Chapter 81

Chapter 81. 'Don't push me away'

"Dominic! Wait, stop! Stop!" Athena shouted behind him, to stop him but he wasn't even listening to her. No matter how much she ran behind him, he was walking away too fast for her to catch up. But she didn't stop, she ran and upon reaching him, she pulled him by his bicep to make him face her. "Dominic!" She exclaimed while breathing hard. She ran a long distance behind him. They were currently standing inside their mansion. And she has been trying to talk to him from the pack house. It's a quite good distance between the pack house and the mansion.

"What is it?" He asked in a cold tone as soon as he turned to face her. He didn't look at her face but there was a look of irritation on his face and she knew what was the reason. It was because of the question that the pack member asked at the end. He looked at her as soon as she asked them the question and she looked away. Athena didn't notice then but there was a look of discomfort and displeasure on her face. She realised it later and she understood that he must have noticed that and didn't like that.

As soon as he looked at the look on her face, he walked away from there without looking at her face. He walked away from there. She immediately ran behind him, keeping people looking at them in shock.

"Dominic! Why aren't you responding to me? I have been calling you for so long. I have been calling you from the pack house and now we are standing in front of your mansion. What's wrong with you?" She asked with a frown, not liking him being away from her like this.

"There's nothing wrong with me. I don't know what you are talking about. Tell me, why have you been following me? What do you want to talk about? And make it fast, I have some work." He said in a blank tone, while not looking at her still. She badly wanted his eyes on her.

Why? She asked herself. She didn't have the answer but she knew that it was bad for her. His ignorance was making a difference to her, it was making her sad. It was her who wanted to avoid him badly even a few days ago. How did it change so much? Was it his confession or the indirect apology? She didn't know but she knew that she had to get it together.

Something was wrong with him and she needed to know what it was. Was it regarding Ace or something else? What was he talking about back in the pack house? Getting them ready for a war? What the hell?

"What's wrong with you?" She took a deep breath, asked in a soft tone, understanding very well that she was not going anywhere by shouting at him or demanding for an answer. Her expression softened as well.

At last he couldn't stay looking away from her anymore. Her softened tone did the magic and he reluctantly looked at her with a small frown on his face. How was he going to maintain his posture if she kept looking at him like that? She looked so beautiful at that moment with his eyes directly into his. He wanted that to be a forever thing but he knew the day was still far away He could feel it So, he masked his expression back to blankness because he couldn't act cold in front of her.

"Is that what you wanted to ask? I already told you that nothing is wrong with me. I will go to my office now. I need to work" He said in the same blank tone before removing her hand from his hand and lightly pushing her a little away from him Her eyes widened seeing that and she immediately got a hold of his hands again, this time tighter than the first time

"Hey! Don't push me away!" She exclaimed with a cute angry frown and that stopped him again.

He couldn't stop himself from looking at her in pure amusement. His eyes were on her as he was trying to think about what he just said His expression went back to the previous one suddenly which made her frown deeply

He couldn't take it anymore. He suddenly caught a hold of her forearms, making her look at him with widened eyes and before she could understand anything, she found herself pinned up against the nearby wall She looked up at him in shock while he looked down at her with his intention as clear as the lake water

"Dominic 'She couldn't complete what she was going to say when he shut her up by putting his lips on her

It's not like she had anything to say other than his name because other than that, she was blank. The kiss made her go more black and all her senses ran out of her system as she got lost in the kiss But it wasn't long when he pulled away and looked her in the eyes with a lot of emotions

Trust me, from the time you come back to my life again, I am never going to be the one to push you away until I die. If I have the right and ability, I will try my best to hold you till my last breath But I don't think I have the right nor the ability to do that Do 1?" He said while looking deep into her eyes

His tone was filled with some pain and she could read that He once again pulled his hands away from her before turning around and walking away He didn't give her the chance to stop him this time once again But he knew he was not going to succeed in it considering its Athena they were talking about So he increased his speed and walked up the stairs quickly

"Dominic! What the hell?! Stop! You can't run away like this! She shouted as she ran behind him to catch up

Chapter 82. Athena's thinking

"Mommy? Mommy!"

Athena jumped out of the thoughts she was in after hearing Ace's loud voice, calling her. She looked at him with widened eyes and found him looking at her with a confused frown and a cute little pout. An apologetic smile immediately came up on her face.

"I am so sorry, baby! Mommy was thinking something." She apologised while kissing his cute nose, making him giggle. She laughed seeing his scrunched up nose and kissed it again.

"What do you think, mommy?" He asked in a cute and confused tone as he looked up at her from the kitchen slab where he was sitting at that moment.

They were currently in the kitchen, preparing dinner together. She was cooking while her cute little bundle of happiness and joy was giving her company.

'I don't want you to cut your finger, so I will watch you cook.' He said so when she tried to make him watch the cartoon so that she could cook. But couldn't deny his demand after he presented it so cutely.

She can't imagine her life without him! Goddess knows what will happen to her if she ever has to stay away from him!

"Nothing important, baby." She said before turning at the stove to look at the lasagna she was cooking for dinner.

She heard from Patricia that lasagna is Dominic's favourite food. Hence she was cooking his favourite food, thinking that might cheer up his mood a little bit.

That's if he comes out from that office. He hasn't come out of the office room ever since he entered there at noon. He didn't even come out for lunch or had lunch. She tried to call him but he shut her off completely. She felt hurt and empty. But still kept her ego to herself which didn't let her accept that she wanted his attention.

