

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate Chapter 111

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate

Chapter 111

111. Princess of the south region

"Dominic, are you sure it's the right thing to do now?" Nathan asked in a worried tone while standing in front of Dominic to stop him from moving. Dominic frowned at him for stopping him like this as he didn't like to be interrupted ever and as his beta, Dominic expected Nathan to know that.

"You do realise that you offended me, don't you, Nathan?" Dominic asked in a cold tone which made Nathan step back immediately. Dominic didn't even use his alpha tone but he was already intimidated.

"I am sorry, alpha." Nathan apologised while looking at Justin for a second to signal him to take the matter in hand. Justin looked back at Nathan with widened eyes before gulping down a little. He let out a sigh and turned to look at Dominic after realising that he didn't have any options

"We mean, you have just returned back, we don't think it's going to be a smart move. We think it might be a rushed step. Because even though we tried our best to keep the news away from everyone outside the pack, words go around inside the pack. Everyone present in the pack knows about this incident." Justin explained in a calm and collected way.

He tried his best even though it was so much out of his character. Usually Nathan does this type of thing but as he has already managed to irritate Dominic by nothing, it's not smart for Nathan to speak up again. Dominic is not going to hear him at all.

"We don't have time to move according to the plan anymore, guys. We need to move according to the time now and we don't have any time." Dominic said in his usual cold tone but managed to tone down the ruthlessness a little.

"We understand but.." Nathan tried to speak again but Dominic cut him off once again.

"There is no scope for but. We already got a reply from the South region leader! And you said Athena doubted that Stacey might not share any relation with the south region. Do you know what that means?" He asked in a harsh and frustrated tone. He was frustrated because he realised how much time he lost in this one week Everything he planned got hampered because of the coma. He didn't want to waste any more time on this.

Dominic decided something after hearing the conclusion Athena had come to.

Go and meet 'the princess of the South region', Stacey!

As Athena realised that Stacey might not be the Princess and she might share some connection with the south region, things might get more complicated if Athena decides to solve the issue herself, without talking to him. Also, if someone else from the pack doubts the same, it's going to be disastrous. So, he is going to talk to Stacey and solve it before anyone could get an idea of it.

"Okay, you are right. We should handle it as soon as possible before the south region leader takes action for the things that's dragging him into all these." Nathan spoke up with a thoughtful look on his face as that made more sense. Justin also nodded at him before looking at Dominic.

"We trust you, Dominic. We know you will handle the matter no matter how unprepared we are, Go and do what you need to do. We will handle it here." Justin said with a serious expression on his face. Dominic nodded at them before looking at the closed door of the cell.

"Open it." Dominic ordered the guard who had been standing there like a robot. They didn't worry about him hearing things and creating problems for them. Such guards can't do much other than spread gossip and this guard being the holder of keys of the cells, knows he is going to die the moment he takes a wrong step. So, he won't even dare to do anything such,

"Sure, alpha." The guard replied in a monotonous tone before quickly opening the door and stepping aside to let Dominic get inside.

Dominic walked inside while Nathan and Justin stood there without following him inside. Giving him one last look, they turned around to walk away. They truly trusted Dominic with it and they knew that he would handle everything

Dominic kept walking straight until he reached the end of the corridor. There were two cells at the end. One at his right and one at his left. He turned to face the right cell and the guard who followed him inside immediately went to unlock the door.

Without any second thought, Dominic got inside the room with a monotonous yet dark look on his face.

"So, you finally woke up from the coma. Is it because of the letter my father sent which hints at the must war?"

Stacey's taunting tone made Dominic smirk.

It's going to be fun...

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate Chapter 112

Hiding His Baby: The Alpha's Rejected Mate

Chapter 112: Magic cut magic

"So, you finally woke up from the coma is it because of the letter my father sent which hints at the must war?"

Stacey's taunting tone made Dominic smirk.

It's going to be fun... He stood there while leaning on the door casually.

His hands were inside his pocket as he smiled at Stacey with a soft smile.

He was looking at her as if he met an old friend after a long time and was going to spend a nice quality time together.

While Stacey sat on the clean ground with a similar look on Dominic's face.

She was smirking back at him as if she was waiting for him to come and meet her.

Her usual aura was completely gone where she acted to be kind and soft hearted around Dominic Right now she was looking like a cunning and shrewd woman which she actually was.

The environment was not tense at all like anyone from outside would have imagined; rather it was filled with casualness and 'friendly vibe

"Well, hello, Stacey. How are you? Hope you didn't miss me much?" Dominic asked with his casual smirk in his casual tone which Stacey didn't mind at all.

Instead she played along.

"Oh, my dear Dominic, of course I missed you. How are you?" She asked, acting to sound caring and cheerful but they both knew she was being so far from that.

"Oh, I have been good as you can see. How are you?" Dominic asked, really sounding like he met her after years and can't stop to know about how she has been.

"Oh, now you remembered about me? What took you so long to come to me?" Stacey asked with a small out before she let out a small 'not so funny' chuckle, unable to go on with the acting.

"Ah, well, you see, your father's man attacked me and casted magic on me which is why I was in a coma for more than one week That's why I came late." He explained as his tone slowly started to turn low and dangerous.

