

Read Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2890

Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2890 -When Joanna changed her clothes and returned to the banquet hall, Hayden was no longer in the banquet hall.

There were many fewer people in the banquet hall.

She didn't know where those people were arranged.

She had to act very calm and composed so that no one would suspect her.

"Eric, are you really not tired?" Layla asked Eric to take a lunch break.

They were up too early this morning and had been very busy up to this point.

At this moment, Elliot and Hayden had arranged most of the guests to other halls, and the female guests were served by Gwen, so Layla asked Eric could rest for a while.

Eric shook his head: "I'm really not tired. If you are tired, you can go to sleep for a while."

"I'm not tired either! I'm getting married today, and I'm a little excited." Layla had a gentle smile on her face, "I just got married today. It feels like the two of us are really married. The feeling of being a bride is more real than the feeling of getting a marriage certificate."

Eric: "Why don't you change into a pair of flat shoes first!"

Layla: "Okay."

Joanna looked at Eric and Layla left the banquet hall, originally intending to follow.

But thinking that the two of them were going to the rest room, if they followed, they would definitely be discovered.

And the two of them would definitely return to the banquet hall after changing their shoes.

"Miss, look at your face, I don't know which family you are from?" A man came out of nowhere and struck up a conversation with Joanna.

Joanna looked at the handsome young man in front of her, her lips moved, she hesitated to speak.

She couldn't just make up a wealthy family.

Even if this man didn't catch on right away while she was lying, he would eventually catch on.

Just when Joanna was racking her brains, wondering if she should pretend to be dumb, a child suddenly ran over and bumped into her.

She immediately bent down and helped the little boy up.

"Sorry, I have to watch the child." After Joanna said this, she immediately led the little boy and walked towards the children's pile.

Joanna herself was very attractive to children, because she had a lively personality and could easily mingle with children.

After playing with the children for a while, she realized that she was safest only among the children.

No guest would doubt her identity.

There were many children there, not all guests know each other's children, so Joanna's identity could be any child's mother, sister or aunt.

Joanna saw a little girl's phone watch, and immediately asked curiously: "Your watch is so beautiful! Who bought it for you?"

"My mother bought it for me. I picked the diamonds on it myself. This is a watch my mother customized for me." The little girl generously showed her unique watch to Joanna.

Joanna didn't dare to pick it up, for fear of breaking her watch, she couldn't pay for it.

"What functions does your watch have?" Joanna asked.

"My watch has all kinds of functions! It can make calls, send messages, receive videos, and take pictures!" The little girl proudly raised her chin.

"Ah? Such a small watch, can you still take pictures? Can the pictures you take be seen clearly?" Joanna squatted down and asked.

"Of course." Joanna said, turned on the camera function of the watch, and took a few random photos for Joanna to see.

Joanna was very satisfied when she saw the photos taken by the watch.

"The camera on your watch is quite clear! Do you want me to take some pictures for you? You look good today." Joanna had a bold idea in her heart.

“Okay! Sister, help me take pictures!” The little girl had a sweet mouth, and after giving Joanna her phone and watch, she immediately started posing.

When Joanna was helping the little girl take pictures, she intentionally or unintentionally took a few pictures in other directions of the banquet hall.

Especially after Eric and Layla returned to the banquet hall, she took a sneak shot of them.

“You are so beautiful. Can you send me your photo as a souvenir? I really like you!” Joanna showed the little girl the photo she took for the little girl.

The little girl was praised, and her face was red.

The little girl readily agreed to this simple request without even thinking about it.

Just when Joanna was about to say that you should send me the photo, she suddenly realized that there was no internet in the banquet hall.

She couldn't trick the little girl out.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2891

Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2891 -“It's a pity that there is no internet, so the photos can't be sent to me!” Joanna regretted in a low voice.

“There is a network! Sister, don't you know that there is a dedicated network?” The little girl pulled Joanna to the place where she could use the dedicated network. “Sister, you can scan this code to connect to the network. “

Joanna's eyes were opened immediately. She would like to know why the internet should be blocked given that it was used by guests.

Were the two networks different?

Was there something strange about this private network?

She didn't ask the little girl.

She felt that the little girl probably wouldn't be able to answer.

And if she didn't understand this, she would look very unlike people in their circle.

To be on the safe side, Joanna did not connect to the private network of the banquet hall.

