

Her Vengeful Rebirth (Calista) Novel Chapter 31

Released on June 2, 2024

Chapter 31 Let Me Bring You Somewhere Fun

Calista tightened her grip on the voice recorder.

She will not!

Earlier sexual arousal was just a natural biological response she knew very well what she wanted in this life. With this thought, she slowly opened her eyes again, and she regained her composure.

The next urgent task at hand was to move out of the house. She didn't fancy being watched round the clock.

When she got back, Benedict wasn't home and was likely to be at work. Yelena and Jonathan weren't around either. Instead Wyatt, who should have been at work, was here talking to Quincy.

Quite obviously Quincy had gone out earlier in the afternoon to look for Wyatt to play the nice cousin, but Calista wasn't sure why Wyatt ended up coming back with Quincy, and she didn't care, so she headed upstairs.

"Calista, wait up. Wyatt suddenly called out after her.

He called her while giving Quincy a glance. He was here to try reconciling the two sisters.

"Sis..."

Quincy didn't like doing this, but in order to make Wyatt believe her, she put on her most pitiful face and walked over. "I'm really sorry about what happened, those two...I know them yes, but you remember I quarreled with you before that? After that I just said some nasty things to them out of spite, but I didn't expect them to take my words seriously and do something so horrible to you. I didn't instruct them or anything like that! Please believe me!"

Calista had one hand on the hand railings, and she calmly glanced at her, "That's how you deceived. Wyatt?"

Quincy was stunned for a few moments. She thought that Calista wouldn't say such pointed things with outsiders around! "Sis! I know you're angry with me, but how can you say that about me? Am I such an evil and scheming person?"

Quincy looked at Wyatt with pain on her face, as if trying to tell him how Calista was so unreasonable, so unfriendly, and she was so helpless against this.

Wyatt frowned, "Calista, Quincy is your younger sister. Why do you hold such a grudge against her? She's still a child!"

"A child..."

Calista repeated this word spitefully. Back then it had never crossed her mind that a seventeen year old. Quincy could be so vicious either.

But since Wyatt had chosen to believe Quincy, Calista couldn't be bothered with him and went upstairs.

Back then her grandfather had left another important thing for Calista besides those invaluable out-of-print books. He had left her two sets of silver needles, one set had 81 needles, the other had 48 needles.

1/3

90%

Chapter 31 Let Me Bring You Somewhere Fun

needles, but that was enough.

When she thought about the illness Jarrett's brother had, Calista hesitated for a few moments before taking seven needles with her as well as all the cash she had, then left the house.

Quincy was still crying and talking to Wyatt, but when he saw that Calista had walked out of the door, he also stood up and went after her.

Quincy looked confused, so Wyatt whispered, "You wait here, I'll make sure Calista believes you!"

After that he went running after Calista.

"Why did you follow me?" Calista asked him with an eyebrow raised.

Wyatt replied awkwardly, "Where are you going? I was about to leave anyway, so I can send you there."

Calista knew it was hard to get a cab here, so she agreed. After getting into the car, Wyatt became even more careful with his words.

He didn't really know why he insisted on following her. He just felt that Calista was prejudiced against him, and he wanted to remove this prejudice.

So he started, "Those two men have received their sentences. Initially their families tried to get them a lighter sentence and they were first sentenced to only twenty years in prison. But Mr. Kallum interfered and so they got life imprisonment."

Calista was stunned and didn't reply, instead just grunting and then she said, "Send me to the Rental Housing Center."

"Why do you want to go there?" Wyatt frowned and continued, "You....even if you're on bad terms with my. aunt, there's no need to move out!"

Calista didn't want to bother answering him, but then a thought suddenly crossed her mind, making her curl her lips up into a smile and she smiled meaningfully at Wyatt. "You want to know why I want to move? Sure, I'll tell you, but you have to help me out first."

Wyatt went into a panic when she suddenly moved closer to him, making the car nearly crash into another one. Whatever Calista wanted him to do, it couldn't be anything good.

Calista didn't care what he thought and continued, "If you can find out for me where Yelena is right now, I'll tell you why I want to move out. Her car number plate is HZ 55555, not difficult to check right?"

Wyatt furrowed his brows. "What are you trying to do?"

"What am I trying to do?"

An evil glint flashed in Calista's eyes and her smile became more and more wicked, "Of course I'm going to do something really interesting..."

Wyatt went to check anyway, his police rank making it easy to check. He found out the car was last seen near Indigo Gardens.

Calista smiled mysteriously upon hearing this. "I know where that is. Come on, Officer Langley, let me bring you somewhere for some fun!"

2/3

11:51 Mon, 27 May GD

Chapter 31 Let Me Bring You Somewhere Fun

90%

Wyatt hesitated at first, but since he had already started on this road of no return, he couldn't just back out. What he didn't understand was why he couldn't say no to Calista. The last time it was like that, and now was no different.

Yelena had a bungalow in Indigo Gardens, and while Benedict definitely had no idea about this house, Calista knew. This was the house which Calista was trapped in for three months after she tried to escape in her previous life. After they captured her, they incapacitated her right hand and beat her until she was completely covered in bruises.

When she thought of what happened back then, Calista smiled serenely. It looked serene, but there was much meaning behind it.

If she hadn't threatened to die when she was attacked, she was sure they wouldn't have just beat her and locked her up....

Because she was thinking about her tragic past, there was a spiteful aura surrounding Calista that made Wyatt feel uncomfortable sitting beside her. There were many things he wanted to say but wasn't able to, and it was dead silence in the car.

When Calista saw the large lotus flowers, she suddenly said, "We're here."

Wyatt looked out of the window and the smell of lotus flowers hit his nostrils. Next to the pond of lotus flowers stood a beautiful bungalow, and it looked very expensive.

Calista got him to park the car a little further away, then they headed for the bungalow together.

"You're a rich man's son, but you've been properly trained at the police academy, right?" Calista suddenly asked.

Wyatt nodded. He graduated from the academy with the best results and wasn't going to let Calista look down on him!

Calista smiled but didn't let him barge into the bungalow, instead dragging him under a tree next to the house.

"Over there, you see that security alarm? Take it down!"

Wyatt started dismantling the alarm, but also asked, "This belong to your family, right?"

He was afraid Calista was making him trespass private property again.

Calista saw that he had a number of tools on him, and casually replied, "Strictly speaking, this is Yelena's property."

Wyatt was stunned for a while, but then went back to dismantling the security alarm.

After that, Calista got Wyatt to continue dismantling other security alarms. Wyatt was surprised that this fairly small house had five hidden security alarms, and Calista knew exactly where each of them was located.

Send Gifts

40

11:51 Mon, 27 May G

Released on June 2, 2024

Chapter 32 Complete Shock

90%

How could she not know? Back then when she tried to escape, these things nearly spelled the end for her.

After they were all removed, Calista stood at the doorstep, closed her eyes and listened intently.

Because she had trained for many years regularly, when she quietened her heart, she was able to hear any sounds within 150 feet.

After a period of listening, she bent down to unlock the door with very nimble movements. She was so familiar that Wyatt was ready to arrest and interrogate her for criminal activity!

After the two of them went in, they took light steps up to the second floor – one was trained in Chinese martial arts, the other trained in mixed martial arts, so they were very suitable for spying on others!

Initially Wyatt still had his suspicions, but once he heard familiar voices, he stopped in his tracks.

This familiar voice- this was his aunt's voice!

She...was having an extramarital affair!

Wyatt looked at Calista's expression, to find that she looked as if she already knew. His face was still in shock when she suddenly flung a small stone down the stairs.

There was a loud crash as the tall blue vase downstairs broke into pieces.

“Who is it!” Yelena’s panicked voice rang out. Wyatt had no choice but to drag Calista to quickly hide in a comer.

Yelena and a man immediately came out of the room. They saw that the vase downstairs was broken and went downstairs to see what had happened, and Calista took this chance to boldly drag Wyatt into the room and rolled themselves under the bed.

Wyatt was completely shocked!

The bedsheets were so long that they were dragging along the floor- how did Calista know that there was space under the bed? That was not the right question! The right question was, why did they even have to enter this room?

Before Wyatt could do anything, he could hear footsteps, then Yelena’s coy voice, “Don’t worry, it’s probably some stray cat. I’ve installed security alarms all over this bungalow, so no humans would be able to enter!”

Jonathan’s voice answered, “I still think something’s not quite right, I think we’d better leave...”

“Don’t go....” Yelena qualified as a cougar at this age, and she was definitely not letting go of this good looking man in front of her.