"Oh, my really?! I am so sorry! How did you come out of it so fast?" She asked with a sad look on her face, sounding sad because he recovered so soon.

He suddenly stood up straight, leaning away from the door and walking toward her. Her posture got a little tense, unable to handle the intimidation suddenly.

But she quickly tried to hide it but it was of no use as Dominic already saw it all and smirked knowing how he had all the control over the situation. He bent down a little in front of her.

Their faces were almost at the same level but his head was still a little higher than her as he looked at her deep in the eyes.

"Well, we used magic to cut the magic." He said with a smirk, making her look at him with a frown.

“What do you mean?” She asked, her tone was suddenly filled with tension.

The pretence of being calm and collected was gone Dominic didn't answer her. He just angled his neck sideways to show her something. His eyes were on her to make a note of her every expression.

She looked at him in confusion at first before her eyes fell on the glorious mark at the corner of his neck and a loud gasp left her mouth. Her eyes widened in shock, disbelief, anger and at last, betrayal. She looked at him with accusation filled eyes.

“You guys marked each other! How could you do this to me, Dominic?!” She exclaimed in anger as a cry left out her mouth, making Dominic look at him blankly.

“Only she marked me. I am yet to mark her.” Dominic said in a blank tone while looking at her carefully.

‘Why did you say this to her?! What if she creates a problem at our marking ceremony?!’ Dominic’s wolf hissed at him in his “That’s what I want her to do, buddy. I want her to create a problem on that day so that we can put an end to everything on that day only. We will be prepared completely.” He told his wolf who calmed down a little after that.

Stacey fell into a deep thought after hearing that Dominic is yet to mark Athena.

So, she still had some hope in her heart to be his Luna. She was not going to let this opportunity slip past her hand. She is never going to let Dominic mark Athena, she made a promise to herself

“When are you going to mark her?” She asked in a blank tone, while hoping he would answer her and he did.

“On the next full moon night.”

He replied with a smirk, not saying anything else other than that, “Okay, so is that why you have come here? To rub it on my face that how you broke all your promises? To cut me and hurt me by showing how the man I love and dreamt to be with is going to mark someone else as his mate?” She asked as uncountable drops of tears rolled down her cheeks, without any stop.

His expression darkened hearing her.

“Athena is not someone like you. She is my mate, my destined mate, the mother of the heir. The love of my life.”

He declared with his chin held high to show her how proud he was with Athena being his mate.

Before Stacey could say something, Dominic spoke up again.

“And could you please drop the act now?”

He snapped with a disgusted look on his face as he looked at her.

“Act? What are you talking about?” She asked with a frown while her eyes moved away from him, unable to look at her.

“The act of being the princess of the South region!” He snapped, feeling angry at her.

He couldn't believe someone could drop so low to lie about something so big. Her eyes widened hearing him and she immediately looked at him in fear.

“Wh... what are you talking about?? .....I am the princess of the South region!” She snapped at him, trying to sound confident.

“Sure you are! Your father is invited to my ceremony. Hope to meet him soon.”

Saying that, he stood up straight, not letting her say anything else.

She was too shocked to say anything else after that and he didn't even push her anymore as well.

As what he wanted to do was done already.

With all that thought, he walked out of the room and the guard immediately proceeded to close the door behind him.

He was deep in thoughts after coming out of the room so he didn't realise his surroundings that much.

He got a small shock the moment he raised his head a little and found the least expected person standing opposite him, facing him in the back.

“Athena, what are you doing here?”

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate Chapter 113

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate

Chapter 113

13. Daughter of the betrayer

“Athena, what are you doing here?” Dominic asked in a confused tone, making Athena jump. Athena quickly turned around to look at Dominic. Her eyes were a little widely opened and the look of getting caught was present in her eyes. She looked a little scared. Dominic took a step toward Athena when he suddenly realized something and stopped midway. He looked at her with a deep frown, making her more worried.

“Wh...what are you doing here, Dominic?” Athena asked while sounding as nervous as she looked.

“Shouldn’t I be the one to ask you the question?” He asked while looking at her with the same frown which had a little bit of coldness now. She knew what was the reason for his coldness. She looked down, feeling guilty. “And why did you lock your scent?” Dominic asked, his voice sounded dangerously cold, making her flinch a little. Dominic locked his scent as well which is why she didn’t find out that he was there. But the reason for him locking his scent is valid. It could create unnecessary ruckus inside the basement if everyone knows that the alpha was there. But why did she lock her scent? What was she doing there in the first place?

“I...I didn’t want you to find out...that I am here...” She said while looking down. She looked like a child who got caught while stealing candy. He couldn’t understand how he could find her cute even in a situation like this? He couldn’t even get angry at her but it was such a huge thing! What’s wrong with him?! He let out a sigh from inside... That’s what love is...

“What are you doing here, Athena?” He asked with a sigh while taking another step toward her, closing all the distance between them. He wrapped his arms around her waist and pulled her closer. He dropped his head on her hair and inhaled her scent which spread a weird feeling of peace and calmness inside him.

Athena didn’t know how to answer him. She went there to meet Robert. She needed to ask him a few questions regarding her identity. She didn’t expect Dominic to be here. She didn’t tell Dominic about Robert or anything about her past yet. So, he didn’t know how to break it to him suddenly.