Joanna: "Does your watch have Bluetooth? Do you know what Bluetooth is?"

"Of course I know! My parents both have bluetooth earphones!" The little girl's well-informed appearance made Joanna blush.

"Then does your watch have Bluetooth function?" Joanna asked again with an embarrassed smile.

"I don't know! I haven't used this function before. Because I don't need a Bluetooth headset." The little girl said, and gave her watch to Joanna, "Sister, help me to see Bluetooth function! Check if it is on."

Joanna: "Okay! Let me take a look for you."

...

Joanna did not expect that her latent work today would go so smoothly.

The little girl's phone watch had bluetooth function.

She used the bluetooth function to transfer a few photos she had just taken with the little girl's watch to her mobile phone.

When she saw the photos that had been successfully received, she breathed a sigh of relief.

Her job was done.

She would pass these photos to the editor-in-chief later, and she would be the one who would get the $100,000 bonus.

Although $50,000 had to be distributed, but being able to earn $50,000 so easily could also ease the financial situation of the family.

Thinking of this, the big stone in her heart was obviously much lighter.

Just when she was about to leave quietly, she suddenly thought of Hayden.

There would be a woman attacking Hayden tonight.

But she hadn't told Hayden about it yet.

Leaving aside the education she had received over the years and the demands on herself, she should also thank the Foster family for today's bonus.

So she couldn't just watch Hayden being tricked by her relatives.

However, looking around the entire banquet hall, Hayden was nowhere to be seen.

She didn't know when Hayden would appear.

Did she want to wait here until the dinner party?

Joanna turned on the phone and checked the time.

Time flies so fast, it's already 3:30 in the afternoon.

Dinner started at 5:30 pm.

In two hours, she would be able to see Hayden.

After struggling for a while, Joanna decided to wait.

Anyway, it's not short of two hours.

Today, she was the only one who sneaked into the banquet hall, and other colleagues should not get the exclusive photos in front of her.

Besides, Hayden didn't have to show up at the dinner party.

Just a very real question.

When Hayden appeared in the banquet hall, how would she get close to him?

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2892

Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2892 -Even if she approached Hayden and told him what she heard in the bathroom, he might not believe it.

Those who wanted to set him up were relatives of the Foster family.

Hayden would definitely choose to trust his own relatives instead of an inexplicable outsider.

If Hayden knew that she was an editor of a media company, he would definitely be very angry, maybe let the bodyguards drive her out!

Thinking of this, Joanna shook her head.

She could reveal her identity.

Hayden was someone she could not afford to offend.

It could be seen that she felt sorry for not saving his life.

After struggling for a while, she decided to change back to her work clothes first.

“Nini, I heard that you have been playing with an aunt just now. Where is that aunt?”
The little girl’s mother returned to the banquet hall after playing for a while and asked her daughter.

“That elder sister walked away because of something. I don’t know where she went.”
The little girl turned on her watch and showed it to her mother. “The photo that elder sister took of me is so beautiful.”

The woman glanced at the photo on her daughter’s watch: “Aside from taking pictures of you, what else did she take you to play?”

The little girl: “I don’t know...we just played around for a while.”

“Hmm.” The woman didn’t think much about it.

It was someone she knew who told her that Nini had been playing with a woman she didn’t know for more than an hour.

Those who could enter the banquet hall were either relatives of the Foster family or the Santos family.

They were relatives of the Foster family, and the unknown woman should be a relative of the Santos family.

When the dinner was approaching, Joanna finally saw Hayden.

Under the crystal chandelier, his figure was set off to make him taller and stronger.

His dignified and cold demeanor was totally different from others.

Wherever he went, he was the focus.

It seemed that he was the protagonist of today’s banquet.

In fact, it was because Eric could not drink, so today Hayden entertained guests instead of Eric.

Because there were always many people around Hayden, Joanna had no way to get close to him.

Joanna wrote a note, and now there was only one chance to hand it over.

The waiters in the hotel were also divided into grades and grades.

The waiters who served the guests were carefully selected, and Joanna didn't even have the chance to get close to Hayden.

And she didn't know anyone here, and she couldn't find anyone who could help her pass the note.

Joanna stood aside, anxious.

If she rushed to Hayden's side rashly, she would be subdued to the ground by the bodyguards before she could speak to Hayden.

Then there was only one way.

The wedding would be held for two days, and the guests would basically stay in the resort hotel tonight, including Elliot's family.