She pulled Jonathan onto the bed, and Wyatt’s face turned red under the bed. He wasn’t sure if he was feeling embarrassed by this or just plain angry.

Calista was busy recording everything down on her voice recorder and didn’t notice Wyatt’s expression. All she could hear was the two on the bed having sex, and Yelena suddenly shouting out, “You’re so good! So much better than Benedict!”

11:51 Mon, 27 May G

Chapter 32 Complete Shock

有90%量

Jonathan laughed and said, “If he knew why you came looking for me, he’s going to have a stroke!”

Yelena was enjoying herself as she coldly said, "As long as you make sure you have sex with that slt Calista, then you'd be worth every penny I've spent to hire you. As for the rest, don't bother..."

Jonathan's amorous voice replied, "Sure! You've given me money and yourself I will get this matter done! After I've inished filming myself with Calista in bed, remember to blur my face out!"

"Don't worry about that come on you bloody b'stard, use more strength..." Yelena panted between moans.

After hearing this, Wyatt was so angry he was about to crawl out from under the bed to beat up this man! How dare he try to touch Calista!

But before he could make any moves, Calista reached over and used one hand to hold his clenched fist, as if she knew what he was thinking, and used her other hand to send a text.

Wyatt was taken by surprise, and the grip of her soft hands turned his anger to another emotion...

His face became warm and he didn't understand what was happening to himself. The shaking of the bed made his heart shake along, making his emotions unstable.

Suddenly Jonathan's cell phone rang on the bedside table and even though he didn't want to check the phone, he stole a glance and realized it was a text message from Calista and he stopped what he was doing.

Yelena unhappily said, "Is it that mistress of yours again? Can't you concentrate?"

Jonathan read the text and then smiled gleefully, "I knew it nobody can escape my charm! Your eldest daughter has come looking for me!"

Yelena snatched the phone to see. "Oh my! Couldn't tell that this little slt is this shameless, asking you to meet her at a hotel!"

Jonathan started getting dressed quickly. "She said if I'm not there in 30 minutes she'll leave, so we'll continue another time!"

But what really ran through his mind was, since he had been invited by a young and pretty girl, who would prefer this cougar?

Yelena was a bit annoyed about this, but once she considered the plan she had already started, she started wearing her clothes too. "Ok! Let's go together, I want to see what this stupid girl is up to!"

After the two of them had left, Calista crawled out from under the bed.

She waved the phone in her hand, very satisfied with what she had gathered from this trip.

Wyatt looked at Calista with mixed feelings and asked, "You already knew that my aunt was plotting something against you? Are you handing this recording to her husband?"

Calista shot him a calm look and laughed ominously. "Are you dumb? Do you know how much this bungalow is worth? Do you know why Yelena is able to treat me anyway she likes? She doesn't have to rely on my father to survive, so giving him this will only give him pain."

Wyatt was shocked by this realization – his aunt had hidden so much from them!

The Lins had been tricked all along!

Chapter 32 Complete Shock

Wyatt was shocked, but then suddenly he thought of something and asked curiously. "But why did you tell me? Aren't you afraid I'd tell on you?"

Calista looked at him and laughed coldly, "You're one of the Lins with a conscience, and since you will be the head of the family in the future, I wanted to show you her true colors. It's better than being tricked by her forever and then you'd stand on her side. And attack me, thought Calista.

So she was going to pull out the teeth and claws of that mother and daughter pair one by one, right from the source.

Wyatt still didn't understand. "My aunt who is backing her? You seem quite wary, and why does this person want to help her?"

Yelena was just an illegitimate daughter of the Lins, and he couldn't think of which big shot would be willing to help her, and what this person might be up to.

Calista narrowed her eyes and said, "You will know when the time is right. Also, the current head, your grandfather, already knows everything about Yelena. So I'd advise you to just bear in mind what sort of person Yelena is, and don't do anything hasty and get me into trouble. In exchange, I'll tell you a secret."

Calista looked directly at him as she spoke, and Wyatt's confused brain suddenly stopped working, filled with nothing but the sparkles in Calista's eyes, and even forgot to breathe.

Calista took Wyatt's silence to mean consent, so she ambled over and whispered in his ear, "Tomorrow night at Dragonbane Port, South Horington...some goods will arrive! Believe me the amount of goods. will be enough for you to get promoted by a few levels!"

The cold fragrance from her body made Wyatt take a deep breath, then he felt his body go limp and his heart suddenly thump very loudly!

He stumbled backwards by a large step and untangled himself from this invisible temptation.

Calista looked at him with a puzzled face, and Wyatt quickly looked away. "How do you know about this?"

His mind was a mess at this moment, and he had no idea what on earth he was saying at all.

Send Gifts

40

Released on June 2, 2024

Chapter 33 Bold And Also Crazy

Calista didn't think too much about why he was behaving like this, and just crossed her arms as she said, "That's a secret. Tomorrow's goods are connected to the Sinclair family, so I'd advise you to bring more.

men."

There was a little evil smile slowly spreading across her face as she said so.

My dear Jarrett – since you're most afraid of leaving a criminal record, I'll have to send you a surprise gift then.

–

She had no idea that her behavior had made Wyatt's heart beat even faster, and he was really puzzled by himself he had always hated women who were scheming, and his image of Calista was that she was indeed scheming, but somehow he still wanted to draw close to her and couldn't find it in himself to say no to her.

What drugs did she give him?!

Calista was still confused when she alighted from the car. Wyatt was still behaving normally earlier, but once he had driven the car back to the city center, he had suddenly said he had to attend to some matters and got her to get out of the car in the middle of nowhere.

But Calista didn't dwell too long on it. She went to the Housing Rental Center and rented a place with one bedroom, and then went to buy some clothes and necessities, and it was almost dark by the time she returned to the Shang house.

-The moment she reached home, she saw Benedict seated at the dining table.

Calista was still unsure of her feelings towards Benedict. He was biased, but he was still her father.

"You actually remembered to come home!" Yelena was furious.

In the afternoon she and Jonathan had run over to the hotel in a hurry to find that Calista had played them out!

Calista ignored her and sat down at the table, picked up her bowl and started eating, but the other three looked at her without moving. "Why are you looking at me? Aren't you all hungry?"

Benedict frowned. His elder daughter was suffering from some mental health issues and he couldn't just leave it alone. So he said, "Callie, I know your condition is a little special, but you can't refuse treatment and then play Dr. Larkin out like that right?"

Calista continued eating with her head bent low, and this way of ignoring everyone around her was very similar to how she used to be.

Yelena found that the more she looked at Calista, the more she felt that she must be possessed, but she wasn't going to let today's matter go!

She spoke in an authoritative voice, "I have already arranged for Dr. Larkin to come tomorrow afternoon. I know you like to go out and have fun, but you must be at home at 3 p.m. tomorrow!"

The chopsticks in Calista's hand stopped moving, and then she smiled knowingly, directing her sparkling eyes at Yelena, and the cold stare pierced deep into Yelena's heart. "Sure, as long as you agree to one thing. I'll accept the treatment."/

Chapter 33 Bold And Also Crazy

Benedict saw that Calista was willing to cooperate and was overjoyed. “Go ahead and tell me!”

“Dad, Mrs. Fairchild says she’s not feeling well, and seeing that I know a bit about medicine, she’s asked me to stay with the Fairchilds for a few days to accompany her.”

Everyone else at the table exchanged weird glances.

Yelena asked a little nervously, “Not at home again? How long are you going to be there?”

If she stayed outside for too long, how was she going to film Calista in the nude?

Calista smiled and replied, “Not too long, just seven days”

–

Yelena breathed a sigh of relief and thought, seven days it is my plan will still go through even after waiting for seven days.

But she added, “You can go over tonight, but you must return tomorrow afternoon, because it’s very hard to get an appointment with Dr. Larkin.”

Benedict also quickly chipped in, “Come back tomorrow afternoon and see Dr. Larkin, it won’t take up too much time, I’m sure the Fairchilds are understanding enough.”

Calista thought about what needed to be done the next night and nodded, “In that case I’ll go over only from the day after tomorrow.”

Yelena and Benedict both breathed a sigh of relief. It was rare to see Calista so gentle, so they dare not say anything that might agitate her. Only Quincy spotted the little smirk on Calista’s face, and it made her hair stand on end..

But then she thought about how Calista would never be able to face the world again after Jonathan completes his mission, and then the Stafford family will have only one daughter – Quincy!

