

Hidden Billionaire Chapter 1084 - Gatekeeper of the Gate

C1084 Gatekeeper of the Gate

Now that they had changed clothes, they looked much more normal.

Not only Wu Tian, even the agents were more confident and less timid.

"Brother, are you sure this is the road? "Why didn't I see many people along the way?"
The agents were worried about the silence in the corridor and were afraid that there might be an ambush.

Wu Tian looked around and said with a smile, "It must be here. I came from here. As for why there's no one here, it's 3 in the morning. Everyone is sleeping."

Hearing Wu Tian's words, the other agents smiled at each other. They felt that what he said made sense.

They continued moving forward and soon saw the huge metal door.

This gate was different from normal doors. Normally, people would see a square-shaped gate, but this one was circular and looked like the door of a safe.

Everyone seemed to have found hope as they quickened their pace.

Wu Tian could already imagine how happy they would be when they walked out of this underground facility.

"Quickly, we're about to leave!" Wu Tian waved at the agents, and a dozen of them started running.

Just as he was about to reach the main entrance, a figure suddenly flashed out from beside the main entrance.

He held an oddly-shaped gun in his hand and was pointing it at Wu Tian's head.

"What are you doing?"

Wu Tian and the others stopped in their tracks almost instantly. No one expected there to be guards inside this door ...

However, in order to not reveal his identity, Wu Tian decided to deal with it first.

He quickly bowed and walked over to the guard with a smile on his face.

"This big brother ..." We have an urgent mission to get out of here... So you have to be accommodating. "

When the guard heard Wu Tian say this, he became suspicious. He turned around and walked back into his own room, and fished out a book from within.

"Mission? Why is it not on the action plan... Are you lying to me? "

The guard wasn't stupid. He stared at Wu Tian and felt that the guard was lying to him.

Wu Tian secretly sweated in his heart. He didn't expect this person to be so hard to deal with.

"Secret Task..." Surely it can't be written on such a thing. "

Wu Tian said and winked at the person behind him. The agents understood immediately and started to approach without any change in their expression.

"Look, we are going out on a secret mission, so we can't just casually tell you about it. Otherwise, how could it be a secret? "

After Wu Tian finished his sentence, the guard nodded thoughtfully. "If you say it like that, then it does seem to make sense ..."

Hearing the guard's words, Wu Tian felt slightly relieved. He felt that he would be able to escape this time.

But just as the guard turned to let them through, he spun around and came back around.

"You all ... Show me your ID? "

The guard held out his hand to them.

Wu Tian and the other agents looked at each other, not knowing what to do.

"Certificate?" "What kind of ID?"

Wu Tian had never seen these men in black take out their ID cards to identify themselves. But the guard actually said that? Could it be that the guard was testing him?

The guard looked at Wu Tian with a puzzled expression. He said with a strange tone, "How can you not know about this thing ..." Your ID! Everyone knows that, I don't think I need to say it. "

"Actually, we just arrived recently. We haven't received our identity cards yet."

Wu Tian casually told a lie. Anyway, it was fine as long as he could deceive the guard.

At that moment, the guard took out his gun and said vigilantly, "Are you guys going to take out your ID or not? If you can't, then ..."

Wu Tian shrugged helplessly, indicating that he couldn't take out anything.

But at the same time, his agents were ready. The guards only had one gun, but they had a dozen men with them. They could deal with this guy easily.

If the guards did anything bad, Wu Tian decided to kill him as soon as possible. He had to take the initiative first.

"If you can't come up with any evidence, then hurry up and leave this place!"

"Otherwise, I'll have to inform someone else right now ..." As he spoke, the guard picked up the phone, seemingly about to say something into it.

Seeing that their identities were about to be exposed, Wu Tian quickly rushed forward.

The guard's reaction speed was also very fast. He immediately pulled the trigger. However, Wu Tian had already expected this, so he immediately dodged to the side when his body moved.

The guard's shots were all empty. He had a gun in one hand, but his aim was not very good, so he basically couldn't shoot anyone.

At this moment, Wu Tian had just stood up and was about to make his second charge when he saw the guard in front of him collapse limply like noodles.

At this moment, an agent appeared behind him, showing his white teeth towards Wu Tian and smiling brilliantly.

"Let's hurry up and go out! I'm afraid my identity will be exposed! "

Wu Tian saw that the person was still holding the phone in his hand and knew that the other side might have gotten the news already.

After saying that, they immediately rushed into the control room, wanting to know how they were supposed to open the door.

However, there were no words on the buttons. No one knew what function it was.

The few of them struggled for a long time, but there was nothing they could do about the door.

Wu Tian and a few other agents went up to try and turn the handle on top of the door, but the door didn't react at all.

"Could it be that he has nothing to do with this gate?"

One of the agents shouted doubtfully. They had pressed all the buttons in the room, but there was no response at all.

The others were frowning, unable to say anything.

"That's hard to say. It could be a button for programming. It needs to be pressed in accordance to a certain combination to be effective. "They're really too cunning. They actually used such a method ..."

The agents did not expect the control room to be so secretive. If he had known earlier, he wouldn't have knocked that person out.

As soon as he fainted, no one knew how to open the door...

"Are there any other passages?"

"No more, just this one!"

Most of the ventilation ducts were already dead, so there was no other way to get out of them.

