When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2856 — “That’s right! It’s good for my sister to be happy.” Hazel felt that as long as she didn’t hurt others, of course she could be as happy as she could.

“The same goes for your sister. She didn’t tell us about such a big matter.” Avery blamed.

“Maybe my sister doesn’t think it’s a big deal!” Hazel explained, “Mom, you don’t have to worry. I don’t think they will affect their lives if they make it public.”

Avery picked up the phone and clicked on Eric’s Facebook. At this time, there were already 200,000 comments...

The number one hot search was: Eric’s official announcement

The second hot search was: Eric was married

The third hot search was: Eric’s wife

The fourth hot search was: Tate Industries

The fifth hot search was: Who is Layla Tate?

The sixth hot search was: When the apricot blossoms and spring rain that year?

Avery looked at these words and suddenly remembered that this was the title of a TV series.

It was an idol drama filmed by Eric and Layla many years ago.

And Layla played the heroine when she was a child.

“Our family hasn’t been so lively on the Internet for many years.” Avery looked at the trending searches that had exploded, and had completely accepted this reality, “Your father is also on the trending searches.”

Hazel glanced towards the dining room.

Her Dad and the second brother were swiping their mobile phones over there, probably also watching the news on the Internet.

Elliot saw a Facebook under the topic of ‘Eric’s wife’.

This Facebook said that Eric quit the circle because of the request of the woman's family.

It's said that although Eric was top class, there was still a big gap between him and the real top rich Foster family.

It was this Facebook that was directly slaughtered by Eric's fans.

The following comments were all saying that Layla was not good enough for Eric.

If Elliot hadn't given Layla the account book yet, then he probably wouldn't.

"Dad, don't be angry. There are keyboard warriors on the Internet." Robert glanced at his dad's mobile phone screen, and then persuaded, "So long as Eric treats my sister well, my sister will be happy. "

Elliot listened to his son's advice and put down his phone.

At this moment, Elliot's cell phone rang.

He glanced at the screen. It was Layla calling.

Elliot answered the phone.

"Dad! Have you seen Facebook? I just came out of the shower and found that Eric had talked about the two of us on Facebook. Now our whole family is on the trending list!" Layla said in a very excited tone.

Elliot heard it.

If Layla hadn't been afraid that her dad would be angry, she probably wouldn't have made this phone call.

"Dad, you won't be angry, right? I posted on Moments first, and then I asked him to post on Facebook too... I didn't expect him to post directly on Facebook." Layla couldn't help laughing when she said this, "I didn't expect so many people to pay attention to him after he quit the circle."

"Do you like his fame?" Elliot questioned.

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2857 — "Hahaha, Dad, I think it's very interesting. I thought I would be the only one after he retired, but I didn't expect so many people to remember him.” Layla explained, “Dad, don’t be angry! He posted on Facebook because he thought that other paparazzi would also write about our news. It would be better for me if he made it public.”

“Just as long as you’re happy.” Elliot wasn’t being mean, but speaking the truth. Now that his daughter was married to Eric, all they needed was happiness in their lives.

“Dad, if you think this is bad, I’ll ask him to delete that right now.” Layla was afraid that her father would mind.

After all, it’s not face-to-face chat, and she couldn’t see each other’s eyes and expressions.

“It’s already been posted, so what’s the use of deleting it now?” Even if Elliot was angry just before, he was not angry at this moment, “Let him hire more bodyguards, or send more bodyguards from my side. In the future, When you go out, don’t worry about it. Be safe.”

After hearing her dad’s words, Layla breathed a sigh of relief: “I’m sure you won’t be particularly angry, Dad. You needn’t be concerned about us; I’ll get more bodyguards.”

After Layla hung up the phone, she swiped Eric’s Facebook comments with her mobile phone.

Whether it’s blessing them or scolding them, she looked cheerful. Because Eric was by her side right now, within reach.

“It’s a good thing you quit the circle now, otherwise I’m really afraid that your fans will tear me apart.” Layla teased.

