

When His Eyes Opened by Simple Silence Chapter 1850

Chapter 1850

“Robert, are you sleepy?” Seeing his son’s expression, Elliot didn’t seem to be in a good mood. “If you are sleepy, Dad will ask the bodyguard to take you back to rest first.”

Robert is not sleepy, but he doesn’t want to continue listening. They chatted, so he reached out and felt in Dad’s pocket.

Elliot knew what Robert was looking for. So Elliot took out his phone and handed it to Robert.

After Robert got his father’s mobile phone, he obediently went back to the room with the bodyguard.

Norah Jones smiled and said, “He’s so young, it’s not good for him to play with the cell phone?”

“He called his sister.” Elliot replied.

After the bodyguard brought Robert back to the room, Robert skillfully turned on his father’s mobile phone, found his sister’s number, and dialed it.

Layla answered the phone quickly.

“Sister! Sister, what are you doing?” Robert’s voice came clear.

When Layla heard her brother’s voice, she immediately responded: “Why don’t you make a video call? Did you call your sister yourself?”

“Yeah!” Robert replied obediently, “Dad is outside...I’m having dinner with Aunt Norah...I miss you, so I’ll be back first.”

“Dad is having dinner with Aunt Norah Jones?” Layla’s tone rose a few times.

Layla just found out that Norah Jones stole the jewelry that her mother wanted to buy for her, so she is full of anger at Norah Jones now.

“Well...I don’t understand what the two of them said.” Robert was very aggrieved, “I want to go home, but Dad won’t.”

Layla heard this and complained to her mother angrily: “Mom! Dad is dating Norah Jones now! He doesn’t care about my younger brother! My younger brother wants to go home, and he refuses to bring my younger brother back in order to date Norah Jones over there! I want to go and bring my younger brother back!”

Avery listened her daughter speaks, immediately reach out and ask her to give her the phone to herself.

Layla handed the phone to her mother.

Avery picked up her daughter's mobile phone and put it in her ear.

The voice of the Foster family's bodyguard came: "Layla, it's not what you think! Your father didn't date Norah Jones! The two of them are talking about business! Originally, your father was going to bring Robert back to Aryadelle tomorrow, but there was a temporary business, so he delayed. You have to trust your father."

Avery listened to the bodyguard's explanation and asked, "How is Robert now?"

"Miss Tate?" The bodyguard suddenly stuttered when he heard Avery's voice, "Robert is, by my side...looking at me!"

"Oh...are you sure Robert is not wronged?"

"I'm sure! Otherwise, why would my boss give Robert the phone? Go back to the room." The bodyguard was afraid that Avery would misunderstand Elliot, so he couldn't help but talk, "Miss Tate, you have been living in Bridgedale before, you should know about the Dream Makers company, right? Norah Jones is telling the boss about the Dream Makers company. It's really not a date. They plan to meet the people from the Dreamer's side tomorrow to discuss cooperation!"

Avery didn't expect the bodyguard to explain so much to himself.

Avery: "Okay, I know, I will persuade Layla."

Avery returned the phone to her daughter after speaking.

Avery: "Layla, don't be angry. If your dad really wants to marry Norah Jones, he will marry her sooner or later."

"My dad told me that he wouldn't marry Norah Jones. I don't know if he is lying to me!" Layla suddenly remembered her father's previous promise to her.

When His Eyes Opened by Simple Silence Chapter 1851

Chapter 1851

"Layla, when I fell in love with your father before, he also gave me a lot of promises. But later, it became a joke." Avery didn't want to attack her daughter, but she was also afraid that her daughter would be disappointed by others' words...

"If one day I find out that what he said to me is false, I won't let him go." Layla puffed her cheeks and said angrily, "If he doesn't keep his promises, I won't let him go!"

Avery patted her daughter's head: "I don't think so much. Mom will take you to play today."

Layla: "Well."

.....

Bridgedale.

Elliot and Norah Jones came to the Dream Building and talked with the executives of the Dream Maker Group about cooperation.