Hidden Billionaire Chapter 1085 - Escape

C1085 Escape

Just as Wu Tian had guessed, an alarm sounded from inside the base.

The violent and ear-piercing sirens sounded like they were crying for their lives, causing everyone present to feel extremely uneasy.

They had expended so much effort just a step away, and yet, they were trapped here.

It was freedom outside the door, but they couldn't open it.

"Oh no! They're almost here!"

Wu Tian could already clearly hear the sound of dense footsteps coming from the corridor not far away.

It was as if a hail storm was falling on them. Just by listening to it, one could tell how many of them were rushing over here.

"We're doing our best, too! "But I don't know when I'll be able to open this door."

One of the agents who specialized in electronic equipment was sweating as he tried to crack the door's switch.

However, he didn't have any tools on hand, so he could only use his experience to debug.

But it would take a long time, and if they hadn't been exposed, they might have been able to wait.

"I don't care about that! Third and fourth brothers, you two follow me and block those people. The rest of you continue to think of ways. " shouted one of the seemingly energetic agents. They couldn't be too indecisive at a time like this. Fortunately, Wu Tian didn't have to worry about these secret service agents. They were elites to begin with.

Hearing his shouts, the three of them immediately ran out. They found some temporary weapons from nearby and hid at the two sides of the corridor.

They were prepared to wait until the enemy appeared. They immediately started fighting with the enemy. The underground corridor wasn't very wide, and with two or three people blocking the way, no matter how many people there were, they wouldn't be able to get past.

However, all of these ideas were very beautiful. However, when the true reality appeared before them, these ideas began to become extremely fragile.

The three agents that were going to stop the enemy were all sent flying.

The one rushing to the front was not a normal Secret Service like the black clothed man, but a biochemical human.

Some of them were not wearing clothes, but they were all muscular and even had some tubes stuck into their bodies, making them look very frightening.

These Biochemical Man were like humanoid tanks, knocking away the three secret agents. Their group did not stop at all, and crazily rushed towards the entrance of Wu Tian's group.

Wu Tian even imagined a scene where when these people rushed in front of him, they might push him against the door and knock him against it.

With their strength, it was definitely not a problem to turn him into mincemeat.

"Are you done!?"

"It still won't work. I can't open the gate!"

The agents were finally starting to despair, but at this moment, they had smiles on their faces and were no longer afraid of anything.

As long as one saw through death, there was naturally nothing to worry about.

It was just that ordinary people could not easily accept this fact. At this moment, Wu Tian was not feeling fear or worry.

He only felt that it was somewhat regretful that he still had many things to do, and many people that he was still very reluctant to part with.

However, things had already turned out like this. When faced with a real threat of death, all kinds of efforts and words were useless.

Just as the enemy was about to arrive, all the lights in the corridor were suddenly extinguished.

The whole space sank into darkness, Wu Tian woke up with a start.

He remembered how he came in. It was because Zhao Hui was outside and cut off the power supply for him that the door had a manual time to open.

"Open the door!" Now the gate can be opened! "

Wu Tian immediately rushed towards the door and tried his best to move the knob on it.

The agent beside him was stunned for a moment, but then realized that Wu Tian knew something, so he followed his actions.

The other agents held on tightly. The attacking enemies seemed to have lost their way in the darkness, and quite a few of them had hit the walls.

This gave Wu Tian and the others a very important opportunity. When the door opened, the dozen or so people immediately filed out.

"You're finally here!"

As expected, Zhao Hui was outside the door. When he heard the siren, he immediately realized that something was wrong with Wu Tian. Even if there was no communication between the two parties, he knew that he should do something for Wu Tian at this time.

So he turned off the power again, wanting to see if Wu Tian could escape in this short few minutes.

Who would have thought that he actually came out with his companions?

"Quickly run!" Wu Tian didn't have the time to talk to Zhao Hui, he only said those words to him and ran out of the base as fast as he could.

Zhao Hui had recovered some of his physical strength and followed closely behind them. However, it was not as if he was unprepared.

As he ran, he pressed the detonation button for the explosives set. A deafening explosion came from behind them.

At this time, the pursuers had already rushed to the main gate. They didn't care about continuing their pursuit, but they didn't expect many of them to be smashed to death by the concrete that suddenly exploded from the ceiling.

The explosion had been too sudden, but it had successfully blocked off the path of these pursuers. It would take some time for them to clear the roadblocks, too.

But just this short period of time was enough for them to escape.

"Have you all come out?"

Zhao Hui shouted towards the inside. Wu Tian counted the number of people: thirteen.

There were not many people, but there was also a lot of people.

"Everyone's here!"

"Then let's go quickly. By the way, I'll give them another present."

Saying that, Zhao Hui pressed the last button. This was the biggest bomb he had ever buried.

The deafening explosion caused a wave of translucent shockwaves in the air.

The huge explosion caused the surrounding ground to be lifted up, revealing the layer of dirt underneath. The originally tall and majestic building on the surface of the Brilliant Company also turned into ashes at this time.

In an instant, the blazing fireball engulfed the surrounding dozens of meters in radius.

Under such high temperatures, even metal would melt, let alone human life.

Seeing this scene, everyone became silent. An agent walked over and patted Wu Tian on the shoulder.

"Let's go, I've already contacted Director Tie. He will arrange for our rescue."

Wu Tian nodded, but he didn't follow behind the agent. Instead, he went straight to the hotel where Erniu was staying.