Calista lowered her eyes and went back to eating. She could guess their hearts even without thinking.

Yelena was going to push back her plans to drug her and film her nude a week later, but she was going to settle Jonathan within the week!

Calista ate and thought coldly, which method would be more exciting to deal a blow to this jerk?

The next night, the night was dark and strong winds blew.

Calista slipped out of the Shang house and ran for the jetty.

The Sinclairs wanted to wash their hands of all illegal businesses and had rejected several opportunities to do such deals, but they were not ready to let go of illegal weapons yet.

And since the amount tonight was fairly large, she was sure that Jarrett would make an appearance.

When she thought about how Wyatt would suddenly interrupt this major operation, she got a little excited. Jarrett's expression would be priceless for sure how could she miss this?

—

Calista was very nimble from her years of practice, plus her heightened sense of sight and hearing, and she made her way easily into the heavily guarded jetty in the cover of the night, and bided her time.

Just then, a large ship approached the jetty.

2/4

Chapter 33 Bold And Also Crazy

It was here!

Calista knew about this matter because in her previous life, there was a shootout here and after a long period of police investigation, they found out that it was two groups of people fighting over the same lot of firearms. Later she also heard that one group was from the Sinclair family, but there was no hard evidence and it was merely a guess.

So tonight she was going to make sure Jarrett bore all the guilt!

The moment the ship docked, many men came to move the goods, and suddenly many large trucks barged into the jetty, creating a scene.

Calista hid behind the large row of shelves and saw that after the trucks had barged in, they started firing their guns, and a gunfight began right in front of her eyes, with real bullets and the sound of people getting killed. The gunshots were fired in quick succession, and since this was the first time Calista had ever witnessed something like this, she suddenly started getting excited for some reason.

She was waiting for Wyatt to arrive. As far as she knew, Wyatt had already made arrangements earlier in the day, and if they arrived now, they'd seize both the culprits and their goods!

In the midst of the gunshots, Calista could see many people coming out from the shadows to counterattack.

The intruder had not expected Jarrett to be prepared for this intrusion and was in a panic. But it was too late to run how...

It was obvious that one side had the upper hand. Jarrett watched from the side coldly. He knew someone was going to try to intercept his goods tonight, so he purposely waited for them so he could take this chance to wipe these enemies out.

Everything was well within his plans, but suddenly they were surrounded by the sound of police sirens!

The sound of the chopper rotor could be heard, and two choppers came flying over the scene, shining bright lights down and scattering the fighting below. A voice came over the chopper loudspeakers, echoing through the whole jetty.

"You have been surrounded! You have been surrounded! Put down your weapons! Put down your weapons!"

They were surrounded? That was impossible! The operation tonight couldn't have been leaked – where the heck did these police come from?

Jarrett was originally watching a good show, but now his expression darkened. Everyone at the jetty started running in all directions, because they knew what awaited them if they got arrested!

In the mess, someone started pulling Jarrett from behind. "Mr. Jarrett, this way!"

Jarrett was still unsure of the situation and ran out with him, only to find that every exit from this huge jetty was jammed with police cars!

This was definitely an ambush!

Jarrett's expression turned cold, texting while he fumed, "We've been betrayed by someone among us!"

Released on June 2, 2024

Chapter 34 Plan Failed

His subordinate was already pale from fear. "This is not the time to talk about this! We're doomed if we get arrested!"

We won't" Jarrett clenched his teeth. "There's still the secret passageway!"

They sprinted towards the shelves where Calista was.

She was determined to send Jarrett to the police, and since they had run in this direction, she guessed they had some hidden escape route.

She gave a wicked smile, then flipped the switch on her rape alarm device, and threw it in their direction.

The high pitched wail of the device terrified the subordinate protecting Jarrett!

"Over there!" The police started running in the direction of the sound.

Left with no choice, Jarrett had to give up using the secret passageway and run in a different direction. from everyone else. He had never been at such a loss before!

Jarrett ran towards the warehouse and thought he saw the shadow that had thrown the alarm device earlier! D*mn it! If I catch that b*stard he's going to die!

Calista hadn't expected Jarrett to be so sharp, but she wasn't easy to catch either!

Calista ran and texted Wyatt at the same time, swiftly gliding her way around the warehouse like a ghost.

It was very noisy outside, but dead silent inside the warehouse. "Come out!"

Jarrett's cold and angry voice made Calista become even more excited. She couldn't wait to see if he could remain this fierce once Wyatt appeared.

Jarrett's eyes were bright in the darkness of the night he couldn't see clearly in the day and so he wore spectacles, but he had excellent night vision, which Calista had not expected.

She only found it strange that even though she was definitely moving faster than Jarrett, he was always able to catch up with her and she just couldn't shake him off.

BANG! Calista had just stuck her head out to check and he fired a shot! If she was that split second too slow, she would have been hit.

Calista turned and ran!

Jarrett wasn't too slow himself either, and was better at running than her, so he caught up with her very quickly.

To Jarrett, the night was as clear as day, but because Calista was all covered up, he did not recognize her.

Calista used one leg to kick the gun out of Jarrett's hands, but because she was weaker in attacking despite being nimble, she could only keep hiding and dodging.

Jarrett only felt that this petite person was very familiar. That mild fragrance and agile body were so familiar but he couldn't place it.

1/3

Chapter 34 Plon Failed

But since this person was after his life, he did not go soft, instead attacking more and more aggressively and every stab of his dagger was meant to kill.

Finally his dagger slit the clothes of his opponent. His eyes focused and he realized his opponent was a womant

The police had finally arrived on scene!

Jarrett stopped moving when he heard the noise, so Calista took this chance and kicked Jarrett onto the floor, and then quickly took off in the dark.

Wyatt heard the noise and ran towards it with his gun ready to shot. The warehouse was surrounded by a hundred policemen or so, so it was just a matter of time before they caught Jarrett.

Wyatt couldn't believe how bold Calista was! Did she know how dangerous these people were? These were people who were not afraid to die, and she dared to come here!

Wyatt didn't know why he was so worried all he thought about was how that girl with a prickly personality might be hurt or even killed! The hand holding his gun suddenly felt unsteady.

Calista...nothing must happen to her!

Jarrett was furious after falling into Calista's trap! He had never offended any woman in his life, and he never thought he'd die at the hands of one!

"Listen, whoever's inside! Put down your weapon and come out and surrender! You have been surrounded!"

Jarrett anxiously hid himself in the warehouse. His white shirt had long turned black all because of that d'mned woman!

Calista also lay somewhere in the darkness, breathing hard. Jarrett was a strong opponent if not for the fact she knew some Kungfu and was able to remain calm throughout, worse things would have happened to her.

But so what if he was strong? One person couldn't defeat so many people by himself, so she was going to see how this man was going to get out of this trap!

Suddenly another voice was heard – a large group of men in suits went straight for Wyatt's superior.

Calista narrowed her eyes was someone here to save Jarrett at this juncture?

–

The man who approached Wyatt's superior, Jasper Wright, was one of Kallum's executive assistants, and Jasper openly addressed him, "Mr. Parker, we have received a reliable tip that the man we want is here, and we are now searching for him."

Levi Parker said, "Then you've made a mistake. The person you want is not here. I have just heard from Mr. Kallum that someone has escaped by boat, and that's the boss of Flame Fangs!"

"What!" Jasper nearly collapsed when he heard this. The head of Flame Fangs had committed countless crimes and he had wanted to arrest him long ago, but never got the chance. Today was his chance!

After thanking Levi, he rounded up his men to go, and told Wyatt to tidy up any loose ends.

Wyatt hid the shock in his heart, and he was glad he had not told Jasper that tonight's deal was connected to the Sinclairs, but he didn't expect that it wasn't just connected to the Sinclairs, but also connected to the Fairchilds!

2/3

Chapter 34 Plan Failed

He scanned the large warehouse. If the Fairchilds were here, then Calista should be safe, right?

"What's going on?" asked Wyatt after Jasper's men had left and he got his own men to put their guns down.

Wyatt continued. "Someone told me Jarrett is here. The Sinclairs and the Fairchilds don't have anything to do with one another why did you help him?"

Before Levi could reply, Jarrett walked out, his handsome face twisted in the dark light. His ragged self shocked both Wyatt and Levi!

—

Jarrett ignored the gun in Wyatt's hand, and asked in a murderous voice. "I want to know too who got this information and who told you I was here?"

A few men came running from behind Levi, and the leader of them went over to help Jarrett to stand properly. "Mr. Jarrett, are you ok?"

