Chapter 91

Chapter 91. Worried for the Alpha and Luna

"We have searched the whole mansion. There isn't any sign of Dominic or Athena. They are not in the mansion." Suzanne said in a frantic tone as they all stood at the back of the pack house.

There were four of them along with a few pack warriors. The earth shaking growls coming from their territory obviously woke them all up. They all recognised Dominic's voice and got worried. But when they came out of their houses and looked for Dominic, he wasn't there. Then a few minutes later, they heard another growl but they couldn't recognise the voice and that worried them.

"I only found Ace sleeping there peacefully. But no sign of them. Even on the terrace." Patricia said after running to them and stopping while taking deep breaths. She just came running from the pack house after checking there

"They are obviously not in the living area. They are in the jungle." Nathan exclaimed in frustration and worry. He couldn't think straight at that moment.

"What happened, which is why they went there at this time?" Justin asked with a frown, trying to figure out the reason for both of them going to the jungle at this time,

"Is it possible that Athena went for a walk when she was attacked and Dominic went to find her to save her?" Suzanne spoke up with teary eyes, she was ready to cry thinking of something bad happening to Athena. She wants her to be safe. "That is possible but the painful growl belonged to Dominic. It sounded as if he was hurt." Patricia voiced out and everyone looked at her with widened eyes. They realised that too but hearing someone voicing that out, hit different.

"Exactly, and if he is hurt, they both are in danger considering Athena can't shift." Justin exclaimed while running his hand through his hair roughly. He was very restless just like everyone else.

"Hope they are safe!" Suzanne almost cried out, making Nathan hug her immediately.

"Don't worry, I know they are safe. They won't let anything happen to each other." Nathan whispered soothingly while hugging her.

"What should we do now?" Suzanne asked a few seconds later

"What's there to decide? We are going to go into the forest to find them. Let's go." Justin said with a frown, ready to shift and go into the jungle to fight both of them

"Stop, Justin. We can't go in there without any plan." Nathan frowned at him, immediately stopping him from going anywhere.

"What plan are you talking about, Nathan? They are in danger and you are talking about a plan." Justin frowned back at him, trying to make sense of his words. He was getting angry.

"No matter what, we can't go there without preparation and not only put our lives at risk but also our pack members. Who knows what would happen if someone attacks them when we leave?" Nathan exclaimed back, while raising his tone. He was in a tight situation as well, he needed to calm down.

“Do we really have time to make a plan now? Our alpha is in danger out there!” Justin shouted in fury, not ready to hear what Nathan got to say

“And he has his Luna but the pack members won’t have anyone if we leave. And as the second in command after the alpha, I command that we are not leaving until leaving the pack protected.” Nathan said in a cold tone, using his power and that immediately shut Justin up.

“So, what’s your plan now? Letting the Alpha and Luna of the pack die?” Justin scowled with gritted teeth and no longer had he finished his words, a hard punch landed on his jaw. It was from Nathan.

“Nathan!”

“Justin!”

Suzanne and Patricia shouted for their mates as they ran to hold their mates to stop themselves from killing each other. They can’t believe that they were fighting at the time when they needed to be stronger together and be more united than ever. But look at them, fighting over something so small!

What’s wrong with them?

“Can you both stop fighting?”

“We have to do something fast. They are in serious danger!”

Suzanne and Patricia shouted at them one after another, at least they were trying to stay united. They were really disappointed as well as confused over their mates’ behaviour “That’s what I am talking about, Patricia but your mate doesn’t understand that.” Nathan spat at Justin who was fuming in anger.

“Nathan, don’t blame him because you are not acting mature as well. If you have any plan, share it with us instead of wasting time fighting.” Suzanne spat at him, angry at him for behaving so oddly out of nowhere.

“And I support Nathan in this, Justin. You need to prepare something for the pack security as well before leaving to find them. So, enough of you two acting worse than Ace and getting to work.” Patricia spat at Justin while frowning as well. Nathan and Justin seemed to calm down a little but before anyone could understand anything, the similar yet unknown growl was heard. It came from the jungle.

“Oh my god! What is that?!” One of the pack members exclaimed in shock and disbelief, taking everyone’s attention toward the thing he was pointing at.

“Is that a fire. ?”

They immediately looked at the forest to see a fireball running toward them at full speed. But as the thing kept coming closer, they realised it wasn’t any fireball but a red wolf whose precious red fur was glowing in the darkness, making it look as if it was on fire. From the fierceness on its face, everyone could say that she was indeed in the mood of putting everything on fire.

“That’s a red wolf!” Patricia exclaimed in shock and awe. It’s her first time seeing a red wolf about which she has read a lot. “Who’s this?” She asked in a daze but Suzanne’s next word, brought her out of the daze and she looked at him in shock.

“Athena shifted!”

Chapter 92. Blooda

"Oh my god! Dominic!" Suzanne exclaimed as soon as his eyes fell on the unconscious body of Dominic.

No one couldn't focus on the glorious red wolf anymore after hearing Suzanne's words. They tore their eyes away from the beautiful red wolf and looked at the body on its back. Everyone let out a loud gasp seeing Dominic injured. They all ran toward them and got them down from the wolf's back,

The wolf let out a loud howl as it looked at Dominic and everyone immediately recognised the voice. It was the same unknown voice they were getting worried about. They realised that it belonged to Athena.

"What happened to him?!" Nathan exclaimed while holding him in his arms.

"He's hurt!" Justin exclaimed in worry while holding him from the other side.

They were in shock after seeing their best friend and alpha injured like this.

"Someone call the pack doctor!" Patricia shrieked out loudly, she was close to bursting into tears but she was holding the tears with a lot of difficulty.

Athena let out another growl, taking their attention toward her. Everyone present there, immediately turned their back to her when they realised that she was shifting back to her human form.

"Ahh!" Athena fell on the ground with a cry and Suzanne and Patricia immediately turned toward her.

"Athena!" Suzanne and Patricia exclaimed together before running toward her to give her support. A maid came running toward them with a robe and she handed it to Athena.

"Here you go, Luna." She said in a respectful tone. Athena quickly took it and wore it before kneeling down in front of Dominic. She took his head on his lap and cried out loud.

"Dominic!" She let out a loud shriek as she hugged his head close to her chest.

"Athena, are you okay?" Suzanne asked in a pitiful tone, feeling really bad for Athena.

"What happened to him?" Nathan asked her while trying to stop the bleeding by holding the wound but it wasn't working. He was losing a lot of blood very fast.

"He is attacked by silver! Someone call the doctor!" Athena shouted while holding Dominic's face protectively.

After the man ran away, she shifted back to her human form. Then she put him on her back with a lot of difficulty as he weighed a lot. After that she shifted back to her wolf form before running here. Only she knew how hard it was for her..

"The pack doctor is on its way, Luna." One of the pack members said.

“Silver?! Who dared to do that? In our territory?” Justin growled, his eyes were glowing as he was ready to drop some head on the ground

“Yes, a man who didn’t belong to this region at all. He seemed to hate Dominic and was blaming him about something. But I couldn’t find that out as Dominic’s state was way too bad.” Athena blabbered out in one breath. She was worried and nervous which was not letting her think carefully.

“Oh my god! His face is getting paler!” Patricia exclaimed and cried out. She failed to hold her tears anymore. Justin immediately hugged her tightly to take care of her.

“How much silver is in his system already?!” Nathan asked with gritted teeth. Whoever dared to do this is going to face death soon, he made a promise to himself.

“He was attacked with two silver arrows.” Athena cried out. She felt scared even after thinking about it.

“He is bleeding profusely!” Suzanne pointed out once again when she saw her mate’s bloodied hand.

“Where’s the fucking doctor!?!” Athena growled out loud as her eyes growled red again, she was ready to kill that doctor if something happens to her mate for him coming late,

“Calm down, Athena. They will be here any moment now.” Nathan tried to act strong and said in a serious tone but that triggered Athena badly

“I can’t fucking calm down, Nathan! My mate! He is bleeding and unconscious and the doctor is not here yet. I am unable to do anything for him. Do you fucking know how helpless I am at this moment?! I can’t fucking calm down!” Athena growled as her canines came out and she looked at Nathan, directing all his anger toward him but before he could say anything, the pack doctor reached them

“I am here, Luna.” He said while huffing, taking long and deep breaths as he literally ran all the way here.

Athena immediately turned around and stood up. Before anyone could say something, she held his collar with one hand and raised him up from the ground Everyone gasped out loudly as they looked at the scene in front of them in shock.

“Oh my god! Athena! What are you doing?!” Suzanne exclaimed in shock and disbelief before running toward her to stop her from what she was doing. But as soon as she touched Athena’s hand, one small push from Athena, almost threw her away if it wasn’t for Nathan who caught her at the right moment

“Suzy, are you okay?” Nathan asked in a worried tone while glancing at Athena He was too shocked to say anything

“I am fine, Nathan. But we have to do something We need to stop her Otherwise she is going to kill him!” Suzanne exclaimed while looking at Athena with worried and nervous eyes

“I know but we can’t interfere now. Otherwise it might trigger her. She will let him go when she realises what she is doing Let her control her power and anger herself.

Nathan said in a serious tone while praying it doesn’t become too late for Athena to realise

“I will fucking burn down this whole world if something happens to my mate! Do you fucking understand?!” Athena growled, her eyes were literally spitting fire “Yeyes. Luna. I will take care of alpha ‘The doctor voiced out those words with a lot of difficulty and as soon as he finished his words, her grip on him loosened and she fell down on the ground, losing consciousness.

Everything at last wears her down

Chapter 93. Ace's mommy and papaa

"Where's mommy?! Where's papa! I want to go to mommy and papa! Take me to them! Take me to mommy and papa." Ace cried out loud while moving his hands around to get out of Suzanne's hold.

He has been like this for the past one hour. After everyone took Dominic and Athena to the hospital, Suzanne walked to their mansion to stay with Ace. Because only she would be able to handle him when he wakes up and doesn't find his mommy. But right now she was doubting her capabilities.

There was still time for sunrise. Ace suddenly woke up in the middle of the night, around one hour ago and started crying. When Suzanne tried to calm him down, he said something about his mommy and papa getting hurt and he wanted to go to them.

Now the question is, how does he always know whenever Athena is sad? This time Dominic included!

That made her question herself if he had any special power...

"Shh, Ace baby, calm down. Mommy and papa are sleeping. Why don't you sleep as well?" She asked in a soothing tone, trying to divert his mind but that seemed to anger him as he cried louder.

"No, aunt Suzy! You can't put me to sleep like always. I will not sleep. I want to go to mommy. I want to go to papa" He cried and tried to push his way out of her arms but she held him strongly. She hugged him tightly, feeling really bad for the child. Both of his parents were in the hospital bed. What could be worse than this?

"Shh baby, please don't cry. Mommy and papa are going to be so sad if they find out that you are crying so much. They are going to be so sad and even scold Aunt Suzy. Do you want me to get scolded?" She asked while rocking him back and forth. At last, she didn't have any other way other than blackmailing him. She knew that he loved her a lot and did not say anything after that. And that's what happened. He quieted down after hearing her.

"No." He mumbled out after a few seconds as he hid her face at the crook of her neck while wrapping his small arms around her. It was his way of telling her that he was going to protect her from everything. Suzanne's heart filled with love at that.