“It’s not my fans who would do that.” Eric stretched out his fingers and stroked her hair, “Why did the hair come out without drying?”

“Isn’t the heating turned on at home? I’m not going to sleep now. I’ll do it later.” Layla moved to his side, “By the way, I will go to my house this year for the New Year, because my sister is back, and this is the first year We are all reunited.”

Eric: “Yes.”

Elliot had already told Eric.

“I asked your parents if they would like to come to our house to celebrate the New Year together, but they refused.” Layla glanced at Eric.

“You don’t have to take it to heart. In fact, the two of them live alone every year.” Eric explained, “In previous years, I basically had a job during the Spring Festival. I didn’t spend the New Year with them either.”

“If that’s the case, then you should spend the New Year with them.” Layla suddenly felt sorry for the two elders, “How about I go back to my house for the New Year and you spend the New Year with your parents?”

Eric thought for a while, and then said, “They may not be willing.”

“Why?” Layla didn’t understand. “My parents really want me to accompany them during the New Year. Who doesn’t want their children to accompany them during the New Year?”

Eric: “They want me to accompany you.”

Layla’s face suddenly turned red.

Her in-laws were truly wonderful people who never interfered with their lives and were always thinking of her.

“Then let’s go to my house on the 30th and your parents’ house on the first day of the new year. Or how about we go to your parents’ house one day earlier?” Layla discussed with him.

Eric: “Just discuss it with my parents. Don’t you often pass me by and make some decisions?”

Layla: “...You still hold a grudge! It’s not because you keep rejecting me, it’s annoying. Aren’t you just sick? Anyone gets sick! You won’t be able to go to work anyway, why don’t you come and prepare for our wedding! We will hold the wedding when you are ready.”

Eric had been completely surrendered by her.

She was exactly what she said.

“What kind of wedding do you want?” Eric fully listened to her opinion.

Layla raised her eyebrows slightly, and began to fantasize: “I want a romantic and dreamy wedding. You don’t need to invite too many people, but the venue must be bigger. Of course, if you invite more people, it will be more lively.” Speaking of Here, she added, “I like to be lively.”

Eric: “Should I order the dress first?”

Layla: "That's right! The dress should not be too complicated, just a simple and classic style. If you are undecided, ask me later."

Eric: "Are you really not afraid of being a widow?"

Layla: "I believe in modern medicine, and I believe in fate even more. Tomorrow and accidents, who can say who will come first? Maybe I will die before you."

Eric looked at her serious expression, and covered her mouth with his hand.

Eric: "Don't say the word 'death' in the future."

When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2858 — "If you want me not to say it, then you are not allowed to say it in the future." Layla grasped his hands and looked into his clear eyes seriously. "Why do you think so much when life is only one day? while you are still alive Be happy; you and I need not worry about what occurs after death."

Eric felt that sometimes he was not as transparent as Layla.

Life is complicated by looking both forward and backward, avoiding this and considering that.

"I've thought about it a lot. Otherwise, I wouldn't be posting on Facebook." Eric said calmly, "Marriage is not a lifelong bondage. If you want to separate at any time, we will separate."

After listening to his words, Layla was not comforted at all.

If it wasn't for his weakness, Layla might have slapped him.

Layla: "What are you talking about?!"

The two of them said such unlucky words on the first day they received their certificates.

"You can't speak, so you can express less opinions." Layla glared at him, then lay down and started playing with her mobile phone, "I got a lot of messages after you posted on Facebook."

Eric pulled back the quilt and covered her: "What messages?"

“It’s just some classmates and ordinary friends I knew before! Ask me if it’s true, and if it’s true, can I invite them when I get married... I guess they are your fans.” Layla tapped on every message Checked it out, but didn’t reply.

Since the wedding had not yet occurred, she was unable to make any promises.

“If you don’t want to go back, I won’t go back.” Eric thought for a while, “Your family doesn’t like too high-profile, so we won’t invite the media to our wedding.”