“Athena? I am waiting.” He said in a calm tone. He was being very patient with her at that moment. Athena huffed in a little bit of frustration before looking up at him.

“I have come here to meet the person in that cell.” She said while pointing at the cell opposite of Stacey’s. Dominic’s frown deepened when he realized where she was pointing at and suddenly he was in all alert mode. “What?! Why?! Why did you come to meet that person? Do you freaking know how dangerous beis!” Dominic snapped, feeling really angry at her for being so careless enough to come here without letting anyone know.

Athena frowned seeing him reacting like this. She was more confused after hearing what he said. Robert was dangerous? From what sense?

“Calm down, Dominic. You are just getting paranoid. He is not dangerous at all. He can’t do much to anyone here.” Athena said with a small shrug of her shoulder.

She couldn’t bring herself to be scared of Robert at all. After all, he was just a small thief and she spent almost all her life with him. She knew how far his race or capability was.

“What you fucking know, Athena?! He is very dangerous and I know that. So, believe me when I say so and don’t argue with me.” He snapped while sounding really pissed suddenly. Now Athena felt offended and annoyed for getting challenged and shouted at.

He was seriously challenging her about how much she knows Robert?! She knew him inside and out. Better than anyone sees. "Of course, I am going to argue with you, Dominic. Because I know him better than anyone else here. And trust me when I say he is not dangerous at all. He can't do anything at all as long as he is stuck there." Athena explained with another small shrug, she was still trying to be casual about this. But Dominic just couldn't take it anymore. He was equally confused along with being angry. "How do you know him so well?" He asked in a dark tone.

Anything related to the person in the cell opposite to him angers him beyond limit. He sees nothing else but blood red whenever he remembers Robert or anything related to him. He freaking hates that man and anything related to him. If only Robert wasn't important to him for his goal, he would have burned him alive long ago.

"Because he is my father, Dominic!" Athena snapped out loud at the heat of the moment and the moment those words left her mouth, she realized what she said.

It was a slip of tongue. She was bound to old habits. She wanted to explain this to him quickly but the next thing she realized that Dominic pushed her away from himself. She looked up at him with a confused frown and found him looking at her with a look of betrayal in his eyes. She frowned deeply and before she could say something, his next words literally broke her world apart. "You are the daughter of the betrayer who betrayed my father and got him killed?"

(Now, now, now, tell me! What do you think of this chapter? Was it interesting enough? If yes, please make me happy by leaving me a few reviews. They make me really happy and motivate me a lot to write! Love you all! I will be waiting to read new reviews!)

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate Chapter 114

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate

Chapter 114

114. Alpha's order

Never in her life, Athena ever experienced how it feels when the ground underneath shakes. Not even when she found out that she wasn't Robert's real daughter. Not even when Dominic rejected her the next morning after they met for the first time. Not when she found out to be pregnant with Ace. Nothing shook her till now.

Until that moment when Dominic called her the daughter of the betrayer. She felt her whole world shook and the moment he walked away from there silently, she felt her world breaking apart completely

She knew she wasn't the daughter of the betrayer but it still hurts. But she couldn't even get angry at him. Her heart broke when she saw the look of hurt, pain and many more in his eyes. He looked broken at that moment.

"Hi...his father was killed?...And Robert was behind it? How?" She asked herself while still standing at the same place, in front of the cells.

"A...and what relation Robert shared with Dominic's father? What's going on?" She asked herself in confusion.

she go after him or stay there and confront Robert? She couldn't decide.

'Don't be a stupid woman! Go after him! Don't let him misunderstand us again. We just got together. Go after him! Tell him the truth.' Her wolf shouted in her mind in desperation, she was afraid of anything bad happening again because of this misunderstanding.

But Athena suddenly decided against it, making her wolf growl in her mind in protest.
UU

"I trust him and he trusts me. I know we are already past the misunderstanding stage. I believe he won't misunderstand us because of this." Athena said with confidence even though her heart was racing in a little bit of fear.

'But why did he leave then? What if he leaves us again?' Her wolf whined this time, afraid of the thought even.

"No, he won't! He loves us! He just needs time to adjust to the new information. It's such a big thing. He will calm down soon and come back to us to hear us." Athena said in an assuring tone. She put her hands on her heart to calm it down.

After giving herself some time, she turned back to look at the cell where Robert was. Her hatred for him increased some more. She clenched her fist tightly before taking dangerous steps toward the cell. Her steps were filled with fury.

She needed answers. She needed a lot of answers about what she just discovered a few minutes ago. And she was going to get them all from Robert before going to talk to Dominic. With that thought in her mind, she opened the small window of the cell. It was to talk from outside. It was not that small, you can clearly see and speak with the person on the other side.

"Who's this?" Robert's rough tone was heard from some corner in the room. "Is it the great alpha Dominic? Did you finally decide to face me? Or is it the day you end my life and take your revenge?" He spoke up without looking at who it was. As her scent was locked, he couldn't even know who it was.

She looked at him to find him laying down on the floor with his eyes closed. Her anger rose to some other level, seeing him laying down there so freely and casually.

"Robert!" She growled out in a low tone, having a hard time in handling her rage.