"That's right, baby. So, can you please let Aunt Suzy put you to sleep? I promise when you wake up, mommy and papa are going to be beside you." She said while kissing his forehead and hiding her teary eyes in the process. Ace and Athena were so precious to her and she didn't even know why!

Maybe that is what true love is. It doesn't have to be romantic everytime. She was grateful to the moon goddess for blessing her with this kind of love. Athena was just like her sister which she never had.

"You promise, aunt Suzy?" Ace's cute voice pulled her out of her thoughts and she looked down at her innocent tear filled eyes with a smile.

"I promise, my baby." She said while wiping away the tears which rolled down his chubby cheeks.

"Okay, put me to sleep." Ace said while hugging her again, not saying anything else after that. That made her smile at his cuteness.

So precious!

After that, she started to hum a lullaby while caressing his hair and in a minute he was back to sleep. It is the same lullaby she sings for him everytime.

"Love you, my baby." She whispered while kissing his forehead very softly and lovingly after putting him back on the bed. She covered him with the quilt.

"Did he sleep?" Suddenly a voice asked from the door which made her jump as she wasn't in the right set of her mind. She turned around after recognising the voice.

"You scared me. For how long have you been here?" She asked while walking toward his opened arms and hugged him. He immediately hugged her back and they both stood there for a few seconds, healing each other.

"Sorry, love. I didn't have that intention. I was standing here for at least five minutes." He answered while kissing the crown of her head

"I see." She nodded at him with a smile before answering his previous question. "Yes. He was crying a lot. God knows how he feels it every time Athena is sick or in danger! He always senses it and becomes restless like this." Suzanne said with a sigh while looking back at Ace

"The whole family is special, Suzanne Understanding them is beyond us." Nathan said with a small chuckle, making her smile as well But then he suddenly got serious. "Tell me something." He said while looking at her.

"What?" She asked with a small frown.

"What did he mean by you can't put him to sleep like always?" He asked with a small frown. He heard Ace saying that and for some reason, that felt a little odd to him. And also noticed how she put him to sleep in less than one minute. That was a little odd to him.

Suzanne's eyes widened a little hearing that but she didn't let it affect her like last time and put on a casual smile.

"Oh, it's nothing. I just...help him sleep whenever Athena is in trouble or busy with work and he doesn't like that. Because he thinks of himself as a big boy and thinks that he should be with his mommy whenever she's in danger. That's why he blames me." She said with a small smile while explaining that to him. He seemed to believe that and at the same time he seemed to be impressed by it.

"Did he even notice that? How old is he again?" Nathan asked in an amused tone, making Suzanne chuckle.

"Of course, he did He notices so much around him. He's so smart." Suzanne praised in a prideful tone. She felt as if they were talking about their son.

"He indeed is. After all Dominic and Athena are his parents. What else do you expect?"

Nathan joked with a small chuckle but at the mention of Athena, Suzanne couldn't smile happily. A look of worry plastered on her face and her eyes welled up again.

"What's going to happen to them, Nathan?" She asked in a defeated tone. She was tired of everything happening to them.

"Nothing is going to happen to them, Suzanne. They are going to be absolutely fine. They are stronger than this. They will fight through this in no time." Nathan said in an assuring yet confident filled tone. He was sure they were going to come out strong.

"Yes. I want them to be happy. I want their misery to end, Nathan I can't see them like this anymore." Suzanne softly cried out, unable to hold her tears any longer. Nathan immediately hugged her to comfort her but he didn't have any words to stop her from crying.

"I want the same, Suzanne. Trust me. I want the same." He said with a sigh while sending a small prayer for both of them to the moon goddess. They stayed in each other's arms for a few minutes before she pulled away and looked at him with a small frown.

"Did you talk to the doctor? What did he say? What happened to Athena? How's Dominic?" She asked in a eager tone. A deep frown came up on his face after hearing her and that put a frown on her face as well. "You are scaring me, Nathan." She said and he let out a sigh after hearing that.

"I don't know what to say, Suzanne. Athena fainted because of exhaustion and anxiety. After all, she shifted after so long. It has gotten into her. But she will wake up soon. But Dominic..." He trailed off, a blank look appeared on his face.

"And Dominic?" She asked in a fearful tone.

"He might fall into a coma."

Chapter 94. Meeting with the doctor

"D... Dominic... Dominic..."

The feeble tone of Athena brought Justin from his thoughts and he jumped from his chair. They were all taking turns into visiting here while taking care of other things. It was now his turn. He didn't think that she would get up in front of him and he didn't know what to do other than becoming a nervous wreck.

"Athena! You are awake! Doctor, doctor!" He shouted in panic and tension while literally jumping on his spot. She let out a loud groan as soon as he shouted, making him look at her with widened eyes. He looked at her in a way as if she would turn into a red wolf now and strangle him to death.

“Ahhh! My head hurts! Don’t fucking shout!” She snapped at him in irritation while holding her head with both hands. His eyes widened hearing him and he realised what he did. He gave her a sheepish look before helping her sit up when he saw that she was trying to sit up

“Oh... I.....am so sorry, Athena... I...got excited! The doctor is coming right away.” He explained in a nervous tone, earning an ‘unbelievable’ look from her.

“W... water....” She looked away from him and coughed out the word while eyeing the water.

“Oh right...” He exclaimed in a slightly loud tone which earned him another glare before he put his hand over his mouth. He gave her another sheepish look before picking up the water bottle and handing it to her. “Here you go...” He decided to whisper this time. She immediately drank from there in one breath. Her throat was completely dry. After drinking the water, she looked around in confusion

“Justin?” She asked out of nowhere while looking at him in confusion. From her look, it seemed like she had just realised who was in front of her.

“Yes?” He questioned back in confusion.

“Wh...where am I? Wh...what happened....?” She stammered out in an anxious tone after analysing her circumstances better. He frowned hearing her question.

“You don’t re....” He was going to ask but a voice from the door stopped him. They both looked at the door and found a woman around their age standing there. She was wearing a white hospital coat and had a stethoscope around her neck. Athena immediately recognised her as a doctor. The doctor walked in with a warm smile on her face.

“Excuse me, Gamma. Could you please move a little? I have to check up on Luna.” She said in a soft tone while looking at them with a smile still “Sure, sure...” Justin cleared his throat before moving away from Athena and making place for the doctor.

“Doctor? I am in the hospital? Why am I in the hospital?” Athena exclaimed out loudly while looking at them frantically. She was immediately on her defense mode.

“Did she forget everything?” Justin asked the doctor in a worried tone. Athena’s eyes widened hearing him.

“Forgot? What did I forget?! Why am I in the hospital?! What’s happening?” She asked loudly while looking at them for answers.

“Luna, please calm down. And gamma, could you please leave us alone? You are not helping with the situation.” The woman’s face had a stern look as she turned to look at Justin and he immediately knew that he messed up. He gave yet another sheepish look to her before taking a small step back.

“Oh, I am so sorry... I will leave you to do your job. Please take care of her.” He said with a small smile and after that he walked out of the room after giving a small assuring nod at Athena who was still frowning at him.

“Sure.” The doctor nodded at him before turning back to Athena. Her smile was back on her face,

“What’s happening?! I don’t understand.” Athena snapped in anger and frustration while looking at the doctor who was her only hope in getting the answers she wanted. The answers would help her out of this confusion.

"It's okay, Luna Calm down. Take it easy." The woman said in her soothing tone but unfortunately it wasn't helping Athena at that moment. She was lost at that moment and she needed answers to help her, not soothing tone.

"Who are you? Stop telling me what I have to do or not and answer my damn questions." She snapped at the woman, irritated without any reason but instead of flinching or feeling upset by her behaviour, the woman smiled at her again. That irritated her some more.

"I am Lisa I am a doctor and I am in charge of you currently, Luna. I will answer all your questions but before that you will have to answer some of my questions which might lead you to your answers. Is that okay?" Lisa asked in a professional tone and at that moment Athena felt embarrassed by the way she was acting like a brat in front of her. She let out a sigh before taking a deep breath and looked at Lisa with a calm expression.

"Okay, tell me what is it? And I am sorry for reacting this way and behaving rudely with you. I am just confused." She said with another sigh and Lisa smiled at her understandingly

"I understand, Luna..." She started talking when Athena interrupted her.

"My name is Athena. Please, call me by my name." Athena said with a small and convincing smile which Lisa couldn't deny. She gave her a small smile.

"Sure. Athena..., so, tell me, do you feel any pain? Headache or any kind of body ache?" She got into her professional mode again and asked while taking up the notepad and pen to note down everything Athena was going to say

"Uh... I was having a headache a while ago when Justin was screaming but now it's gone. My bones are a little stiff but nothing much." Athena explained and they both chuckled a little at the mention of Justin

"I see. You have been sleeping for more than fifteen hours." She nodded at Athena while noting something down but her words caught Athena's attention. She looked at her with widened eyes

"Fifteen hours?! Never in my life have I ever slept so long! Athena screeched out loudly, catching Lisa off guard a little even though she was expecting this kind of reaction She calmed down a little.

"Don't panic, Athena. That must be because your wolf took this time to help you both * Lisa said in a casual tone while examining Athena's face. Athena seemed to get another shock after hearing her as her eyes widened once again

"My wolf..?" Athena mumbled out in disbelief but the next moment a voice in her head spoke up

'Yes, woman, your wolf. Do you remember me?'

The sarcastic remark forced her to believe that indeed her wolf was back. Her eyes lit up in happiness and she looked at Lisa with a big smile.

"Oh my! My wolf is back! I missed her sarcastic remarks!" She exclaimed while laughing, making Lisa chuckle as well

"I think you share a very special and interesting bond with your wolf, Athena " Lisa commented with a smile

"You bet! She is the savage queen 'Athena laughed some more while ignoring her frowning wolf at that moment. She wanted to finish her meeting with Lisa before concentrating back on her wolf

"That's great. Do you remember when and how your wolf was back and the process of it?" Lisa asked after a few seconds while looking at the notepad for a moment before looking back at her. The frown was back on Athena's face.

"What do you me-?" She couldn't complete her sentence when the flash from last night came in front of her eyes and that's when something struck her badly.

Her wolf's colour!

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate

Chapter 95

Chapter 95. In the room next to her

Athena always knew something was wrong with her wolf.

Not literally but she knew her wolf was a little different than others. From the time she first shifted to till the time she last shifted before her wolf was lost, she has noticed an unnoticeable change in her wolf's colour. She didn't know if she made sense or not. The first time she shifted, her wolf's colour was brown. Plain brown. She loved her wolf's colour. It was pretty common in colour but she didn't care, she felt special to have a wolf even. But after one year or so she suddenly realised how much her wolf changed its colour slowly. From light brown, it turned to deep brown. Then, over the years it turned to dark chocolate and after she shifted after months yesterday, IT WAS FREAKING RED!

She was a red wolf!

'Beautiful we are, aren't we?' The familiar voice of her wolf pulled her back to the present and she looked at Lisa with widened eyes. She still had a hard time believing everything. She still couldn't believe it.

"I have a red wolf.." She stammered out in an astonished tone.

"Yes, you do and you are beautiful. But do you remember anything else apart from that?" Lisa asked in a cautious tone while looking at her carefully. Lisa's expression made Athena frown as she tried to understand why she was acting like that.

