

HEROIC KING

Chapter 6: Combining treasures and triggering missions

When the building starts to burst into flames, it means that the durability of the building is less than 20%. Under the attack of the Skeleton Archer, the buildings have become so vulnerable.

"Beat all of them to the Skeleton Archer King!"

Seeing this situation, Lin Han had to control all the firepower and focus on the Skeleton Archer King. This big guy could completely destroy a tower of resentful spirits with almost a dozen attacks. All the towers of resentful spirits that Lin Han just built will be built in.

"Whoosh whoosh!"

The arrows kept shooting at the Skeleton Archer King, constantly creating a series of sparks on him. This guy's defense was too high, and the heavy crossbowmen just barely broke this guy's defense, but with these Attracted by the guys, the Skeleton Archer King turned all his attention to them, and Lin Han also took the time to pull out two small skeletons to repair the crumbling Tower of Wraiths.

"Damn it, I'll be back!"

When another round of attacks from the Tower of Wraith slammed into the Skeleton Archer King, a lot of cracks appeared in the bones of this huge guy, and then it shattered and fell on the ground, and a black smoke slowly rose. An icy voice echoed in Lin Han's ears. He was surprised to find that he had actually received a task - cutting the grass and eradicating the roots.

"Cut the Grass and Roots: Triggered Quest, Trigger Requirement: Kill the Skeleton Archer during the fourth wave of the defensive battle. The Skeleton Archer is dead, but his soul has not disappeared, after death it will be in the center of the necropolis Resurrection, you now have two choices, the first is to let it recover and then make a comeback, or to pursue the victory without giving it any chance."

"It's actually a triggered mission?!"

Seeing this quest pop up suddenly, Lin Han was a little surprised. Triggered quests rarely appear in Eternal Realm. Usually, players can only accept them after reaching the trigger conditions. Generally speaking, such quests are more difficult to complete. However, the rewards are very generous, and if you have enough strength, it is indeed a good choice.

"accept!"

Faced with this kind of thing, Lin Han of course chose to accept it immediately. As for the difficulty? This can only be taken one step at a time. If you don't grasp such a rare task, you will definitely regret it.

"Ding! You have accepted the C+ level trigger task - cutting grass and rooting, please clear all the undead creatures in the necropolis within five days, and kill the recovering Skeleton Archer King. Mission reward: black treasure chest x1, skeleton Wang Longbow x1."

"The Skeleton King Longbow: Green special 3rd-level treasure, increases the damage of all long-range attack units in the army by 3 points, and has a range of +2 meters."

"Hey! This treasure is really good!"

When he saw the Skeleton King Longbow, Lin Han couldn't move his eyes away. The Skeleton King Longbow was actually a treasure that caused players to boil in the previous life. Purple and orange, these are what players can get through battle or adventure and exploration. Each treasure is divided into 5 levels. The higher the level, the better the treasure. As for the orange and above, it is called the artifact-level treasure. Now, these treasures are generally not directly obtainable, and can only be obtained by combining other treasures or killing some special beings.

Although the Skeleton King Longbow is only a green 3rd-level treasure, this treasure is one of the accessories of an orange treasure. If the treasure can be assembled, Lin Han's strength will be qualitatively improved.

"Damn, I finally understand, this monster attacking the city is really a fool!"

When Lin Han set his sights on the destination given by the mission, he finally understood why the monster siege was such a fool.

In the Eternal Realm, monster siege is a very normal thing. When the number of monsters around the castle exceeds a certain level, monster siege will be triggered. In addition, newcomers will also be attacked by monsters when they just build the castle.

Generally speaking, it is difficult for monsters to attack a city, but more of them are sending resources and experience to players to facilitate the rapid development of players, but this situation is more pitiful when it comes to Lin Han.

The monsters attacking the city did not appear out of thin air, but the system mobilized the monsters near the player's castle together to launch. If it wasn't for the appearance of this quest, Lin Han might have been kept in the dark all the time. He started from the battle. Just wondering, the monsters he encountered in the previous life attacked the city, and the fifth wave was only a Tier 1 unit with less than 500 units. How did it become thousands of units when it arrived here, all because of that cemetery!

When calculating the monsters, the system obviously also counted the monsters that reached the necropolis, so it is not difficult to explain why the monsters Lin Han faced in the first few waves were so terrifying, and even the leader appeared in the fourth wave. Level monsters, because these guys are in the necropolis!

"If that's the case, maybe the fifth wave will be very bad!"

Thinking of the leader-level creatures that may exist in the cemetery, Lin Han's face is not good, but in his memory, he remembers that if it was a formed cemetery, there would be dozens of leader-level creatures alone, but now it's just a game. In the early days, the necropolis should not have such a terrifying existence, but there are still a few boss-level creatures.