He immediately opened her eyes and sat up straight. He quickly stood up and walked toward her immediately with a sick smirk on his face. She felt like punching him on the face to wipe that smirk out.

"Oh, my dear daughter! Did you remember about your father after so long?" He asked in a taunting tone.

"Don't fucking call me daughter! I am fucking disgusted by you!" She shouted, ashamed of herself for calling him 'Dad' for years.

"Why do I see a new level of hatred in your eyes?" He asked in a damn care tone with a small shrug of his shoulder.

"You son of a bitch! You betrayed Dominic's father and got him killed?!" She shouted in accusation, wanting to kill him so badly. She started to see complete red after she saw the smirk on his face which answered her question.

"Oh, you just found out. Yeah, I did that. It was so fun and very easy as well. After all his father was a dump alpha. I couldn't work under such a soft hearted alpha." He said with a small shrug of his, not regretful at all about his act.

“Why?! And what do you mean by working under him?” She asked with a furious look on her face. But she was confused at the same time.

“Oh, I was his beta.” Robert said with a smirk.

Athena looked at him with widened eyes. She unknowingly took a step back, unable to digest the information.

Beta! A beta betrayed his alpha and Dominic thinks she was that beta’s daughter! It was such a big betrayal. Now she was scared as well.

She quickly ran from there toward the exit ignoring Robert’s words. He was asking her about her identity but she couldn’t concentrate. She wanted to find Dominic as soon as possible and clear the misunderstanding but she was stopped at the gate by a guard.

“You can’t go out. Alpha’s order.”

Hiding His Baby The Alpha’s Rejected Mate Chapter 115

Hiding His Baby The Alpha’s Rejected Mate

Chapter 115

115. An attack

‘You can’t go out. Alpha’s order.’

‘You can’t go out. Alpha’s order.’

‘You can’t go out. Alpha’s order.’

Those words rang continuously in her ears, hammering her head hard. Not only her heart, she felt as if her heart was hammered hard and broke into small pieces. Her heart thudded inside her chest, knocking all the breath out of her lungs. She found it hard to breathe. She found it hard to stand on her feet and almost lost her balance but handled herself at the right moment, before she could fall down.

“No...no...no... it can’t happen again. It can’t happen. He can’t misunderstand me. He can’t do this to me after all these! He can’t! He can’t!” She mumbled to herself while shaking her head to make her believe her own words.

She didn’t know what to feel at that moment. She felt numb, unable to think of her next steps. Her wolf was whining in her head, unable to believe that their wolf got them locked in a dungeon.

But slowly Athena felt anger growing inside her as she thought more and more about it. How could he?! How dare he?! He distrusted her again?! She was not going to forgive him this time, not after he dared to lock her up here.

Her hands clenched tightly beside her as she slowly felt her body again. She slowly gained her strength and senses back. She started to think straight again and she knew what she was going to do now She was going to ask him for answers. She fucking needed her answers! With that thought in her mind, she walked back to the exit of the dungeon where the guard again stopped her.

“Luna, please. You can’t leave the place until the alpha says so.” The guard said in a requesting tone. His tone was mixed with helplessness and anxiousness. Was he afraid of Dominic? Well, Dominic should be afraid of her now!

“Let me out.” Athena said with gritted teeth. She said that in a cold and dangerous tone while looking the guard in the eyes. Her tone was capable enough to make the guard shiver but he still didn’t let her go.

“I am so... sorry, Luna... But the alpha’s order-....” He couldn’t even complete his sentence when Athena cut him off.

“Fuck your alpha’s order! I say fucking open the door!” She growled, with wolf’s tone mixed with hers. Her eyes turned completely red, her wolf was at the surface.

And that was enough for anyone to cower away. The guard started to shake in fear while sweating badly in a blink of an eye. He couldn’t abide by the alpha’s order anymore.

“S...su..sure..., Lu... Luna...” He stuttered badly before turning around to unlock the door and stood away to let her walk out. And she did exactly the same. She walked out of the damn dungeon with fisted hands and clenched jaw, without looking back again. “I am going to make you regret mis...” She couldn’t complete the promise she was going to make to herself when she suddenly realised something.

She stopped at her tracks and shock dawned on her. Something was wrong. As soon as she came out of the basement, she heard noises from outside. A lot of noises.

“What’s going on?” She asked herself in worry and confusion before quickly running out of the hallway and entered the living room of the pack house.

The scenery in front of her shocked her some more. Everyone was running around frantically. They were all in panic. Something was terribly wrong and she didn’t have a good feeling about it. She didn’t know what was going on and everyone was in a panic state, so she couldn’t even ask them about it. But soon she caught a hold of a running guard and stopped him. “What’s going on here? Why’s everyone panicking?” She asked with a deep frown, all things from earlier jumped out of her mind. “Some stupid rogues decided to attack us, Luna.” The guard replied hurriedly and Athena’s eyes widened in shock and fear. Fear, not for her but for her dear son. He was alone in their house!

“Ace! My son! Where is he?! I have to go to him!” She exclaimed loudly in fear and worry as she was going to run out of the pack house to go to her son when the same guard stopped her.

“Luna, please stop. The alpha heir is safe in alpha’s mansion along with other kids. They are being heavily guarded by our special warrior team. They are safe. Please don’t leave the pack house until the attack is over to stay safe.” The guard said in a serious yet respectful tone but no way in hell she was going to listen to him.