And that's when she got some more flashes. She suddenly remembered why she shifted in the first place. Dominic's painful howling, the pain she felt which couldn't stop her wolf from shifting. She ran to find him and then...

Her face filled with horror and she looked at Lisa and her eyes filled with tears immediately.

"I am guessing you remembered everything, Athena." Lisa said in a monotonous tone, not letting anything show. The tears dropped from her eyes and rolled down her cheeks.

"Ye.. yes... L.L... Do..Dominic..." She stammered while already making preparations for running out.

“Please calm down Luna. Take a deep breath and listen to me.” Lisa said as she was already expecting this kind of reaction. Athena’s face turned cold and she looked at Lisa in the eyes.

“Where’s Dominic?” She asked.

“I will tell you after you listen to me calmly.” Lisa said in a calm tone and Athena was too shocked and rigid to say anything. So, she just simply nodded at her. Lisa took the hint.

“So, you passed out last night out of exhaustion. You wolf took this time to heal you both. Apart from that, you have no other complications, isn’t that right?” She asked slowly and Athena nodded while holding herself with a lot of difficulty from lashing out at Lisa.

“Yes, now tell me where Dominic is?” She demanded with gritted teeth. She didn’t want to behave rudely with her once again even though she was having a lot of difficulty.

“I will tell you, Athena. Please keep your calm.” Lisa tried to calm her down as the main thing was yet to be revealed to her.

“Where the hell is my mate?!” She growled and her eyes were already glowing.

“He...he is in the room next to you.” Lisa stammered out as she was afraid of Athena at that moment. She looked really scary at that moment and she knew irritating her at that moment is not going to turn out to be good.

“Why is he here?! What is he doing there?! Why didn’t he come to meet me when I was here?!” Athena exclaimed with a deep frown She acted crazy as she got down from the bed and was going to run out. “I want to go to him.” She said but Lisa stopped her at the right moment

“Luna, wait!” She stopped by holding Athena’s hand.

Athena immediately turned around and growled at her. Her canines came out already as she dared Lisa to say something. Lisa immediately took a step back..

“What? Why are you stopping me from meeting my mate?” She snapped, her tone almost didn’t sound like her. She didn’t know why she was feeling so restless and uneasy. A heavy feeling was settled on her chest, making her feel really like she was going to go crazy if she hadn’t met Dominic at that time.

“There’s something you need to know before you meet him, Luna.” Lisa whispered while looking down. She felt bad to even utter the news as she couldn’t imagine how hard it was going to be for Athena. Athena frowned deeply hearing her and took a small yet intimidating step toward Lisa to hear her better.

“What is it?!” She asked in a steel cold tone which made a shiver pass through Lisa’s spine.

“I think you remember what happened to him last night?” Lisa asked in a low tone and let out a sigh. There was no way of hiding things anymore and what’s the point? Athena was going to know sooner or later anyway. She let out another sigh before looking up at Athena who slowly nodded at her.

“Yes... He was attacked with silver and he was bleeding a lot. How’s he?” Athena asked in a soft tone, afraid of hearing anything negative even though her heart was already saying the opposite. But she could still hope, right?

“We managed to flush all the silver out of his system but it was a little bit late. The silver already did its work.” Lisa said while looking at Athena guiltily.

“What do you mean?” Athena asked with a frown, tired of the hide and seek game al ready. But she still asked with the remaining patience.

“It has entered his system a little bit and affected his wolf badly which is why his recovery got much slower than normal.” Lisa trailed off, still didn’t have the courage to say the truth on her face. But Athena had enough.

“What are you trying to say? Be clear!” She snapped loudly and in a blink of an eye, her eyes glow red again, ready to lose control any moment now. Lisa’s eyes widened and that was it for her as she sprouted out the truth.

“He and his wolf were unable to fight the silver which resulted in him falling into a coma.”

Lisa couldn’t complete her sentence when she felt a hard push on her side and before she could understand anything, Athena was already bolting out of the door.

Chapter 96. Wants to talk

“D... Dominic...! Dominic... Dominic? Dominic!” Athena’s voice trembled as she barged into the room where Dominic was and found him lying on the hospital bed lifelessly. She felt all her energy left her body at the sight of him. Different kinds of machine and wires were attached to his body. Two big bandages were wrapped around his stomach and his chest. He looked so defenceless at that moment. The man who never let anyone look at him in the eyes and talk was laying on the hospital bed with his eyes closed for goddess know how long. Could things be worse than this?

She cried out as she felt her heart breaking at the sight of him but the moment she took a step toward him, to run to his arms and ask him to wake up for her and hold her in his arms, someone stopped her by holding her arm. She immediately stopped and looked at the obstacle with dark and dangerous eyes. A growl erupted inside her chest, making the man flinch. He looked like another doctor.

“Luna, please calm down.” He said in a professional tone while trying to hide the fact that he was intimidated by her

She tried to pull her hands away from him as she didn’t want to have the same conversation with him as Lisa. She just didn’t have the energy. But when the man tightened his hold around her arm, not letting her go near Dominic, she lost her calm.

“Let me go! I said let me go. I want to go to my mate. I want to go to him. Leave me!”

She shouted in fury and frustration while struggling against his hold. No matter what, she was still weak from yesterday’s events. Also the news about Dominic weakened her a lot as well. She couldn’t put up a strong fight with the doctor.

“Luna, you can’t meet him until you are calmed down. It’s not good for him.’ The young doctor said in a strict tone. Athena was too busy to notice how he looked. She frowned at him deeply, finding his words utterly ridiculous and irritating.

“Who are you to stop me from meeting my mate? Dominic? Dominic, see they are not letting me come to you.” She couldn’t handle the burst of emotions and complained like a child with a defeated shoulder. The doctor looked at her in pity but that seemed to oil her anger.

“Luna, please calm down. Alpha is not in a great condition. If you create ruckus here, that’s not going to be helpful for him. You have to understand that.” His word of advice made her lose her complete calm as she glared at him.

“Don’t fucking tell me what I have to do or not! Dominic would have ripped your hands off for touching me, do you realise that?!” She snapped in a cold tone while looking at his hand which was on her arms, making him immediately take his hand away. No matter what she said until then scared him as much as her last line did. He was truly scared thinking what Dominic would do to him if Dominic found out that he touched his mate. He gulped out loud while taking a step back from him while looking at her apologetically

“I am sorry, Luna. Please forgive me. I was just trying to look after the alpha ” He said in a guilty tone which didn’t do anything to calm her anger.

‘You think you can help him by stopping me from going near him?! I am his mate, do you think you have more power than me in healing me?!’ She snapped, finding him really stupid. She had enough of these stupid doctors.

“I am sorry, Luna. I was just....” The man tried to say something when a voice from the door stopped him.

“You can meet him, Luna.” A senior doctor in his mid thirties said while entering the room.

Athena immediately recognised the doctor from her yesterday. He is the same doctor whom she attacked and threatened yesterday. The memory made her embarrassed. She was embarrassed for acting like a brat.

God knows what happens to her sometimes!

“Doctor Ron” The previous doctor nodded at doctor Ron respectfully. Athena understood that Ron might be the one in charge of the pack hospital Ron nodded back at him before looking at Athena with a soft and calm look. Athena was ready with a frown once again, ready to hear the same thing from him.

“You can’t meet alpha.’

“Hello, Luna. I am sorry on his behalf. He is a new intern and he was worried for Alpha. But I am telling you, you can go and meet him You are right, only you have the power to heal him at this moment. We did what we could do.” Ron said with an encouraging smile while moving away from Athena’s away. He even pulled the intern away with him, making way for Athena to go to Dominic Athena looked at him in shock and confusion

“What do you mean?” She asked with a small frown. She was confused after hearing different things for the first time.

“His wolf needs healing and no one else but you can help him. Please help our alpha in healing. We will give you privacy Call us if something happens. Thank you.” Ron said in a very mature and smart tone with a small smile. His posture was very controlled as well. She was feeling more guilty for her behaviour now.

“I am sorry, Luna.” The previous doctor said in an apologetic tone and with a small nod.

She couldn't say anything to them but just when they were going to leave the room, Athena stopped doctor Ron.

"Wait, doctor Ron..." She called in an unstable tone while looking really guilty.

"Yes, Luna?" Ron responded with a small smile. She let out a sigh before looking at him.

"I am sorry for the way I behaved with you last night. I was scared and was not in the right state of my mind." She apologised in a very sincere tone. She looked at him in the eyes to show she meant her words.

"It's okay, Luna. I understand. I am glad you brought him here at the right time otherwise things could have gone more wrong. And thank you for threatening me with my life. My love for my life made me work harder to do my work properly." He joked to make the environment a little lighter. Athena smiled a little after hearing the joke before looking at him with a grateful smile.

"Thank you, Ron." She thanked him and he returned the smile back to her.

"I will be around if you need me. Please stay strong." He said with a small smile before walking out of the room, not prolonging the conversation any more and giving her time to share the moment with Dominic.

After they both left while closing the door behind them, it was only both of them now. There was no sound other than their heartbeats and the sound made by the machine. Unlike every time, their heartbeats weren't synced this time. His heart was beating slower than her. That showed how weak his heart was... That made her feel sadder as she took slow steps toward him. Her leg was wobbling but she caught a hold of herself at the right time and kneeled down in front of his bed.

She looked at him in the face. His face didn't have his usual frown on his face nor the cold look. It was just calm. As calm as his favourite lake. Just like the calm lake, his calm face was saddening as well. It was breaking his heart.

"How c... could you?" She asked in a broken tone. The tears she was trying hard to block blurred her vision. She couldn't see properly. But she still didn't let those tears fall.

"How could you be so cruel? How could you do this to me?" She asked but this time she couldn't hold the tears anymore. They rolled down her cheeks as he cried out while holding his cold hand. His lifeless hand.

"Didn't you say that you are going to work hard to win my heart? Didn't you say that you are going to fight for me, fight for Ace, fight for us? Then how could you not fight for yourself? Why didn't you fight the silver? How could you fail in this?" She asked while shaking his hand hard. The tears were unstoppable after that. Her thoughts were making her too crazy as she struggled in voicing them in front of him.

What's the point? Was he going to understand her? Or hear her, reply to her? No, but she was going to feel a lot better.

"Answer me! Why are you quiet?! I need answers, goddamn it, Dominic! I want you to talk to me. The last time we were fighting! I don't want that as a memory when you are in a coma! Get up and talk to me properly so that I can hang on. Wake up!" She shouted while crying. She dropped her head on his chest and continued to cry. She cried her heart out with the rhythm of his slowly beating heart. She raised her head after a few seconds and looked up at him again. She wiped her tears away which was fruitless as more tears kept coming down.

"I... I have so much to tell you. I have so much to share with you. Please don't make me regret my decision of not sharing those things with you before. I can't go on one day with regret. Any small regret makes my day a living hell. Wake up, listen to what I have to say and free me from this guilt. Please." She begged. She had a lot to say but didn't know where to start. She also didn't want to say all these precious things when he was in a coma. But she couldn't keep them inside her as well. So, she badly needed him to get up.

"I want to tell you so much. I want to tell you that I am ready to give us a chance for real. I want to tell you that I am ready to tell Ace about you. I want to tell you that Ace couldn't get a better father than you. I want to tell you that I... trust you, Dominic. I want to tell you so much." She whispered near his ear while dropping a kiss on his forehead. She wiped away the tears which fell on his face before chuckling through tears. The chuckle was filled with emptiness and was void of any emotions or humour.

