

Chapter 212 Xiaoke

The naked staff by the door pointed me to a nearby room. I wanted to run over carrying Xiaoke.

Xiaoke wound her arms tightly around my neck, staring at me.

After I closed the door, I tossed her onto the bed without switching on the lights.

Xiaoke passionately put her arms around my neck.

"Brother Zhang, make me a woman. I'm happy to give you my first time."

She looked dazed. Her short hair was slightly messy and she was panting.

I did not know why, but my gaze raked down her body.

"Do you really want to give it to me? I can't marry you."

"Brother Zhang, I don't want to marry you, I like you. This is my choice."

Xiaoke blushed and turned her head away shyly, too embarrassed to look at me.

No man could withstand such temptation. Feeling emotional, I slowly caressed her face and moved my hand towards her neck.

Then, I put pressure using two fingers. Before Xiaoke could react, she passed out.

My desire still burned as I watched her lay there motionless.

"This is the path the literary take to the heart hmm, Miss? The script's not bad. You know what men really want. However, I used to be a scout. I'm very observant and I can see the holes in your story. You and Fang performed very well together. I'll give you a good tip."

I heaved a sigh and wanted to get off Xiaoke, but her inviting softness was too tempting.

I pulled myself together and climbed off her, going to the bathroom to take a cold shower and quench some of my desire.

I had to admit that Lady Of The Night had great service. A normal person would not be able to tell that the show started when Fang had unzipped Xiaoke's clothes. Everything followed a prepared script, leading eventually to making the customer think that they had been chosen by a virgin who was down on her luck. They wanted the customer to think that this was not about the desire for flesh, but a meeting of souls.

Not bad, not bad at all.

I dried myself off and called Tsai Xiaobing, asking him to meet me in the room.

A few minutes later, there was a knock on the door. Tsai Xiaobing slipped in curiously. He glanced between Xiaoke, who was unconscious on the bed, and me, clearly just out of the shower. He exclaimed, "Captain, that's a bit fast of ya. It hasn't even been five minutes."

"Oh shut up, I knocked her out. We need to think of a plan to leave this place. If Lin Yue'er finds out where you've been tonight, you're just waiting to break up."

"Captain, ya say so much. Are ya afraid Chu Xiaoxiao will find out? Ya afraid of your own wife."

"Enough nonsense. We need to hurry. I observed that the staff changes shifts every hour. There's still ten minutes before the shift changes. We'll leave then."

To my surprise, Tsai Xiaobing looked miserable. "Captain, we can't leave. I asked you to come here today for this."

"What's going on?" I had a bad feeling, as though the kid had kept a big secret from me.

Tsai Xiaobing twisted his mouth into a wry smile. "We can leave, but we need to get Qiaoqiao out. I already promised her that I would get her out of here."

"Qiaoqiao? The runaway girl that Rock and Fang are looking for? You know where she is?"

He scratched his head and said foolishly, "Of course I know. I helped hide her. The reason why I asked you to come was to figure out how to get her out."

"How is this happening? I ask you to investigate a case and you manage to get involved with women. Not only did you find a girlfriend in the daytime, you even came here to rescue a damsel in distress at night. Why did I ask you to come? To act like Robin Hood?!"

"Don't be angry, Captain. I didn't have a choice. The girl was so pitiful. Just a teenager and abused so badly. How could I just leave her? Captain, I can't forget what I am. I'm no hero, I'm just a soldier. But in my uniform with my medals, I couldn't just leave her."

I understood how he felt. We had no selfish men in the Snow Leopards. Our guns were meant to protect the weak.

I clapped him on the shoulder. "Apologies, I was too worked up. First, tell me what happened. We'll definitely save her, and quietly. If we alert the enemy, further investigation of the smuggling case will be difficult."

Tsai Xiaobing explained everything to me.

When Rock suddenly asked him to meet at Lady Of The Night today, he had thought that Rock had finally accepted him as one of his own. He happily rushed over from Lin Yue'er's.

What Tsai Xiaobing had not realized was that Rock had found out about our connection and had gotten suspicious of him. He only realized that it was a trap when he arrived.

"I wanted to escape then and wandered around. The whole building is monitored, only the restrooms aren't. I just happened to need to go, and I found her in the next stall. She said that she had was terrified when she found out that Rock was coming today and hid. Fang will definitely seal the building and search everywhere for her because of Rock. If she's found, she'll be in deep trouble. She has no other choice but to escape. Captain, I couldn't help her alone. But she's so pitiful and I can't just leave her."

"Alright, I understand. You did well. Where is she now? Fang has already sealed the building and they'll be searching methodically. There's also the microchip in Qiaoqiao's arm that needs to be removed."

If Qiaoqiao was caught, she would be subject to inhuman torture. These bastards could definitely do it.

"She's in the safest place. I'll bring ya there."

I told Tsai Xiaobing to wait and walked towards the unconscious Xiaoke. Confused, Tsai Xiaobing asked me what I was doing.

"Help me take her clothes off."

"What?!" He froze, stunned.

I tore off Xiaoke's skirt, revealing her smooth long legs, curvy thighs, and blue and white striped underwear.

She frowned and twitched, but did not wake up. Instead, her legs parted slightly in a maddening pose.