"As long as there are no boss-level creatures over Tier 2, they should be able to resist, right?"

Looking at the newly built Tower of Wraith, Lin Han couldn't help but muttered in his heart. The price of the Skeleton Archer King being killed was the loss of 18 Skeleton Archers and two two-level Wraith Towers. This loss was a lot for Lin Han, but compared to the gains, Lin Han's overall It's a big profit.

"Your troops cleaned the battlefield, you got you got 27 units of wood, you got 18 units of stone, you got 20 units of ore, you got 5879 gold coins, you got a class card - skeleton [50 units] x2, you got the class card - Skeleton Archer [50 units] x1, you got the design blueprint of the arm equipment - black armor-piercing crossbow, and you got the green level 1 treasure - bone pendant."

"Design blueprint of arm equipment - black armor-piercing crossbow: special blueprint, after use, you can forge the arms equipment - black armor-piercing crossbow in the blacksmith shop. Black armor-piercing crossbow: can be equipped with archer-type arms, increasing the attack and 1 point of archer-type arms by 2 points. Meter range, ignore the enemy's defense by 1 point when attacking the enemy."

"Bone Pendant: A green 1st-level special treasure. After equipping it, it increases the health of the skeleton arm by 10 points, and increases the defense power of the skeleton arm class by 1 point."

The treasure dropped by the Skeleton Archer King is not very good. The bone pendant, the treasure, Lin Han, doesn't have much image. It seems to be just an ordinary treasure. As for the design drawings of arms and equipment, this is a really good thing.

"Build a smithy! Upgrade Skeleton Archers to Skeleton Heavy Crossbowmen, repair all damaged buildings, and give me some information about the town by the way."

Entering the cemetery, Lin Han began to give orders quickly. The Skeleton Archer King was already dead, but the fifth wave of attack prompts did not come. Lin Han began to worry a little, would this be a ruthless attack? omen.

"The castle's current resources are: wood: 48 units, stone: 29 units, ore: 21 units, gold coins: 6432, and the current upgrade building - blacksmith shop." Town Heart quickly gave Lin Han a response, and Lin Han checked it out. Well, he can now upgrade the Necropolis to level 2 if he wants to level up, but the problem is that he doesn't have a level 2 town heart at all.

Every time a town is upgraded, the town heart needs to be consumed. The town heart in the player's hands is generally obtained through quests or transactions, and the biggest way to obtain it is to complete the quest given by the NPC.

But this is also required. First of all, players must build a Dragon City portal in their own town, and then they can teleport themselves to a special area for players to communicate with - the Dragon Domain.

"No way. Build a portal to the Dragon Domain"

"The construction of the Dragon Domain Portal requires 20 units of wood, ore, and stone, and 5,000 gold coins. The resources have been deducted, and construction begins."

At the same time that Shengyin remembered, a black gate slowly rose beside the cemetery. The gate was covered with dark moss, and the various strange patterns under the moss seemed to make the gate a lot more mysterious. The blue A dim light emerged from the gap in the door, full of mystery.

"Please note that the fifth wave of attacks will arrive after 10 minutes, and the Necropolis starts to panic when the Skeleton Archer is killed. This wave of attacks will reduce enemies by 30%, and the Skeleton King and Ghoul King will appear. , players please prepare."

When he got the prompt, Lin Han became excited. The number of enemies in the last wave was reduced by 30%, which meant that the pressure on Lin Han was greatly reduced. Moreover, the two leader monsters, Skeleton King and Ghoul King, although It's disgusting, but compared to the Skeleton Archer, they're much less of a threat because they don't have the means to attack from a distance!

"Wu~~~~" The sound of war drums came from a distance, and a large number of skeletons suddenly entered the range of the castle, dragging Lin Han into the battlefield. Lin Han didn't know until he saw the enemy troops. It was a fool once.

"Ding! The fifth wave of enemies is coming, enemy troops: Skeleton King, Ghoul King, 100 Ghouls, 100 Ghouls, 100 Skeleton Warriors, 100 Skeleton Warriors, 150 Skeleton Spearmen, Skeletons Spearmen 150 units."

"Ding! Your primary death summoning mastery takes effect, and 10 skeletons have appeared on the battlefield."

"Your uncle's!"

Looking at the skeleton that suddenly emerged from the soil outside the city, Lin Han could only describe it in one sentence. He didn't expect to be so unlucky this time. Not only was the death summoning the weakest unit, but it was also because of the enemy. There are actually two hidden arms!