"Isn't that funny? Before we couldn't pass a day without fighting and hardly talked properly, and now I am blabbering non stop When I was in front of you, ready to give my everything to you, you rejected me. When you were ready to give the world to me, I pushed you away. Moon goddess must be punishing us." She said in an empty tone while looking at the blank space in front of her blankly

She didn't know what else to think of this. She wanted to blame someone to feel better and at that moment, the moon goddess was the easy target She knew she was wrong but she didn't know what else to do. Her back was touching the wall.

"Don't say this, Athena." A broken voice from the door pulled her away from her thoughts and she looked at the door. The tears she stopped from flowing a few seconds ago, starting rolling down her cheeks again, without her permission as she stood up and ran toward the person standing at the door with open arms.

"Suzanne... Suzanne!" She exclaimed in relief and the next moment in pain as she hugged her. Suzanne hugged her back and they both stayed in each other's embrace

"Oh my, Athena!" Suzanne exclaimed as she cried softly along with her as well.

"Suzanne, see, he is not waking up. They are saying he went into a coma." Athena cried like a baby. Suzanne was the only one on whom she could rely on and she was grateful to the moon goddess for sending Suzanne in her life.

"Shh... Calm down, Athena. Yes, I have heard it. Please don't cry. We need to stay strong in such moments. You need to stay strong for him, for Ace, for us, for the pack." Suzanne said while slowly pulling her away from the hug and cupping her face. She looked at her in the eyes as she said those words. She wanted Athena to hear her words and understand what she was saying.

"I can't... I can't, Suzanne." Athena cried, almost breaking down once again.

"No, Athena. You can. Trust me. You can. You have to do this. You have to make him proud. You can do this, Athena. Tell me you can do it." Suzanne made her look in the eyes and said in a hard tone. But Athena still wasn't ready for this as she shook her head negatively, not ready to hear anything.

"I... I can do it..." She mumbled out while looking down.

"We are with you in this, Athena." Nathan's voice from the door made them look at the door as Nathan and Justin walked inside the room with confidence and determination on their face.

"You are not alone in this, Athena." Justin said in a serious tone. Their words and confidence were slowly getting on her and she started to calm down slowly.

“But...” She still had the major thing on her shoulder which she didn't know how to face.
“But, what?” Suzanne asked with a small frown. Athena's face fell at the question.
“How am I going to tell Ace that his superhero-...” She had just started to share her problem with them when she was stopped
“Mommy?”

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate Chapter 97

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate

Chapter 97

Chapter 97. The girl in his dreams

“Mommy.” Ace cried out while hugging her neck tightly. Athena let out a sigh as she hugged him back, close to her heart.

“Ace, my baby!” She whispered out while caressing his back lovingly.

Patricia brought him to the hospital after he started crying for uncountable times, demanding for his mommy and papa. Athena walked out of the room and entered a small empty room with Ace in her arms.

She didn't want him to make Dominic's room more stressful than she already did. And their friends gave them privacy by not following them. They understood that Athena and Ace needed a mother and son bonding time.

“Mommy... Mommy, are you okay? Are you hurt? Did you cry?” Ace pulled back from the hug while looking at her with teary eyes. He was caressing her face with his small hands, making her smile at the sweet and cute gesture of her son.

“Oh, my baby. Calm down. Mommy is absolutely alright. See, mommy got no hurt.

Mommy didn't cry as well, my love.” She said while cupping his face and kissed all over his face. She expected him to giggle just like he usually does. But instead of doing that, he caught a hold of her face and looked at her with a cute frown.

“Your pretty eyes are wet...” He said while wiping a drop of tears which rolled down her cheeks as soon as she heard her baby.

“Aw, they are? Don't worry, I just...washed my face. They are water. Mommy didn't cry, I promise.” She said while kissing his little hands.

How smart her precious little son was!

“But I was scared. I thought you were hurt.” He whimpered as he remembered something and hugged her again, making her worry. She hugged him again with a small sigh.

She will never be able to understand how her little son always finds out whenever she is hurt. Just how?! There's no way for him to know because everyone around him always stays very careful so that he doesn't know. Yet, somehow he always does.

“Why would you think so, baby?” She asked while brushing off the thought and asked in a casual tone while thinking how she was going to convince him that she wasn't hurt. "Because I had a dream..." He whispered out while still hugging her. His words made her frown a little. She pulled him back from the hug softly and looked at him with a small frown.

"A dream?" She asked with her eyebrows raised a little. She didn't want him to think that it was something bad and get scared from sharing it with her.

"Yes..." He nodded with a cute yet serious look on her face.

"What did you see in the dream?" She asked while trying not to sound very curious.

"I saw that you were in pain and crying. I was scared, mommy." He said in a trembling voice. His lips quivered as he talked. She could see that he was relieving the dream and was getting scared.

"Shh..Don't cry, baby. See, mommy is okay. Absolutely fine. Mommy is not hurt at all." She said in an assuring tone while hugging him again.

She felt guilty for not going to him first. How scared he was! Gosh, she felt guilty now! But the mate bond, that was as strong as her motherly instinct.

She was stuck in between

"But papa is, isn't he?" Ace suddenly asked in a trembling tone, catching her off guard once again.

But this time it wasn't only for him calling Dominic papa. It was because of how confident he sounded while saying that Dominic was hurt. What was she going to tell him? She would feel very guilty in lying to him once again.

"Papa. he he is fi..." She stammered while thinking of ways to avoid this question.

"I saw in the dream that he was hurt as well." He spoke up in a low tone, feeling very sad. She looked at him with a frown once again

"Wh...what did you see about him, Ace? Tell mommy" She asked, she couldn't hide her curiosity this time.

The fact that her son had a dream about both of them was a little bit odd. Not a little bit but a lot more odd.

"I saw that papa was hurt. Someone hurt him. He was in a lot of pain. He was crying, mommy. Papa was crying." He couldn't continue his act of acting strong. He cried like the baby he was. Big fat tears rolled down his eyes, making her feel really bad.

"Shh Ace, stop crying, my love shh papa is okay now. Trust me, papa is going to be alright soon. Please stop crying" She said while rocking him back and forth She was really worried now. He was hardly three and already seeing such dreams, what was that supposed to mean? Also, she was scared that he was going to get sick if he continued to cry so much. She needed him to calm down

"Papa is hurt?" He asked while looking at her and wiping away the tears slowly she couldn't lie while looking him in the eyes. She gulped down her pain and slowly nodded at him

"Yes papa is hurt a little. You know how strong your papa is, right? He is your superhero, right?" She asked with a small smile, ready to coax him into her words.

"No, he is my papa." He suddenly exclaimed in a stubborn tone while looking at her with a cute frown. She looked at him with raised eyebrows and an amused smile.

He just keeps surprising her. The look of anger and possessiveness was so similar to Dominic. The thought made her chest fill with pride. She chuckled a little and nodded at him approvingly.

“Okay, yes.. he is your papa but he is your superhero as well, right?” She asked with a small smile. She wasn’t going to raise the topic about Dominic being his father until he calms down

“Yes.” He mumbled with a small nod, looking at his mommy with concentration

“Aren’t superheroes very strong?” She asked slowly and he frowned a little as he was trying to understand what his mommy was trying to say

“Yes” He nodded once again

“Do they get hurt?” She asked once again, very close to prove his points.

“Exactly, my smart boy. Papa will get well soon as well. You just need to pay for him Can you do that?” She asked with a beautiful smile which he can never deny. He was happy to hear her words.

“Yes, I will pray a lot for him.” He exclaimed while clapping his hands. He was happy to pray for his papa.

“That’s my baby! Give me a hug and a kissie!” She said with a grin while forwarding her face toward him for him to fulfil her demand. He immediately hugged her after giving her a kiss on the cheek. He pulled back from the hug and looked at her with a small pout

“I want to see papa, mommy” He demanded while giving her puppy dog eyes which she couldn’t deny.

“You want to see papa? Of course, you will see papa! We both will see papa. But before that, you have to tell mommy something.” She said with a small smile and he eagerly nodded, ready to do anything to meet his papa.

“Okay, mommy.” He quickly agreed.

“Do you know that your superhero is your papa?” She asked while looking at him carefully to note down everything that shows on his face

“Yes, mommy” He replied with a grin

“From when do you know that?” She asked with a small frown

“I have known that for a long time, mommy. But I don’t remember” He replied while looking thoughtful but quickly shrugged his shoulders, not willing to work hard in remembering for his mommy. She frowned deeply after hearing him

Was his son turning three or thirteen? Why does he talk like an adult? He badly needs friends of his age instead of hanging out with Nathan and Justin

“Did you call him a superhero even after knowing that he is your papa?” She asked with a raised eyebrow

“Yes, mommy” He nodded his head with a triumphant look on his face, making her look at him in shock

“Why?” She asked, unable to hold the shock in her

‘I wanted you to surprise me Also, I didn’t want to make you sad. You fight a lot with papa.” He replied with a pout, making her look at him with a look of disbelief This kid kept giving her shocks after shock Her head was spinning already

“Oh I am sorry, baby. For not giving you the surprise earlier and fighting with papa I promise not to fight with your papa anymore.” She replied, getting a little sad remembering she won’t be able to fight him now even though she wanted to “Yay! You are the best mommy!” He immediately got happy hearing her and hugged her in happiness. She smiled seeing him so happy

“And you are the best baby in the world! She exclaimed back before giving him a kiss as well. But she pulled back after a few seconds and looked at him “Umm, Ace? She called him casually

“Yes, mommy?” He immediately replied, he stopped crying long ago

“Who told you that your superhero is your papa?” She asked with a look of confusion. She was going to beat Nathan and Justin if they were the one to leak this because she wanted to do the work

“No one told me ” He replied with a frown while trying to remember something

“What do you mean, baby? Then how did you know?” She asked with a frown because she knew he wasn’t lying If no one told him then how did he know?

“I don’t know I just know ” He replied with a small shrug of his shoulder, making her frown

“Huh?” She exclaimed in pure confusion trying to make sense of his words

“Oh, I remember!” He suddenly exclaimed, making her look at him with a raised eyebrow

“What, Ace?”

“I had a dream!” He exclaimed with widened eyes, making her frown
Dream? Again?

“A dream? You mean you saw that your super hero is your papa in a dream?” She asked with a frown, while questioning herself if she was being a stupid by asking him these questions After all, he was just a little child

“Yes, mommy?” He exclaimed suddenly sounding really excited which confused her a lot

“What did you see in the dream?” She asked while letting out a sigh But she was a little shocked after hearing his next words.

