the woman.

As Vania looked at their surprised expressions, she shrugged. "Perhaps Bryan is right. The heavens had saved us. If you don't believe me, you can take a look at the surveillance footage. I didn't do it."

Since she didn't want to admit it, Liam stopped probing further. However, he could hardly conceal his shock.

Anyway, they had pressed the emergency button when the incident happened earlier, and the police were now taking the suspect in the car away. Since the vehicle had merely rolled over, the person inside was not injured.

A police officer approached Hanson and said, "Mr. Luke, the person who crashed his car into Thomas admitted that a woman surnamed Kepler had paid him to do that."

They were not surprised since they already knew who the culprit was.

"Have you found out how they contact each other?" Only when they had information about it could they find out Yvonne's whereabouts and attempt to capture her.

Chapter 995 Is Yvonne Targeting You?

It was hard to tell who caused the tires to go flat from the surveillance footage, adding a hint of eeriness to the entire incident.

"I don't believe you'll always be so lucky," Yvonne hissed through clenched teeth before dialing a number. "Take action now. I have to end her life, no matter what!"

Just as Hanson and the others were ready to leave, a doctor came out of the hospital in a hurry and announced, "Good news! Thomas has regained consciousness!"

"In that case, we'd better visit him." After the incident earlier, Vania thought it was a good idea to stay in the hospital.

Since she had said so, the others wouldn't object to it. Presently, a listless Benjamin stared fixedly at his son while Jasmine hadn't awakened yet.

A frail Thomas lay on the bed, his gaze out of focus. When he saw Hanson and the others entering the ward, he said, "Hey, guys."

Although he sounded weak, he kept staring at Vania. I thought I wouldn't see her again. It feels good to wake up to someone dear to me.

Hanson pulled Vania into his embrace. "We've looked into the matter for you. Don't worry about it."

"It's Yvonne's doing, isn't it?" Thomas smiled helplessly. "It seems that she no longer wants anything to do with our family."

"Did you just say it was Yvonne's doing?" Benjamin suddenly asked while in a dazed state, despite knowing the answer.

"What happened to Yvonne?" Before Benjamin could speak further, Jasmine strode into the ward.

When she woke up earlier, a nurse told her Thomas had regained consciousness. She quickly ran toward the ward without putting on her slippers. However, the moment she entered the room, she heard them talking about Yvonne, whom she missed dearly.

She charged toward Benjamin and grabbed his hands. "What did you just say? Where's Yvonne?"

Benjamin let out a sigh and pushed her hands away. "You're supposed to wake up to reality now. She's no longer the Yvonne we know."

"I don't care! She'll always be my daughter!" Jasmine started sobbing all of a sudden. "Even if I wake up to reality, she won't come back again." She just couldn't stop muttering nonsense.

Vania felt that Jasmine's unconditional love for Yvonne had caused her daughter more harm than good. Poor Jasmine is insane.

Even though Thomas felt helpless, he still attempted to convince his mother. "Mom, don't you get it? Yvonne is the reason I'm bedridden now. Don't you understand that she's turned into a different person?"

Chapter 996 Determined to End Vania's Life

Thomas believed that since Yvonne had made a move on him, she must've tried harming Vania as well. April stepped forward just then and showed him the surveillance footage. "I just got it not long ago."

After watching the video, Thomas looked at Vania in disbelief. "Was it really not your doing?"

It was hard for him to believe it. After all, he didn't see Vania moving a muscle in the video.

"Well, you've seen the video. Perhaps the heavens didn't want us dead yet." Vania insisted that they were merely lucky.

All of them knew that Vania didn't want to dwell on that topic, so they didn't probe further.

"I'm worried Yvonne won't let you off. You have to be careful." Thomas looked caringly at her.

Vania nodded. "Thanks for your concern."

Hanson was displeased with Thomas for talking to his wife for a long time, so he stood in front of Vania and said, "You're supposed to rest."