“The media really don’t need to be invited. When the time comes, let my parents make a guest list, and let your parents make a guest list, and then add our friends to it, won’t it be done?” Layla didn’t like to think about things too complicated.

This had something to do with the environment in which she had grown up.

They had always guarded her throughout her life, whether it was her mother, father, or elder brother.

People who grew up in a honeypot have a simpler and purer heart.

Eric: “Hearing what you said, it seems really simple.”

“The main reason is that my parents should be happy to help us prepare for the wedding. Like the wedding menu, gifts, etc. If you don’t want to do it, I will let my parents do it. You just need to decide on the wedding theme. Just the tone.”

“Our wedding, I’ll do it myself.” Eric didn’t want to bother others too much.

“Do as you please, but don’t get tired. I do not wish to become a young widow.”

Eric: “...”

Time passed and Hayden returned home.

Back with Hayden, there were Mike and Chad.

This year was Hazel’s first Spring Festival when she returned to Foster’s house, not only Elliot and Avery attached great importance to this Spring Festival.

“Hazel, next time you go to Bridgedale, you can live in your own house.” Chad said, “Your house has been renovated.”

“Thank you, Uncle Chad. I’ll take a look next time I have a chance during the holidays.” Hazel said gratefully.

“Now you have to go to University and practice again, I’m afraid it’s rare to have time to travel far.” Mike said with a trace of regret, “You shouldn’t practice so early.”

“As long as Hazel likes it.” Avery helped her daughter speak, “Her job is a night shift, if she doesn’t like that job, she probably won’t be able to stand it long ago.”

Mike nodded, and then took out a wooden box from the pile of luggage he brought back.

“Hazel, this is a gift I carefully crafted for you.” Mike thought that Hazel would definitely like it.

Hazel looked at the wooden box in front of her, and was so shocked that she couldn’t speak.

“What’s inside, it’s so well sealed, didn’t someone check it when it was shipped?” Avery started to open the wooden box, but found that the wooden box was nailed to death.

“It was nailed again after checking.” Mike said, and asked the bodyguard next to him, “Find me a tool that’s handy. I’ll pry it open.”

After a while, the bodyguard came over with tools.

Mike immediately asked the bodyguard to come on.

Before making a move, the bodyguard asked, “Are there any valuables inside?”

The bodyguard was afraid that he would accidentally damage the contents inside.

The bodyguard took a deep breath and pried open the wooden box.

Inside, there was a hard shell cardboard box.

“Hazel, open this cardboard box yourself!” Mike said to Hazel.

The nanny immediately brought a pair of scissors and handed them to Hazel.

Under the watchful eyes of everyone, Hazel carefully cut the glue on the cardboard box.

When the carton was opened, the things appeared but not fully.

Because there was a layer of yellow flannel inside.

The things were wrapped in yellow flannel and wrapped in foam.

Hazel handed the scissors to the nanny, and then picked up the entire yellow flannel.

The things inside were now held in Hazel's palm.

"Microphone?" Hazel hadn't taken the thing out of the fleece yet, but she had already grasped the shape.

"Yeah! Take it out and have a look." Mike smiled, "It's specially made for you."

Hazel took out the microphone, and in an instant, a golden light flashed across her eyes.

It's gold!

Golden Mic!

Hazel panicked all of a sudden.

Such a large golden microphone must be expensive.

Hazel didn't dare to accept gifts randomly.

"There is also a table inside." Mike took out the table from the box, "Put this golden microphone on this table and put it in your room."

Hazel couldn't laugh or cry: "Uncle Mike, I may not always be the host in the future."

Mike: "It's okay, at least you are the host now. If you stop being the host in the future, I will give you other gifts."

Avery: "Uncle Mike specially ordered a gift for you, just accept it! It's quite delicate."

"Thank you Uncle Mike, thank you Uncle Chad. I like this gift very much." Hazel was naturally very happy to receive the gift, "You guys come back this time, let's play for a while longer! My sister and brother-in-law are going to have a wedding soon, You can wait until their wedding is over before leaving."