"Give me a gun.

Jarrett said those four words so coldly, as if he was frozen. His subordinate did not ask and immediately gave him a gun.

Jarrett took the gun and scanned the area behind him. "Turn on the floodlights! There's a little mouse in here, get her!"

Seeing that Jarrett did not have any good intentions, Wyatt grew anxious. "You want to kill someone in front of me?"

"I don't just want to kill that person, I'm going to kill you too!"

The switch was pulled and all the lights turned on. Jarrett's men ran to find the person he wanted, but Jarrett aimed his gun at Wyatt when he saw him try to move.

Tell me, who told you this!" Levi saw this and immediately tried to mediate the situation.

"Mr. Jarrett, don't act rashly. Mr. Wyatt knows what he's doing, and he didn't tell anybody else that you're here."

How did he expect him to stay calm?!

He had suffered a great loss today, he now owed the Fairchilds a huge favor for saving him, and till now he didn't even know who his opponent earlier was! He was all ready to kill someone now!

Suddenly there was a noise from behind the cartons, and Jarrett fired a shot. He saw that person run out and so he started his chase!

Send Gifts

40

Released on June 2, 2024

Chapter 35 A Woman Full Of Needles

第90%量

She was surrounded on three sides, so Calista was finally caught. But strangely enough, she wasn't afraid at all because she still had a trump card in her hands Jarrett's younger brother. In fact, she had way too many trump cards.

—

She gripped one needle between her two fingers, turned and saw Jarrett's murderous face! "Go ahead and run! Aren't you really good at running?"

Jarrett held up the gun to shoot her legs. Calista curled her lips slightly and said, "If I were you, I wouldn't do that."

Jarrett narrowed his eyes and looked with a face of disbelief at Calista. This voice! So this woman was...

Calista removed her mask..

Jarrett suddenly felt his breathing become heavy. He'd never thought he would land in Calista's hands! What a terrible irony!

But the next minute, Jarrett pressed the gun against her head, his eyes blazing with fury! "Why did you do this."

Jarrett never thought that even though he was extremely angry, he also felt hurt and bitter at the same time, and this strange feeling in his heart made him unable to just kill her with one shot.

Calista looked at him in the eye fearlessly. "I'm helping you...there's a traitor in the Sinclair family. Even if you get your hands on this batch of firearms, after a month, your second uncle will take these to revolt against the family and kill a lot of people, so I'm just sending these firearms to where they rightfully belong. What did I do wrong?"

She wasn't lying the shootout within the family even reached the city and caused the death of a few dozen people.

Her original intention was to make life difficult for Jarrett, but it wasn't a bad idea to save some people at the same time.

Jarrett should have asked something like 'How did you know or even just simply not believe her words, but what Calista did not expect was that Jarrett only whacked her head twice with the gun and asked angrily, "Then why did you try to harm me just now?!"

Since she knew everything, then didn't she know that if he were arrested tonight, he might not land in jail but it would ruin the rest of his life? Why did she have to harm him like that?

Calista threw him a look and then laughed wickedly. "I just don't like your face, ok?"

This answer made Jarrett bloodshot from fury!

He gripped the gun even harder and used his other hand to pull Calista's collar and pulled her right in front of him, forcing her to stare right into his eyes.

"You were the one who told Wyatt about tonight's operation, right? How did you know my plan? How do you know my second uncle is going to turn on me? You'd better explain yourself now, otherwise I'll kill you!"

— — in -has an

1/3

Chapter 35 A Woman Full Of Needles

me then?"

"You!"

Calista stared back as fiercely! Looks like Jarrett still hasn't figured out what's the situation now, she thought to herself. At this time he needed information from her, so he should have the attitude of someone who needs something.

She knew that he wouldn't kill her because she knew about the betrayal.

And even if this didn't work, he would tolerate everything for the sake of his younger brother!.

"Mr. Jarrett!" Wyatt quickly walked over. "This whole thing started with your family, Calista did not do anything wrong. If you dare to touch her."

He held up the voice recorder in his hands and said in a serious voice, "Then I'll have to expose everything. you've done tonight. There'll be plenty of people who can't wait to bring you down."

—

Calista shot a glance at Wyatt. She was surprised while it was true that she had used him quite a bit, she didn't expect him to stand up for her at the risk of offending the Sinclairs.

Levi stood at the side and tried to advise him as well, "Mr. Jarrett, Ms. Stafford is the fiancée of Mr. Kallum, so it's better if you don't behave like this."

Jarrett glared coldly at Calista and laughed as he asked, "So these people are why you have the guts to be so bold? I tell you now if I want you to die, I don't care who the hell you are!"

Even though he was glaring so intently at her, Calista's heart remained miraculously calm. "If you want to kill me then go ahead. I want to see how long your brother can live without me!"

Jarrett narrowed his eyes, his face threatening! "Oh? Then you can go to hell!"

Calista heard him release the gun's safety catch, and she tilted her body to one side, the needle in her hand ready to release anytime!

BANG! Just before Jarrett fired, his gun was shot out of his hands by another gun! Calista kept away the needle in her hands and looked towards the door.

"Mr. Jarrett, if you kill my wife, I will kill you in return I just helped you and you want to repay me with evil?"

Kallum kept his gun away and walked over. Seeing that Calista was fine, he reached out and held her in his arms without saying a word, his sharp features emphasized in the dim light, and his eyes gleaming in the night!

Kallum's sudden appearance knocked some sense back into Jarrett, but when he saw the two of them. standing together, the anger that he just suppressed suddenly started rising again – Calista was so bold because she had the support of this man!

If Calista knew what he was thinking, she would have stuck a needle in him and told him that she was stronger than him even without Kallum!

“You did help me...” Jarrett laughed bitterly, his bloodshot eyes still staring daggers at Calista, “But I’m in this state all thanks to Calista! If not for her, I could have come out unscathed!”

2/3

11:52 Mon, 27 May G

Chapter 35 A Woman Full Of Needles

Kallum smiled arrogantly, “Didn’t she also tell you that your second uncle would turn on you? If that true, then you still have to thank her for tonight! Without these firearms, your second uncle would not dare to do anything.”

Calista glared at Kallum as he continued to hold on to her. Why couldn’t he just talk to Jarrett himself? Why hold on to her?

Jarrett saw Calista look lovingly at Kallum and became even more irritated.

He snorted, “How could a woman like her possibly know anything like that? I think she made it up because she was afraid I’d kill her!”

Kallum did not change his stance, and said confidently, “But I believe her.”

As long as he believed her, Jarrett had no reason to doubt her!

Calista felt her body go stiff and her expression darkened.

Kallum was going to protect her all the way, so there was nothing left for Jarrett to say anymore. He looked at Calista, unwilling to lose to her, and said, “But this woman really has a lot of tricks up her sleeve, isn’t Mr. Kallum afraid to be cheated by her?”

Kallum’s deep-set eyes calmly glanced at Calista, before he lightly snorted in reply, “She’s my what business is it of yours?”

Jarrett pursed his lips together tightly. Tonight was not his night at all every person he met made him. angrier and angrier!

He took a deep breath and shouted, “Let’s go!”

If he stayed on any longer, even if he didn’t die from getting beaten, he would die from getting angry!

Levi was also in shock – he didn't expect his big boss to appear over such a small thing! And he was here for Calista! He began to worry that his boss was going to blame him for what happened to Calista.

Kallum saw that Jarrett had left, so he nodded at Wyatt. "Thank you Mr. Wyatt for telling me."

Calista glared angrily at Wyatt when she heard this She was still wondering why appeared so it was Wyatt who spilled the beans!

Wyatt didn't feel worthy of Kallum's 'Mr. Wyatt, and hastily responded politely.

Kallum suddenly

Earlier he was afraid that something bad would happen to Calista when he received her texts, so he decided to tell Kallum and all that happened proved that he had made the right decision.

Send Gifts

40

Released on June 2, 2024

Chapter 36 Mr Kallum Please Behave Yourself

Kallum looked annoyed as he glared at Levi. "Go change places with Quintus he's much more alert than you."

Even though he didn't get scolded, Levi felt upset in his heart, but he knelt down on one knee and acknowledged the instruction.

He had been by Kallum's side for nearly seven years now! And now Kallum was casting him aside for a fiancée he didn't even love! But of course he didn't dare to say anything, and only obeyed all commands.

Calista thought this was ridiculous. She broke free from Kallum and coldly said, "We're not fiancé and fiancée anymore, Mr. Kallum. please behave yourself!"