“I saw a little girl She is my friend She was very cute and she told me that my superhero is my papa when one day I was missing my papa ” He said with a grin while sounding very confident about his words She was totally confused at that moment
But she left her hope of getting anything useful from her son because his words now started to sound like a normal two or three years old

*A little girl? Your friend? That really sounds like a dream, baby * She said with a chuckle but he was still very excited in talking about this little friend

“Yes, mommy! I just remembered She is the one who always tells me whenever you are hurt” He said while grinning ear to ear

“Did you see her face?” She asked with a raised eyebrow

“Yes, mommy

“Did you see her in the playground? Did you see her anywhere apart from your dream?” She asked while trying one last time to see if she could make sense of his words

“No, mommy She is only in my dream She is very cute. I will never forget her face When I become a bigger boy. I will find her and be friends with her ” He said with a grin and after hearing that he was actually talking about a dream only

“Okay. Ace. Thank you for telling me, baby” She said with a small smile He grinned back

“You are welcome, mommy Now can we see papa?” He asked in a hopeful tone and she smiled down at her

“Yes, but you have to promise something to mommy” She said in a playful serious tone

“What is it, mommy? I will keep my promise” He said, mimicking her serious tone

“You will not make any noise when we go to meet papa Papa is sleeping So, we shouldn't disturb him Okay? She asked slowly. making sure he understood her

"Okay, mommy"

"Very good You can tell him to stay strong, get well soon and wake up soon to play with you, okay? She said while picking him up from the hospital bed, ready to walk out

"Okay, mommy I want to play with him again!" He said, already excited even thinking about it

"I know, baby We will play together soon." She said while trying her best to not cry

"Okay, now, let's go. Don't forget your promise! She said with a chuckle and he giggled as well

"I won't!" He said in a promising tone as they walked out from the room with him in her arms.

"Hey, Dominic." She whispered in a shaky tone. She didn't want to cry again. Not in front of Ace. Because if she starts crying now, Ace will start as well and they he will fall sick as well.

When they entered the room, there wasn't anyone there. She figured out that they left, giving them some more time to spend together. She was truly grateful for having friends like them.

"Hello, papa. How are you?" Ace spoke up in a really soft tone, scared of raising his voice a little. He didn't want his papa to get hurt. Athena smiled seeing Ace caring so much for Dominic.

"See, Ace is calling you papa and you aren't even replying." Athena spoke up in a complaining tone while looking at Dominic's expression less face with closed eyes. How much she was missing his eyes!

"It's okay, mommy. Don't get angry at papa again. He will reply later. I can wait." Ace suddenly spoke up while looking at Athena with a frown, ready to protect his father from another fight from his mommy. Athena looked at him with a raised eyebrow.

"I wasn't angry. Hey! Don't use me to act like a good boy in front of him!" She exclaimed when she saw the mischievous look on his eyes. He was trying to tease her!

What a brat!

"But I am a good boy." He grinned at her while showing the mischievousness on his face now. He loved teasing his mommy.

"Yeah, you are but you are getting naughty these days." Athena said while looking at him with squinted eyes but an amusing smile on her face.

She was happy to see him so happy. She has never seen him so happy and it breaks her heart to think that Dominic wasn't there with them even after being there.

"Now don't scold me. Papa isn't here to help me." Ace said with a naughty smile, pulling her from the sad thoughts once again and made her chuckle.

"Okay, fine. Let's stop. Do you have anything to say to papa?" She said while stopping the conversation there. She understood that all three of them needed to rest badly. So, she wanted to take Ace from there and put him to sleep after feeding him something.

"Yes, get well soon, papa. I want to play with you in the playground and tell everyone that my papa is the best and strongest. I love you." Ace said all those in one breath, making her smile.

He leaned down and gave Dominic's cheek a small kiss, swelling her heart some more. She knew how hard she was trying to stop the tears

“Get up soon, Dominic.” She said as a long tear rolled down her cheeks without her noticing and fell on Ace’s cheek. He immediately looked up at her face with a frown. He immediately got worried. She was quick to wipe away the tears and put on a smile on her face

“Mama, are you crying? Don’t cry.” His tone shook as he spoke up, making her sigh.

“I am not crying, baby. Let’s say bye to papa and let him rest.” She said with a fake smile because she lost her energy of smiling truly by then she was completely drained out.

“Will we come back again?” Ace asked in a hopeful tone and she slowly nodded at him.

“Sure, we will, baby. Let’s go.” She said while standing up from the bed and picking him up in her arms again.

“Bye, papa” He waved his small hands at Dominic.

“Bye, Dominic...” She whispered before turning around to leave with the intention of not turning back at that moment again Because she knew she won’t be able to leave his side after that.

‘I don’t want any female nurse or doctor around, Dominic.’ She mindlinked doctor Ron as she walked out of the room with Ace

Hiding His Baby The Alpha’s Rejected Mate Chapter 98

Hiding His Baby The Alpha’s Rejected Mate

Chapter 98

Chapter 98. The responsibilities

FIVE DAYS LATER

“How’s Dominic?”

Athena jumped at the sudden voice and the file which she was reading fell from her hands. She turned around and found the group standing there while looking at her in amusement. She quickly picked up the file before walking toward the table.

“Well, hello, Nathan and everyone. I didn’t realise when you came.” She said with a small chuckle as she put the file down and leaned on the table.

Everyone else entered the room and got settled on the couches. They were currently inside the office room of Dominic in his mansion

But the only difference is that he wasn’t present in the room. He wasn’t there to sit on his chair like a king. Even if the chair misses him, she could say that. Even though staying in this room was suffocating, it was soothing in a way as well. He spent most of his time here. His scent lingered here like a lazy season. She loved to keep herself lost here. May that be in work or in his memory.

“We could say so.” Justin said with a chuckle before eyeing at the file on the table which she just put there. “You are still busy in that file?” He asked with a raised eyebrow.

Athena was handling the paper works on behalf of Dominic from the past few days. She didn't want to make any mistakes as these things are very crucial and everyone put a lot of trust in her because of her name.

Goddess of wisdom.

While she was handling the paper work, they all divided the work. Nathan was helping her in doing the paperwork and handling the work with other packs. Justin was handling the border and training while the girls were handling the pack together.

They all are doing great group work even though almost failing in every step. But stumbling back on their feets with the support of each other. Those are the moments when they miss Dominic more than ever. If it was him, he would have handled those with a blink of his eyes. These situations wouldn't have occurred in the first place.

"I finished it a while ago. I was just revising to see if I missed something." Athena said with a small smile while taking the glass filled with water from the table and drank from there. She was thirsty for a long time but she was so engrossed in the file that she didn't mind drinking.

"So, what do you think?" Nathan asked while getting up from the chair and walking toward the table. He picked up the file and started going through it.

"I have marked some clauses with red marks which I think we should improvise and even added my suggestion in a few places. You can check them and discuss with me again if you want. Other than that, the deal is good I guess." Athena said in a serious tone, while going through every clause in her mind once again to see if she missed something or not.

This file was a contract file from the neighbouring pack. The pack was relatively smaller than normal packs and very small in comparison to their pack. But the Pack's speciality is that they have very strong warriors. They recently faced a crisis and asked for their help. So, in the exchange of helping them, they decided to ask for their help with their warriors in future if there is any situation which needs them. That was a good deal.

"Look at you, already handling things like a great leader. You are undoubtedly going to be a great Luna but if you were an alpha's daughter, you would have been a great alpha lady." Patricia said with a chuckle, making everyone nod at her in agreement. But the look on her face fell immediately after hearing her and she looked at her with a frown. Nathan noticed the look on her face.

"What's wrong, Athena? Why do you look... worried suddenly?" He asked and that's when everyone noticed the oddness as well.

"Alpha lady. From that I remembered something..." Athena mumbled out with a frown on her face as she looked at them.

"What is it?" Suzanne asked in a worried tone.

"The man who attacked Dominic." Athena started speaking but before she could complete her sentence, Nathan snatched it.

"What about him?" He asked in a furious tone.

"He called me Alpha lady, for some reason." Athena said, sounding very unsure herself as she had a look of confusion on her face.

"Alpha lady? That's weird " Patricia said with a confused frown.

"Yeah, and from that I remembered, we never really had the chance to talk about what happened that night in detail because of all the things happening after Dominic fell into a coma” Nathan got serious and looked at Athena Athena looked at him as well with a small sigh after he reminded her how they couldn’t handle things properly.

“Yeah, that shows how important an alpha is for a pack. A capable and deserving alpha” Athena said with a sigh and everyone nodded at her as they couldn’t agree more.

“Okay, Athena. Tell us what happened that night in detail.” Justin said, getting serious. He was ready to take some notes in his head

After the incident, things have been a little rough for each of them. They were doing their best to hide the news of Dominic’s state from the neighbouring packs. It’s not good for the alpha leader to be down in bed. It’s an immediate threat not only to his position but as well to all the pack under him.

So, it’s very important the news doesn’t get leaked before Dominic wakes up. Otherwise things are going to be different than how Dominic left it before going to coma. Very different.

But the day Dominic got hurt, the whole region might have heard his painful howling to know that something was wrong with him. The howls were so loud. They received many letters from many alpha’s, asking about Dominic’s state. Their days went by replying to their letters and in convincing them that Dominic was fine.

“Before I tell you what happened, did you guys find out about that man?” Athena asked with a frown.

She regretted not killing that man right that moment. She badly wanted his blood to avenge her mate. But at that moment she was so confused and furious that it messed up everything for her. But now she wanted them to find him at any cost so that she could finish him off by her own hands.

“We are still trying to look for that man but the progress isn’t much. Hope we can get some clues from you.” Nathan spoke up, bringing her out of her thoughts. She looked at him with a frown.

She wanted to lash out at him for not finding one man in five days but she knew it was useless. She couldn’t blame him as well Everyone has been going through so much that it’s hard for everyone. She understood that but still the helplessness was two times stronger for her.

Her freaking mate was in a coma!

“I don’t know how much I will be able to help. But the man seems to hate Dominic. He was very angry at Dominic.” She said with a frown after letting out a sigh.

She clearly remembered the look on that man’s face. It wasn’t jealousy or anything. It was a look of hatred and pure anger. It was the same look a person has when he was terribly wronged by a person and he wants revenge. He was giving Dominic the same look, like Dominic killed his loved one’s. While Dominic looked as confused as them at this moment.

The look on Dominic’s face said that he wasn’t aware of what was going on either. Athena knew that Dominic was innocent and that damn man was mistaken.

“There are tons of people who are angry at Dominic and hate him. It’s nothing new. They are all jealous of his success and prosperity. They are jealous of his position and title and want to get him down.” Nathan explained exactly the same thing Athena was thinking didn’t happen.

They couldn’t stick to that point. They needed to explore other options as well to find that man because the chances of what they are thinking are fifty percent. There are fifty more chances left to think about other options. She needed to tell them about it.

“Yes, that I understood. But this man, he was different. He was accusing Dominic of something which he did. According to that man, whatever Dominic did doesn't give him the right to be the alpha leader anymore.” Athena explained in a calm tone. Nathan and Justin looked at each other in confusion before looking back at her for further explanation,

“Could you please elaborate your point some more? It's not making much sense now.” Nathan said with a small frown. He was offended hearing anything against his alpha and best friend even though he knew Athena wasn't the one to say that she was just explaining them.

“What did Dominic do? He always does the best for his region.” Justin exclaimed in fury as well, ready to kill some ungrateful brat. He has always been the one with the hothead.

“He didn't seem like he belonged from this region. And he was talking about some innocent lives that ‘Dominic took’” Athena said with a frown as the words still confuses her.

She doesn't believe one ounce that Dominic was even involved in something like that, let alone doing that. She was never going to believe that He was such a man who could sacrifice his own life and mate for the betterment of his people. So, doing something like that to other people wasn't an option at all.

