

Read Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2916

Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2916 -In the living room, the manager and Elliot were left.

The manager secretly glanced at Elliot, wanted to say something, but didn't know how to say it.

"Speak up if you have something to say." Elliot broke the embarrassment.

"Mr. Foster, you are someone I admire very much. I have always thought that you are very successful in both career and family. You must be a very wise person..."

"Okay, please skip these compliments and get straight to the point." Elliot felt a headache when he heard it.

His wife ignored him, and the four children were about to ignore him.

If the paternity test results were unsatisfactory, the wife and children would not only ignore him, but will also reject him.

In this situation, for a middle-aged man, the blow was really invincible.

"You have been wise for half your life, why did you suddenly make such a serious mistake?" The manager sighed, "Your wife is so good, and your four children are so good, why do you have to seek that excitement?"

Elliot: "I didn't! Why don't you believe me?"

Manager: "Ah... If you really didn't have one, how could your wife turn her face?"

Elliot: "The paternity test between me and that child hasn't come out yet."

Manager: "Oh... how long will it take for the results to come out?"

Elliot gritted his teeth: "I'll let them get the results within three days."

Manager: "Oh! Awesome! I heard that the paternity test takes a week and a half. I didn't expect the result to be available in three days."

Elliot: "..."

Manager: "You'd better sign the agreement I brought just now. If you are wronged, that agreement is invalid for you. If you are not wronged, then you are at fault. A lawsuit against property will ruin your reputation for the rest of your life."

Elliot: "That child really isn't mine."

Manager: "So you don't have to worry."

Elliot: "Really? But you have seen my daughter's attitude towards me just now. Before the result came out, I was a sinner through the ages."

On days like this, every second was suffering.

Manager: "If you think about it in another place, you can actually calm down a little."

Elliot: "..."

This manager was really comforting.

After Elliot changed his mind, he really calmed down a lot.

Upstairs.

After knocking on the door, Layla called out to her mother.

Avery opened the door.

"Mom, here's the contract, take a look." Layla entered the room and closed the door, "Why don't you go live with Eric and me first! We'll talk about it when the appraisal results come out."

Avery accepted the contract and said calmly: "I'll just wait here for the result. If the child belongs to him, he should be the one who leaves, not me."

"That's right. Then I'll come back to live with you in the next few days." Layla said without thinking, "Check the contract to see if there is any problem. If there is no problem, I will take it down and sign it for him."

After reading it, Avery found no problem, so she handed the contract to Layla.

"Did you see that child? It was just born." Although Avery was in grief, when he got older, he was a little more open-minded than when he was young.

Even without Elliot, her life would still go on.

She wanted to watch all four of her children get married.

Layla nodded: "That child looks quite like Dad. But Dad still quibbles! I'm really going to be p!ssed off by him! I think he is old and confused! With my brother when he returns, I'll take my dad to the hospital to examine his brain."

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2917

Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2917 -Avery: "If his brain is broken, let him be bad."

"Oh okay! Mom, isn't it boring for you to shut yourself in the room? How about I let him go out after signing the contract? He can't make a mistake, you suffer!" Layla wanted her mother to come downstairs and tell her breathable.

"We'll talk about it when your younger brother and sister come back at night. He must give a clear explanation about this matter." Avery said.

"That's right. But Dad didn't say anything other than saying that the child is not his." Layla recalled the conversation she had with her father just now. "By the way, I called my brother. He should be back soon. "

Avery nodded: "Although this kind of thing happened at home, I really don't want everyone to know, but since Elliot is shameless, I don't need to save face for him."

"Well. Even if we don't disclose this matter to the public, it will spread." Layla took the contract and said, "I'll go down first and ask him to sign the contract. If the child really belongs to him, let him nothing."

...

After 4 o'clock in the afternoon, Robert rushed home.

He received a message from Layla that something big happened at home, so he rushed back immediately after class.

After returning home and changing his shoes, Robert didn't dare to breathe, so he glanced at the living room.

Dad and sister Layla were sitting on the sofa, and the expressions on their faces were indescribably weird.

"Dad, sister, I'm back." Robert walked towards them wearing slippers.

Layla patted the place beside her: "Come here."

