C784 Start of New Plan

Loong Yun woke up and came back with a white bandage over her head.

Her mental state was clearly much worse than before.

This time, when Wu Tian saw that she had returned, he quickly walked up and helped Loong Yun to sit down.

She still had the folder in her hand. Although it looked a bit weak, she still wanted to continue working.

"What are you doing? Just take a good rest at home."

Looking at Loong Yun's expression, Wu Tian felt very upset and hurried to support her.

Loong Zaian personally came to see his daughter off. Although as the father, he really wanted to let his daughter rest more, but he knew what his daughter was thinking.

"You don't need to persuade her. I've already said a lot of changes at home and she won't listen."

Looking at his own daughter giggling at him, Loong Zaian felt like his heart was about to melt. Wasn't this just like his heart.

"Uncle, it's been hard on you. Don't worry, I won't let Loong Yun be in such danger again."

Wu Tian said with a bit of shame. In front of Loong Yun's dad, this was also for Loong Yun to listen to. He had indeed decided to never let innocent people get hurt again.

"The affairs of the world are always unpredictable. Some things aren't things that we don't want to cause trouble for. They wouldn't come if we didn't. It's better for you to understand some things."

Loong Zaian was not interested in this aspect. Some things can't be shifted by the will of a human, this was something that he was very clear about.

"Uncle, I'm really sorry."

"President Wu, you don't have to keep apologizing. My dad won't care. He's just a doctor that can only see his own patients."

Loong Yun grumbled at the side. She didn't take special care of him just because he was her father. She didn't leave any good opinions on him.

"You guys get busy, I'll go back first. There are still a lot of patients waiting." Loong Zaian wasn't angry. He was probably already used to Loong Yun's venomous tongue.

He walked to the door and seemed to have thought of something. Then, he turned around and looked at Wu Tian.

"Last night, the pursuit order I sent out was already out. Now that you've caught these two people, I'll take this order back."

Speaking of this, Wu Tian quickly thanked him again. He recalled that the mysterious man had pulled him along to ask Loong Zaian while he was around.

"Uncle Long, I want to ask. Yesterday, an expert passed by and he had a metal ring that could fly. I would like to ask if you know him."

Actually, Wu Tian didn't really expect to get everything out directly from his mouth. It was good as long as he knew a little bit.

Loong Zaian had a strange expression. He thought about it and finally shook his head.

"I really don't know. I've never seen or heard about it. However, this kind of person truly does exist. Don't not believe that our China is extremely vast. Even though we are in the modern society now, there are still experts who would not come out. "

Loong Zaian knew all of this. He was already far beyond ordinary people. Therefore, he could not give any more suggestions on this matter.

After sending Loong Zaian off, Wu Tian could only retract his thoughts. It was better to wait until he had time to think about this later.

Since Loong Yun was still injured, Wu Tian didn't want her to come to the office. He forced her to hand over all her work to a new secretary. This little secretary seemed to be borrowed from Yu Naixin.

Right now, Loong Yun's only character was keeping an eye on the secretary's work. This imperceptibly gave the secretary a lot of pressure.

Fortunately, Wu Tian often discussed some issues with Loong Yun.

Due to that document being exposed, Chang Zairong was now criticized by many people, but there was still a group of people who felt that he was innocent.

Moreover, this recording did not mean that this matter was real, nor was it considered as direct evidence.

At the very least, the prosecutor's office soon decided that the recording was not an investigation evidence.

"As for the next step, my current idea is to hold a press conference to talk about a recent project of our company."

This was Wu Tian's plan. On the surface, it was to publicize the company's development, but in reality, it was meant for Chang Zairong to see.

"Planning? What plan? Is it about you planning to buy the island? " Loong Yun said in astonishment, this matter had not been decided yet, and could not be casually revealed, moreover, what if Korea countries suddenly refused because they felt that their face had been sullied?

"I definitely won't say that. I just want to mention the virtual currency." Before this, Wu Tian already felt that this virtual currency had a very big future.

If it could be used on a large scale, it would be a commercial revolution.

Although each country had their own currency, and it was very convenient to exchange the different currencies, there were still restrictions and problems.

For example, Korea's currency had suffered a large amount of collapse under the control of Wu Tian and the others, which had directly caused their country's economy to suffer a major blow.

I heard that because of this matter, the Shuangxing Company company has no choice but to stop short jobs at the Char Country, and even the funds at the China have basically been withdrawn. Otherwise, they really would have touched the foundation of their company.

By stopping them in time, they could recover some of their vitality.

"Virtual currency? I got it, it's that FTC, didn't you feel that you can't control that, and decided to create one yourself? "

Loong Yun remembered clearly, that back then in the brainwave game, Wu Tian had purposely exchanged a lot of money to get in, and that instantly messed up the trading market of their FTC.

"Yes, I still feel that the FTC is a little bit lacking. It's just that it's too troublesome for us to develop it ourselves, so I already let Wu Zaibin do it. I'll tell you in secret, I already instigated him to build a huge mine, and now, I can dig out several hundreds of thousands of FTC every day. "

This investment cost Wu Tian a lot of money and made his heart ache, but this was also the most necessary.

If he wanted to use FTC as a substitute for real money, he would need to have enough of them.

"That's fine, this press conference will be fine. However, I still don't understand. What does this have to do with us going against Chang Zairong?"

Loong Yun felt that this could only change their own company. The question of whether the other party was still eyeing him like a tiger had not been resolved.