Calista's merciless words froze Kallum's expression.

When he saw others looking at them, he clenched his teeth and dragged Calista outside. "You heartless woman! I'm helping you here! If you weren't my fiancée, tomorrow Jarrett would destroy your entire family!"

Calista laughed coldly. "Did I ask you for help? You're just being nosy!"

Without him, she would have made it out alive anyway, just maybe not as easily.

But she still didn't need his help!

With that thought in mind, she shook Kallum's hand off violently.

Kallum was going to be driven mad by this woman!!

Sure! How stupid of him! It was his own fault that he ran over shamelessly the moment he heard that she was in danger, and in the end she didn't even care!

But when he saw Calista walk away quickly and nearly disappeared into the night, Kallum cursed himself and went after her!

"What are you doing!" Calista suddenly shouted, because Kallum had suddenly put a hand around her waist and lifted her feet off the ground.

"What am I doing? I'm sending you back! Otherwise where do you think you're going all by yourself this late at night?!"

He felt that he seemed a little too shameless by sticking to her like this, so he added on, "My mum would be upset if anything happened to you, otherwise you think I'd bother about whether you're dead or alive?"

Calista thought, indeed, he came for the sake of his mother.

She was glad she did not get the wrong idea.

If Kallum knew that Calista would believe anything he said, he would probably strangle her to death from anger.

When she saw Kallum driving towards the Stafford residence, Calista couldn't help but say, "Don't go to the Stafford residence."

1/4

Mon, 27 May

Chapter 36 Mr Kallum Please Behave Yourself)

Kallum raised an eyebrow. "If you don't want to go the Stafford residence then where?"

Calista was slightly injured and didn't want to go back. Anyway Yelena would find out she snuck out in the middle of the night by watching the CCTV. It was better that she just stayed the night in the rented apartment rather than for Yelena to find her injured. After the apartment was all ready for her to move in.

So Calista gave directions to her apartment and said with a straight face, "It's so late, I don't want my father. to worry. But since I don't want to stay in the school hostel for the next semester, I've rented an apartment just outside the school. Go there."

Kallum furrowed his brows. Calista wanted to stay elsewhere by herself?

—

but now

He glanced at Calista. Previously her thick fringe had covered her eyes and so it wasn't so bad she exuded a different aura altogether. Her features sharp and mesmerizing, her sparkling eyes alone were enough to stumble people – but she didn't want to stay in the school hostel and the Staffords agreed to that?

Was this the way the Staffords treated his fiancée?

Kallum ignored what she said and started driving towards his own house. Since she didn't want to the Stafford residence, then she could go to the Fairchild house!

When she saw that Kallum wasn't listening to her, Calista asked coldly, "Where are you bringing me to?"

Kallum let out a humph and said, "Tonight you're coming to my place, I don't care what happens to you. tomorrow!"

Go to his house? Over her dead body!

Calista didn't want any further unnecessary interaction with Kallum. She coldly shouted, "You don't have to care what happens to me from now on, stop the car!"

Kallum ignored her and continued driving towards Havenrock Villa and had already locked the car doors.

Calista started getting angry and breathed hard – how did she not notice in her previous life that Kallum. was such a busybody!

There were very few cars on the road at this hour, so Calista suddenly took a needle and pointed it at his neck. "You know what I'm capable of. If you don't want me to stab you with this needle, stop the car!"

Kallum became angrier when he heard her threaten him, and he immediately stepped on the brakes, arms.

grabbing her hand and pulling her into his

Calista didn't expect Kallum to be so strong. She tried to fight back but Kallum was holding onto her very tightly. He whispered dangerously into her ear, "Looks like you're not going to stop if I don't teach you a lesson huh?"

Calista couldn't move her hands, and her body was pressed against his. She looked at Kallum's face just inches away, and suddenly she felt fear. She suddenly realized that she was afraid of Kallum, afraid of something happening between them again!

So she started struggling even harder!

Kallum held her tightly, her body curves rubbing against his body through the thin fabric of her clothes, and her cold fragrance became a fire when he breathed it in!

27 MB

Chapter 36 Mr Kallum Please Behave Yourself

trying

90%

He saw that Calista was very hard to escape and suddenly became strangely angered by this, and without thinking, he bent down and kissed her lips.

Calista opened her eyes wide!

The manly smell of Kallum hit her nostrils, that smell clear and dry, like sunshine.

And the heat from his body was going to melt her arms....

The effort to move her body made Calista whimper subconsciously, and now that she was sitting in his embrace and held tightly, the movement of her body made the atmosphere even hotter, the more she moved, the warmer it became!

Kallum was not in the most comfortable position either if he had known how sweet she tasted he wouldn't kiss her! She wasn't as aggressive as usual when she was being kissed, and her soft and supple body was still struggling subconsciously, and the struggling was like a silent sort of seduction, setting a purple blaze alight in Kallum's eyes.

"Ouch..." Kallum suddenly released her lips, but saw that Calista was glaring at him fiercely, not satisfied with just biting him.

But there was an amorous air about those sparkling eyes, and it made him go numb. So Kallum wasn't angry, and he even laughed.

"This is the second time you've bitten me..."

His unique voice was enticingly hoarse, and Calista's face turned red.

"If you try again, I'll bite you!"

Her fierce threat sounded like an invitation to Kallum.

He suddenly smiled broadly and then pushed her down.

Her soft body was stuck, and Calista tried to dodge him but couldn't. In her anger, she could only try her best to bite him!

But Kallum's reactions were quick, and she didn't get to bite him even once, instead her lips meeting Kallum's again and again and even sucked on. The two of them had both their bodies and lips intertwined, and it looked more like they were kissing each other interisely!

Each attempt to attack and defend ended up looking so amorous. Calista started becoming short of breath, and her body was heating up against her will, and to make matters worse, she could feel Kallum getting aroused!

D*mn it! Kallum was actually getting aroused!

Her two legs kicked uselessly, rubbing against him in a rhythm, making Kallum kiss her even more crazily if she didn't stop him now, he might take her in the car right there and then!

Suddenly someone knocked on the car window!

Kallum was stunned by this interruption, and Calista took the chance to quickly push him aside and climbed back into her seat, panting heavily.

3/4

Chapter 36 Mr Kallum Please Behave Yourself

Her embarrassed yet angry face was as moving as a rose with thorns, and Kallum was as if in a daze, wanting to continue. Then he suddenly realized that his body had reacted naturally—d'mn it! He was attracted to Calista....

Send Gifts

40

11:52 Mon, 27 May

Released on June 2, 2024

Chapter 37 Feeling Her Pain

The knocking sound on the car window started again, and Kallum rolled down the car window in irritation. The person outside had not expected the car owner to be so young and good looking, and thought it was little wonder he had such luck.....

Even though the glass was tinted and nobody could see into the car, but since the car wasn't moving and kept shaking. It was obvious what was happening.

“What is it?”

Kallum spat all three words murderously, causing the man outside to lose some ground, and he started stuttering. “You... You're taking up the whole road!”

If it were someplace else it wouldn't have been so bad, but Kallum's car was parked right on the zebra crossing. Even though it was late at night, there were still traffic cameras that might catch his car – otherwise he wouldn't have interrupted others having a good time!

Kallum's face immediately darkened.

He even began to feel frustrated at himself if he had just waited a few more seconds and stopped by the roadside, nobody would have interrupted him...

Wait a minute! Interrupt? He was definitely not aroused by this woman!

Kallum started driving at a high speed, feeling very upset with himself.

This time Calista was very quiet, and didn't say a word as she watched him drive towards Havenrock Villa.

But she was also feeling very confused inside. She couldn't forgive herself for suddenly giving in to her emotions earlier too. If her body had not suddenly felt limp, she should have been able to push Kallum off. If her fingers weren't so weak that she couldn't hold onto a needle, Kallum wouldn't have had his way with her either.

Kallum was also silent – this wasn't the first time he had such a strong desire for Calista. Perhaps he really should go look for a woman.

After alighting, Calista didn't say anything and headed straight for the guest room. The butler looked at her strangely, but when he looked back at Kallum, he let out a small gasp.

"Mr. Kallum, are you hurt?"

Kallum looked down at himself and saw that his jacket had some blood stains. After getting slashed by Jarrett, Calista had used a needle to stop the bleeding and had bandaged the wound very simply, but the kiss earlier was so intense, so the wound started bleeding again, but it was not visible through her black clothing.

It suddenly dawned on Kallum Calista was hurt?