There she goes again. Lost in his thoughts. She didn't know if this was the mate bond or something else but the level of irritation and bothered she was feeling can't be explained in words. She just wanted him to act normal. She just wanted him to be back to his previous way, even if that means becoming his cold and rude way. At least he was interacting with her somehow then!

"I know what you're thinking, mommy." Ace suddenly spoke up, taking her attention to him. She was a little taken aback by the serious look on his face.

She just realised how similar he looked to Dominic at that moment. Even though Ace looked a lot like her, his expressions made him look like a splitting copy of Dominic. He was an angry young man like his father, the thought made her smile.

His smile, his expressions, his reaction and everything, it was enough to let the whole world know whose son he was. He didn't need the scent to prove that and she could say Dominic had noticed it all as well before finding out about the truth. But he didn't say anything because she didn't let him even have those thoughts.

But the longer Ace was staying with Dominic and growing up, the more he was becoming like his father!

She turned off the gas and put the pot down. Then she poured it in a serving bowl before giving her attention back to her son. The dinner was ready. She needs to try her luck once again in calling Dominic. If he doesn't come out this time, she was going to either use Ace to coax him out or break down the door and pull him out.

"I see, you know what I am thinking, huh?" She asked in a playful tone before picking him up in his arms and looking at him with a smile. He nodded his head with a grin.

“Yes, mommy.” He said with a mysterious glint in his eyes which made her look at him with a raised eyebrow.

“So, tell me what I am thinking. Share it with mommy.” She said with a smile before picking up a dish with her other hand carefully. She was wearing a glove which was preventing the heat of the hot bowl from reaching her hand a little. She needed to walk inside the dining room fast before she lost her grip over it and it fell all over the ground. She checked everything inside the kitchen once again before turning around to leave. Then she walked out of the kitchen with Ace and a dish in her hands. As it was already dinner time, she was setting up the dining table.

“You won’t be angry?” Ace asked after a lot of thinking over if he should share this with her or not. She looked at him with squinted eyes even though there was a smile at the corner of her lips. Her son was getting smarter with his words everyday. He was considering her temper before talking!

“You are getting so smart, huh? Naughty kid! Tell me, what’s going on in your little cute head. I will not be angry. I can never get angry at you, my baby.” She said with a big smile as she landed a side kiss on his forehead while walking still.

“You are thinking of my super hero, right?” Ace suddenly spoke up out of nowhere. She was doing things very casually and she wasn’t ready for this innocent question from her son. The question made her stop on her way abruptly. She didn’t realize when her one leg got tangled with another and before she knew it, the dish was slipping away from her hand and she was falling down.

Her eyes widened and the only thing that came to her mind at that moment was to save Ace from the fall. So she didn’t think of anything else and let go of the dish completely and embraced Ace tightly, ready to take all the pain for her. That’s when she heard someone shouting,

“CAREFUL!”

Chapter 83. Why she tripped

“CAREFUL!”

Athena closed her eyes to embrace the upcoming pain as Ace clung himself with her. But the thing they were preparing themselves for never came. Athena felt a strong arm wrapping themselves around her waist which prevented her from falling down. The mind alluring scent already let her know who it was.

“Dominic!” She exclaimed in a whispering tone.

She let out a sigh of relief and hugged him tighter even after getting her balance back. She didn’t feel like pulling back. Her heart was beating loudly inside her chest and she could feel his heartbeat as well. It was racing miles in one second.

He was worried and scared for her and Ace. He didn't want them to get hurt. He was really scared for them. She slowly pulled away from the hug even though she didn't want to and looked at him with a worried look and found him looking at her the same way. He was breathing hard as he looked at both their faces for any kind of visible wound. But they were absolutely fine.

"Are you okay? Did you get hurt?! Did you burn yourself or something else happened? Tell me! Are you okay?" Dominic exclaimed while examining her body from head to toe, searching for any visible wound. The reason for his worry was mostly because she was healing slowly still.

The reason for her slow healing was because of two reasons now. Not only the rejection was still hanging around her neck, he had to take it back soon, her wolf wasn't showing up as well. So, any small injury is as dangerous as a human for her. He didn't want any harm to come to her.

"Dominic! Dominic, calm down. I am fine, absolutely alright. I am not hurt at all. Calm down, take a breath." Athena said with a beautiful yet small smile, a warm feeling spreading all over her chest, seeing him act like that for them.

He stopped talking and looked at her with a sorrowful frown before letting out a sigh and before she could understand what was happening, he pulled her close and hugged her again. She was shocked for a second before hugging him back. Their son was being sandwiched between them.

"You scared me for a second." He whispered in a small tone while caressing her hair slowly and giving a small and secret kiss on her hair. But it wasn't a secret as she felt it very clearly. She took a deep breath in as her legs almost felt like jelly at that moment "I am so sorry for scaring you. We are really okay. Please don't worry." She said in a whispering tone as well before pulling away from the hug to look him in the eyes. She wanted to show him that she was serious. But he didn't look at her. He looked away from her and looked at Ace who was very happy after getting so many hugs from her mommy and her super hero.

"Are you okay?" He asked while touching Ace's face caringly. Ace nodded his head at him enthusiastically with a big smile.

