

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2726

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2726

Chapter 2726

Layla thought about it, then took out her phone, unlocked it, and handed it to him.

“Where is it?” Layla asked.

As tourists continued to come up, this flat snow field seemed a bit crowded.

In order to find a better location for shooting, some tourists even climbed up the hill that was not too steep.

Eric took her mobile phone and looked around.

Layla was also looking for less crowded places.

“Everywhere is crowded.” Layla said, “Just take a few photos here!”

“Come here.” Eric waved to Layla. He found a place with few people.

Layla immediately walked towards him.

Eric pointed down: “The view from that place is not as good as here, but you only need to have a good view from one side to take pictures.”

He meant that the two of them could go down and come up after taking pictures.

Layla took a look. It shouldn't be a problem for the two of them to go down, and there were obvious trampled footprints on the way down, and tourists should have taken pictures there.

“Is it so hard to take a photo?” Layla said in her mouth, but she was ready to go on.

Eric reached out to hold her arm, afraid that she would fall.

Eric: “Be careful.”

“Well...how did you find this place? It's down below. We shouldn't be able to see it from the place just now, right?” Layla walked down cautiously.

Eric explained: “When I came out of the cable car, I saw a couple climbing up from this direction.”

“Oh. Your eyes are really vicious.” Layla said, and asked again, “How do you know that they are a couple? Do you think they are a couple when you see a man and a woman? Then we two are also a couple in the eyes of others?”

Layla thought of that time when she was in the clothing store, and the sales person in the store also thought they were a couple.

This rhetorical question made Eric blush: “I think they held hands after they came up.”

“...You observed very carefully.” Layla teased, “We are also holding hands now.”

Although it was separated by gloves.

“Brothers and sisters can also hold hands, sisters can also hold hands. Good friends can also hold hands. Those who hold hands are not necessarily lovers.” After Layla successfully descended to this piece of snow that was not so flat but could still stand firmly, she still held firmly Eric’s hand.

Eric hadn’t fully come down yet.

“Okay, they’re not a couple.” Eric followed her words.

“I’m not arguing with you.” Layla felt a little funny, so she laughed out loud, “I just feel that sometimes many things are not what we imagined. It’s not like when I was a child, I thought that everything is what it is.”

Eric jumped down, stood firm beside her.

“No matter what it is, it won’t affect your future life.” Eric quickly ended the topic and asked her to stand in a direction with a better view, “Unlock your phone.”

He handed Layla her phone.

Layla unlocked the phone, clicked on the camera, and gave it to him.

Layla raised her hand and made a V. Remembering that her face was covered by the scarf, she immediately pulled the scarf down.

Eric held her mobile phone, pointed the camera at her, and waited for her to pose.

“Did you shoot it?” Layla asked.

“You’re not posing.” Eric turned his face away from the phone a little and looked at her.

“I just compared V.” Layla said, and continued to compare V, “Just this pose.”

“Okay.” After she settled the pose, Eric pressed the shutter, “It’s taken. Change the pose and take a few more pictures!”

“Do you dislike my stupid posture just now?” Layla stood there in embarrassment, not knowing what posture to take next.

She took a lot of selfies. If she took selfies by herself, she could put on a lot of cute expressions.

“Not stupid, very cute.” Eric showed her the photo he took just now.

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2727

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2727

Chapter 2727

“The light seems a little dark.” Layla glanced at the picture, and then looked at the sky, “It’s very windy right now.”

“You can fix the picture at that time.” Eric said, “Are you feeling cold?”

“A little bit. I won’t take pictures.” Layla took the phone from him, “Eric, I called you here to tell you that I don’t want to contact you in the future.”

Facing the howling cold wind, Layla mustered up her courage and finished the matter in one breath. After saying this, her heart beat wildly. She lowered her head, not daring to look at Eric’s face.

“I can start a new life only if I don’t contact you completely and delete all your contact information.” Layla looked at the snow under her feet, her eyes were a little hot, but she didn’t want to cry.

After all, she considered this matter for a few days and made a decision in her heart.

Eric replied calmly: “Yes. Layla, if this can help you start a new life quickly, I have no objections. I won’t bother you or your family in the future.”

After hearing what Eric said, Layla raised her head quickly.

Layla: “I didn’t mean that. You have such a good relationship with my mother, don’t be influenced by me.”

“I don’t have much contact with your mother.” Eric said, “I only realized it later. It’s not that you have to meet often to prove that you have a good relationship.”

Layla stared blankly at his face, thinking that she would never see him again, so she wanted to watch him as long as possible.

After standing quietly like this for a while, in the distance, suddenly there was the first shrill scream!

“Run!” Someone uttered a second cry!

The quiet world was broken, Layla and Eric immediately looked towards the snow-capped mountains above!

They saw a large piece of white snow swelling, collapsing, and rolling down quickly on the top of the pure and holy snow mountain!

Layla had seen such shocking scenes in the movies.

She watched it in a disaster movie!

It’s...an avalanche!

Eric also saw it.

Eric not only saw the avalanche, but also saw the people on the flat ground above, rushing frantically to the place where the cable car was taken.

There were voices of women crying, and voices of men roaring. If you listen carefully, even wailing of children’s voice came.

Almost out of conditioned reflex, Eric immediately held Layla’s hand tightly.

“Go!” Eric took her hand, wanting to take her away from here, but he didn’t know where to run.

The cable car could only take eight people at a time.

But now there were more than eight tourists stranded on the snow-capped mountains... At a glance, eight hundred or one thousand may be possible.

It was absolutely impossible for them to overwhelm those people.

“We can’t go anymore.” Layla’s face was pale, her lips trembling slightly.

She had never been in such danger. All along, her family had protected her in a safe greenhouse, so she rarely thought about what to do when she encountered such an extreme disaster.

In fact, even thinking about it was useless.

She really encountered it, and she couldn't hide it at all.

"Let's go down!" Eric wanted to take her out of here.

No matter what method was used, he could die here, but he couldn't let Layla die with him.

"Eric, there is no way to go down...we can't go down." Layla held his big palm tightly, afraid that she would fall down, and the two would be separated after the fall.

If she had to die, she wanted to die with him.

At least it's less lonely and less scary.

Eric took another look at the large expanse of snow that was rolling down quickly, because the speed of the falling was so fast, it looked like a large cloud of snow fog at first glance.