“If anything happens to my son, I am coming for your head. And you don’t have to worry about me, take care of the people in the pack house. I am going out. Don’t try to stop me.” She said, using her ‘Luna’ tone which he couldn’t defy. So, all he could do was bow down to her respectfully while she walked away.

She walked out of the pack house to see there weren’t many rogues. Hardly twenty or something. She doesn’t think it was a serious attack as everyone from the pack was fighting in their human form only. The rogues must have been hungry for days and decided to attack the pack nearby to hunt some food. Rogues tend to get cranky and impulsive when they are hungry.

She looked around for Dominic. But she couldn’t find him anywhere. She started to look around for him, without worrying about the rogues as she was sure that the guards would handle them. She was so lost in finding Dominic in the crowd that she didn't notice a hungry wolf coming toward her way at full speed. It was almost near her when she noticed it but before she could do something, a punch landed on it out of nowhere, throwing it at least five feet away. "Don't you fucking know how to follow an order?!"

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate Chapter 116

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate

Chapter 116

116. Fighting

"Don't you fucking know how to follow an order?! Try to do what you are told sometimes! What's your problem, Athena?" Dominic shouted at her while holding her face in her hands, looking for any visible wound. Even though he looked and sounded angry, she easily caught the worry in his tone. She was almost near to melting when she remembered why she was there and took a step back. She moved away from him as his hand stayed in the air which was touching her cheeks. A small growl erupted inside his chest in protest to her distance "Why did you move away from me?! Come back here." He said in a demanding tone, trying to take the step toward her himself to close the distance she made. But she showed him her palm to stop him from getting any closer with a cold look on her face. "I am not coming anywhere near you after what you did!" She snapped at him in anger as she glared at him hard, making him confused. He looked at her with a confused frown as if he couldn't understand what she was talking about.

"What are you talking about, Athena? And let's walk back into the pack house and then to my room. Everyone is here. Let's not create a scene here." He said in a calm and serious tone while looking around.

The attack was over, his pack members already handled all the rogues and got them locked up inside the dungeon. Now they were just looking at him for his next command while watching them fight. Athena also understood that it might not be ideal to fight in front of all these people who were making arrangements for her marking and Luna ceremony. So, she calmed down at that moment and didn't say anything about it.

"But what about the pack members?" She asked while looking at a few injured pack members in worry.

"Don't worry about them. They will be taken care of and the rest can wait for us until we are done fighting." He said with squinted eyes before taking her right wrist in his tight hold so that she couldn't run away again and started to walk toward the pack house.

"W*... wait! But what about Ace and..." She couldn't complete her question when he answered it as well. "I just mind linked to Nathan and he said that he is with Ace at this moment. So, don't worry about him as well until we are done fighting." He replied in a cold tone, he sounded as if he was in full mood for a fight. "Okay, then. Let's fight." She sounded frustrated seeing him so eager to fight. She was just losing all the interest in fighting seeing his eagerness. They walked back inside the pack house..

IN THE BEDROOM

“Okay, so tell me, what do you want to know? What do you want to fight about?” He asked in a cold tone, making her grit her teeth in irritation.

“Do you think it’s all funny? Are you finding humour here?” She asked while looking at him coldly. He folded his arms over his chest and kept his face neutral.

“Do I look like I am finding things funny here? I am very serious here. Tell me, what is it?” He asked, not a single emotion was on his face. She let out a huff before starting her blubbering.

“How you fucking dare to lock me up inside the cell?! You called me the betrayer’s daughter. How could you?! Did you even ask me for any explanation? You just declared me guilty and lock -...!” she couldn’t complete her sentence when he closed the distance between them, cupped her face and kissed her.

(I am so sorry for all these short chapters A National science carnival is going on in our school where I am the volunteer lead. I have to work there for twelve hours each day. After that, I became so exhausted that it got hard to write. But I promise to make it up to you after tomorrow. Tomorrow is the last day and I am going to give you three loooooonnnngggggg hapters in one day and that’s a promise! Hope you understand! Love you all!)

Hiding His Baby The Alpha’s Rejected Mate Chapter 117

Hiding His Baby The Alpha’s Rejected Mate

Chapter 117

117. condition

“How could you even think that I am going to misunderstand you for that asshole?! There’s no fault of yours in whatever he did! Why am I going to blame you?!” Dominic asked in shock while looking at her with a deep frown after pulling away from the kiss. He was still cupping her face tightly, not letting her move away from him again. She looked down after hearing him. She felt bad and really guilty. She was getting angry at him for not believing her, for not having trust in her. But at the end moment, it turned out that it was her who didn’t have enough trust in him. She doubted him. But why did he lock her in there then?

“Then why do you hate rogues? They are all not at fault for what some of them did.” She said in a low tone, saving the question for later.

Dominic’s eyes softened hearing her question. He understood that her question was valid as he never gave an explanation on that. Heck, they didn’t get any chance to sit down properly and talk yet. “I don’t hate them all right now, Athena. I know I was blinded by rage and hatred that I almost forgot what my parents had taught me. But the moon goddess knows I have never harmed any innocent rogues, if we put aside what I did to you. I am ready to aplog-...” He couldn’t complete her sentence when she hushed her by putting a finger on his lips, closing his lips.