"Yes, we are okay! You saved us again, superhero!" Ace exclaimed in excitement before jumping away from Athena's arms to Dominic's,

"Careful!" Athena said while tightening her hold against the super energetic Ace so that he doesn't fall down. She slowly passed him to Dominic who held him immediately.

"Slowly, champ! Mom's hard work will fall down." Dominic said with widened eyes while holding Ace carefully.

That's when Athena noticed that Dominic was holding the food container with the other hand. Her eyes widened in shock and disbelief. She couldn't believe that he didn't let the food fall as well because it was her hard work. That's when she realised something and her eyes widened some more.

"Oh my goodness, Dominic! It's hot!" She exclaimed in shock before quickly taking the container from his hand and put it down on the dining table before looking back at him.

"I am fine. I have been through worse pain than these." He said while not looking at her. She frowned but didn't say anything about that.

"Thank you for saving us." Athena mumbled under her breath which he heard because of his werewolf power. But just like her, he chose to ignore that as well and that's when he remembered something. A frown came up on his face and he looked at Athena. "How did this happen, Athena? Couldn't you be a little more careful? Why did you have to carry Ace and the food at the same time? What would have happened if I hadn't come here at the right time? Not only would you have hurt yourself and Ace badly, you would have burned yourself as well." He scowled at her, ready for a fight. He knew it wasn't possible for Ace to get hurt when Athena was with him. He knew that Ace was his life. He knew that she could give and take life for Ace. He had already witnessed it in the shadow eclipse pack when he went there to rescue them. It wasn't a small thing for someone to come in front of an angry and merciless wolf just like that. It takes a lot of courage no matter for whom you are doing so But he still couldn't stop the fatherly instinct inside him from kicking off and say a few things to her "I can die for Ace, Dominic. You should know that by now. The same would have happened here. I would have done everything to cover Ace from the pain and I would have taken all the pain by myself happily. That's what would have happened." She said in a low tone, feeling sad that he was blaming her. She could see that he wasn't actually meaning any of the things he was saying negatively but because he was worried for them. But before he or she could say something else, Ace spoke up, shocking both of them. "Mom tripped because she remembered my papa!" ##### Chapter 84. Who is his father?

"About your papa?" Dominic asked with a frown with his eyes fixed on Athena's face. His face was blank, not letting her see any emotions while her face was filled with nervousness. She didn't know why she was so nervous.

"Yes, about my papa." Ace replied with a grin, taking both of their attention back to him who was grinning back at them with a mischievous look on his face.

"What about your papa? Tell me about it. I also want to know." Dominic said with a smirk while walking toward the dining table and sitting on the chair with Ace.

"Mommy was missing my papa." Ace said with a grin while looking at his mummy who was looking at him with widened eyes.

"Ace!" She hissed in frustration, not knowing what to say at that moment.

When did her little boy get so cheeky and mischievous? She knew he was learning all these from their little group of friends. She is going to teach all of them a lesson!

"Missing your papa? Why? Was it making her sad?" Dominic asked, his eyes fell back on Athena who was standing there while fidgeting with her fingers. His intense look was making her nervous like a newly wed bride.

What the hell?!

"Yeah, mommy is sad, missing papa I know the reason" Ace spoke up with a thoughtful look on her face

"What reason?" Dominic asked with a look of interest

Ace is a child of less talk. But his talks are always wistful and interesting. And he always gives away interesting information which is always fun to hear. So, Dominic wanted to hear what he got to say because the expression Athena was giving away was making the situation more exciting.

"I know why mommy is sad" Ace spoke up and Athena's eyes widened hearing that and she immediately looked at Dominic. Dominic looked back at her with a small frown

"Why?" Dominic asked Ace but before he could open his mouth, Athena snapped at him.

"Ace! It was enough talking! Take your seat. It's time for dinner" She used her strict tone at him which she rarely uses on him which shocked Ace. He looked at her with widened eyes and pouty lips

"Don't scold me, mommy. I will cry." He said while looking at her with a sad face which immediately made her frown because she saw through his act.

That little dude was acting!

"When did you become such a drama king? I am cutting your time with your naughty uncles." She said while looking at him with squinted eyes. That made him look at her with widened eyes because his act was caught. He immediately turned to Dominic for help as he knew Dominic would never ditch him.

"No! You can't do that! Super hero! Say something!" He exclaimed with a big yet cute frown which immediately melted Dominic's heart and he looked at Athena with squinted eyes.

"No one's going to punish my champ for anything. If anyone dares to do that, she has to face me" He said with his chin held high and then it was his time to earn her glare and he immediately looked away because she was looking very scary at that moment.

"I am ready to face you, you are the one blocking me." She snapped with taunt in her tone which he acted like he didn't hear. He completely changed the topic and looked back at Ace.

"So, champ, tell me what were you talking about?" Dominic asked with a raised eyebrow while looking at Athena. Her nervous expression was confusing him as well as amusing him. He wanted to know what they were talking about so that it would make her tumble and act like this.

"About why mommy is sad." Ace said innocently while looking between his mommy and superhero. He wasn't aware of what he was doing and no one had the ability to stop him. Athena knew from the look on Dominic's face that he was not going to stop until he knew about what Ace was talking about

"Why is she sad?" Dominic asked in a soft tone while looking at her face to look for any sign of sadness. She looked sad indeed but was trying hard to hide it from him. The thought of her being sad made him restless even though he knew he was somehow the reason for this sadness

"Because papa is ignoring her." Ace spoke up while looking at his mommy with big doe eyes. Those eyes of his were filled with sadness and innocence but instead of feeling sad, they both were confused and shocked.