“Innocent lives?!” Nathan and Justin exclaimed at the same time as the previous frown cleared from their faces and they looked at each other with widened eyes. They looked as if they suddenly solved half of the mystery.

On the other hand, Suzanne and Patricia sat on the couch silently, without making any comments. They were listening to them silently and carefully They decided to keep themselves away from their business, “Nathan, are you thinking the same as I am thinking?!” Justin asked with gritted teeth, his eyes were flashing golden as his wolf was already at the surface.

“Exactly the same fucking thing! I am so angry right now!” Nathan exclaimed back while having the similar reaction as Justin His wolf was at the surface as well. The girls looked at him in shock because it's not easy to see him losing his calm. If he did, the matter must be something serious.

“Nathan, what's wrong?” Suzanne spoke up in a worried tone, unable to stop herself anymore. She put a hand on his shoulder to calm himself down a little and it worked but he was still angry.

“What's going on?! What are you guys talking about?” Athena exclaimed in a wary tone. She was already sensing something wrong and she knew it was really bad for the guys to react like this.

Nathan and Justin shared a look which clearly showed that they were considering the idea of should they share it with them or not. But they knew the girls are not going to let it go anyway hence they let out a defeated sigh before looking at Athena.

“Do you remember that we were having some problems at the border?” Nathan asked her while giving her a pointed look Athena frowned hearing her.

Of course she remembers it. It was the same day when the pack members went crazy and she had to get down on business to calm them down. It was the same day when Dominic increased their training after returning from the border. So, she remembers it clearly.

“Yeah, on the same day the incident happened. I asked Dominic but he didn’t say anything.” She replied with a frown while looking at him impatiently, she couldn’t wait to know what it was all about.

“Well, yes. We didn’t want to worry you girls regarding the border matters. That’s why we all decided that we would keep this away from you girls. At the same time, we didn’t want the pack members to know as well. Because it doesn’t take such news to go overseas.” Justin exclaimed why they didn’t tell the news before because he didn’t want the girls to lash out at them for not sharing this earlier, “What’s happening at the border?” Patricia asked in a stern tone while glaring at Justin which made him look at Nathan as he wanted Nathan to break the news.

“Was happening. It stopped on the day Dominic was attacked. Before that we were finding dead bodies of people at our borders from different regions. And we recently found out that those bodies are from the South region.” Nathan exclaimed in a calm and blank tone, ready to get rained on with the scolding. And not so surprisingly, it came from his mate first only

“How could you hide such a big thing from us?” Suzanne snapped in fury.

She started to fume already while having a dark and cold expression on her face. The look on her face was a little different than everyone else. Nathan noticed the difference but couldn’t point out what it was about

“We didn’t want to worry you because it’s something really weird and dangerous. Nothing like this has happened before.” Nathan exclaimed in a calm tone while shrugging the thought of the weird expression of Suzanne, thinking he was looking too much into things.

“South region? Isn’t Stacey’s father the leader of the South region?” Athena asked with a frown as she was trying to make sense of what she had just heard.

The question made Justin and Nathan look at each other once again. They looked confused and uncertain about the answer of this question, earning a threatening growl from Athena which said, ‘You better hurry and let this out’. They immediately looked at her sheepishly “Well... Yes...?” Nathan answered and his tone was filled with total uncertainty. The girls looked at him with squinted eyes which made him immediately look away from them.

“Why don’t you sound confident enough?” Patricia asked with a frown, not liking how they kept on discovering such things on the same day. It was too much in one day and she was going to make Justin sleep on the couch for this, for one whole week. Only then he was going to learn his lessons

“Err Dominic has the better answer for this question. He knows better about the South region and Stacey” Justin immediately spoke up on their defence, putting all the blame on Dominic to escape. But the damage was already done

“Well, he can’t answer now. But I think there are two possible reasons for this happening.” Athena snapped at them, really angry at them for hiding such things from them. But it was already done and there wasn’t any point in getting angry with them because Dominic was equally involved in this

“What are they?” Nathan asked, getting serious again

“One could have been the leader of the South region doing these deliberately but I don’t think it's the matter. Otherwise he wouldn't have killed his own people. You would have found your people's dead bodies at the border. So, the chances of being the second option is higher." Athena said with a thoughtful look on her face as she was trying to think of any other reason but couldn't find any. It was not easy for her to find such reasoning when she was kept away from such things. She didn't have complete knowledge about the pack and its relations yet.

"Which is?" Justin was the one to ask this time.

"Someone is doing it deliberately to create misunderstanding between two regions and lead to a possible war." Athena replied in a nonchalant tone and both of the men looked at each other again. Athena looked at them to see what they got to say about this.

"Dominic said the same. That's the reason he had ordered to increase the training for the pack members. We had also planned to send letters to other packs to warn them about it." Nathan explained and Athena nodded at them, finding it as the best solution. She already knew that they must prepare for a war but she didn't know the reason for the war was much more than what she was thinking

"Did you get any replies?" Athena asked after a few seconds.

"Yes, they are all supporting us. We sent it to the very reliable packs only. Because we have packs which are against Dominic like the shadow eclipse pack." Justin said while spitting the word 'shadow eclipse' as if it was something disgusting in his mouth. Athena rolled her eyes at his childishness even though she supported him in this one.

The alpha of the pack was disgusting!

"Could it be possible that Derrick the dick was involved in this?' Her wolf suddenly spoke up, making Athena frown at the suggestion. The possibility was really high. But she kept herself from sharing this with them.

"And did you guys send any letter to the south leader?" Athena asked after coming out of the thoughts of her and looked at them with a frown. Sending a letter to the south leader was very important because sometimes things could be solved with words as well. She didn't have much idea about the south leader.

"We did but didn't get any reply yet. I guess they got busy with the issue as well. But we are expecting a reply soon.' Justin answered with a worried frown on his face and Athena nodded at him.

"I have a feeling that the reply we will get is going to be completely different from the reply we are expecting." Athena suddenly spoke up, making everyone look at her with a frown.

"What do you mean?" Suzanne asked with a frown and Nathan noticed the difference in her expression and tone again. And yet again he shrugged it off.

"I am guessing the man is from the South region and his attitude was a little different toward me." Athena said with a thoughtful look on her face.

"Different, as in?" Suzanne asked in the same defensive tone, making Nathan look at her with a frown. Was she just protective over Athena?

"He was... very respectful toward me. He was showing me respect by bowing in front of me and kneeling down in front of me. He was saying many things which didn't make sense. I think he misunderstood me as someone else. So, if that's the case, they will be back to find this person whom he misunderstood me for." Athena explained what she thought and the words made a lot of sense in a very dangerous way. The boys shared a secret look between themselves before looking back at them.

"That's going to be really interesting then..." Nathan muttered under his breath with a small frown itching on his face as he thought over what she said again.

"Yes but it's going to be tough as well without Dominic. Because only an alpha leader knows how another alpha leader works. We will need Dominic to face them." Patricia spoke up with a small frown as well and everyone nodded at her. What she said was true

"For that he needs to get well soon." Athena spoke up with a sigh. Her shoulders slouched in defeat.

"How's he?" Nathan asked in a sad tone.

"The same No progress." She replied with another sigh.

"I don't understand why isn't he getting better? Why is his progress stuck?!" Justin asked in frustration as their doctor wasn't giving them any answers as well

"Trust me that question hurts me too." Athena said with closed eyes to stop themselves from crying.

"You are doing really great, Athena. We are very proud of you. Dominic is very proud of you as well." Suzanne said in a caring tone while walking toward her and hugging her by side

"Stay strong, Athena He will wake up soon" Patricia said while walking toward her and hugging her as well. They three shared a group hug while the men admired them

"I hope the same, guys I want the same

Hiding His Baby The Alpha's Rejected Mate

Chapter 99

Chapter 99. Kissing his wounds

"Good evening, everyone!" Athena said with a loud and clear tone while having a bright smile. She was standing on the third floor of the pack house while looking down at hundreds of pack members who gathered around in the second floor and living room. They all looked up at her with a similar smile as her.

"Good evening, Luna." The pack house boomed as they all wished her back together. Athena literally has to close her ears to stop her ears from bleeding. The noise was so loud but it was so heartwarming that she chuckled out in happiness.

"I have never seen them wish Dominic so enthusiastically." Justin joked with a smirk, making Athena, Patricia and Suzanne chuckle. While Nathan smirked back at him.

“He is going to hang you upside down from this railing for stating the obvious truth.” Nathan joked and Justin’s face grimaced thinking how true that was.

“Well, they lose their enthusiasm as soon as they look at the strict face of Dominic but in reality they love him more than anything.” Patricia said with a beautiful smile and everyone nodded at her.

“That’s so true and I am so happy because of that.” Athena said and they all looked downstairs to see the pack members calmed down once again, waiting for her to speak up. She concentrated back on them.

“You guys will not stop calling me that, will you?” She asked in a teasing tone while chuckling and the whole crowd once again joined her in this.

The scenery was so beautiful. She wished Dominic could witness this. The whole pack is trying to be strong for her and him. She knew that they were being extra cheerful for her, to give her the strength she needed and she appreciated this a lot.

“Why should we stop calling you that, Luna?” One of them shouted from downstairs, his tone was teasing as he pressed on the word ‘Luna’

“Look at this brat.” Nathan commented from behind in an amusing tone.

“You are our, Luna.” One more person joined the previous pack member in teasing her and soon more and more people joined them in the joke.

“We have the right to call you that.”

“Or is it that you don’t want to be our Luna?”

“Don’t you want our Alpha?”

“Don’t you love him?”

They all keep teasing, making her look at them with widened eyes. She knew they were joking to get a reaction out of it and they were successful in getting it when she blushed hard hearing them which gave them the answers they were looking for.

“Oh my god! Stop your emotional drama. I see it all, people. I am your Luna for a reason.” She said while pretending to be strict, making them grin at her ear to ear. That made her smile as well. They became happy when she called herself their Luna.

“Yes, Luna. We were kidding. We know you love our alpha and you are never going to leave us.” One of them shouted with never ending trust in her tone, making her look at her with widened eyes.

As more and more people joined that woman in the trust list, she felt a huge amount of burden on her shoulder. But she wasn’t going to let that make her feel low or stressed. She was going to use that as her power, as her strength to fight all the challenges.

“I hope to never break your trust.” She said in a shaky tone, afraid of the promise she just made.

She really hopes that she doesn’t have to face a time when she would be forced to break this promise. She would be really heartbroken if that day comes

“We believe in you, Luna” They shouted together, giving her the confidence she needed to believe in herself. After hearing them, she believed that she would be able to keep her promise. She smiled brightly at them again, making them shout in happiness,

“Also, we love to call you Luna.” They were back to teasing her again and they all laughed out loud once again.

“Okay, okay I give up the conversation is never going to end this way.” She said with raised hands to show that she surrendered in front of them. The environment was like this for a few more minutes before they all calmed down and looked up at him with a calmer expression

"How's Alpha, Luna?" One of the seniors asked in a worried tone, the question worked really well in silencing the house as everyone looked up at her, eagerly waiting to hear good news. The hopeful look on their faces broke her heart as she didn't have anything to give them to him which could make them the happiest.

"His wounds are healed and he will get better soon I believe. But right now he is being lazy and loving to see me work." She joked to make the environment lighter again and that worked as everyone chuckled out once again.