Mike: "So soon? Didn't the wedding take half a year?"

Hazel: "I don't think we should wait that long. My sister has been discussing various details of her wedding with me these days. It is estimated that the wedding will be ready in less than a month."

Mike laughed loudly: "You really know your sister." After a pause, Mike said again, "I'll wait to give your sister a gift later."

"Uncle Mike, what gift did you buy for sister?" Hazel was very curious.

"Hahaha! I can show you first." Mike took a pink box and opened it. Inside was a pair of dazzling high-heeled shoes.

This pair of shoes completely fits Hazel's generalization of crystal shoes.

"Isn't your sister getting married soon? I think these shoes can be used as wedding shoes. Of course, maybe she has better-looking shoes." Mike said.

Hazel: "Whether it's a wedding shoe or not, my sister will definitely like this pair of shoes."

Mike suddenly thought of a question: "Are you going to be her bridesmaid then?"

"I haven't made up my mind yet! In fact, I am quite willing to be my sister's bridesmaid. But my sister also has her own girl friends. And the wedding of my sister and brother-in-law will definitely attract a lot of attention, and the bridesmaid will also receive a lot of attention... So my sister asked me to think about it myself, and she said that it doesn't matter if I agree with her or not."

"Since you are struggling, then don't be her bridesmaid." Mike said sharply, "She has a lot of friends, and there must be no shortage of bridesmaids for her. And their wedding will definitely invite a lot of people. Your sister likes it lively."

Hazel: "It's just that I really want to be a bridesmaid for my sister."

"You can stay with her all the time if you don't become her bridesmaid!" Mike joked with a smile, "You have never been married, so you don't know how troublesome it is to get married. At that time, there will not only be a bunch of bridesmaids, but also a bunch of best men, saying Maybe there are a bunch of games..."

Mike's words changed Hazel's face when she was frightened.

Hazel's personality was actually introverted, and she didn't like lively occasions very much.

She didn't consider that her dream was to be a host, but once she diverged from the press release, she lacked a lot of social graces.

To use a more popular Internet term now, it is called "social terror."

"Don't scare Hazel. Eric is not in good health, so it will definitely not be too noisy." Avery said with a smile, "Why don't you go to Eric now! Come over for dinner tonight. "

"Okay." Mike said, looking at Hayden, "Let's go together! See how Eric is doing now."

Hayden nodded.

Santos family.

Eric finalized some small details with the wedding planner at home.

The planner was found by Elliot.

Because Eric wanted to handle it himself, and he was recovering, Elliot sent someone to help him.

Mike and the others didn't call Eric in advance before they came, so Eric was a little surprised to see them coming.

Eric: "When did you arrive?"

Eric asked the nanny to pour tea for everyone.

"I just returned to Aryadelle today." Mike stared at Eric for a while, then patted him on the shoulder, "How is your body?"

Eric: "Take medicine on time every day, everything is fine."

"Yeah, as long as you can maintain the current state after taking the medicine, it's fine." Mike saw that his complexion was indeed much better than when he was just discharged from the hospital, "Layla is at work?"

"She's been very busy recently. There are a lot of things at the end of the year." Eric explained, "She plans to take a vacation after the wedding, so she has to work hard now."

"Have you set a date for your wedding?" Mike continued to ask.

“Not yet. She said it depends on when the wedding preparations will be ready.” Eric predicted that Layla would choose the wedding date as soon as the wedding preparations were complete.

“How are the wedding preparations going? Do you want to help?” Mike picked up the wedding planning proposal on the table and looked through it, “Me, Chad and Hayden, we can all help. Don’t be polite to us. After all, this is not only your wedding, but also Layla’s wedding, Layla is our favorite, we must give her a perfect wedding.”

Of course Eric would not refuse their kindness, “See if there is anything you can add. Layla wants to be more lively.”

