

Chapter 172 Womanizer

People who had undergone anti-drug training metabolized toxins faster than normal people. While the reaction was stronger, it would stop sooner.

Had Lin Fang really poisoned my drink? Why would she do so?!

I turned on the tap and gulped down several mouthfuls. Then, I sat by the bathtub. The toxic reaction made my heart beat so fast that I felt like it was about to explode. All my blood vessels were under great pressure, and my body felt like it was on fire. Most embarrassingly, I was as hard as a rock. I had a crazy notion urging me to find something to relieve myself.

My eyes were bloodshot like that of a hungry beast. I clenched my fists repeatedly and slapped myself a few times, but was unable to release myself from this hot discomfort. I did not know what Lin Fang had drugged me with, but it was not fatal, and based on my body's reaction, I had already made a few guesses.

It was probably an aphrodisiac.

Oh my God, this was ridiculous. I had been drugged by a woman with an aphrodisiac and was almost raped.

"Zhang Chao, what's wrong?" Just as my ears buzzed and my consciousness faded in and out, I heard Lin Fang's warm voice.

My brain immediately reacted by telling me: Open up, let her in! Find your release!

Emotions and desires were the hardest things for a person to control. My desire was already flooding the more sensible parts of my mind like a tsunami.

"Zhang Chao, are you okay? Let me in, you need me..." Her tone was laced with temptation.

I suddenly had a thought. I was an idiot. Why was I rejecting her? Even if I slept with her, I was not losing out on anything.

But what about Chu Xiaoxiao? I would lose Chu Xiaoxiao if I did that.

Then what could I do? I really could not stand it anymore. I wanted her... The toxic reaction was hitting its peak. I held my throat with both hands but still whimpered. My ears were still buzzing, so I had no idea how loud I was. Maybe on the other side of the door, Lin Fang could hear everything.

Lin Fang's warm and tempting voice started up again. "Don't reject me. I know you want me too."

She was doing this on purpose. I was very sure that she had drugged me on purpose. She did not actually like me but was unhappy that I was with Chu Xiaoxiao. No, it was obvious that she did not like me at all. Maybe what she liked was my status as heir to the Junran Group, or the exhilaration of stealing me from Chu Xiaoxiao.

I shook my head hard and got up to circle the bathroom. There was an eyebrow razor by the sink. I immediately flipped it open and sliced the back of my hand roughly with its blade.

This eyebrow razor had a safety feature to prevent fatal injuries, but the sharp jolt of pain woke me up considerably.

I drank more tap water, pointedly ignoring Lin Fang's voice. After a while, I stood up and used the toilet. I felt much better, and my heart rate had returned to normal.

I washed the blood off my hand. The wound had already stopped bleeding. When I opened the door to exit the bathroom, Lin Fang was leaning prettily on the door jamb, gazing amorously at me.

On a normal day, I would not be able to resist that look, but now she reminded me of a succubus.

The last ray of hope in my heart died when I saw her like this. Her actions were the obvious evidence that she had drugged me.

Lin Fang seemed a bit confused when I did not make a move or look like I was drugged.

I glowered at her, hatred shooting out from my eyes.

"Where's your brother?" I asked.

"He's dodging his creditors." Lin Fang did not understand why I was asking about Lin Kang. She must be very puzzled about why I had time to think about other matters. I was supposed to be drugged.

I asked her another question, "How about your parents? Aren't they living here?"

Lin Fang sighed deeply. "Lin Kang owed so much money that Dad can't get proper rest here. I sent him back to our hometown to rest for a few days."

I wanted to laugh. She dared to lie straight to my face. Before I came upstairs, Uncle Jian had said that the loan sharks came here every day. Lin Kang and their parents clearly lived here too. They just conveniently were not in today. Lin Fang must have set up something to ensure that they were not home right now.

What a joke. When I was poor, I would never have imagined that there would come a day when Lin Fang, the class beauty, wanted to drug and rape me. If word got out, it would be the biggest joke in the world.

I had been so nice to her, giving her multiple chances to redeem herself. Even Chu Xiaoxiao had too. And yet she only wanted to harm Xiaoxiao and me!

I had enough. If I did not do anything, she would never understand that I was not someone she could play with! If she wanted to play, I would play along.

I grabbed Lin Fang by her slim waist. Surprised, she yelped, and before she could react, I shoved her against the wall and kissed her.

She froze, stunned, then enthusiastically hooked her arms around my neck, wanting to deepen our embrace.

Instead, I pushed her away, and said coldly, "Alright, let's go out. What have you arranged today?"

"I... I arranged to meet some classmates."

I did not expose her plot. Lin Fang was only doing this to embarrass Chu Xiaoxiao—here was Chu Xiaoxiao's boyfriend, and Lin Fang was bringing him to meet her classmates. Lin Fang's classmates were also Chu Xiaoxiao's classmates. This was to make everyone laugh at Chu Xiaoxiao behind her back.

Lin Fang was hesitant to tell me as she knew I might refuse.

I assumed that she wanted to drug me and sleep with me, then hoped that—out of guilt—I would feel responsible and meet the classmates with her. Chu Xiaoxiao would break up with me, and she would have killed two birds with one stone.

I could feel my rage boiling within me. I would never have expected that the class beauty would try to manipulate me, the Tong City High School loser. Fate had a great sense of humor.

I had thought that if I could not be in a relationship with Lin Fang, a friendship was good too. However, I had not expected her to be such a scheming woman!

I surprised Lin Fang by saying gently, "Sure, whatever you want. You're my girlfriend."

Lin Fang's eyes widened and she looked delighted, taking the words at face value.

I then said, "If you're ready, let's go."

Lin Fang happily replied that she just needed to put on some perfume. While she was busy, I called Qingqing to ask her to drive my car over to Lin Fang's.

With no comprehension of the situation, Qingqing made a fuss. "Lin Fang? That temptress? Also, didn't you give me your car? Why do I have to drive it back? You're such a petty boss."

I did not know whether to laugh or cry. "Something cropped up. It's just for today. I'll buy a new car tomorrow. Hurry up. You can just leave the car. Lin Fang will drive today."

"Hey! Zhang Chao, don't get back together with Lin Fang! You rotten bastard! Womanizer! F off and die!"

Qingqing's rant took me by surprise. It took me a few seconds before I gathered myself to reply. I was so confused when I asked her, "First of all, I'm not. But even if I was, why are you so worked up?"