Knowing what the man was trying to imply, Thomas closed his eyes and nodded, ending his conversation with Vania.

"Let's go. Since it's noon, we can have lunch together."

All of them agreed to Liam's suggestion. They wanted to know what the crazy Yvonne would do next.

"Do you need more rocks, Vania?"

Yvonne might hire some drivers to harm them again, so they had to get prepared. Furthermore, he wanted to see Vania showcasing her skills again. Therefore, he decided to get more rocks for her.

"Since both her attempts have failed, I don't think she'll make a move again." Bryan frowned.

While worried about Vania, he recalled what had happened to himself back then. Previously, Yvonne failed in her attempt to harm him at the film set. He was worried that the woman might do the same and harm Jennifer this time.

"It's better to be safe than sorry. Go and get more rocks," Liam instructed April. He wanted to make sure they were well-prepared.

"Alright. I'll do that right away." April went looking for some rocks himself this time.

When he returned, he presented the rocks to Vania as though they were precious. "Do you think these are enough, Vania?"

"Yes."

After getting prepared, they left the place together. The moment they reached the entrance, April exclaimed, "What? Again?"

Chapter 997 No More Experiments

In a mysterious way, the cars turned upside down neatly, and the sounds of the drivers calling for help were deafening. Vania and the others could clearly hear the drivers.

"They're calling for help so soon. How weak!" Vania sneered and waved her hand before the windshields of these cars shattered.

Following that, the drivers shrieked and covered their heads. That was because Vania had struck their heads with the rocks earlier. In an instant, their heads became swollen.

Vania wasn't done with them yet, but she didn't have more rocks.

Just then, Hanson spread his palm and said, "Go ahead."

Since she needed more rocks, he would give them to her. Regardless of what she wanted, he would always get it for her. With a smile, Vania took all the rocks and cast them away. In an instant, the drivers' faces were covered in bruises and wounds as they groaned in pain.

When Vania had had enough fun, Hanson ordered, "Take them away."

With that, all of them then left the place.

On the other hand, Yvonne soon learned of her failed attempt.

"What a bunch of useless people!" They can't even kill Vania. What else can they do?

"No, I'll never let the woman off!" Yvonne said through clenched teeth while trying to come up with a plan.

"You're pretty obstinate, Miss Kepler." Eddie appeared all of a sudden.

It was apparent to Yvonne that the man was mocking her, so she snorted. "Don't you know that you have to knock on the door before coming in?"

Vania nodded. "Doesn't that sound exciting?"

"I'm worried I'll only be shocked." Hanson arched his brow. Just as he expected, his wife had other identities.

"What do you mean?" Vania was perplexed.

"Whenever I was shocked by what happened, you'd still be able to surprise me." As Hanson spoke, he took Vania's hand and placed it on his chest. "I'm worried I'll suffer a heart attack sooner or later."

"Are you that weak?" Vania felt that the man was trying to pull a trick on her again.

Hanson said seriously, "I've become weak ever since getting together with you."

It was the truth. When he was on his own back then, he feared nothing. However, there was a woman he cared about now, so he had to consider many things before he did anything.

Vania stroked his chest and said, "Don't worry. I'll never hold you back, so just do whatever you want."

She would never let anyone use her to threaten Hanson.

Anyway, it doesn't matter how we managed to capture this woman.

Since the thugs were about to get a lot of money, they were complacent.

"Boss, let's inform the woman about it."

"I've already sent her a message."

When Yvonne saw the message, she was puzzled for a moment. "Are you sure you've captured the right person?"

She couldn't believe that Vania was captured so easily.

"How dare she doubt us?" The gang leader immediately sent Yvonne a video. "See for yourself. Is she the one? There's no way we've caught the wrong person. Transfer the money to us right away."

Yvonne clicked on the video and realized the person was indeed Vania, who had been tied up and left lying on the floor in an abandoned factory.

Upon seeing that, Yvonne laughed deviously. "That's right. It's her."