He immediately shut up and looked at her with widened eyes. His heartbeat rose when he found her eyes fixed on his lips. His throat dried seeing the look on her face which he had never seen before. She leaned a little toward him and kissed her finger over his lips, brushing – his lips in the process. He took a deep breath and waited to see what she was going to do next.

“You don’t have to apologize for that again, Dominic. I know you changed and understood your faults. I am very happy and proud of you that you did so.” She said in her low and melodious tone while looking deep into his eyes.

“I don’t understand, why were you angry at me?” He asked in a hoarse tone, before he could forget this. Because the things her closeness was doing to him was making him go hard down there.

“Why did you lock me up in the basement, Dominic? I thought it was because you thought I was Robert’s daughter. But if that ....” Before she could complete her sentence, he interrupted her.

“Thought? Aren’t you his daughter? But you said you were his daughter...” He trailed off in confusion, unable to connect the dot suddenly.

“No, I am not his daughter. He is not my biological father. He is my foster father who brought me up from childhood till now after my family abandoned me at the age of one. I grew up with him thinking he was my father until I found out he was not. But the habit has not died yet hence it slipped my mouth that he was my father.” She explained slowly, making his eyes widened at the new piece of information. He had a lot of questions regarding that. But he didn’t ask at that moment,

“I locked you in there to protect you from the attack. While talking to you, I was mind linked that we have been under attack. So, I rushed out from there and told the guard to not to let you out so that you can stay there safely.” He explained and her guilt tripled after hearing him.

“I am sorry.” She whispered out in a low tone, making him frown in confusion. “Why are you apologizing?” He asked in confusion. She looked more guilty as she thought she was angry at him.

“You didn’t misunderstand me even though it was a bit matter but I did. I misunderstood you.” She apologized.

“I can forgive you in one condition.”

“What is it?”

“Let me make love to you.”

Hiding His Baby The Alpha’s Rejected Mate Chapter 118

Hiding His Baby The Alpha’s Rejected Mate

Chapter 118

118. Hot

Dominic left Athena on the place they were standing and went to sit on the bed. He saw the look on her face and he knew he didn’t need any answer.

She stood in the same place with her cheeks completely turned red. She was standing there shyly and in confusion, not knowing what to do. He just left after saying his wish and sat on the bed lazily.

“Athena, I am waiting...” He said, his tone was lazy as well. She frowned after hearing him and was going to throw a tantrum but it all died down in her throat when she turned around to look at him.

He was slowly unbuttoning the shirt he was wearing, exposing his toned chest. He was trying to lure her by showing her favorite ‘candy’. “Wh...what are you... doing?!” She gasped loudly while blushing some more. . “What am I doing, Athena?” He asked with a smirk while throwing the shirt at some corner of the room. Her jaw dropped seeing that and she didn’t know what to do at that moment. She was feeling so hot. .

“Ah... It’s so hot here... It must be because of the windows which are closed. Let me open them up.” She hurriedly said whatever came to her mind.

Of course, she was feeling hot. He wasn’t wearing anything above. His muscles were lean but firm. His six pack was hard and toned chest was glistening as if he had just come out of the shower but it was just the sweat after the fight. His beautiful hair was a little wet and messy. He gave her a smirk and sat on the bed in a relaxing way, his lazy gaze was following her shy body. She was wearing short jeans with a shirt and it was his shirt. A light blue shirt with shorts.

As he was looking at her with those desire filled eyes, it wasn’t letting her function correctly. So, she decided to focus on opening the window to let some air come into her brain to knock some senses. But to do that, she had to cross him and just when she was going to walk past him, he pulled her by her hand and in a blink of a second. The next second, she found herself on him. As soon as she fell on him, he gave her a naughty smirk while she smiled at him shyly.

“How hot are you feeling?” He asked while his hand slowly went inside her shirt, tickling her hip bone, making her breath hitch and finally his hand settled on her waist.

“Oh, Dominic! What are you doing to me...” She sighed, unable to hold herself anymore.

Her one hand was tangled with his hair while the other hand was caressing his hard abs, “The same you are doing to me. Can’t you feel it?” He asked and she definitely felt it as she was sitting just above his hard erection.

That made her blush so much that she was going to hide her face at the crook of his neck but that’s when his one hand came out of her shirt and caught a hold of her neck and guided her face to his lips.

Their lips touched and sparkles spread throughout her whole body, making her moan at that.

But it was short lived,

He immediately pulled his lips away but kept his face pressed against his. There was hardly one centimeter gap between their lips. Their lips touched as he huskily said “KISS ME.”

Histone was so hot that she felt like melting immediately. As soon as he said that her hand which was on his abs, she brought it up and wrapped it around his neck before immediately connecting their lips back. He sat there lazily and let her do whatever she wanted with a smirk on his face,

At first she took his upper lips between her lips and gave it to her soul and then moved to the lower lips after giving him a hard peck. She took his lower lips between her lips and sucked on his lips, hard, His hands which were on the bed, supporting both of their weight, he raised them from the bed and kept them on her butt cheeks, pulling them down back to lap while whispering-... "How much you crave me!"