Mike: “It’s not easy to be lively, so please invite more guests.”

“I was thinking about how to make the wedding more lively while controlling the number of guests.” Eric explained, “I don’t plan to invite my friends from the circle before.”

“Don’t invite any of them?” Mike asked casually, “You don’t have a good relationship with them?”

Eric: “Even if I don’t have a good relationship with them, but I’m the son-in-law of the Foster family now, they will please me. I don’t invite them, not because I have a bad relationship with them, but because I do not wish to overcomplicate my future life.”

If everyone was invited and treated guests in the future, he was required to attend.

Since he was ill, his energy was limited, and he just wanted to put all his energy in his little home.

“Hahaha! The son-in-law of the Foster family. It’s different after getting the certificate, and he speaks with full confidence.” Mike laughed and teased, “You only need to make Layla happy in the future.”

“Understood.” When Eric said this, he suddenly looked at Hazel, “Hazel, I chatted with your sister last night. If you are not a bridesmaid, you can be a wedding master of ceremonies. It just so happens that you are studying this major. I will hand over the wedding host to you, what do you think?”

Hazel: “...”

This was too much to look down on her.

Everyone's eyes fell on her face, and her face turned red instantly, as if a ball of fire was burning on her body.

"I, I'm afraid I can't do well..." Hazel didn't expect her sister and brother-in-law to trust her so much.

But her current ability was really not enough to preside over a grand formal wedding.

"What are you afraid of? Your sister and brother-in-law are not afraid of you screwing up, so you just play it." Mike thought this idea was very good.

Marriage was supposed to be lively and fun.

"It's not an idol drama, so it's okay even if you make a mistake. You can just take the manuscript and read it without fear of forgetting the words!" Mike continued to encourage Hazel.

Hazel: "I'll think about it."

"Don't think about it. If you feel a bit afraid of being a host by yourself, just give you a partner." Given that she majored in this field, Mike thought Hazel would like to give it a shot. How could she work the night shift at the TV station if she didn't enjoy being a host?

Hazel's heart was pounding, and she couldn't help but look at Hayden: "Elder brother, can this really be done?"

"Of course. For your sister's wedding, you can be a bridesmaid or host if you want." Hayden said fondly.

"Hahaha! With the experience of hosting your sister's wedding, you can host your elder brother's and second brother's weddings in the future." After Mike said this, the smile on Hayden's face disappeared immediately.

Hazel took a look at her elder brother, but held back her laughter and didn't dare to make a sound.

In the evening, Layla came back from get off work and took Eric back to her parents' house for dinner.

Everyone gathered together, the house had not been so lively for a long time.

“Since you all want to help me prepare for the wedding, can we hold the wedding after the New Year?” Layla wanted to hurry up and hold the wedding, but she had a problem on her mind, “You just leave after my wedding is over.”

“It’s still very cold after the year! Can’t we wait for the weather to get warmer and hold it outdoors? I like outdoor weddings.” Mike put forward his opinion.

The weddings that Eric was currently planning were in churches and resort hotels.

“I think both outdoors and indoors are fine. As long as the groom is Eric.” Layla sprinkled a handful of dog food in public.

Mike: “Okay, seeing how anxious you are, let’s do it in the next year!”

“Then you can be a witness for us!” Layla arranged tasks for him.

“Okay! If there is anything else I can use, just tell me.” Mike suddenly felt a little sad, “Time flies so fast! I always think of when you were a little milk baby, grabbing food from your brother, and you Occupying all the food, so I licked all the snacks first...”

Layla and Hayden: “...”

“Uncle Mike, I think it’s better to let Uncle Chad be the witness!” Layla changed her mind, “Otherwise, if you talk about my dark history at my wedding, how will I see people in the future?”

Chad couldn’t help laughing.

“Let him do it, let him do it! By the way, I still have a lot of photos of you when you were a child, many of which your mother has never seen. Do you want to show it to everyone at your wedding?” Mike said enthusiastically up.
