

His Beta 288

Chapter 288

As Abante's story wound out of her, I could feel every muscle in my body tenement My fists clenched.

She

By distress and cupped my face in her hands so she could kiss my mouth

Our foreheads pressed together as our energies combined. It didn't stop me from for being worked up about to go into the human city on some kind of wild goose chase, but it did to help me navigate the

We and Xander back so I can explain it all to then," she said cubetly,

"Xander's smomtrup lose his s hit."

She chuckdeti ant sesed my lips again before sitting back. "Yeah, I know."

"And Masosur.hesitates opening myself to anything could feel from my second Alphalt frownedee's sil closing himselftoft Hessasset about the conversation with Asher, and he's trying not to unload anyotch that 1 me, even though himself can't force him to accept me

"He accepted you Lazaninioranipted me firmly. "You'll figure this out, the same way we've all been founding

out. Together:

"I don't like any of his toto deter as our fingers linked, our hands palm to palm.

tolong

"I have to go. I have to bond oowwanatabis person knows about hybrids. I don't like it either, my love, bubut

ere is no choice."

She looked so determined and otubborn that new there was no way I was going to convince her herwise. Plus, I knew that she wasogin WWe in to find out whatever we could, and if this was a good urce..

"I don't know if it's a good source, she saidia olad, her head tilting and her brow furrowing ly one we have.'"

▪

It was my turn to kiss her. Our mind link, thui : between the four of us, was growing strong me. And there was the weird way I could cense han ir tencb or thoughts even when she wasn't a inding them. Our quartet was stronger than anything doen heard about

That didn't mean she wasn't going to be in d the Tin.catting them back," she said. "I'll need you to get and calourd now. Are you ready?"

I nodded firmly and took the chance to kiss her again meter happens i've got your back."

"I know that. Goddess, in the luckiest Luna who ir wide grin was happy

Lank's eyes gone with glistening tears, but

Pulses of joy surrounded us, and leaned into them, drawn crength from Luna both my Alphas, instinctively, I knew to give Xander some small priority. Maybe that would change in time, but for now that's how it had to be.

"Running," Hunter thought to me. "Hunt. Prey."

"Xander," Lane thought. "I need you to come home now. It's urgent."

A glimmer came through the link, and in the next second, Xander's voice spoke.

“What’s wrong?”

“Come home,” Lanie thought. “I’ve got something important to tell you.”

Lanie

While

While we waited for them to get back, I could feel my anxiety and tension curling up inside me like a ball of knotted yarn.

I needed to get into the human city, and I couldn’t do that without telling all three of my mates that I was going.

Zane was my rock. He held my hand as we waited on the front porch for Xander and Mason to get back. They’d run fast and far, so it would be a few minutes, still My heart pounded, and Zane pulled me against him to press a kiss to my temple.

▪

“We’ve got this,” he murmured.

Gabriela, Goddess bless her, was inside making sure the pups were taken care of. I hadn’t explained anything to her yet, wanting to make sure I told Xander and Mason first. But she must've sensed something was up because she looked worried. I wanted to tell her it would all be okay, but the truth was...I couldn't be sure about that..

All I knew was that nothing was going to stand in my way of trying to find out.

A rustle in the trees alerted me that my Alpha mates were almost home. Lily paced, scentin wanted to run, too. She wanted to hunt. I soothed her with a promise that soon, we'd take an enti long as she wanted, and be free in the forest.

As the two giant wolves bounded out of the trees, my whole body tingled. My love for my mates nothing I'd ever imagined could be possible. Yeah, as a young girl I'd dreamed of the day when I'd find mates and share a home, raise some pups. I'd never dreamed it could feel like this.

"What the f uck's going on?" Xander growled as soon as he'd fully shifted.

Mason was right behind him. "Lanie? What's happening?"

Rapid-fired, a series of thoughts, images, and emotions tore through me. I wasn't using the mind link on purpose, but everything in my head clearly struck home with all three of my mates at the same time.

Xander staggered back, one hand on his forehead. Mason grunted and shook his head. Zane's hand squeezed mine even harder.

But I couldn't answer him, because the world was going dark.