"You are making him very proud, Luna." One of them shouted and everyone, including her friends, nodded at her. She felt very proud seeing the look of pride for her in everyone's eyes. And the thought of him being proud of her was giving her another level of happiness.

"Thank you, everyone." She said with a smile.

"Did something happen, Luna?" After a few more minutes, a question came up from the crowd and soon another question joined the worried question

"What's the reason for this meeting?" One of them asked in a worried tone. She smiled hearing the worried tone and her smile removed the worried look from their faces.

"Nothing happened, don't worry, everyone. I came here for a general meetup to know if everything is going alright for you or not. Do you have any problems which you need our help to solve?" She said while getting serious suddenly. She was back on her duty and professional mode which her friends admired from behind.

"There's no problem, Luna. We are all okay." One of them answered on everyone's behalf. He was the head caretaker of the pack. His job was to make sure everyone was okay. Hence he could reply so confidently on everyone's behalf. He was a very trusted man. Hence everyone believed him.

"That's good to hear. How's training going on for you all?" Athena moved on to the next question and she was interested in knowing the answer to this.

"It was a little hard at first but now we got used to it." One of the new warriors said. She recognised her because Athena had seen her struggle on the training track when she went to train with them.

Athena was a great warrior from before. Robert always made all his thieves train hard because he didn't want them to make him fall into unnecessary trouble by getting caught. So, he made them all train hard so that they could protect themselves in such situations and her being his best thief, he made her train really hard to improve her skills along with making her strong. So, she was truly grateful to him for that.

She shook her head to come out of those thoughts and looked back at them with a hidden smirk. Nathan noticed that and frowned a little but didn't say anything at that moment.

"Do you guys need a little break from it?" She asked, sounding really concerned while trying hard to hide her smile and that's when all her friends understood what she was trying to do.

She was actually testing the pack members to see if they were going to take advantage of the offer and take a break from the training. They were in a crucial moment when the training couldn't be stopped at any cost. So, she wanted to see how much she could trust them when the time comes. But she was very impressed when she heard their response.

"No, Luna. It was our Alpha's order to train hard. We want him to see that we are following each of his commands when he wakes up." The second head trainer said with confidence.

"Does everyone agree with him? Or you all have different thoughts than him. You can tell me freely." She said with a raised eyebrow, still going on with the acting even though they already passed the test.

"We don't want to stop the training, Luna!" They all shouted, making her look at them with pride. She smiled at them brightly.

"I am very proud of you guys. Dominic would be very proud as well! Well done!" She encouraged them and they all looked happy after getting praised by their Luna.

"Thank you, Luna." They all shouted together, once again shaking up the whole mansion.

"This will be the end of this meeting. You can get back to what you were doing. Thank you, everyone." She said in a dismissing tone while smiling at them.

"Goodnight, Luna." The second time in less than one minute that they shook the building.

"Goodnight, everyone." She wished back and kept standing there as everyone started getting back to their previous places. Slowly the whole place got vacant with only a few people walking around who stayed in the pack house.

"You are doing really well everyday" Suzanne said with a proud look on her face as she walked toward her and hugged her

Athena looked at her with a shy smile before hugging her back. She didn't pull back from the hug and kept hugging her like a child would hug her mother. She looked at others while keeping her head on Suzanne's shoulder. She was in the mood of getting pampered at that moment. Everyone chuckled seeing her like that "You keep surprising us." Nathan said with a smirk, making her smirk back at him.

"Well, I don't want Dominic to blame me or anything and say that we didn't take good care of his pack in his absence." She said with a small shrug of her shoulders.

"That's understandable." Justin said with a chuckle as everyone else agreed with him

"What are you going to do now?" He asked while looking at the hand watch. It was late at night already.

"I am going to call it a day now. I am going home" She said as she pulled back from the hug with a sigh Everyone looked at her with a worried look. She looked exhausted but they didn't say anything They knew she wanted to fight her fights alone

"Okay, Goodnight. They all wished her as she started to walk down the stairs slowly

"Goodnight, everyone" She mumbled out as she was trying to look for the energy she needed to go home and face the situation there.

"Sorry for coming late, Dominic You know your son is getting very naughty nowadays. I was giving him a bath before bed when he suddenly started to play with the water. He didn't only get him yet but me as well. And then ran around the whole house before dinner. I can't handle him anymore He exhausts me" Athena said in a cheerful tone while getting inside the room She closed the door behind her and walked toward the closet while talking

She brought a towel out of the closet along with a box and shirt She kept sharing a few more moments shared with Ace while drying her hair. Then she walked toward the bed with the box and shirt and took a seat beside a sleeping Dominic

“Hmm. So, Mr alpha Did you miss me?’ He asked while slowly putting her arms behind his neck and pulling him up in a seating position She made him lean against the headboard before looking at his face with a smile once again As if he could see her and she was looking him in the eyes

“Well, I missed you a lot. But now, don’t get angry because I didn’t come here all day Your pack is huge! The responsibility of this pack is huge as well. And let me tell you something, keep it a secret between us. I think Nathan and Justin are getting lazy She said in a mischievous tone while letting out a chuckle as she pulled the first aid box on her lap and opened it She picked up a scissor before turning back toward him

“Shh. Don’t you dare to tell them that I said this! But it’s the truth actually they need you to keep them on track Your one glare continued speaking with a chuckle as she slowly started cutting her bandage around his stomach first She kept on doing her work without minding anything or ever letting the thought of him not being there mentally let come in her head even for once

“No! How dare I call you scary. I wasn’t calling you scary You are very handsome The most handsome man in the world is that what you wanted to know. She said with a chuckle while moving to cut the bandage on his chest She threw away the bandages and looked at his defined body with a shy look on her face but she quickly shook all those thoughts away from her head and started talking again

“You know what happened today?” She asked while bringing out the cleanser from the box “Let me tell you Today I was having a general meeting with the pack again and I planned to test them So, I asked them if they wanted a break from the hard training and guess what they said ‘She said in a smiling tone while she started cleaning his wounds which won’t need bandages again

“Hmm look at this. Your wounds are completely gone! You don’t need bandages anymore. Isn’t that great? She said with a smile while caressing the almost gone scars on his body along with the one she gave. It was fading slowly as well

“But do you still want my magic medication? Well I am still going to give it to you, whether you like it or not. You can return them back to me after you wake up. She said with a smirk before leaning down and giving three kisses on the three scars Her face flushed red in blush as she quickly moved away from him. She was sure that she couldn’t have done that if he was okay at that moment

“Oh, back to what I was saying. They said they didn’t want to stop the training until you said so They are very adamant in completing your command I was very proud of them. I am sure you are as well. They were so happy when I said that I was proud of them Think what would be their reaction when you would say the same to him “She said slowly as the emotions suddenly overpowered her

“Oh wait, let me bring the water.” She said under her breath before getting up from the bed and running toward the bathroom

She pressed her mouth tightly as soon as she was inside the room and let some tears freely fall from her eyes. She didn’t let out a single sound before taking a few deep breaths to calm herself down After she was composed enough, she walked out of the bathroom after filling out the bowl with water

She sat beside him once again and wetted the towel by dipping it in the water Then she slowly started to wipe his body with it while sharing a few more things that happened that day

“Okay, you are done cleaning up! Let’s wear a shirt now

She said while moving closer to him and put his body on her to make him wear a shirt which she brought from the closet. “Oh my god, you are getting so heavy. Gosh. You are supposed to Carry me around, not the other way around.” She huffed when suddenly something on his body caught her attention. As she looked at it carefully, her eyes widened and her heartbeat rose. But she quickly got a hold of herself and acted like she didn’t see anything and started talking like normal again.

“But it’s okay, I am not doing it for free. I am going to make you pay for it and be aware. The price is going to be really heavy.” She complained while laying him down back on the bed again. She slowly lay down on the bed beside him. Her head was on his chest as she listened to his calm heartbeat. The room fell into silence for a few minutes as she silently wept on his chest. “Look at me, I am going crazy. Talking to myself like a crazy person. Don’t you feel pity on me?” She asked in a broken tone while not raising her face to look at him. She didn’t have the will power or energy to do that. She wrapped her hands tightly around his chest as she hid her face on his chest. His shirt was getting wet pretty soon.

“It’s hard, Dominic. Everything is so hard without you. I may be able to handle the whole world but at the end of the day, I fail to handle myself. I need you to handle me. But when I don’t find you that way, it gets harder. Please don’t do this to me. Please wake up. Please.” She cried her heart out. Her body shook miserably as she was trying to stop herself from crying but it got out of control once again and she didn’t know how to stop herself.

“Are you deliberately trying to punish me?” She suddenly asked in an angry tone but the next moment it was gone. And she felt helpless again. “Because you also used to handle the whole world and at the end when you used to come home, I was acting like a brat. Is that why you are doing this to me?” She asked as she remembered all those days he was trying to come close to her but she used to push him away. She badly regretted that but if only he could understand her.

“Then please stop doing this. I am sorry. I promise not to leave you ever again. Please wake up.” She cried while hugging her and she didn’t realise when she fell asleep while hoping for a different morning the next day.

A morning with his arms wrapped around her, not interested in letting her off the bed. (Another very long chapter! In one day!! Who’s happy?! Who wants another chapter immediately? ## Hiding His Baby The Alpha’s Rejected Mate Chapter 100

Chapter 100

Chapter 100. Odd Suzanne

“How are you Athena?” Suzanne asked in a caring tone while getting inside the living room. Patricia followed beside her and they sat on both sides of her.

“Not very good.” Athena replied with a sigh while leaning on Suzanne’s shoulder and holding Patricia’s hands. They both gave her a worried look. Patricia squeezed her hands in an assuring way while Suzanne rubbed her back. They were worried for her.

“What happened? Are you okay? Is Dominic okay? Is everything okay?” Suzanne asked in a really worried tone, making Athena smile in gratitude. Suzanne gets worried for her very easily.

“Dominic is still the same. Showing no progress at all. And about me, my wolf just returned after months. It’s getting restless for a run. But we can’t go on a run with the things going on. It’s really stressful.” Athena explained with a sigh, making them frown at her

“Why not?” Patricia asked with a small frown, trying to look for the reason why she couldn’t go for a run.

“Dominic is not well. I can’t leave him alone here. On the other hand, There is so much to do. So much work left to do which I am having a hard time handling. Also, Justin doesn’t want anyone to go far for a run but I know my wolf, it’s not going to stop until it crosses limits.” Athena answered with a frown while pushing her whiny wolf at the back of her mind again. As much as she loves her wolf, it annoys the hell out of her sometimes.

“I am so sorry, Athy. Things are going so hard for you. I wish we could help.” Suzanne said in a sad tone but the fact that she couldn’t do anything to help her was making her even sadder. Athena said and pulled herself away from Suzanne’s arm and looked at her with a small sigh. A small smile was shining at the tip of her lips. She held both of their hands and gave it a little squeeze.

“It’s okay. Your support is what I need.” She said as her smile got bigger when they both hugged her from the side. She let out a chuckle and playfully pushed them away. “Okay, now, let’s come to the main business now. Did you guys find anything?” She asked, suddenly getting serious, making them serious as well.

“Well, not only a thing.” Patricia grinned ear to ear while sounding very excited, making Athena look at her with a raised eyebrow.

