

Chapter 257 Harmony

Chu Xiaoxiao leaned on the meeting table earnestly and smiled happily. "Do you know how good a special forces soldier's body is?"

"What?"

I was just as confused as Li Ge.

Chu Xiaoxiao continued, "Do you know how good a special forces soldier's stamina is?"

"Huh?" Li Ge was still stunned.

I knew what the woman was getting at and covered my face.

Chu Xiaoxiao let out an evil laugh. "That's why I chose Zhang Chao and not you. Forget it, you'll never catch up to him. 'Well-endowed, live well' is why I like him. Don't harass me in the future. Even if you do, I won't choose you."

Then, she banged on the table and left Li Ge sitting there, gaping.

Sometime after Chu Xiaoxiao left, Li Ge unhappily slammed his hand on the table.

I slipped out of the room and ended up bumping into Chu Xiaoxiao. She was taken aback, then realized that I could eavesdrop from the next room.

"You! Did you hear everything?"

She blushed to the tips of her ears when she remembered what she had said, and rolled her eyes at me.

I ran over to hug her and pressed my face to hers. As there was no one else around, I murmured to her, "Why don't you test out the goods if you're talking about 'well-endowed, live well'? Don't waste it."

Chu Xiaoxiao said angrily, "Don't be shameless. This is an office. I just wanted to chase him off."

"That's very final of you. No man will be able to take it if the woman they like says something like that. He's going to feel miserable for months." I smiled and kissed her.

Chu Xiaoxiao could not hold back her chuckles. "I thought about it and maybe I was very final. Maybe he won't bother me for the rest of his life."

"You're the best. I must have done something amazing in my last life to deserve you as my girlfriend." The words came straight from my heart.

I was not just buttering her up. I really had not expected her to reject Li Ge so thoroughly. I felt bad for doubting her just now.

Chu Xiaoxiao giggled. "Words are useless. Show me in bed."

"Hey, don't just say it. Give me a chance."

I did not use to be like this. Just a few months ago, I was still stammering and trembling when speaking to Lin Fang. Now, after spending time with Chu Xiaoxiao, innuendo just spilled freely from my mouth.

I really liked her. I could barely stand the thought that she might speak to someone else as intimately as she spoke to me.

While we flirted, Li Ge opened the door and stepped out. His eyes were bloodshot when he saw us hugging.

"Li Ge, what are you doing here?" I said smugly. At least I was not beating him up for hitting on my girlfriend.

With his last shred of dignity, Li Ge put on a light tone and said, "I came to talk about work. I'm currently working for the biggest securities firm in Tong City. We happen to be looking at making some advertisements, so I spoke to Xiaoxiao about it. Oh yes, why are you here? Ah, I forgot. You're the heir to Junran. You're not like the rest of us who need to work, you're one of those rich people who have money to spend even without working. However, I think a man needs to have a career."

"That's great," I said, "I'll have our business manager speak to you. Have you eaten lunch yet? Oh, I forgot to mention that I'm the boss of this company. Ah, you're right. A man needs to have a career. Hey, do you have your own business? Mayor Li didn't mention it."

Li Ge's expression was gloomy, and he looked as though he wanted to leave right now, regardless of propriety.

"N—no, I don't," he was forced to say.

I did not like showing off like this at all, but Li Ge had really ticked me off me today.

Chu Xiaoxiao had already rejected him, but he was still trying to steal my girlfriend. How could he be tolerated?

To him, I was probably still the classmate whom everyone bullied. Since we were not in the same clique, I was beneath him. He thought that as long as he saw something he liked, he could just take it from me.

He should feel lucky that I did not punch him.

I signaled for Qingqing to come to speak with Li Ge about work. Qingqing had already been eavesdropping nearby. I specifically said out loud, "Qingqing, this is a very important project, you must secure it. Do you know who this is? This is Mayor Li's son. Please take care of him and secure the project."

Qingqing winked at me. "Don't worry, Boss. Mr. Li and Xiaoxiao are friends. He's definitely going to give us the project."

Qingqing was a marvel. Even if Li Ge was only speaking offhand earlier, he was now forced to pony up some advertising business for us.

Li Ge was the true loser today. Not only had he failed to steal my girlfriend, he also had to give me business as well. His dark expression filled me with delight and I could barely hold back my laughter.

However, I could not go overboard with offending him. Even though he was not as rich as I was, the rich had always been wary of officials, ever since ancient times. If he really used his social connections and took me on, he was not to be underestimated.

While Junran was more powerful than your average small company and should not need to worry about the governmental influence a small prefecture's mayor had, business was dependent on harmony. Li Liang was not an unreasonable person. Even if not for Li Ge, at least for Li Liang's sake.

I then told Qingqing that even though Li Ge was my love rival, it was separate from business. She still had to be polite and if he really did not want to give us any projects, that was fine.

Qingqing's praises left me confused. "Using both the carrot and the stick, Boss? Of course, you're well-versed in military tactics. You're the best."

I ignored her and stayed in the meeting room to make out with Chu Xiaoxiao and to discuss where we would test out my "endowments" tonight.

After being with Chu Xiaoxiao for some time, my biggest change was that talking dirty no longer made me blush. I was like a completely different person.

Just as we were getting hot and heavy, just as my hand slipped up her slim waist and higher, the phone in the room suddenly rang.

Ugh, I swore to myself and chose to ignore the phone, but Chu Xiaoxiao, who was panting, grabbed it and held it to my ear.

"Hello?!"

"Mr. Zha—zhang," the reception stammered, startled by my ferocity, "There's a Vietnamese man to see you."

Vietnamese? I paused to think. The only Vietnamese man I knew was Chun Tang.

Chun Tang had been recuperating since I had broken his fingers. I had promised to find him work after he was well.

I always kept my promises. Since I had agreed to help him, I would keep my word, even though he used to be my enemy.

"Let him in." After I hung up, I adjusted my clothes and kissed Chu Xiaoxiao. "It should be Chun Tang."

"He must be looking for a job. It's been a while since we saw him. His injuries must be healed."