The kiss was making her go crazy, she was getting so excited that I was almost going to get up from his lap and that's when he pulled her down through her ass once again while whispering,
"Calm down, baby girl"
It made her moan some more...

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate Chapter 119

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate

Chapter 119

119. Playing her

"The tough palm of Dominic wrapped around Athena's arm harshly, pulling her back against his hard chest as he possessively secured her in his arms when she tried to move away in shyness

"Let me go "She whispered, struggling against his hard torso, guilty pleasure consuming her His simple touches were enough to make her weak on her knees "Let me go, please" She pleaded, unable to handle the torture anymore

*Not after you showed me how you crave me, Thena" His hoarse whisper let his warm breath brush across her neck as she shivered in his grip, weakening to her knees. She was standing at that moment

Goosebumps covered her body as he swivelled her around again and pulled her down on his lap again without giving her a chance to protest, he attacked the weak point of her body

She sucked her breath, striving to protest when her body did the complete opposite That warm mouth lands on her neck vigorously as he lustfully sucks the crook of her neck where he was going to mark her

He knows how to take her breath away and make her crave for more She was shocked by how her body caves him so much Well, what was she expecting as the mate bond was stronger than ever now

"Dominic She moaned shamelessly, taking a fistful of his hair, and pressing his head against his chest

He slides his hand behind her neck, slowly getting under her hair as he ditches her air, yanking them behind

She was left desperate to have his mouth on her, throwing her head back in a sensation She gulped down, trying to open her eyes and look at him, lighting with the shyness and the desire together

However, he didn't let her do it either and pushed his finger under the collar of her shirt pulling it down she didn't notice when he opened the upper buttons His sharp teeth landed on her shoulder as she yelped in pleasure

"Dominic please." She battled with her inner turmoil, pleasure consuming her

His hands slipped down to her breasts over the bra, leaving her out of breath as she arched her back against the bed Her legs turned into jelly She would have collapsed long ago with his cruel tortures if they weren't on the bed

"The way your body responds to my touch..." His hoarse voice buzzes next to her ear.

"It makes me go crazy over you once again, Athena." He whispered, making her moan He hardly squeezed her breasts, sealing her lips again. This time his hard squeezes on her breasts made her kiss him back lustfully, desires crumbling inside her.

She felt the warm wetness exploding in her entrance.

God, if he feels that he's not gonna stop, she thought in excitement and embarrassment at the same time.

She didn't even realise the moment he pushed her up in his arms, wrapping her legs around his waist during the kiss.

Her heart beats a hundred times faster than before. She heard the sound of the switch going off and immediately pulled her head back, rolling her eyes around the darkroom.

He turned off the lights. Only the soft light of table lamp was on Her heart sank. Before she could utter anything, Dominic pushed her onto the bed and scooted on top of her, hungrily kissing her neck again.

"Do... Dominic...ahhhh." She moaned out loud out of pleasure, her sanity screaming at her to stop shouting like that but she couldn't handle it or stop herself.

Tension builds inside her body as he pushes himself back, staring at her with his teasing and cruel gaze

"You want me to stop?" His voice was teasing and husky.

Her throat dried up with those cruel eyes stinging her skin in lust.

"No..." She gulped down, feeling his hand tracing down to her body, slowly making its way to her inner thigh. Even the thought of him stopping then was scary for her.

She went numb, squeezing her eyes shut as he pushed his hand inside her shorts, tracing her lacy underwear

Her pleasuring entrance hits his fingers, making her go crazier for more.

"So fucking wet, love." He grunted, pushing his fingers into her slippery entrance.

"Aahhhh." She hissed out of pleasurable pain, gripping his arm tightly.

"You want me to stop?" He asked again, knowing how badly he made it impossible for her to resist him. He was loving playing with her.

She couldn't speak out of both pleasure and shyness.

"Speak up." He demanded, vigorously pushing in and out of her as she whined against the bed.

"No. Please. Don't stop." She whimpered, parting her eyelids half and witnessing him evilly smirking Damn him!

That's what he wanted. He wanted her to beg to show her extent of craving him and ask for more. But she didn't care. Her body didn't care,

"I love you so much, Athena." Passion was clear in his voice as he added another finger

His other hands come to wrap her jaw in a firm yet soft grip. "I am never going to let you go ever again, Athena never again." He said, his tone turning a little cold and dark

He pulled out of her suddenly, leaving her breathless.

She was not done yet. It was so painful, so frustrating.

"Dominic." She sucked her breath. "Please, don't leave me like this. Please finish me off. I want you. I am never going to leave you or doubt you ever again.” She said, as she knew he was playing her because of her showing her mistrust to him.

As she struggled to suppress the urge, her eyes found the way to his evil smile as if he was enjoying her begging him.

“You want me, don’t you, my love?” He grins. “Tell me honestly what you want me to do with you.” He asked with a smirk.

“Make love to me. Please love me senselessly.” She groaned like a wounded lioness, wanting his manhood to rip her into two.

She craved him so damn much.

He was watching her plead, kneeling in between her legs.

“Relax!” He whispered, devilishly smiling at her exhausted body. “I’m not leaving you without making love the hell out of you either.” He said with a smirk, enjoying it so much.