Dominic and Athena looked at each other with widened eyes. Different thoughts were running in their heads but they couldn't come to any conclusions about what their son was talking about.

From the look of Athena, Dominic knew that she didn't tell Ace anything even though he had a little bit of hope inside his heart. Also, he has given strict orders to his friends not to tell Ace about it as well. No way is it possible that the pack members said this to him because they don't know about Ace's identity being connected with him yet. They just know that their Luna has a son.

So, what is Ace talking about?

"Ace... wha...what are you ta...talking about?" Athena asked in shock and disbelief.

What has gotten into Ace? From the kitchen, all he has been talking about is 'his papa' as if he knows him for so long. Who's this papa he is talking about? Because she clearly didn't tell him about it and he's not someone to believe something without confirming it with her.

"Wh...who's you...papa..?" Dominic asked while stammering a little. Dominic wasn't ready to hear from Ace that he thinks someone else was his father. He won't be able to tolerate that. So, he was scared of hearing Ace's answer but Ace shocked him by his answer.

"YOU!"

AFTER DINNER

"You are still going to stay silent about it, aren't you?!" Dominic hissed at her back as she continued to wash the dishes, without looking at him even for a second. She has been avoiding her, causing irritation within himself.

"What do you mean?" She asked in a blank tone while wiping her hands on her apron. She has just finished washing the dishes. She was going to turn away from there once again when he had enough and stopped her by holding her elbow. But she immediately pulled her hand away and walked toward the dining table without replying to him or looking at him.

"I can't believe you, Athena! You are still pretending to be clueless! Seriously?" He hissed in frustration before walking behind her till the dining table once again.

That's what he has been doing after they finished dinner and Ace went to his room to prepare for sleeping. Athena has been walking back and forth between the dining table and the kitchen and he has been following her like a desperate lost puppy. He wanted to talk to her but she wasn't showing any interest..

"I am not pretending anything, Dominic. Leave my way. I have to clean up the kitchen." She said with a small frown, while still not looking at his way as he stood in front of her, blocking her way.

And this was it for Dominic. He had enough. He lost all his calm and pulled her harshly by her wrist. Before she could understand anything, she was slammed hard against the nearby wall. She felt his hand behind her head, to prevent her from getting hurt on the head. She looked up at him with a deep frown while breathing hard.

"Don't fucking do this to me, Athena! Don't fucking ignore me!" He growled at her before slamming his fist on the wall beside her head with force. She gasped out loudly while closing her eyes tightly as he punched the wall. She opened her eyes and looked at him in shock and anger.

She can't believe him!

"Why can't I ignore you? Don't you remember that this is what you have been doing to me all day!" She taunted back while fuming in anger.

She was remembering what she had been going through all morning and felt more hurt. His closeness, touch and scent was making it more difficult for her to control her emotions. Her emotions were all over the place. She wanted to fight with him and be in his arms at the same time.

She was feeling like a pregnant woman all over again!

"Yes and I would have continued doing that if I hadn't known that my son knows about me being his father." He said while looking deep into her eyes to show that he was equally hurt as well.

"Who is stopping you, huh? It's not like it matters to you if your ignorance matters to me or not. You always do whatever you feel like doing. Do you ever think of me or anyone around you?" She asked in a hurtful tone, she also had enough and the thought of him ignoring her again triggered her in the wrong place.

"My ignorance matters to you?" He asked in a soft tone, his expression softened as well when he saw the hurt filled look on her eyes.

looked away

"I can't look at those eyes ever again until they are filled with trust for me, Athena." He said with a clenched jaw, his tone was breaking. She looked at him in disbelief.

"What do you want me to do now?" She said while looking away from him

Her tone was very empty, making him close his fist tightly. He didn't like how she sounded. It still showed how reluctant she was in giving in and letting Ace know about his father. It showed how she didn't trust him yet.

"You know very well what I want, Athena." He said in a defeated tone. He lost all the energy to fight with Athena regarding this. He was tired

"Fine! I will talk to him. Now leave-" Athena said in a blank tone while trying to move away from him but he caught her wrist and stopped her from moving. She looked at him with questioning eyes which softened as soon as she looked at his pain filled eyes. She couldn't complete her sentence when he put his lips on her, silencing her by the sudden shock. With their tense environment, she wasn't expecting that. Her eyes widened but she quickly recovered and kissed him back.

The kiss was filled with sadness, passion and a little bit of helplessness as he kissed her. While she kissed him back with a few emotions as well such as anger, desperation and helplessness. They both poured all their emotions into their kiss and took it as a way to express their feelings as they didn't have the word to do that. They were kissing as if they didn't kiss for days, as if it was their last kiss.

But the kiss didn't last long as he pulled back, much to her unwillingness and looked at her with a soft look on his face. She looked up at him with a frown. He held her face in his firm and warm hands and connected their foreheads together. She immediately touched his hands over her face and looked at him in the eyes. They both were breathing hard and their heart beats were in sync.

"Don't do this until you are ready. I am sorry for acting like this just a moment ago. I will always wait for you both no matter what. That's what he said and after that, he walked away without giving her any explanation or saying anything else. She looked at him with widened eyes and forwarded her hand to catch his hand to stop him but he was already far away from her.