Kallum told the butler to quickly call Shaun over, and then suddenly remembered that actually Calista could treat herself, so he grabbed the first aid kit and went to the guest room. When he reached the room door, he suddenly stopped himself.

What was wrong with him? Why was he so anxious?

1/4

VIG

11:52 Mon, 27 May

Chapter 37 Feeling Her Pain

When he thought about how he had gone all out to rescue her and she turned around to scold him for being a busybody, he felt very misunderstood.

This woman was biased against him and didn't appreciate what he did at all! She was hurt but pretended to be fine the whole journey, obviously not wanting to worry him. Oh please, he couldn't be bothered about whether she was dead or alive!

With this thought, Kallum turned to walk away, but his feet refused to move, as if he was tied to the ground!

He cursed himself and knocked on the door anyway, but nobody answered.

Kallum was afraid that something had happened to Calista, so he opened the door and walked in to find that there were several pieces of clothing on the floor. Black top, black pants and a bloodied bra, all the way to the bathroom.

Kallum froze. Calista was bathing?

He couldn't help but think of how Calista had wanted to prove her innocence a few nights back and stripped in front of him....

Actually he didn't mean to be so fierce that day, but when he saw the dubious looking scratch marks all over her, he couldn't control himself and wanted to flare up!

He wanted to protect her, but his anger made him want to humiliate her!

Just as he was still in a daze, the bathroom door opened. Calista froze when she saw Kallum.

She was holding large towel and wiping her hair dry, her long black hair wet and plastered on her well defined body, emphasizing the scary long red slit on her chest.

When those sparkling eyes looked at him in confusion, that wound didn't count for anything – she was like a perfect Venus de Milo, every line on her body exuding beauty.

Their eyes met and Kallum violently turned himself around, but Calista did not scream.

She calmly wrapped the towel around herself and pushed her hair to the back, revealing the wound on her chest completely.

Kallum was still waiting for her to get angry or shout in surprise, but there was no sound or movement behind him, so he turned around only to find Calista sitting at the dresser, facing the mirror and checking her wound.

The wound was quite deep and very painful, but Calista liked this sort of pain.

She kept feeling like everything was very surreal, as if this new life was not real but just a dream. That this could be a result of her just going inad from being locked up at the research facility, and her subconscious had locked itself and created an alternate universe.

That was why she was so bold and outrageous from the time she was reborn. She had thrown away all reservations, doing anything she wanted, and had become like a different person.

Only pain made her feel real again.

She smiled lightly and tilted her head to look at Kallum. "Since you've brought it here, aren't you going to give it to me?"

11:52 Mon, 27 May

Chapter 37 Feeling Her Pain

Kallum looked at her wound and in a serious voice, "The family doctor is on his way here."

"I can do it myself, give it to me."

Kallum frowned.

He hated it when she became cold and rational. Even when she was being prickly and argumentative that was better than this pool of still water.

But since she was hurt, Kallum hid his unhappiness and passed her the first aid kit, and then sent a text to the butler to tell Shaun not to come. After all Calista was a more highly skilled doctor than Shaun.

The first aid kit had everything she needed, including needles and thread for sewing cuts.

The wound had stopped bleeding after she had performed acupuncture on herself, but it was still red and gaping, and looked terrifying

Kallum could tell immediately that was a knife wound, a knife that had slashed her vertically.

He suddenly felt anger rising in his heart, and he clenched his teeth and asked, "Was this inflicted by Jarrett?"

Calista didn't reply. Instead, she just wore a pair of gloves, and disinfected the wound very roughly, causing some blood to land on the white skin of her chest, each drop as bright as red plum blossoms blooming in the snow.

Kallum grabbed her wrist and said, "Can't you be a bit gentler?!"

His voice was very fierce, as if he was the one she was being rough with.

He threatened, "If you don't do this more carefully, I'll get Dr. Yancey to sew you up!"

Calista looked at him weirdly, as if she was trying to say it was none of his business whether she was gentle on herself or not, since he wasn't the one feeling the pain anyway.

But because Kallum was watching her like a hawk, Calista slowed down her actions and looked gentler, and Kallum was appeased.

But when he saw her pick up the needle and prepare to sew, even though Kallum wasn't a doctor, he knew this wasn't the right procedure!

"Are you going to apply any anesthesia?"

Calista weakly replied, "There isn't/any."

Anesthesia could be dangerous if not handled properly, and since the Fairchilds were humans like everyone else, it was illegal to keep anesthesia and similar substances in a first aid kit.

"I'll get some!" Kallum stood up, but added on one more thing just in case. "Don't do anything, just wait here!"

After she saw Kallum leave the room in a hurry, Calista smirked and continued sewing herself up.

3/4

11:52 Mon, 27 May 20

Chapter 37 Feeling Her Pain

The girl in the mirror generally remained expressionless, but when it was really painful, she would frown, but her lips were upturned. Pain meant that she was alive. The more pain she felt, the more alive she was.

Send Gifts

40

11:53 Mon, 27 May G

Released on June 2, 2024

Chapter 38 Do Not Torture Yourself This Way Anymore.

Yelena was right about one thing she might really be mentally ill.

90%

Kallum came back to the scene of her sewing herself up, and the anesthesia in his hands was pointless now.

He could tell that Calista was in pain, because every time the needle pierced her skin, she would purse her lips together tightly. Then when the blood stained thread came out from the other side, her body would shiver a little.

She could feel everything, but she was able to tolerate pain without making a single sound.

This new knowledge made Kallum feel strangely uncomfortable, Calista was never like this. She was strong willed yet fragile, stubborn yet weak, but now she had completely gotten rid of her weak side, and now she was just obstinate!

All this happened after that one fateful night. What was the story behind her body full of cuts and bruises that made her change so drastically?

If he had given her more attention, perhaps he would have noticed that there was something wrong with her earlier, and then she might not have become so extreme.

When he thought about this, he felt his heart ache, and felt that it was too kind a punishment to sentence those two scoundrels to life imprisonment!

“If it really hurts, inject some anesthesia!”

He tried to pass her the syringe because he couldn't bear to see her in pain.

Calista's forehead was covered in a thin layer of sweat from the pain, and her eyes were all teary. When she looked up at him, Kallum felt like he couldn't breathe.

“No need.”

Perhaps it was because she was in great pain and thus feeling happier, she wasn't so irritated by Kallum anymore. She was especially curious about the guilt and frustration in his eyes.

She continued sewing and Kallum couldn't force her to use anesthesia. He could only stand by the side and watch her pierce the skin around the wound again and again, and for a moment, he felt that every needle was piercing his own skin.

Finally she let out a whimper through her pursed lips, and Kallum couldn't stand it anymore. He stuck his arm in front of her and said coldly, "Don't endure the pain anymore. If you feel pain, just bite me!"

He just didn't want her to continue torturing herself like that!

Calista scoffed as she looked up at him, her teary sparkling eyes reflecting her laughter. "If you're afraid that I'm in pain, then kiss me!"

Kallum was still trying to process this in his mind, but his body had already started moving towards her pale lips, but Calista used two of her gloved fingers to stop him at the last minute. Their faces were now very close to each other, and he saw the sparkles in her eyes twinkle, making him stop breathing!

She laughed, and it made her beautiful face look more malicious than before. "Are you being so obedient

1/4

Mon, 27

Chapter 38 Do Not Torture Yourself This Way Anymore

Kallum froze.

Love? Calista? You've got to be kidding!

Calista saw a flash of rejection in his eyes, and took that as his answer, and she pursed her lips into a smile.

"If it's not out of love, then why do you want to kiss me?"

I

Kallum's eyebrows were tightly knit at this point.

He hadn't thought of what to say, but Calista helped him to speak up. "It's because you can't believe it."

"A woman who loved you for more than ten years suddenly doesn't love you anymore, and this is like a challenge to you. All this time only you can choose to dislike others, but nobody has the right to abandon you. So you want to get back this infatuation from me, isn't it?"

She spoke very logically, but it was from the worst possible point of view of him. Kallum knew that was not how he thought, because in fact his reason was very simple...

He looked straight at the woman before him, and suddenly his thoughts darkened.

All he wanted was for this woman to surrender everything to him, and he wanted to possess all of her! He wanted her to remove her spiky armor for him, and he wanted to make her mesmerizing eyes go pink from excitement!

EA

This sudden flurry of thoughts shocked Kallum.

He had desire for Calista! An unstoppable desire! It was not because he couldn't accept what she had become, and it was not out of guilt.

But he wasn't able to say any of this, instead hoarsely saying, "There's one more stitch to go, I'll do it!"