Hidden Billionaire Chapter 785 - Press Conferences

C785 Press Conferences

Wu Tian smiled mysteriously and didn't tell the answer to this question to Loong Yun directly. Instead, he wanted her to find out for herself.

Very quickly, Wu Tian held his first Wu Group press conference in the Wu Group Great Assembly Hall.

Many reporters had heard of this. Because in the past, Wu Group were very low profile, and practically no one would release any news to the outside world.

Those reporters could only guess. Therefore, after receiving the invitation from Wu Tian and the others, quite a few television stations had sent out a powerful reporter team to interview them.

Everyone felt that the Wu Group was about to start something big this time.

The lineup for this press conference could be said to be very luxurious. The current chairman, Wu Tian, Cio Yu Naixin, as well as the ministers from each department and the general manager of each branch were all present.

A series of events had happened in the Wu Group before, and great changes had occurred in the inside as well. However, the outside world was completely unaware of exactly what had happened.

"Do they have something important to announce this time?"

"I don't know. I haven't heard about any big changes in Wu Group either, recently. It has already stabilized quite a bit."

"What do you guys know? This is called the calm before the storm. Maybe this time, there will be some kind of explosive news."

A few reporters were discussing in hushed tones. This basically represented the same thoughts of everyone present. Then, this press conference would definitely be incomparably exciting.

"Today is the press conference for our Wu Group, so today we have important news to announce."

Wu Tian took the microphone and cleared his throat. To be honest, although Wu Tian was the chairman of the board of directors, he couldn't help but feel nervous as he saw so many people staring at him.

He looked around and found that there were quite a few people he knew who were making faces at him.

Yes, it was about Tang Yanrou. She, Guan Ruonan and Su Cancan had blended into the crowd of reporters, purposely teasing Wu Tian to see him make a joke of himself.

Wu Tian quickly looked away and took a deep breath.

"Here, on behalf of Wu Group Corporation, I announce that we have two important matters to attend to and that this will represent a direction for our future development."

Wu Tian looked at the people below the field and listened attentively. He slowly said word by word, "Wu Group company is going to set up a spaceflight company. It will specialize in developing manned spaceflight projects!"

The moment he said this, the entire audience went into an uproar.

It had to be known that this Wu Group company was completely unrelated to these things in the past. Furthermore, in China Country, this kind of spaceflight business was usually developed by the government departments, and there was never a private enterprise that did this.

"President Wu, is what you said true?"

"Do you think I would lie when I hold a press conference like this?" Wu Tian found the question the reporter asked a little funny.

"But, isn't this only for the government to take the lead?" The other reporter quickly took the opportunity to ask this question and voiced the thoughts of everyone present.

One had to know that a lot of the television stations in this press conference were broadcasting it live.

"As far as I know, there is no law in China that prohibits private enterprises from doing such things. The reason why no one had done it before was purely because they did not have the technology and did not have the funds. More importantly, they did not have the determination. I, Wu Tian, am not talented, and now that I have these three items, I want to add fuel to the fire for us China. "

Wu Tian's words were so carefree that it touched the blood of many people present.

Right, the number of entrepreneurs who had such thoughts were becoming fewer and fewer. Many of the people's dreams when they were young were like the sea of stars, but the reality after they grew up told them that this was only a dream.

"Everyone, don't worry. This is just a matter that we're announcing to everyone. There is another piece of news that has surprised everyone as well." Wu Tian waved his hand to indicate for everyone to be quiet. The reporters were confused and wanted to see what surprises were waiting for them behind Wu Tian.

"The second thing we need to do is for Wu Group to gradually give up on cash transactions and turn into virtual currency."

This time, the entire audience was dumbfounded.

This was something that practically no one had ever come into contact with in the China and very few people knew about it.

And Wu Tian actually put forward a science-fiction-like idea here, which stunned everyone in one fell swoop.

It could be said that the first piece of news was very exciting. The others all expressed that they didn't understand what Wu Tian was doing.

Virtual currency? That would be virtual money. Then how could this thing be able to replace the real world's currency?

One had to know that when you went shopping, you had to use cash to spend.

"Excuse me, do you mean to say that in the future we will have to use this method to cross over this risk of currency uncertainty?"

Most of them didn't understand what was inside, but that didn't mean that no one understood.

At this moment, a young reporter stood up from the reporter stand. He wore glasses and looked like he had just graduated from university.

However, his words caught Wu Tian's attention.

"What's your name?" Wu Tian didn't answer his question directly but asked about his situation out of curiosity.

"My name is Cheng Gui, I'm a reporter from the city's business newspaper." This Cheng Gui didn't seem to be afraid at all. He answered Wu Tian's question openly.

Wu Tian nodded as he admired this young man.

He did not expect that within the China, there would also be people who knew about this new thing that he had just invented.

"You're right, this is one of the objectives of our Wu Group. Companies like us who have international operations, especially those that specialize in finance, often have problems with money transfer, but if we use this virtual currency, there is no problem with national boundaries. Any company in any country can trade directly, in other words, that is the currency used globally. "

Wu Tian's explanation was easy to understand. Some people with a sense of business would immediately realize that there might be a huge opportunity here.

"Then do you want to create your own virtual currency? Or should I use the current virtual currency FTC? " Cheng Gui's question was also very sharp. Now, Wu Tian was even more certain that this young man had a deep understanding of this virtual currency.

"The latter, of course." Wu Tian said with a smile. This decision was made after careful deliberation.