"Why did that sound like a goodbye?" She whispered to herself, with her hand over her chest to calm down the pounding a little.

Chapter 86

Chapter 86. Going for a run

IN THE MIDDLE OF THE NIGHT

Dominicaat up a straight from the bed with a look of restlessness on his face. It was the middle of the night but he couldn't sleep. He looked at the empty side of his bed and let out a sigh.

It's not like they started to share bed officially or anything. They did sleep on the bed a few times from the time she came back to his life. But they, no, she didn't agree to move into his room with him. He didn't even force or say anything to her regarding it.

But then why does it still feel so empty beside him?

'We need our mate. Only she can fulfill us. Only she can help us out of this misery. Go to our mate. Hold her close to our heart. We need her as much as she needs us.' His wolf whined in his head, making him clench his jaw tightly. He was helpless and his wolf's demand wasn't helping him even though those words made sense.

"We can't force ourselves on her! We have caused her enough heartache and misery, let's give her some break. Let's not disturb her any more." Dominic said while brushing away his hair roughly.

He won't be able to make anyone understand what he was feeling. No one would understand him. A lot of things were pent up inside him and he needed a release.

'We do need a release. We need to go for a run. Let's go for a run. Far away from everything and everyone. Let's get lost in the air and give a moment to ourselves. Go for a run.' His wolf said and Dominic couldn't help but agree this time. His wolf was right and that seemed to be the right decision at that moment.

He didn't care what time it was. He was going to go for a run. Not only him, his wolf was restless as well. They both needed to go for this run and release their frustration. They need it to think properly. They have a lot going on in their lives. With that thought he walked out of the room, but he didn't walk out of the room directly. He walked toward the room opposite to his which belonged to Ace. They renovated the room for him a few days ago.

He walked in there to check up on Ace before leaving and found Athena sleeping on the couch of his room. He was stopped at his track for a moment as he looked at her sleeping face with a frown.

'Mate! Go to her! Touch her! Hold her.' His wolf whined as it walked back and forth in his mind,

The reason for his frown was the look of restlessness on her face even though she was sleeping. Only the goddess knew what she was dreaming about. Or maybe the position was way too uncomfortable for her to sleep there. Whatever it was, he wanted the frown to leave her face hence and he was ready to do anything for that.

He walked toward her and knelt down in front of her. As soon as he was close to her, he saw her releasing a deep breath as if his mere presence just took away half of her tension. The thought put a small smile at his face. But the tired look didn't leave his face.

"The moon goddess took her time while making you, didn't she? How can you be so beautiful?" He asked while looking at her with a small smile. He removed a piece of hair from her face which was disturbing her sleep. He heard her calm and steady heartbeat to realise that she was soundly asleep.

"I know I have been an asshole toward you since the first time we met. I have never proved myself as a rightful and capable mate for you. So, it's understandable if you don't trust me as Ace's father. I rejected you, hurt you, broke you and made you go through hell. Even after you came here, I continued being the asshole. I know I didn't do anything to make you trust me. But still why does it hurt?" He asked as a small drop of tear rolled down his cheek, "I am a coward, Athena. I don't think I will ever be able to ask this to you face to face. Because I am afraid. I am afraid of what might be your answer. So, I will ask now, with no fear of your answer. What can I do to get your forgiveness?" He whispered while landing a soft kiss on her forehead.

He let out a sigh before carefully snaking his arms behind her neck and behind her knees. He slowly and carefully picked her up, without breaking her sleep. She immediately wrapped her arms around his neck and let out a sigh in her sleep. She got comfortable in his arms as she adjusted her head at the crook of his neck. He felt her take a deep sniff of his scent which made him take a deep intake of breath to control himself from doing anything.

He quickly walked out of the room and walked inside his room. Without any second thought, he walked toward the bed and dropped her down there carefully. He knew she would wake up as soon as his scent left her. So, he brought her to his room so that she could stay around his scent. With that thought, he draped the blanket he was wearing over her and fucked her nicely there.

With one last kiss on her forehead, he walked toward the window and jumped out of it without wasting any more time.

With a loud howl, he got lost in the dark and deep jungle and at the same time, Athena opened her eyes with a blank look on her face as she kept looking at the ceiling.

Chapter 87

Chapter 87. The book

"Oh, moon goddess! Help me! Tell me what I should do to free us all from this misery! I can't do it anymore! You even took away my wolf! My only companion I don't know what I should do now." Athena exclaimed while looking at the full moon that was shining brightly.

She was currently standing by the opened window of Dominic's bedroom from where he jumped a few minutes ago. She could hear his faded howling as he kept running further.

away from the mansion. His howling told her about the torture he was going through. She knew what she had to do to help him out of all of these but she couldn't do it just yet. She needed to complete a few of her targets before she took a step toward him. She was so helpless at that moment.

She didn't realize when a drop of tear rolled down her cheeks. She quickly came out of those thoughts as she wiped away the tears. Then she put on a determined look on her face as she walked away from the window.

She walked toward a cupboard and brought the book out which Patricia brought that day. She wanted to read it herself and see if she found something. She couldn't waste more time and this seems to be the perfect time to read it.

"I need to find the answer with at least one clue. I can't waste any more time or wait for the girls." She said to herself with a frown as she looked at the book with determination.