The two were invited to sit in the reception room, and the secretary poured water for them.

"Mr. Foster, President Jones, I didn't expect you to be so punctual. I should have informed you in advance, but after thinking about it, it is better to tell you in person." The executive smiled and informed them of the result, "Yesterday I told our boss about your ideas late, but he refused to cooperate with you."

Elliot was not surprised by this result.

But Norah Jones obviously didn't want to give up: "I want to know the reason for your boss's refusal. Is your boss really rich enough to be rich? With our investment, dreamers can do even more."

"I don't know what he thinks." The executive said, "You should have heard that our boss is quite special. His thoughts are often incomprehensible to ordinary people."

"That is your boss is very rich, and no need of financing." Norah Jones gave up completely.

"That's not true." The executive said truthfully, "Our company has been in business for more than two years, and we raised financing several times in the first year. If the boss is really not short of money, it won't be like this in the early stage. But now our company is indeed not short of money. Many investment companies took the initiative to find them, and we have many choices."

Norah: "Oh? Have you really never met your boss?"

The executive: "No. We all use his assistant, or email or phone to contact him."

When Elliot heard this, he couldn't help but ask, "What's your boss's name?"

“Mr. Foster, to be honest, I don’t know my boss’ real name. Billy is signed on his email. We call him Billy.”

The name was just a codename.

“If that’s the case, then we won’t bother.” Elliot got up from the sofa, not wanting to waste any more time.

Last night, the bodyguard told him that Robert called Layla to complain, which made Layla very angry.

He wanted to go back to Aryadelle as soon as possible to coax his daughter.

After the executives sent them away, they returned to the office.

“The boss really rejected Elliot’s investment?” The assistant asked.

The executive smiled sarcastically: “Not only that, the boss also told them to get out. How could I have the nerve to convey the boss’s meaning directly? I guess the boss has a grudge against Elliot.”

Assistant: “...”

A week later.

Layla finished all the filming work and was taken home by the Foster family bodyguard.

Layla did not expect that Norah Jones was also at home.

“Aunt Jones, have you moved to my house?” Layla looked at her with a wary expression.

After Norah Jones realized Layla’s hostility, she quickly explained: “No, no. I came here because I heard that you were going home today. Your birthday is coming soon, and your aunt has prepared a birthday present for you.”

Norah Jones Pick up a bag from the table and hand it to Layla.

Layla took the bag, took out a pink box, and opened it—

Inside the box was a necklace.

When His Eyes Opened by Simple Silence Chapter 1852

This necklace was very familiar.

It was the necklace in the jewelry set that her mother was going to buy for her last time, but was cut off by Norah Jones.

“Just a necklace?” Layla looked at Norah Jones and asked, “Aunt Jones, why are you hiding the bracelet in this set of jewelry? Or have you already given the bracelet to another child?”

With a swish, it turned red.

How did Layla know there was a matching bracelet for this necklace?

Guess?

Seeing his daughter being so impolite, Elliot immediately said, “Layla, you...”

“Elliot! Shut up!” Layla frowned and yelled at her father.

Norah Jones was shocked! Mrs. Cooper was also shocked.

It was very impolite for Layla to call Elliot’s name directly. She was so angry at her father.

It was the first time that Elliot was scolded by his daughter in front of outsiders, and was a little confused.

“Layla, you shouldn’t speak to your father so loudly. Auntie does have a pair of bracelets there. I want to give it to you next time. Since you like it, I’ll go get it for you now.” Norah Jones wanted to calm down as soon as possible Layla’s anger, so hurried away and went back to get the bracelet.

After Norah Jones left, Elliot walked up to Layla and grabbed her wrist.

Layla didn’t even think about it, she pushed him away!

At the same time, Layla threw the necklace in her hand to the ground!

Layla: “If you let Norah Jones come to the house in the future, I’ll move out!”

Seeing that the situation was getting worse, Mrs. Cooper immediately stepped forward and stood in the middle of the father and daughter.