Calista was stunned, but Kallum had already put on gloves and took the needle from her. Then with an extremely serious face, he pierced the needle through her skin.

He saw Calista's body tremble slightly when he pierced her skin, and it even upset her breathing pattern. So he took every bit of caution and steadily finished the last stitch.

The plum blossom-like blood drops moved up and down along with her chest as she breathed, and Kallum could not hold in his desires anymore, and he kissed those eyes that were teary from the pain. This light touch left both of them trembling-

The air started heating up, and after that kiss, he started staring at Calista's lips, his Adam's apple moving, his gaze dim.

Calista narrowed her eyes slightly and did not slip into this amorous air. Instead she stared back at him curiously, as if she was trying to judge if he was going to kiss her or not.

After some moments of silence, Kallum suddenly pulled himself back and ran out. D*mn it!

Calista's calmness was a humiliation to him. His pride did not allow for only him to fall into temptation

2/4

Chapter 38 Do Not Torture Yourself This Way Anymore

but the other to remain unaffected.

But after he had finally run back to his room, those mesmerizing eyes of her remained deeply etched in his head. He saw the fresh blood drops on his gloves and after freezing for a moment, he licked the gloves. Clean of the blood as if he were possessed!

Had he gone crazy?!

The next day, Yelena realized that Calista wasn't home and wanted to make a scene, but someone from the Fairchilds sent Calista back before she could do so. Benedict felt that his daughter was still young, and even though she was engaged to Kallum, she shouldn't be too close to him.

But then when he thought about how strange Calista's behavior had become, perhaps it was better for her to be with someone she likes..

So he decided against scolding her, and only told her not to do this again.

Calista naturally agreed. In the afternoon, Jonathan appeared as agreed. He looked forward to this arrangement of having a daily psychiatric treatment at 3pm, because Calista was simply too beautiful. It was a beauty that wasn't only on the outside, but a dangerous sort of beauty, a great beauty who was a combination of both sharpness and indifference – Jonathan was very sure that absolutely nobody could escape her charm.

To make it easier for Jonathan to do his work, Yelena made arrangements to make sure there were no servants left in the house and even brought her own daughter out. She didn't intend for Jonathan to do anything with Calista this week, but she thought it was good for them to get closer to one another, and better still, if Calista could fall for Jonathan!

So the moment Jonathan entered the house, there were no servants in the large living room, and Calista was sitting on the sofa by herself, drinking.

She swirled the red wine in the crystal glass with her fingers and looked like a cross between the great goddesses Aphrodite and Athena. When her eyes landed on Jonathan, he felt like she could see right through him.

"Hello Ms. Stafford, pleasure to meet you. Before we start the treatment, please allow me to introduce myself again..."

He quickly put away all the greed and covetousness in his eyes and started talking excitedly, but before he could finish talking, Calista held up her hand to stop him and even poured him a glass of wine. This attitude was definitely much better than the first time when she splashed tea in his face.

Jonathan was quite sure she did have some mental issues, but this didn't have any effect on her charm. He took the glass from her as if he were very flattered by her, and because he was in close proximity to her, he drank everything down in one gulp anxiously.

Calista then smiled. "Thement is not urgent, Dr. Larkin, why don't you have a listen to this first?"

She passed him her cell phone, and Jonathan had completely let down his guard. But the moment he clicked the sound file open, he could hear the familiar moaning of Yelena, causing him to drop the glass in his hand in shock, and the glass shattered on the floor.

Vengeful Rebirth

Released on June 2, 2024

Chapter 39 Naughty But Adorable Woman

He quickly turned to stare at Calista, his expression becoming more and more nervous, sweat drops appearing on his forehead as the voices in the recording played clearly, Calista smiled calmly.

"Dr. Larkin, do you know what sort of influence the Staffords have? If this recording gets to my father, not matter how gentle a man he is, he will make sure your reputation goes down the drain."

The words 'reputation go down the drain' sent Jonathan into a panic and he dropped the phone to the floor. He quickly bent over to pick it up in fright, but Calista stepped on his hand, and the broken glass pieces stabbed into his hand.

He screamed in pain but nobody came to his rescue. He tried to take his hand away but Calista was too strong. and he was too scared to try to fight back. "Ms. Stafford, I've underestimated you! Yes, yes it was Yelena who seduced me first! You know, people like me have to listen to what she says, right? Ms. Stafford, 1. beg you! Let me off this time! I won't do this again!"

More sweat drops appeared on his forehead, but it wasn't out of fear but out of pain! His left hand was full of glass shards and it hurt him tremendously.

Calista peered down at Jonathan who was bent over and hands on the floor and laughed a little. "Dr. Larkin, you're mistaken. I have no intention of exposing your dirty deeds."

She had no such intention but she was still stepping so hard on his hand?!

At that moment, Jonathan suddenly felt like crawling away, but he was still within sight of Calista and couldn't move away at all.

"Dr. Larkin, you know that I'm sick, so my brain is full of strange ideas, but I've never had a chance to fulfil of them. But your conversation has given me some inspiration, and I've thought of a wonderful game to play. You wanna play?"

any

Jonathan obviously had no choice but to play, right? He quickly nodded and Calista finally took her foot away. His hand was already a bloodied mess, and the extent of the injury was terrifying.

Calista put a card on the table and said, "There's a million dollars on this card, why don't you do something for me? After you complete this mission I'll give you another two million."

Jonathan was holding onto his hand, and all he wanted was to get away from this demon! He didn't want money anymore. He wanted to leave!

"Since you're already here, you can't escape really. I know your parents are in Machia and you have a wife and a younger sister living in Loang. I'm more formidable than you think so if you agitate a sick person like me and incur some sort of bad reaction from me, that won't be too good for you, don't you think so?"

Every word she said made Jonathan's face paler by one shade. She knew everything! Everything!

"You...what do you

you want me

to do?

Jonathan looked up at Calista and felt he was looking at a demon!

Calista smiled, "I just need you to be obedient and help me do one thing, and I'll give you two million. Do two things and I'll give you three million. If you stay on my side, you'll be rewarded beyond your imagination."

Chapter 89 Haugity But Adorable Weman

Calista's generosity made Jonathan continue to hold his bleeding hand, his expression changing several times

Seeing that he was still hesitating. Calista smiled again, "Yelena didn't tell you who my fiancé is huh?".

Jonathan looked at Calista, his face already drenched in sweat. Did this woman come from some amazing background?

Calista just laughed, "My fiancé is Kallum Fairchild, not sure if you've heard of him."

Kallum Fairchild?!!

Jonathan felt his body go limp and he simply collapsed onto the sofa.

Calista and Kallum's engagement was only known in the elite circles, so if Yelena did not mention this, Jonathan would have never known. And now that he knew about it, he suddenly felt like his soul was being shredded into pieces.

The Fairchilds were an aristocratic family, becoming more and more prosperous with each generation!

As a doctor he knew much about wealthy families, so he was very well informed about the Fairchilds. They were not just a corporation but a wealthy and powerful conglomerate!

Calista watched his face change several colors before swirling her wine glass and asked directly, "Got it?"

Jonathan clenched his teeth hard. "I'll listen to you!"

Calista went phew and then smiled as she downed the glass of wine. "I look forward to working with you."

The next day, Calista woke up in her rented apartment.

Yelena didn't believe her excuse about going to stay at the Fairchilds, but as long as she went home daily at the right time to do her 'psychiatric treatment, Yelena didn't object to her staying outside.

Calista rubbed her eyes, and then started practicing once she was more awake. After going through so much pain, her body's active energy was increasing and becoming stronger. Calista saw that she had purged a lot of toxins from her body, so she went to bathe.

When she came out, she realized there was someone sitting on the sofa. Thankfully this time Calista had learnt her lesson and walked out in her pajamas – otherwise she'd have been indecently exposed again.

“Jarrett?”

Calista was surprised he had come looking for her so quickly.

“Are you here to beg me?” asked she. Jarrett had regained his usual hefarious demeanor, and there was no trace of that uncontrollable fury he displayed two nights ago, all ready to kill her. Now he was dressed in a suit and wearing his glasses and looked like a young successful businessman.

It wasn't hard to find where Calista was staying. Jarrett saw that her reaction was very calm and felt like this wasn't fun anymore. “As Ms. Stafford has said, I'm here to beg you.”

Calista scanned him and then sat down on the next armchair. She used a towel to dry her hair as she said, “Since I've already taken your deposit, then I will definitely save your brother. But then you slashed me the other night, how do we settle this?”

