

His Immense Desires

Chapter 5 - The Unexpected Visitor -

C5 The Unexpected Visitor

THE UNEXPECTED VISITOR

I quickly turned back and screeched a "WHATTTTTTTTTTTTTT", "STEFF!!!!!!!!?", WTF, how did you get in here, I mean, how did you get the key, cause I know you haven't the spare". I rasped. She just kept grinning wickedly, I was shocked to the brim.

"Chill chubs, one question at a time, are you seriously asking me how I got in here, remember am your best friend, I get my way in everything" she said.

I wasn't listening to whatever she was saying, I only wanted to know her means of getting into a house, under lock and key. I had started fearing that she might be a psychopath, but, again I thought if she was a psychopath my parents wouldn't have allowed her into the house, the day we parked in.

"Don't fear chubs, I have been here since morning, before your parents were out for work, I have been around but decided against disturbing your beauty sleep. Hope am all cleared right now?" She asked.

I just replied her by nodding my head, I wondered how many hours, I used in sleeping. I looked up, as I saw her gazing at me intensely, I shuddered and asked her the reason for the stare.

She immediately started laughing and asked me what I dreamt while sleeping, "babe what were you dreaming of while sleeping, your position this morning was hilarious, I stood beside your bedpost for nearly fifteen minutes, as you were sleeping.

Is something wrong??, You can always confide in me you know, I don't kiss and tell", she said. I wanted to ask her what she saw me doing but I decided against it and waited for her to make fun of whatever I did while sleeping, but she said nothing.

Immediately, I perceived a strong cigarette smell waft through my nose, I coughed immediately. "What's that foul odour, Steff?" I asked her.

She smiled widely, before saying" that's my morning dose, will still take the afternoon dose, wait a bit, don't tell me you're still the innocent Janelle parker". She questioned, I started laughing loudly "anyone you wanna call it bitch".

"Okay, it's enough with the question and answer session, we're going to college for your clearance and any other thing they might need from you, so rush upstairs, take your bath, brush your teeth, like i mean scrub your whole body, and dress up, I will be waiting down here, since I haven't finish taking my morning dose", she said and grinned.

"Excuse me!!!!, College you say!!!, How, when and where was I given an admission, cause I can't remember writing any exam, soooo", I drawled. She just eyed me warily and picked up the stick to hit me, I got that as a clue and ran all the way upstairs while laughing.

I hurriedly took my bath, dressed up and was about going downstairs, when I remembered what she said about me doing stuffs while sleeping, I shrugged it off and went downstairs to see her cleaning the stuff she made from her said morning dose. I arched my brow, as I eyed her warily.

"Okay am ready let's go, let me know what you have in store for me, and I just hope you ain't a joking with me, if not!?". "If not what, what are you gonna do chubs??, You're gonna chase me rounda house, come of it chubs, we both know you can do nothing", she stated sarcastically.

. "Enough with the words, let's just go", I said, I can't see myself arguing with a born and brought up Rasta girl, you will never win against them in any debate, discussion or argument.

. *****

We both left the house, and boarded a taxi and told him to take us to West Indies University. It's a thirty minutes drive from my house to the school, we both came down and paid him off.

I looked ahead of me and was awed by the beauty and size of the school, I didn't even know I left my mouth hanging open, while gawking at the school.

Not really my fault tho, but, the sight was enthralling, right now I felt so proud of having a bestfriend like Steff, I knew immediately, she's an angel sent by God himself from heaven.

We quickly went into the school and headed straight to the administrative block, where admission letters and other executive directives are taken place. I passed a group of students jeering at themselves while others watching them were just laughing.

I noticed no one even looked my way, I guess this is much more different from highschool where everyone takes notice of new students, right here even though you're new, no one gives a damn about you.

When we went in, we saw few students who also came to collect their admission letters and other important stuffs. I was in queue, when it reached my turn, I was called in by the attendant.

"Congrats miss Janelle Parker, you have been given admission under merit list to study in West Indies University, you can have your admission letter, please do make sure to go through all the rules, regulations, duties and procedures in payment of your school fees", she said.

I quickly thanked her, and signalled for steff, so we could leave since I was done. While going out she told me about getting a lodge for myself, I quietly pleaded with her so I could stay with her, but she said it wasn't allowed, as it was an offense for two students to stay in the same lodge.

She told me about the securities of some lodge, she told me about one Novato estate, and said that place would be so good for innocent girls like me, and that she heard that the owner is ruthlessly handsome.

She spoke like though she had seen him, only for me to ask her and she mumbled a "no, I only heard so", I just sighed and spanked her ass so hard that she glared at me after she saw I was so serious on hitting her again she whined and begged me to stop.

Don't you think I'm getting so naughty in that past few days, yh, I know I am, but guess what, I really love the new me.

We later met with the Novato estate agent, who told me that a lodge is still remaining, but, it's gonna be the house of the owner and I should be ready to park out when he comes back.

I agreed immediately, because I was so sure the said owner will never come here, I made a right decision right???, Yeah, I definitely know I did.

I never knew, I was taking a step ahead towards meeting my long dreamt darkest desire.

PALACE IN QATAR

"Call the chief maid, tell her to gather all the ladies that applied to work in the palace as a royal maid, tell her to be quick about it, as I have somewhere important to go to, hurry up, and remember to take your bath before coming down here, you stink so much", Amancia Zadir the Queen of QATAR, mother of Rashid and Madok Zadir said.

The maid immediately ran off, she stopped when she was far away to smell the armpit of her gown but perceived no foul odour, her cheeks reddened in Shame on how the Queen disgraced her in front of her son Madok Zadir.

She went to the chief maid and told her exactly what the Queen ordered her to do.

UNKNOWN'S' POV

All these years, I have been waiting for this to happen now Allah has finally answered my prayers, I will make sure she definitely suffers for the agony and pains she put me through.

All through these years, she thought I was dead, she never knew I had been training in a secret agent corporation, with all I have learnt about chips, and electrical gadgets, I swear I won't kill her, but I will destroy and tear her family apart like she did to mine.

I was still thinking of all what I would do to her, when I finally succeed, until I heard someone tap me, I turned to see the chief maid.

I gave her the best killer smile of mine, after which she told me to come along with her to answer the Queen. I nodded my head and briefly answered her with a "Yes Ma". As I grinned wickedly.