"How good it was going to be if my wolf was here with me! She would have helped me in figuring out so many things! Where are you, partner? Come back soon. I miss you."

She whispered to herself with closed eyes before opening her eyes.

She let out one last sigh before opening the book, preparing herself for whatever she was going to get out of it.

She opened the book and started reading the book from the start. It was a big fat book. Good thing that she loved to read and hope she won't get bored in the middle.

She couldn't complete high school. She had to drop out at the end moment because of Robert. She has always been a bright student. Always caught everything very fast and was the best in her class. She used to go to a human school. There were a few werewolves as well but no one minded her if she was a rogue or something else. They all minded their own business which made things easier for her there. Also the fact that she wasn't someone to get bullied easily, she had a peaceful life than most of them because there were a lot of bullies in the school.

As the school was a human school, it was a little expensive as it was not easy for a rogue to get admitted in the werewolf school just like that who was she kidding, it was very expensive.

Robert didn't mind her going to school as long as she was completing her daily targets. Robert used to give her a target every morning. A target on how much she has to steal throughout the day and hand the money to him. He didn't care what she did as long as she completed her daily target which she never failed.

Actually she used to earn more than her daily target, as it was already mentioned that how good of a thief she was, she was really good at it. So, she used to keep the remaining money to herself and give the targeted money to Robert. Someday she used to give him more to make him happy and keep his mind away from business. And she used the money to study and for her expenses.

She planned to be a lawyer and live in the human world for the rest of her life if her mate rejected her. Hence she was studying hard. But one day Robert found her stash of money which she kept aside to pay for her school fee and he was furious when he found out where she was studying and how she was studying.

That day he beat her a lot. But out of respect for her 'father' she didn't say anything or fight back and accepted everything. She was furious and heart broken. She was angry at her fate. That's why when he ordered her to drop out of school, she did that without another word as she was tired of hoping for something good in her life. She shook her head to come out of the past thoughts. How did she get lost in that?! She let out a sigh and made a mental note to meet with Robert once again and talk regarding her past once again to see if she can get some more things out of him or not. With that thought in mind, she started reading the book. The book started with basic werewolf signs and all. Before she was introduced to the four regions. She started reading it.

“The four regions are places that mark the werewolves territory. These four regions hold a lot of things. Starting from secret, mysterious, power and danger. Many more things. And they are all hidden in every corner of these regions. They are hidden in the terms of signs. Signs that almost look meaningless.” She read out loud.

She pulled up her shirt and looked at the sign on her waist with a frown.

“What significance do you hold?” She whispered and started reading the book again. She was half way through it. She had just finished the East and West regions part. She was going to enter into the North region when she heard a loud growl coming from the jungle and felt a killing pain in her heart. She dropped to the floor while clutching her heart as she cried out loud.

Chapter 88

Chapter 88. Silver arrow

Dominic's wolf ran with the air. His strong and powerful paws were banging against the ground, making loud sounds. The ground was shaking as he ran.

He was blocking every thought from coming to his mind. He didn't want to think about anything else other than letting his thoughts free from all the things. He wanted to give himself alone time, away from everything.

'Let's not block them all. Let's talk it out with each other.' He heard his wolf's voice in his head which decreased his speed a little. He wanted to run away from those and here his wolf was suggesting to talk it out.

Really?

'What do you want to talk about?' Dominic questioned back as they picked up their speed again and continued to run like before.

There is a lot to talk about. There is a lot going on but let's start from Athena, our mate.' His wolf proposed and he immediately stopped at his track. His wolf started to take deep breaths to calm itself down.

'I am here to run away from her thoughts only.' Dominic said as his wolf slowly sat down on the ground. They were tired after running for so long. They gave their full strength in running which is why they were a little bit tired as well. So, they both decided to take a rest

'Running away is not going to help us. We need to find a solution out of this.' His sensible wolf pointed out, making him frown. His wolf wasn't supposed to sound this smart!

'I don't understand what is this solution you are talking about! Our mate is confused about us. She is reluctant to take a step toward us. One moment she shows she feels equally attracted toward me and the next moment she is cold and distant I know she was pretending when she said she was ready to take this step with me. In actuality, she wasn't ready. She was pretending and had some motive. I don't know what it is. I won't be surprised if she hates us as well. And that shit hurts, doesn't it?!' Dominic blabbered out in his mind without stopping and his smart wolf patiently heard him all. He felt so much better after voicing these out even though they are in his head, in front of his wolf. It still helped a lot.

'Why won't she hate us?' His wolf suddenly asked, confusing Dominic.

'What do you mean? She is our mate. She is supposed to love us.' Dominic exclaimed in frustration, making his wolf sigh in his head

'Sometimes I am very proud to have you as my human but sometimes you make me question myself.' His wolf said sarcastically, making him frown deeper.

'Now don't get so sassy with me, I will not take you to run for one week straight.'

Dominic threatened

'Okay, fine. But what I meant is, you didn't give her any reason to love you. Just expecting love isn't enough. You have to work hard for it. You have to earn it. You have to take a step toward your woman and trust me, she will take two steps toward you.' His wolf said in a clam tone, surprising him.

'You sound like a love guru But what is that one step?' He asked, completely clueless.

'You rejected her, Dominic'

'Yes, I am aware of that I regret it badly but why are you pointing this out? Do you want to criticise me?'