“Layla, why are you so angry? Norah Jones came here specially to give you a birthday present. She has never been to the house before. Have you misunderstood something?" Mrs. Cooper held Layla's hand in both hands, hoping Layla can calm down.

Layla: "I didn't misunderstand! Norah Jones is not a good thing! Neither is Elliot!"

"How can you say that about your father? Layla, what happened? There are no outsiders at home, so just say it directly." Mrs. Cooper subconsciously felt that Layla's fire must have something to do with Avery.

Before Avery returned to Aryadelle, although Layla often gave Elliot a face, the father and daughter had never had such a big fight.

"This necklace...it's a set! My mother bought it for me. They took it away!" Layla pointed to the necklace on the ground, vented the anger in her heart, and then accused Elliot, "It's all your fault that my mother divorced you. You made my mother wrong before. Now you also make my mother wrong!"

Elliot was stunned.

This set of jewelry was bought by Norah Jones at the auction.

Elliot was in Bridgedale at the time. Norah Jones called him and asked him to help the owner of the auction house to leave this set of jewelry.

Could it be that Avery also wanted to buy this set of jewelry at that time?

After Mrs. Cooper understood why Layla was angry, she immediately turned to look at Elliot.

Mrs. Cooper: "Sir, please explain to Layla! You must not know that Avery also wants to buy this set of jewelry, right? Otherwise, how could you help Norah Jones?"

Elliot pursed his thin lips, his Adam's apple rolled up and down, and his face turned gloomy.

"He has a guilty conscience!" Layla said angrily, looking at the direction her father was leaving, "Grandma Cooper, Norah Jones will come to our house in the future, please don't let her in!"

Mrs. Cooper took Layla and sat down on the sofa: "Layla, your father must not know that your mother also wants to buy that set of jewelry. Otherwise, he will not help outsiders. Your father and your mother are both tough-tempered, so it is easy Quarrel. As their daughter, you should mediate the misunderstanding between them, instead of making things worse."

Elliot returned to the bedroom and closed the door. He took out his mobile phone, found Avery's number, and dialed it.

When His Eyes Opened by Simple Silence Chapter 1853

Chapter 1853

Layla said that Elliot made Avery wronged. If what Layla said was true, then Elliot did make Avery wronged. Although he didn't know that Avery also wanted to buy this set of jewelry.

After the phone was dialed, it took a few seconds and was connected.

"Hello." Avery's voice came calmly.

"A week ago, you cursed me to death, is it because I helped Norah Jones buy the set of jewelry you wanted?" Elliot pointed out the question, "Layla told me just now."

Avery was stunned. She had told her daughter before that she should not tell him.

Unexpectedly, Layla said it.

"Yeah, are you trying to laugh at me for being naive?" Avery retorted.

"I'm sorry." Elliot apologized immediately after her voice was settled, "I didn't know you wanted to buy that set of jewelry. Norah Jones didn't tell me."

Avery: "Don't blame Norah Jones. She wasn't there at the time, so I don't know. I was the one who made the bid with her assistant."

Elliot wanted to explain to her that Norah Jones seldom asked him for help, so he only helped Norah Jones last time.

But Elliot felt that even if he explained it, Avery might not like to hear it.

"Layla is very angry, can you come over?" Elliot moved out of his daughter, "I want to apologize to her, but she is angry when she sees me now."

Avery was a little embarrassed. She didn't really want to go to his house, but thinking that her daughter was angry at the moment, she wanted to coax her.

Foster family.

Mrs. Cooper persuaded Layla bitterly.

“I know you must like your father a little in your heart. If you don’t like him at all, you can go to your mother and brother at any time, but you don’t. You have been by your father’s side for more than two years, and you can see very clearly what kind of person your father is. He doesn’t interact with other women, and he goes home to accompany you and Robert after work every day. If he divorced your mother because of empathy, how could he treat you and Robert so good? “

Layla pursed her mouth and lowered her head, feeling sullen in her heart and didn’t speak.