"Oh..." Robert immediately walked towards Layla obediently, "Where's Mom? What happened?"

When Robert finished speaking, a baby's cry came.

Robert felt as if his head had been smashed by someone.

With a 'whoosh', he stood up from the sofa.

"Robert, you heard me right. There is one more person in our family." Layla picked up the water glass on the table, took a sip of water, and spoke leisurely.

"Ah?! What's going on? How could there be a baby?" Robert heard clearly that it was indeed a baby crying.

"Because our father is fraternal!" Layla said, "Congratulations on having a younger brother. A half-brother."

Robert's facial expression twitched, and then he began to growl: "Sister! Is this true? I don't believe it! I don't believe... I don't accept it! This is betrayal!"

"That's right! Our good father betrayed us and our family. So if Mom and Dad divorce, how do you choose?" Layla asked her younger brother to make a choice in front of her father.

Robert's face was red, and tears suddenly appeared in his eyes.

"Why are you doing this...why are you doing this..." Robert had never been stimulated like this since he was a child.

He didn't know what to do.

His mother was very kind to him, but his father was also very kind to him.

Thinking of his father, he has many precious memories of his father accompanying him in his mind.

Let him gave up his father now, he was really in pain.

"Robert, I didn't do anything to offend your mother. I didn't betray the family either. You don't need to make any choices." Seeing his son crying, Elliot immediately got up and walked to his son, "Wait for the results of the appraisal. Dad must be innocent."

Elliot's words made Robert cry even louder.

Upstairs, Avery heard his son's cry and immediately came down.

...

After 1 hour.

Hazel came back from university.

She also received a message from Layla, so she skipped the last class in the afternoon and rushed back.

When she was changing her shoes, she saw her parents, Robert and Layla sitting in the living room, no one was talking, and the atmosphere was awkward.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2918

Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2918 -This was the first time she had faced such a situation since returning to Foster's house.

She felt that something serious had happened, otherwise her parents, brother and sister would not be like this.

"Hazel, come here." Layla spoke first.

"Oh." Hazel put her schoolbag aside, and obediently walked towards Layla.

"Let me tell Hazel!" Elliot didn't want Hazel to misunderstand him, so he wanted to explain the situation himself, hoping that Hazel would not cry like Robert just now.

Seeing the child suffering from this incident, Elliot blamed himself very much.

"Okay! Tell me." Layla's tone was a little cold.

Hazel heard it.

It seemed that there was something wrong with her father, otherwise her sister would not have this attitude.

"Hazel, it's like this. Someone sent a child over today and said it was mine. But I dare to swear to God, I have never found any woman except your mother. That child is definitely not mine." Elliot Swearing for the second time today.

Hazel was started by the huge amount of information and looked around, not knowing what to do.

What Dad said was very sincere, but she didn't know if what Dad said was true.

She dared not make decisions on her own because she was the youngest child in the family and instead was curious to see how her mother and older brothers and sisters would respond.

"Isn't it possible to do a paternity test?" Hazel asked in a low voice.

Elliot: "Well. I've already called someone to take a sample. The results will come out within three days." Elliot said, "Before the results come out, I hope you won't be too cruel to me. If the results come out, I have nothing to do with that child, how can you comfort my broken heart?"

Elliot was hit hard today.

In the previous few decades, there had not been as many blows as there were now.

Hazel felt that what her father said made sense, so she nodded.

"Little sister, you are too soft-hearted. Go and see that child, and you will know that the child must belong to our family." Layla couldn't help herself to peek at the child several times.

She became more certain that the child belonged to the Foster family each time she looked at the child.

"Oh...the child is at our house now?" Hazel couldn't believe it.

"I'll take you to see it." Layla stood up from the sofa and took Hazel to the maid's room on the first floor.

The little milk baby was eating milk when the two sisters entered the maid's room.

"He's so small!" Hazel was shocked, "How old is he?"

Layla shook her head. "Mom said he looked like a newborn."

"Who is the child's mother? The child must have a mother!" Hazel walked to the bed and stared at the nursing baby carefully.

Because the child was eating milk, Hazel couldn't see the child's facial features very clearly.