These are the moments when I question myself. But whatever, did you take your rejection back, genius? His wolf scowled at him in irritation and his eyes widened in shock and realisation. He finally understood where he was making mistakes.

'Oh my, that completely slipped my mind I will take my rejection back as soon as I am back!' He exclaimed in happiness, showing a little light already

The thought took his mind away from every negative things, away from Stacey and Derrick, away from the problems at the border

From the border, he remembered something and stopped in his tracks. He looked around himself and found himself away from his territory border He was still in the North region so it was still his territory but it was still another alpha's territory as well. He shouldn't have entered here considering all the things that's happening regarding borders.

He quickly turned around to get back to his Pack's territory while thinking about the things that's happening from the past few days

From the past few days, different bodies have been found near his border And by different he meant, the bodies belonged to different people from packs and at the same time from rogues as well.

The faces of the people are destroyed completely. That's why nobody could detect yet from which pack those people are. Just by smell they are able to identify the difference from pack members or fogs. They have sent news to the packs around them if they had any missing people or not. But for some weird reason, no positive response came yet which says that they have missing members.

They are thinking that these people might not belong to his region. Now the question that arises is, why is this person doing this, why is he leaving the body in front of his Pack's border only? There are hundreds of packs around the world.

So, if these people actually belong to different regions, it's clear that whoever is doing this, he's trying to create problems between Alpha leaders. Not only a problem, a war.

This person is trying to create war. Between him and who?

He was still thinking about all these things when he suddenly felt a heart-crushing pain which made him fall down on the ground with a thud. He let out a loud howl which made every bird around the place fly away while making noises. He couldn't even understand what happened to him until a few seconds later.

A few seconds later, he looked down at his chest and saw an arrow on his chest.

Silver.

He let out another growl while pulling the arrow by his mouth. Blood poured out of the place as the place burned because of the silver.

"Alpha Dominic, it's nice meeting you after all."

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate Chapter 89

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate

Chapter 89

Chapter 89. Killing him?

"Who are you?" Dominic growled at the man in front of him.

He had just come back to his human form. He wore the pants he brought with him before looking at the man. He was still laying on the ground. He couldn't get up on his feet as he was getting weak and weaker because of the silver. He sat there with his hand clutching the wound as he was waiting for his wolf to heal him as soon as possible. But again, the silver was making the process slower.

He was furious would be an understatement. He was more than that. He was in his territory and someone dared to attack him, at his territory only. Could things go worse than this?! It was a direct challenge for him because he could say from the smell that the man wasn't from the North region.

"Are you okay?" Dominic asked his wolf who was affected the most by the silver. Silver always works faster and more dangerously on the wolf than the human body. It weakens the wolf which automatically slows down the healing power and eventually weakens the human body.

'It was a strong silver mixed with some magic or poison. I am unable to fight it.' His wolf replied in a weak tone which worried Dominic

"Alpha Dominic, you seem to be angry. Why is that?" The man asked with a sneer as he glared at Dominic. His hold against the

"Why are you surprised?! You attacked me, used illegal silver on me while standing in my territory! Do you think I will be fucking joyous after all these?" Dominic growled as he was getting his strength back slowly as his wolf was doing the work.

"Well, then do you think it was fucking for joyful for us to see what you have been doing to use from the past few days?!" The man asked as he took a threatening step toward him, making him growl. But he was confused when he heard him.

"What are you talking about? What have I been doing for the past few days? And most importantly, who the hell you are?!" He asked as he slowly tried to get back to his feet. Seeing him doing that, the man got in defence mode again as he prepared himself with his arrow

"Of course you are going to act clueless now! After killing all those innocent people, you dare to be clueless now! You fucking disgust me! I don't fucking care who you are and what happens to me but I am going to kill you today! After what you did, you don't deserve to live!" The man shouted as he pointed the arrow toward Dominic as Dominic was still in the healing process, he couldn't shift back to attack him.

"Do you fucking know that I can snap your neck into half? Do you have any idea what's going to happen to you for attacking an alpha leader like this?" Dominic growled, his wolf was turning mad each passing second.

He wanted to heal as soon as possible and then kill this freaking idiot as cruelly and mercilessly as possible. Dominic and his wolf, they both were feeling as helpless as their dark past.

Just like now, he was helpless that night. Even though he wanted so hard to prevent whatever was happening but just like today, he couldn't do anything. He just wanted this phrase to be over. It wasn't how it was supposed to turn out when he decided to come out for a walk. But then who would have thought that this stupid wolf would be so stupid enough to attack him in his own territory?

"Alpha leader?! Don't you feel ashamed to call yourself an alpha leader after what you have been doing?! An alpha leader was supposed to protect the wolves, not only of his region but of the whole community! Just like OUR LEADER! But what you have been doing doesn't make you anything close to that! Did you hear me?! So don't fucking dare to call yourself an alpha leader again!" The man shouted in fury, making Dominic confused when he heard him.

Their leader. So, it's confirmed that he doesn't belong to his region but from another region. So, could it be that it was related to those things happening around his border?

"Who's your leader? Which region do you belong to?" Dominic asked, wanting to know because after he gets out of this shit, it would help him to solve the issue easily.

"Oh, you don't even know whose people you are killing?! You fucking deserve to die!" The man growled as his eyes were flashing golden, letting him know that he was not going to stop until anyone stops him.

But who would stop him at this moment? Dominic was all alone here.