Just now she yelled at her father’s name and reprimanded him, but he silently admitted without saying a word. She was satisfied with his response.

If Dad had quarreled with her just now, she would have left home by now.

“In my opinion, there is a misunderstanding between your father and mother that has not been resolved. They must have each other in their hearts.” Mrs. Cooper saw that Layla seemed to be listening to her, so she said, “If your parents can Reconcile, you and Robert don’t have to separate from Hayden. Why don’t you try to help them reconcile?”

Layla pouted: “My mom doesn’t like him anymore. I asked my mom before.”

“Don’t look at what your mother said. The two of them got divorced. How could someone so proud of your mother admit that she still likes your father?” Mrs. Cooper said, “The way your mother looks at your father can’t deceive anyone.”

Hours later, Avery drove over.

Elliot saw Avery driving into the yard on the second floor and immediately went downstairs.

“Mommy!” Layla saw her mother in the living room and ran out like a bird.

Avery pushed open the car door and got out of the car, holding a cake in her hand.

“Mom, are you coming for my birthday?” Layla asked, looking at the cake.

“Norah Jones came to give you a birthday present today. Does your father plan to celebrate your birthday today?” Avery asked back.

“He didn’t tell me again. As soon as I came back and saw Norah Jones, I immediately became angry.” Layla took her mother’s arm and whispered, “I quarreled with my father.”

Avery: “Your father called me now, and said you made a big fuss.”

“Oh... did he call you here?” Layla remembered what Mrs. Cooper said, so she asked, “You come when he calls you?”

When His Eyes Opened by Simple Silence Chapter 1854

Chapter 1854

Avery blushed: “Mom is worried about you! But I think you are very happy now.”

“Because I drove the annoying people away! I won’t let her come to our house again!” Layla took Avery mom into the living room.

Elliot stood in the living room, watching the mother and daughter come in.

There was a smile on Layla’s face, as if the unpleasantness had never happened before.

Elliot had already called Norah Jones and told her not to come here in the future.

And the necklace was also delivered to her by the driver.

Norah Jones apologized to Elliot on the phone and told him that she did not know that Avery was also at the auction that day.

Elliot believed that she didn’t lie, but he felt very sorry for his daughter and Avery for this result.

“Avery, did you still buy a cake?” Mrs. Cooper saw Avery and immediately said enthusiastically, “If you stay for dinner tonight, let’s celebrate Layla’s birthday in advance!”

“Mom, if you don’t say anything today, If you want to do something, then stay with me here.” Layla coquettishly, “Let’s go and get Hayden back later.”

“Okay, Where is Robert?” Avery asked.

“He went to Aunt Shea’s house. We’ll bring Aunt Shea over for dinner later.” Layla suggested, “Just give me a birthday in advance!”

How could Avery refuse to speak after her daughter said so?

“Then I’ll go prepare the dishes now.” Mrs. Cooper smiled and breathed a sigh of relief, and immediately walked towards the kitchen.

In the living room, there were only Avery, Layla, and Elliot’s family left. They should have been harmonious, but at this moment, the atmosphere was a little awkward.

Layla wouldn't be so awkward if Layla hadn't had such a heated fight with her dad.

"Layla, it's your father's fault." Elliot took the initiative to apologize to his daughter.

"What's wrong with you? You make it clear." Layla saw that Dad had such a good attitude, so she had to make a move.

Avery saw that her daughter's attitude was a little aggressive, so she pulled Layla, and said, "Layla, don't be angry. Talk well."

"I can't talk to him properly. I don't think he knows what's wrong with him." Although Layla was complaining, her tone was much calmer, "If he usually watched more The two idol dramas will not be disliked by us."

Avery looked at her daughter's serious appearance, and sighed in her heart, her daughter has really grown up!

She decided not to mind her own business and let her daughter teach Elliot a lesson.

"Dad, sit down and let's have a good chat." Layla looked at Elliot with a serious face.

Hearing this 'Dad', Elliot could only endure the helplessness of being ripped off.

Elliot sat down on the sofa opposite Avery and accepted his daughter's trial.