"I don't know. It doesn't matter who the child's mother is, what matters is whether the child belongs to the father or not." Layla had a headache for a day because of this incident, "Little sister, if the parents divorce, who will you marry? By the way, Dad has signed an agreement that if the child is his, he will leave the house."

"If the child belongs to the father, then the father's behavior is really too much. It cannot be forgiven at all. I am definitely on the mother's side."

Receiving the answer from her sister, Layla nodded.

“At first, I wanted him to tell the truth, but no matter what he said, he denied that the child was his. So now we can only wait for the result.” Layla said helplessly.

“Then wait for the result first! Sister, don’t be too sad. I don’t think Dad is like a liar. If he wants to hide things a little bit, he is fully capable of doing it.” Hazel didn’t want to allow things to spiral out of control.

Layla: “Although what you said has some truth, many things sometimes do not develop according to normal thinking. Just like the bosses of two big companies fought at the food stall a while ago, isn’t this unbelievable?”

Hazel nodded.

“The child is finished eating.” Layla caught a glimpse of him out of the corner of her eye, and she showed him to Layla.

Hazel looked at the child.

It just so happened that the child also looked at her.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2919

Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2919 -Hazel’s heart melted at the cuteness of this child.

But thinking that this child might be her father’s illegitimate child, Hazel immediately put away her overflowing love and affection.

“His eyes are so big.” Hazel commented objectively.

“Dad has big eyes, too,” Layla replied.

“...” Hazel didn’t know what to say.

This child became more and more cute the more he looked at it. It would be great if he wasn’t his father’s illegitimate child.

“Do you think he looks like Dad? Is he kind of like him?” Layla asked.

“It’s a little bit...but we’ll wait for the results to be accurate.” Hazel didn’t want to speculate just because the child looked a little like his father.

it’s dinner time.

Avery and the three children were eating in the dining room.

Elliot was alone in the living room, and the maid brought him a meal alone.

Layla let him eat alone.

Layla didn't do this on purpose, but Layla thought that her mother might be too angry to eat when she saw her dad.

Elliot understood his daughter's cooking and didn't want Avery to be so angry that he couldn't eat, but he was still very sad.

Who would have thought that the president of the dignified Sterling Group would not be able to eat at the dinner table.

But Elliot was sad for a while, and he was no longer sad about not being able to eat at the dinner table.

Because he thought that he would definitely not be able to sleep in the master bedroom tonight.

Avery didn't even want to see him, so naturally she wouldn't sleep with him.

It seemed that he had to ask the maid to tidy up a guest room.

After dinner, Layla decided to sleep with her mother tonight.

After making this decision, Layla took the initiative to ask the maid to clean up a guest room for Elliot.

The maid's heart was full of trouble.

After all, Elliot was the master of this family.

After Elliot finished his meal, he walked to the door of the dining room and said: "Just listen to Layla! She grows up, and I'm old too. I will listen to her."

After Elliot finished speaking, he walked away.

The maid was very stressed.

Elliot was a person who never obeyed his old age, so he must have been so sad to say these words.

"He's quite aggrieved!" Layla watched her father walk away, and said in a low voice, "We are the ones who are hurt."

“Okay sister, don’t be angry now.” Robert’s eyes were still swollen because he burst into tears, “When will brother come back?”

“He will be here tomorrow for sure.” Layla said, “You and little sister will still go to university tomorrow, and the results of the paternity test should not come out tomorrow.”

“Where is the mood to go to university?” Robert wanted to ask for leave.

He didn’t know how this matter would be resolved in the end.

“Why, if your parents get divorced, do you still want to drop out of university?” Layla asked, “No matter what happens to your parents, you have to study hard.”

“Your sister is right.” Avery put down the bowl and chopsticks, and said calmly, “Don’t be influenced by adults. If you should go to university, you should go to university, and if you should work, go to work. Before the paternity test results come out, I will not make any decisions with him.”

“I definitely won’t go to work tomorrow. I’ll wait for my brother to come back.” Layla expressed her worry, “Mom, if you believe it, if my brother sees that child, he will definitely beat up Dad.”

“I won’t let him do it.” Avery said, “When your brother is back, he has to wait for the results.”

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-