"Wait !" He couldn't complete his sentence when another arrow pierced through his skin but this time on the stomach. He let out another painful growl. The fuck is going on now?! He couldn't just let a completely random person kill him! He closed his eyes and regretted rejecting his mate ten times more now. Because if the mate bond was unscratched, he would have recovered long ago.

That's how mates heal each other!

"Shut up! Don't fucking dare to talk! I am going to kill you today! One more strong dose of silver and you are going to be done forever! The world doesn't need an alpha leader like you. Get ready to say..!" He couldn't complete his sentence as soon he was thrown at least ten feet away from where he was standing by a strong force.

The force was way too strong and all the arrow fell away from him. An earth shattering growl was heard which made him look up and his eyes widened in shock.

"A red wolf!"

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate Chapter 90

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate

Chapter 90

Chapter 90. Alpha lady

"Athena!" Dominic exclaimed while looking at the glorious red wolf in front of him.

"What... What did you just call her? Did you say 'Athena'? Oh my god, that's her. That's our alpha lady! We have finally found her. I have finally found her!" The man exclaimed in pure ecstasy as he looked at the angry wolf in front of him who looked very determined to kill him by breaking his neck into half. But he didn't care about that. He looked so happy, as if dying won't mean anything to him.

Dominic, who was getting weaker every passing second because of the second arrow which was on his stomach. Both of the scars were very deep into his flesh, making him very weak no matter how strong he was.

Gritting his teeth, he looked ahead of him, back to his beautiful mate.

The wolf was almost as big as his wolf, letting him know that it wasn't any normal wolf. Its unique colour was already telling everyone that it wasn't anything near normal. She was a special wolf!

As she stood in front of him with a protective posture, ready to pounce at their enemy who hurt him. She was letting out growls every now and then as her long fur was moving with the air like a proud flag or like a burning fire. The wolf was magnificent! Suddenly a voice rang in their heads.

"How dare you attack my mate?!"

Athena's wolf shouted in their heads and that made the man snap out of the thoughts and daze he was in. He looked at her with widened eyes and visibly started shaking. He looked at her in fear before slowly dropping to his knees as he couldn't remove his eyes from her.

"A red wolf! Oh my goddess! I am seeing a red wolf! My life feels completed suddenly. Oh my goodness!" The man started blabbering as tears came out of his eyes. He knelt in front of her with his hands folded and looked at her as if she was someone superior.

"How dare you attack my mate?!" She growled once again, completely ignoring his words or anything he was saying. But the man looked a little confused after hearing her the second time as he wasn't paying attention the first time.

"Your mate? Alpha lady, this man is your mate?" He asked in confusion while looking at Dominic who was glaring at him murderously Dominic's eyes were glowing as he was trying to get a grip on himself and try to recover as soon as possible. He was sweating badly and the veins of his face were popping out as he was gritting his teeth hard to bear the pain.

"He is my mate! You dared to hurt him! I am going to kill you!" Athena's wolf was furious and wanted nothing but this man's blood But Athena was controlling her as she wanted answers.

"He doesn't deserve to be your mate, alpha lady. Trust me, he is not worthy to be your mate. He is not worthy at all. He is not even worthy to be an alpha. He is the worst man even, alpha lady. Trust me." The man said venomously as he spat at Dominic with the same anger.

Athena's wolf let out a loud growl which made the man look down in submission. She was beyond angry to hear someone call her mate bad It hurt her more than anything. She can not tolerate that at all.

"Don't utter another word against my mate if you want to be alive for a few more minutes." She threatened while taking a small step toward him.

"I am sorry to offend you, alpha lady." He said like a submissive wolf, without arguing any more.

The power Athena had over that man was astonishing Dominic who couldn't help but admire Athena in this avatar.

In this 'Alpha lady' avatar.

"Who are you? What are you doing here in our territory?" Athena's wolf's voice rang in their heads again.

"I came here to punish this man, alpha lady. I didn't know I would get this lucky to meet you here. I am so happy." The man almost cried out while smiling through tears. But Athena and her wolf both were too furious to hear anything. It took a threatening step toward the man

"How dare you hurt my mate! I am going to kill you!" She growled once again as she took another step toward him. Her eyes were glowing, looking like two fireballs.

The man immediately took two steps back from Athena's wolf, not because he was scared but he had a determined look on his face

"I am sorry, alpha lady. I can't be killed by you today Because I have to pass this news to our alpha that you are alive. I have to tell him that you have been found. I am sorry." Saying that the man quickly turned into his wolf before running the opposite way, without turning back for another glance

Athena would have taken a run after him but a whimpering sound was coming from her wounded mate. She quickly turned around and let out a painful growl as she quickly ran toward him who was almost losing his consciousness

'Dominic?! Dominic, can you hear me?! Reply to me! What's happening, why can't I mind link him?' She exclaimed to her wolf in desperation

'I can't get his wolf. His wolf has fallen unconscious as the silver works the worst on the wolf than on the human body That's why we are unable to connect with him. Her wolf said while whimpering

She tried to call him through a mind link again but it wasn't possible as he was shutting down. She nudged his face by her nose while letting out whimpering sounds

Dominic looked at her with a soft smile while letting out soft breaths His eyes were dropping He raised his hand slowly and touched her face and she immediately leaned on his touch

"You... are beautiful

As soon as he said that, his hand dropped losing consciousness completely