2/3

chapter 39 Naughty But Adorable Woman

garrett's eyes became dangerous behind the lenses of his glasses, and he stared back at Calista, as if he was about to stare a hole in this woman who didn't seem to know better!

I don't remember wrongly, Ms. Stafford almost got me arrested on that night, but now you want compensation. Don't you think you're going too far?”

Calista lightly snorted. “Smuggling is an offence, and possession of illegal firearms is a bigger crime. None of those guys at the jetty were good guys anyway, so what's wrong with calling the police?”

Jarrett pursed his lips together, the eyes behind his lenses looking more and more malicious.

“And as for you, if you hadn’t confirmed that something’s up with your second uncle, why would you come here? I’ve given you such an important piece of information, why do you say asking for compensation is going too far?”

Jarrett relaxed, his lips curled up in a smile. “Ms. Stafford is right, this information deserves some remuneration.”

He stood up and walked right in front of Calista, and asked teasingly, “So what do you want? Me?”

Calista continued drying her hair and replied calmly. “Why, you want to go up against Kallum?”

“What you’ve fought for becomes more valuable, no?”

Calista nodded and glanced up at him. “You’re not bad, you can be my backup then.”

Jarrett laughed. This was the first time someone dared to say he could be a backup lover! This woman was really asking to die!

In the next moment, Jarrett’s gun was up against Calista’s head, and she froze and stopped drying her hair. “Ok what do you want?”

Jarrett slowly wiped the smile of his face and his expression became extremely cold, and there was a murderous glint in his eyes.

“You’re a really incredible person and you know a lot of things. Others would have been easily manipulated by you, but you don’t understand what sort of person I am at all. You think I would allow someone with cruel intentions and an unknown agenda to save my younger brother?”

Send Gifts

40

Released on June 2, 2024

Chapter 40 You Are Mistaken

The unlocking of the safety catch was heard very clearly in the small room.

He laughed coldly. “I will put away all the ones who can’t be controlled or pose a threat to me. If you thought that I won’t bear to kill you because your little seduction game has made me interested in you, I’m afraid I have to disappoint you.”

Jarrett said this while hoping to see panic and despair on Calista's face.

He had come all the way here prepared to kill her! She was way too mysterious and impossible to control, and she knew too much about the Sinclairs. So even if he ended up offending Kallum, Calista had to die!

But everyone knew how much Kallum hated Calista. So saving her the last time was probably merely out of his sense of righteousness and responsibility.

Calista merely laughed.

This unexpected reaction made Jarrett frown, and when her beautiful sparkling eyes looked up at him, Jarrett suddenly felt his breathing stop...

Then suddenly his hand was in great pain! A needle was stuck on the back of his hand, making his hand go numb instantly. The gun landed on the sofa, and Jarrett immediately made a grab for it with his other hand, but Calista grabbed his hand and pulled hard, flipping him over and then used her body weight to press him down on the sofa.

Now the barrel of the gun was on Jarrett's head.

Jarrett had clearly underestimated his opponent – he did not expect that Calista's needles were able to do something like this.

Calista used the gun to whack his head very hard twice before she calmed down. "Mr. Sinclair, this is what you did to me the last time, how does it feel?"

Jarrett's forehead had turned red from the impact, and his glasses had fallen to one side, revealing his long and cold eyes, staring icily at Calista.

"You've got several tricks up your sleeve."

Calista laughed, "Who doesn't have an ultimate move?"

She continued to point the gun at him, and used her other hand to pinch Jarrett's face, and said maliciously, "Also, you said I don't understand you at all. That's true, because I don't need to."

An evil smile spread across her face. "If you choose to be obedient, then listen to everything I say. If you choose to be disobedient, then I'm going to make your life hell until you become obedient! So why should I understand you?"

She was pinching him very hard, as if Jarrett's face was a piece of dough for kneading!

Jarrett was thoroughly humiliated, "Bloody hell! Let go of my face!"

Calista pretended that she didn't hear anything and used even more force to pinch him! In her previous life she could only see this man from afar, so since she had the chance this time round, she wanted to

1/4

Mon, 27 May

Chapter 40 You Are Mistaken

90%

She clicked her tongue as she praised him. "Mr. Sinclair, your skincare routine is not bad huh, your face is pretty soft."

Jarrett struggled for a while but just couldn't get out of Calista's grip. His anger had reached boiling point, and his eyes were staring daggers at her now.

"Calista, don't you consider the consequences of your actions?"

The Sinclairs were a family that the Staffords needed to respect! How dare she!

Calista smiled calmly, and the hand that was kneading his face just patted his face and she looked down at him. "The consequences is merely death, and death is merely..."

There was a tinge of loneliness in that unfinished sentence, and it somehow managed to pause Jarrett's anger.

But Calista had gotten up.

"Ok, end of fun and games.

She placed the gun gently on the table and glared at Jarrett in irritation before she coldly said, "If you dare to point a gun at me again, I'll incapacitate your hand! Every time you point it at me, I'll incapacitate a limb! And I mean what I say!"

This bold threat stunned Jarrett who had managed to sit up.

He should have gotten furious, stood up and taught her a lesson!

But strangely enough, after seeing the malice in her eyes, that cruel description made him feel excited.

What on earth was he excited about? Did he look forward to Calista shooting one of his limbs?

He looked away from her awkwardly, trying to wipe those weird thoughts out of his mind.

The gun was right in front of him, but he no longer wished to use it now. He had to admit that he couldn't bear for this woman to die.

Seeing that Jarrett had calmed down, Calista continued drying her hair, as if everything that happened was but a dream. "Back to the original topic. I gave you top secret information and saved you an internal conflict within the family. I want five million for it, transfer it to my account. Any objections?"

Jarrett pursed his lips and didn't say anything.

After struggling in his mind for a while, his heart finally decided that since he couldn't bear to see her die, then the only option was to cooperate.

He clenched his teeth and said, "No objections, money is not a problem. I just want to ask you about my brother's illness – are you really confident of treating him? The remuneration will definitely be satisfactory!"

Calista was surprised that his attitude had changed completely, but didn't ask further.

"I more or less understand your brother's illness, so I will look for you in a while. Now is not the right time."

2/4

Chapter 40 You Are Mistaken

Then when is the right time?"

"When my mood is better."

Calista's words stirred up the anger in Jarrett's heart again, and he burst out laughing. "Ms. Stafford really has a way of making people die from anger with your words, not sure if you're as sharp in bed,"

"It doesn't matter, you won't get to experience it."

"Why not give it a try?" Jarrett stood up. "Perhaps after you've tried you'd end up falling in love with me."

Calista laughed. "Don't worry, I'm completely devoted to Kallum. The door is that way, I won't see you out."

Jarrett felt the sarcasm in her smile. Forget it then going to snatch a woman who liked someone else.

He wasn't

He laughed coldly and turned to leave, but the moment he opened the door he came face to face with an equally quizzical Kallum.

At that moment, Jarrett finally experienced a sour and bitter feeling in his heart. Of all people to like, why did Calista like Kallum?

"Congratulations, Mr. Kallum. Your fiancée is 100% loyal to you. Don't forget to send me your wedding invitation.

Kallum snapped back to reality and smiled, scanning Jarrett with a dangerous look on his face and said unhappily. "Since Mr. Sinclair knows that Calista is mine, please stay further away from her. You've barged into her house today, and I hope I won't catch you doing this again. I hope you understand what I'm trying to say."

Jarrett's face started turning nasty and he almost couldn't keep the smile on his face. He clenched his teeth and said, "Relax, I'm here to talk about my brother. I have no interest in Calista!"

That would be best."

The two men stared each other down for a few moments, and then Jarrett took large strides out. Now he knew, these two were purposely going up against him!

When Calista heard that Kallum had come as well, she started laughing inside. What auspicious day was it? Why were there so many uninvited guests?

After Kallum had made Jarrett leave angrily, his mood suddenly changed for the better. Before coming he still had mixed feelings, but after he heard Calista say that she was devoted to him, he could finally breathe a sigh of relief.

He knew it – Calista still liked him! After all, how could she just wipe away her feelings after liking him for so many years?

So even though Kallum restrained himself on the surface, his heart was no longer confused and he did not hide his desire any longer.

Indeed, he had thought about it for very long, but finally decided to face up to his feelings for Calista.

Calista was his first woman, so his body was unable to resist her. To put it simply, he had a desire for her,

3/4

Chapter 40 You Are Mistaken

and that was all!

Send Gifts