

HIDDEN WIFE : BEST HUSBAND

Chapter 6 - 6 - Honey?

Hallym University Medical Center Hospital, Seoul

As soon as she arrived at the hospital, Soo Yin immediately went out of Dae Hyun's car. She ignored him, who was walking behind her.

Soo Yin first entered the room where Kim Nam, her father, was being treated. Dae Hyun was far behind while taking a call from someone.

"Hello, Dad. How are you today?" Said Soo Yin while holding Kim Nam's hand.

"I am fine. Why are you here? It's too late, isn't it? Don't you have to work tomorrow?" Said Kim Nam.

"I just miss you, Dad," Said Soo Yin while pursing her lips.

"How's your husband? Is he okay?" Kim Nam asked. He was a little worried because Dae Hyun hadn't visited him again since then.

"He's busy," Said Soo Yin.

The door was suddenly opened, and Dae Hyun walked over to them.

"Good evening, Dad. Sorry, I've never visited you," Said Dae Hyun while smiling.

"It's okay, son. You must be very busy," Said Kim Nam.

He quite understood that a hotelier like his son-in-law must be very busy.

"How are you doing now? Is it much better?" Dae Hyun asked.

"I feel much better," Said Kim Nam.

"Soo Yin, get a chair for your husband," Said Kim Nam while looking at Soo Yin, who was sitting silently on the chair.

"Yes, Daddy." Soo Yin rolled her eyes, and lazily took the chair at the corner of the room.

"Please sit down," Said Soo Yin softly. She pretended to be polite to Dae Hyun in front of her father.

"Thank you, honey," Said Dae Hyun as he sat beside Soo Yin.

'Honey? is he out of his mind? since when did he call me like that?' Soo Yin grumbled to herself.

"You're welcome," Soo Yin replied, smiling as sweet as possible in front of Dae Hyun.

"Wow, you are such a great couple!" Kim praised them.

He felt happy that Soo Yin seemed like a good wife to Dae Hyun.

At first, he thought that Soo Yin would find it challenging to accept Dae Hyun as her husband.

Soo Yin just grinned when she heard what her father just said.

"Of course, Dad. I really love Soo Yin," Said Dae Hyun as he put his arm around Soo Yin's shoulder.

Soo Yin tried to avoid it, but Dae Hyun gripped her shoulder tightly.

"Sorry if Soo Yin is still childish. I hope you will guide and teach her to be a good wife, " Said Kim Nam to Dae Hyun.

"It doesn't matter. I understand because Yin is still very young," Said Dae Hyun while gently stroking Soo Yin's hair.

Soo Yin was sick of him and wanted to vomit at Dae Hyun's sweet words. But somehow, she could only smile blandly in front of her father.

'What a scumbag!!' Said Soo Yin in her heart.

"How about her job as your secretary? Is she doing well?" Kim Nam asked.

He didn't know that Soo Yin's real job was housekeeping, which was in charge of tidying and cleaning guest rooms in the hotel lobby.

Dae Hyun was a little surprised when he heard Kim Nam's question. He didn't know that Soo Yin lied to her father about her job.

He looked at Soo Yin, who was beside him.

"She's doing really well, Dad," Said Dae Hyun guiltily.

"When will you give me grandchildren?" Kim Nam asked.

The question suddenly made Dae Hyun and Soo Yin cough. Their throats felt choked, and they looked at each other for a second.

"Are you all right?" Kim Nam asked. He felt something fishy about them.

"We're fine, Dad," Soo Yin replied.

"We will give you grandchildren as soon as possible, Dad," Said Dae Hyun.

"Dad, please, I'm still too young right now," Said Soo Yin. She didn't want her father to expect too much.

"Precisely because you are young, and your father is still alive. What are you waiting for then? I want grandchildren soon," Said Kim Nam while looking at his daughter expectantly.

"Dad, it's getting late. You better take a rest. We'll go home too." Soo Yin diverted the nonsense conversation, which gave her a headache.

How could they have children if they live separately? Soo Yin also didn't want to have children with a man like Dae Hyun.

"Why are we talking in a rush?" Said Kim Nam, who still wanted to talk with his son-in-law.

"Soo Yin, we'll go home soon..?" Said Dae Hyun.

"Dad, tomorrow morning we have to go out of town. I don't want us to be late," Said Soo Yin to her father.

She stood up and then stomped on Dae Hyun's feet firmly.

"Aww," Dae Hyun shouted, enduring the pain in his leg from being stepped on by Soo Yin.

"Right, honey?" Soo Yin asked as he looked at Dae Hyun.

"What's wrong with you Dae Hyun?" Kim Nam asked when he saw Dae Hyun holding his leg.