"You said, do you like Norah Jones? Do you want to marry Norah Jones?" Layla asked.

"Don't like it, don't." Elliot replied.

"In that case, why are you helping her? Before in Bridgedale, you ate alone with her. It's not right for you to do this!" Layla continued aggressively.

Elliot sighed in his heart: "I didn't eat alone with her. Robert was there at the time. Halfway through the meal, Robert was sleepy, so I asked him to go back to the room first. As for help, your uncle Chad will occasionally ask for help. I'll help, as long as I can..."

Layla: "How can Norah Jones compare to Uncle Chad?! Not only are you wrong, you don't know how to repent!"

Elliot: "..."

Elliot saw that the corners of Avery's mouth rise, is she watching the fun?

When His Eyes Opened by Simple Silence Chapter 1855

Chapter 1855

“Layla, Dad changed. Dad will not eat alone with Aunt Norah Jones in the future. He will not let her come to our house.” Elliot assured his daughter, “In the future, if she asks me for help, I will say I can’t help. “

It’s almost the same!” Layla looked at her father’s eyes, and it was a little pleasing to the eye.

“Avery, I hope you can tell me about anything in the future.” Elliot coaxed his daughter, so he looked at Avery, who was sitting next to him and playing with her mobile phone, “For example, a week ago, you know that I helped Norah Jones rob him. After the jewelry you want to buy is gone, you can contact me as soon as possible. Whatever you call me, as long as you tell me what happened, I will thank you. “

Avery didn’t expect that he would suddenly speak to himself and also Put on a righteous look.

“You help Norah Jones buy things, why should I contact you?” Avery asked back.

“If you don’t contact me, I will help Norah Jones steal what you want. Do you think I know the truth now, will I feel better?” Elliot looked at her with deep eyes, “Avery, I am with you. Norah Jones is just an ordinary colleague relationship, I will not deliberately make you and your children angry because of her.”

Elliot explained his relationship with Norah Jones clearly and clearly, if Avery talked about his relationship with Norah Jones again, It was her problem.

“Does Norah Jones know that you are in such a hurry to clear your relationship with her in front of us?” Avery couldn’t hold back and teased Elliot.

“Does she know that I don’t know and don’t care, but I see that you seem to care about my private life.” Elliot teased her in return.

Avery changed her face suddenly: “self-love.”

“Avery, I heard that you got a doctorate.” Elliot chatted with her, “Did you find a young boyfriend by the way?”

Elliot: “You are so gossipy.”

“Looking at your appearance, you probably didn’t look for it.” Elliot said. “If you did, you would definitely not care about me and Norah Jones.”

“Shut up!” Avery glared at Elliot, “If you insist on thinking that I care about you, then I also care about when you are unlucky.”

“What good will my unlucky do for you?” Elliot asked sincerely.

“In this way, I can take advantage of your troubles and take custody of the two children.” Avery answered truthfully, “I haven’t forgotten what you did to me before. So you must not be selfish.”

“How am I right? Yours?” Elliot murmured, “You gave up the Tate Industries. You gave up, can’t I make it bigger?”

“No matter what you do, you can find a good one reason for yourself.” Avery looked at him calmly and sarcastically said, “Including the reasons for our divorce, including the things you did later. What your daughter said to you just now, you said you were wrong, you apologize to your daughter. It’s not from your sincerity. How could you make a mistake? You are Elliot, Elliot who is high above.”

Elliot’s face suddenly gloomy.

Layla glanced at Dad, then at Mom.

She knew they were arguing again, but they didn’t quarrel without swearing or yelling.

It made Layla very embarrassed, not knowing how to interject, nor how to persuade him to stop.

“Layla! I cooked your favorite sparerib soup, come and try it.” In the kitchen, Mrs. Cooper shouted.

Layla immediately got up from the sofa.

“Mom, if he bullies you, call me.” Layla whispered to her mother, then walked towards the kitchen.

As soon as his daughter left, Elliot also stood up from the sofa.