Groaning, he pulled down her shorts, threw them aside, and ripped off her underwear, vigorously parting her legs. His warm mouth landed on her inner thighs as he sucked her slowly, delivering shivers down to her spine. She went out of breath, her legs trembling with the building ache down there. Her loins were vibrating in soreness as she pushed her hips closer to his mouth

She didn’t know what she was doing. Another attempt to control her burning desires failed as she looked up at him.

The full view of his hard muscular body and leaning closer to her... She greedily swallowed the view of his alluring torso, nibbling her bottom lips.

It’s too late to have a second thought when he unbuckled his belt, letting his rock hard member out “Spread your pretty legs, love.” His seductive tone heated her body as she shamelessly parted her legs for him. The exact smirk crosses his face again which was sexy and scary at the same time. His dark eyes were enough to make her go on her knees any time.

And this was the end of the game

Hiding His Baby The Alpha’s Rejected Mate Chapter 120

Hiding His Baby The Alpha’s Rejected Mate

Chapter 120

120. Questions

father and...

“Do you want to tell me about what happened? I mean what Robert did to your “Athena couldn’t complete her sentence, she just trailed off.

She was laying on his chest while drawing random patterns on his naked chest. His one hand was wrapped around her petite body and the other hand was playing with her soft hair. A duvet was placed over their naked and tangled body lazily.

“This pack, Crescent Mystery pack, was originally founded by me.” Dominic started speaking but she couldn’t help but interrupt him in the first sentence only.

“What? This pack isn’t your father’s pack? You didn’t get it from your father?” She asked with a deep frown, raising her head from his chest a little to look at him.

"No, it's not my father's pack. My father's pack was destroyed the moment he was killed. As I was very small and the beta was a betrayer, the pack broke apart." Dominic said in a low tone It sounded as if he was having difficulty in even talking about it, as if he was reliving it all over again.

"I am so sorry to hear that, Dominic." Athena said in a sad tone, feeling heartbroken for him already even though she didn't know what happened completely.

"You don't have anything to be sorry about. We both have been through a lot. Maybe that's why the moon goddess made us for each other. So that we can heal each other." Dominic said while kissing her forehead with love and assurance She closed her eyes to savour into the feeling of the kiss before opening her eyes and looking back at him.

"I have a lot of questions in my mind, Dominic." She spoke up, indirectly asking for permission to ask them. His face went a little colder and distant. But she knew it wasn't because of her but because of the memory.

"Ask me." He said in a strained tone.

"Where did the pack members of your father's pack go after the pack broke apart? Did they become rogues? Where were you when this happened? Where did you grow up until this pack was formed and how did you form this pack? I still have a lot of questions but these are the initial ones." She said in one breath and let out some breath after she was done.

"That's a lot of questions to ask at once, do you realise that?" He asked with an amused smile

"Yes but you have to answer them all." She said with a stubborn frown, not planning to let him go until he answers all her questions.

"Okay, after my parents were killed, that's a story for another time, the pack members were taken in by the neighbouring packs as my father shared a really nice relationship with other packs. They were thankfully saved from being rogues. But..." He suddenly stopped with a frown, making her frown as well.

"But?" She asked while looking at her carefully.

"But I... I became a rogue and lived almost all my teenage life in a run until I was capable enough to form a pack. I already had alpha blood in me. So, passing a few tests wasn't a hard job for me to earn the alpha title back. After all, I trained myself hard from childhood to get, along with Nathan and Justin." He explained.

"Nathan and Justin? Where did they come from here?" She asked with a confused frown.

"They were orphan rogues like me and we became friends from the time we met and got each other's back since then." He said with a small smile at the corner of his lips. She smiled hearing him as well.

"Now I understand why you guys are so close." She said with a small smile.

"Yes, I can rely on both of them with my eyes closed. I trust them with my life." He said in a proud tone.

"So, they were with you in forming the pack?" She asked.

"Yes, we formed the pack together. Then we went to all those members from my previous pack and invited them back to my pack. It wasn't so easy, you know." He said with a small shrug, making her frown.

“What do you mean by it wasn’t easy?” She asked.

“Well, you see, I was just a new alpha whose father was killed by his own beta’s betrayal. They couldn’t rely on me nor trust my beta. So, we both had to go through a hard test to earn each of their trust.” He said with a clenched jaw, making her frown.

“Tests? What kind of tests?” She asked in confusion as she has never heard of anything like that “Well, for me, I had to fight all those alphas together, at once, to show them that I was capable enough to protect them from any kind of danger in future. The fight was hard. I was injured badly. And many more traps everyday until I proved myself enough.” He said in a hard tone, without explaining much.

She could understand that it must be hard for him so she didn’t try to ask him more about it. But she could understand now from where those marks came on his body.

They were his crown as the alpha of one of the most successful packs in the world.

“You had to go through so much, Dominic. I wish I could do something for you then.” she said in a sad tone

Here she was thinking how easy his life was. She thought he became an alpha from inheritance and lived his life like a prince while she was fighting for survival. But it’s so not true. They both had gone through a lot.

“But I have another question before I go to the main question.” She suddenly spoke up as another question hit her.

“What is it?” He asked with a lot of patience.

“How did you become the alpha leader of the north region if it wasn’t passed down to you from your father?”