She just waited outside Hayden's room, and when Hayden appeared, she told Hayden that it was a conspiracy.

In this way, even if Hayden drank the wrong wine, as long as he didn't touch that woman, he wouldn't be blackmailed.

...

After drinking for three rounds, someone came to toast Hayden.

"Hayden, you've had a day of drinking today, and your stomach can't take it anymore. Let's drink fruit juice instead!" A kind-faced elder walked up to Hayden with her daughter.

The elder took a glass of juice from the waiter's tray and handed it to Hayden.

"I'm Eric's cousin, and this is my daughter Lele. Our family has admired your name for a long time, and we have never had the chance to meet you in person. I finally saw you today, so Lele must come to say hello to you." As the aunt said, she pushed her daughter forward.

Naturally, Hayden would not neglect the relatives of the Santos family, so he picked up the juice glass and took a sip.

Hayden: "Auntie, you look so young."

"Haha, yes! I'm the same age as Eric! Eric has always been reluctant to call me aunt." The aunt said, and immediately asked, "Lele has always admired you, I wonder if I can add a seat for her Learn more from you? Even if it's just learning at the dinner table! I can't speak to her father, and Lele is more introverted."

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2893

Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2893 -Hayden smiled, "Of course." Then, he gestured to the waiter.

The waiter immediately brought a chair over and placed it beside Hayden.

After Lele sat down, her mother said a few polite words to everyone and walked away.

Lele had been paying attention to Hayden's juice cup.

Probably his stomach was not feeling well after drinking too much, so he finished drinking the juice in the juice glass in a short while.

"Brother Hayden, do you want juice?" Lele asked.

"I'll do it myself." Hayden picked up the juice jug on the table and poured himself a glass of juice, "Have you graduated yet?"

Lele: "Not yet. I'm in graduate school."

"Which major?" Hayden had drunk all day today, and he was deceiving himself if he said he wasn't drunk at all.

The way he looked at Lele at this time was obviously much softer.

Normally, he would not show such an expression to outsiders.

"Archaeology." Lele joked, "I chose it myself. I'm more interested in this aspect, and my parents didn't interfere with me."

"It's good if you're interested. No matter what major you're in, if you don't have enthusiasm, it's hard to learn well." Hayden said this, and suddenly felt a strange heat in his lower abdomen.

His brow furrowed immediately.

This feeling was completely out of his rational control.

He felt like his body was going to lose control at any time.

He immediately stood up from his chair, intending to wash his face with cold water.

After he stood up, Lele also stood up.

“Brother Hayden, what’s wrong with you?” Lele knew that the medicine must have played a role.

“I’m fine.” After Hayden said this, Robert immediately felt that his brother’s expression was not quite right.

Hayden’s face seemed to turn red all of a sudden.

It’s like having a fever.

Robert walked up to his brother and held his brother’s arm: “Brother, your face is so red. You don’t have a fever, do you?”

“I’m fine. Don’t worry about it.” Hayden pushed Robert’s hand away, “I’m going to the bathroom. If I don’t come back later, I’ll go to my room to rest. Take good care of our guests.”

“Oh, good.” After hearing what Hayden said, Robert immediately turned around and looked at Lele who wanted to follow his brother, “Lele, don’t worry. My brother drank too much. He will be fine if he takes a rest.”

Lele’s skin was still not thick enough.

Her mother told her ten thousand times that she must follow Hayden.

But now, her every move was under everyone’s eyes, and she dared not move at all.

“I… I’m going to the bathroom.” Lele was quick to think, and after finding a reason, she left the table.

After Hayden went to the bathroom to wash his face, the hot feeling in his body didn’t lessen. So he quickly came out of the bathroom and planned to go back to the room.

When Lele rushed to the bathroom, Hayden just came out of the bathroom.

A bodyguard followed him.

At this time, he was whispering to the bodyguard.

Lele originally wanted to call Hayden, but saw him talking to the bodyguard, so she didn't call out.

She followed Hayden all the way to the guest room department.

And Joanna had been guarding in the room department.

The moment Hayden stepped out of the elevator, Joanna quickly followed.

“Sir, your face is a little red. Are you feeling ill? Do I need to call a doctor for you?”
Seeing Hayden's appearance, Joanna was probably playing tricks!

The bodyguard stopped Joanna and gave her a fierce look.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-