“We found a lot of things.” Suzanne exclaimed back with a smirk as well, completing the sentence for Patricia. Athena turned to look at her with the same expression which she gave Patricia

“You guys sound so confident today. What did you find and why are you so confident?” She asked in confusion, their excitement for some reason got her excited as well.

They couldn’t concentrate on the matter from the past one week because of everything that was happening. But today things were less rough so Athena decided to concentrate on the matter again and after what she saw two days ago, she couldn’t stop herself from thinking about it.

“Well the reason for our confidence is your wolf. You wolf made it very easy for us to figure out everything.” Suzanne asked with a serious look on her face. She was making points in head which she was going to present to her. Athena’s face went blank after hearing her and she went a little cold.

“What do you mean by everything? Do you know what significance the word everything holds?" She asked with a clenched jaw. She wasn't angry with them. She was just a little frustrated and helpless that she couldn't get things easily. She always has to work hard

"Okay, sorry. Not everything. But a lot of things for sure." Patricia said, while correcting Suzanne's words on her behalf.

"And what are they?" Athena took a deep breath before asking. She looked at them with a raised eyebrow, waiting to hear what they got

"Well, let's give your precious things back to you first." Suzanne said with a giggle while they both brought out the things from their bag

"Here's the symbol and papers." Patricia said while handling them to her which she took with great care before turning toward Suzanne.

"And here's the crown." Suzanne said while handling the crown with a small frown which Athena didn't notice as she was busy in taking that with the greatest care.

"What did you find? And how did my wolf help?" She asked with a confused frown, she was unable to understand how her wolf was connected with her past when there wasn't any sign of her wolf

"Well, after your wolf shifted, we got to know that it's a red wolf. From a book we found that that red wolf represents fire. Red wolf has the power of fire I don't know if they woke for you yet or not." Suzanne said with a confused frown while waiting for Athena to give her confirmation

"Uhhh.. No, I don't feel any different or... powerful, you know?" Athena replied in confusion while trying to remember if she felt any different. But she didn't notice anything.

"That means they haven't woken up yet." Patricia said with a small nod and Suzanne nodded back in agreement,

"Okay, what else?" Athena asked, pushing the topic aside for a moment. And concentrated back on other things.

"One thing leads to another, and I have found that the symbol means fire as well. I didn't find anything else about the signs. Did you find anything in the book?" Patricia asked while pointing at the papers which had a few signs which meant fire in different ancestry language. Athena put on a blank face as soon as she heard them and looked at them with a blank face as well, which didn't give away much.

"I did find something but I will tell you later. First tell me what did you find about the crown?" Athena asked, shifting the conversation to Suzanne now. Suzanne's expression changed to cold and distant as soon as she heard the question directed toward her. Athena frowned seeing the change of expression on her face.

"Oh right, about the ruby stone. Every region has a special coloured ruby stone to represent themselves. And the red ruby is for the south region. But the question is, such ruby's are very expensive and important things. What is it doing to you?" Suzanne asked with a frown, her tone held a certain amount of anger which Athena couldn't point out why.

"Also, why didn't your foster father sell it? He could have done that and been really rich." Patricia spoke up in confusion, earning a sigh from Suzanne.

"Well, you can't just sell such representative ruby to anyone, Patricia. He would easily get caught. Such things aren't for sale." Suzanne explained and Patricia nodded at her after she understood it. Athena didn't say anything about it. She planned to have another meeting with her foster father once again

"So, we found two things. Fire and red, right?" Athena asked with a frown and they both nodded at her.

"Yes." They answered at the same time.

"Now tell us, what did you find?" Suzanne asked with a frown, she sounded eager to know what she found out.

"In the book, I found the tattoo on my waist." Athena said while mentioning about the book Patricia gave her the previous day.

"What did it say?" Patricia asked, sounding really interested. But on the other hand, Suzanne didn't sound anything near that but it seemed like her mood was getting lower every passing seconds.

"The 'S' sign stands for..." Athena stopped and created a little suspense before exclaiming that loudly. "SOUTH."

"What?!" Before anyone could understand anything, Suzanne shouted out loud while looking at her Athena with a deep frown Athena looked back at her with a similar frown, unable to understand the reason for her such expression,

"Yes, and girls, I found something else as well." Athena said with a grin, making them frown at her while she ignored Suzanne's weird expression. She didn't want to think of anything else at that moment.

"What is it?" Suzanne asked with a frown. Her tone was getting less and less warmer every second.

"The letter 'N' was tattooed on Dominic's waist. That tattoo is the same as the sign in the book." Athena exclaimed with widened eyes, ready to get some reaction from their friends.

She found the tattoo two days ago when she was changing his shirt. She changed his shirt before as well but as it was really hard for her to do it alone, she didn't notice it before as she was struggling with his weight.

"What are you trying to say, Athena?" Suzanne asked, her tone was getting cold and colder.

"I am not trying to say anything, Suzanne. I am not pointing out the odds. Dominic is the leader of the North region and he has the symbol 'N' tattooed on him. What's my relation with the south region? Why do I have this?! These questions are making me go crazy" Athena exclaimed in frustration while throwing her hands up in the air. She didn't know what to do or what not to do at that moment.

"No! You can't have any relation with the south region! You just can't! Did you hear me?" Suzanne screeched out loudly while looking at Athena angrily. Athena couldn't stop herself from frowning anymore and she stood up as well.

"Suzy? What's wrong? Why are you reacting like this?" She asked with a frown, unable to handle Suzanne's different and odd behaviour anymore. It was getting too much for her. She was already going through so much, she didn't need her best friend to act like that now

"Yeah, it's not proven yet if she has any relation with them or not. And what's wrong with her having any relation with them?" Patricia spoke up in Athena's defence while looking very confused as well. She couldn't understand what was wrong with Suzanne suddenly as she didn't notice anything before.

"They are the worst! I don't want Athena to have any connections with them. Let's just do one thing." Suzanne suddenly exclaimed while looking at her hopefully. She looked as if she just solved a very big mystery. Athena and Patricia shared a confused look before looking back at her.

"What is it?" Athena asked with a frown. She knew even before Suzanne said anything that she wasn't going to like it.

"Just stop finding your identity." Suzanne said in a dead serious tone while looking at Athena, waiting for her approval but no way in hell Athena was going to agree to that.

"What?? Suzy! What are you saying? We have come so far and you want me to stop looking for my identity? Why??" Athena exclaimed in disagreement while taking a defensive step back from Suzanne. Suzanne noticed that and she didn't like that at all.

"What's the point of finding it now? Also, if you are connected with the south, they are our enemy. For them Dominic is in this condition. You can't forget that." Suzanne exclaimed in a mean tone and Athena looked at her in disbelief as she understood what Suzanne was trying to do at that moment. She was trying to guilt trip her and Athena couldn't believe that Suzanne would try this.

For why??

"She is not forgetting anything, Suzanne. Think this way, if she really has some special connection with the South, she can help us sort out the problems with them. She can stop the possible war. We can't stop our mission now." Patricia spoke up in a calm tone, trying to make sense. She was trying to make Suzanne see the possible benefits of finding Athena's identity. Her words seemed to anger Suzanne more than making her understand. She gave them a blank and cold look.

"Fine, do whatever you want! I just don't want to be part of this anymore. Good luck!" She snapped at them before turning around to leave without letting them say anything. Athena was too shocked to say anything at that moment but it was too late by the time she came out of the shock.

"Suzy, wait! Suzy! Suzanne!" She shouted behind her but Suzanne was already out of the mansion with the intention of not turning back again

"What's wrong with her?" Patricia asked with a confused frown. She had never seen her act like this before. Even Athena never saw her act like this before.

"I don't know." Athena replied in a low tone, trying to make sense of what the hell just happened.

"It's okay. She might have fought with Nathan. Don't let this get on your nerves, okay?" Patricia said in an assuring tone and Athena just slowly nodded at her.

"Hmm." She said with a sigh and Patricia gave her a worried look. She didn't want to stress her more and let her have some alone time.

"Okay, I will take your leave now. Take care and don't worry about it much." She said in a soft tone and Athena nodded at her. her mood was still off.

"Take care."

"Please, let's stay a little longer.'Athena's wolf whined as she kept running with the air, without paying heed to Athena's word.

Athena at last decided to go for a walk after making a deal with her wolf that they will roam around near and not go far. But the sassy bitch broke the deal after Athena gave her the control over them. Now she didn't know where they were heading to.

'No, we need to return soon. Dominic and Ace are alone there. We can't roam around like this and create some more trouble than we already have.' Athena snapped at her wolf while fighting to get the control back but she wasn't fighting hard enough which is why she still couldn't get it.

For some reason, she was feeling a pull toward the way they were heading to and she didn't want to stop until they reached the leave

'Nothing will happen. Just a little bit more.' Her wolf kept running faster than ever, not listening to her at all.

'It's not the time for us to stroll around. Stop and let's go back.' She snapped at her, getting angry and scared as she examined their surroundings, they were definitely heading toward the danger. She wasn't liking the chill she was feeling. She was feeling paranoid

A little bit more. I want to check something.' Her wolf's voice sounded in a daze now, making her worry some more. Why does she sound like this? Was something wrong with her wolf?

'Check what? Where are we going? Don't misuse the chance of me giving you the control.' She threatened while trying to fight back for the control over again but this time Athena didn't stand the chance in front of her wolf because the more they went closer to their destination, the more powerful her wolf was getting.

Where is this destination?! And why was she feeling so different suddenly? She was feeling a lot powerful. The overpowering feeling was making her suffocate.

I am not misusing it. I am just feeling a pull over a place and I want to check it out. For some reason I think it's going to benefit both of us.' Her wolf growled and the growl sounded very different as well. Something was definitely wrong.

'Where's this place? We can't cross our borders.' She said, sounding frantic to stop themselves. But her wolf was suddenly sounding really confident. That confidence relaxed her a little bit.

'Don't worry, we are not going to cross it' her wolf said as it slowly started to decrease its speed. She also felt like they reached the place they were trying to reach.

'Would you please tell me where it is?' She asked, still unable to locate their surroundings even though it looked very familiar to her

'We reached' Her wolf suddenly spoke up in a very excited tone, making her confused and the next moment she raised her head, she got a shock mo

a mo

"The centre! The lava mountain! What are we doing here?' She screeched out loudly, suddenly scared again. The lava mountain and the lake was the centre of the regions. The calm lake was just beside the lava mountain, ever so calm like ever.

'I don't know. It was calling me. Wanna try something with me?' Her wolf sounded excited and her excitement wasn't giving her a nice vibe yet at the same time it excited her as well. She wanted to check out whatever she wanted.

'What?' She asked with a small frown.

'You already know we have the power to control the fire. Wanna try it?' Her wolf asked with a smirk, making her eyes widened in fear and anxiety. But she still felt goosebumps even at the thought of trying her powers out.

'How?' She asked slowly and waited for an answer but her wolf didn't answer her. Instead out of nowhere, it suddenly howled out loud, making the whole area shake. But it was after a few seconds that she realised it wasn't her howl which shook the ground, it was the volcano. The volcano erupted along with her. To check it, she growled out once again and the volcano made a growling sound just after her as if following her command.

'Oh my god, what the hell was that?!' She asked her wolf shock and disbelief but she could get a reply, a voice from the back got their attention.

"Are you trying to misuse your power and bum us all or what?!"
