

Read Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2920

Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2920 -At night, Elliot slept in the guest room on the first floor.

How could he possibly sleep?

After taking a shower, he received a call from Ben.

For some reason, all his friends knew about it.

“I’ve never done anything wrong to Avery! It’s fine if they don’t believe me, but why don’t you believe me?” Elliot walked around the room with his mobile phone in one hand and his other hand on his waist.

Ben: “Your wife doesn’t even believe you, how can I believe you! With the kind of relationship you have with Avery, she must be able to tell at a glance whether the child is yours or not?”

Elliot: “Anyway, I can’t tell! That child is not mine! This is so ridiculous! Why don’t you believe me! Am I so low in your hearts?”

Ben: “If it’s really not yours, then just wait for the paternity test results. There’s no need to get so angry.”

Elliot: “I’m very angry! You don’t know how wronged I have been today! Avery ignored me if she didn’t believe me, and my three children ignored me. Especially Layla, what she said was too hurtful! The worst What’s more, Layla said that Hayden might beat me up when he comes back!”

Ben originally wanted to comfort him, but after hearing what he said, he burst out laughing.

Elliot: “...”

“By the way, I remember you had a ligation?” Ben asked after laughing for a while.

Elliot was stunned for a moment: “That’s right! I’ve had a ligation before! How could I have a child outside!”

Having said this, Elliot hung up the phone and went to Avery to argue.

Second floor.

Layla and Avery lay on the bed after taking a bath, chatting.

Mainly to talk about future life issues.

Avery planned to go outside to relax after the divorce.

Layla wanted to know when his father changed his mind. Because Layla was completely unaware that something was wrong with his father.

Avery didn't know how to answer this question.

Because Avery didn't see when Elliot changed his mind at all.

She had always thought Elliot had treated her incredibly well.

At this time, there was a knock on the bedroom door.

"Avery! Didn't I have a ligation? Did you forget about it?" Elliot's voice came out aggrieved.

Hazel heard her father's voice, so she opened the door and walked out.

Elliot heard the movement and immediately looked at Hazel.

"Hazel, is dad arguing with you?" Elliot blushed in embarrassment.

"Dad, I'm not asleep yet!" Hazel walked to his father and helped him knock on the door of the master bedroom.

Elliot: "Hazel, you must trust Dad! Dad is really innocent."

"Yes. You should explain it to mother!" Hazel heard clearly what his father said just now.

Her father had a vasectomy. If it was true, then her father should not have children outside.

Because no one came to open the door, Hazel cleared her throat and shouted, "Sister! Open the door!"

After Hazel shouted, Layla immediately opened the door.

Hazel pulled her sister out, and Elliot took advantage of the opportunity to enter the master bedroom.

After Elliot went in, he closed the door behind him.

"Sister, Dad said he had a ligation." Seeing that her sister was puzzled, Hazel explained to her, "Dad is here to explain to Mom."

“Oh?” Layla was stunned, “Did he tell you that?”

Hazel: “He said it loudly at the door just now. Didn’t you hear?”

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2921

Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2921 -Layla: “Didn’t hear clearly. Only his voice was heard.”

“Sister, you can sleep with me tonight!” Hazel said, “Maybe we really misunderstood Dad.”

Layla: “But that child...”

“He doesn’t look like Dad that much. Why don’t we go down and take a look now?” Hazel said.

“Okay! Let’s go and see again.”

The two sisters went downstairs together as they spoke.

In the master bedroom.

After Elliot finished what he wanted to say, Avery’s mood instantly calmed down a lot.

Avery: “Sterilization is not 100% able to prevent pregnancy.”

“The doctor told me at the beginning that as long as the operation is successful, it is almost 100%.” Elliot vowed, “Otherwise, let’s go to the hospital for an examination to see if there is any accident in the operation I performed before.”

Avery glanced at the time, it was almost 9 o’clock.

“Both of us haven’t used other contraceptive measures for so many years, aren’t you pregnant? Why do you think I can let other women have children?” Elliot became more confident as he spoke.

He took Layla’s pink pillow off the bed and got into bed.

Avery watched him go to bed, echoed what he said, and for a moment, didn’t know what to do.

“Avery, where is the most basic trust between people? You don’t believe me so much, it really breaks my heart.” Elliot complained, “I’ve never been wronged like this! I’m with you every day, What kind of person am I, do you really have no idea?!”

“The result hasn’t come out yet! You started complaining.” Avery looked sideways at him.

“Anyway, that child is not mine. I have a clear conscience. I am not afraid of the shadow. I will sleep here tonight.” Elliot shook off the quilt and covered himself.

...

The next day, Hayden returned home.

After coming out of the airport, he took a taxi back to Foster’s house.

He deliberately didn’t ask the driver at home to pick him up.

From Hayden’s perspective, Elliot owned the entire Foster family.

If his mother and Elliot divorced, it was necessary for Elliot to leave the house. After drawing a line with Elliot, Hayden planned to take his mother to Bridgedale to live.

Staying in the country meant that his mother would occasionally hear about Elliot, which was detrimental to her efforts to get sober.

Seeing Hayden coming back, Avery immediately brought him shoes.

“Why didn’t you ask the driver to pick you up?” Avery asked.

“I can come back by myself, no need to pick me up.” Hayden changed his shoes and glanced into the living room.

Elliot was here, and so was Layla.

“Brother, are you hungry?” Layla walked up to Hayden and asked.

“I’m not hungry.” Hayden’s eyes fell on Elliot.

“Hayden, that child is not mine.” Elliot knew what Hayden was going to say, so he spoke first, “I had a vasectomy after I remarried with your mother. With our four children, I have long been satisfied. I have never thought about having another child. If you don’t believe me, ask your mother.”

After a night of thinking, Avery gradually calmed down.

What Elliot said was true.

He had suffered a ligation, and neither of them had adopted any other means of contraception these years, and she had never been pregnant, which showed that his operation was successful.

“Hayden, there may be some misunderstanding about this matter.” Avery took Hayden’s arm and pulled him to sit on the sofa, “We will wait for the paternity test results to come out first.”

Layla poured Hayden a glass of water.

Layla: “Brother, did I scare you when I called you yesterday?”

“What do you think?” Hayden took the water glass and drank.

“I was really terrified at the time. Who knew that my father had undergone a vasectomy! I didn’t tell you earlier.” Layla complained in a low voice, “Would you like to see that child? That child really looks like our family.”

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2922

Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2922 -Hayden put down his water glass, wanting to see the child.

Layla sent maid to fetch the child out.

The child was sleeping, soundly asleep.

Children of this age are either feeding or sleeping.

After the maid came out with the child in her arms, he walked up to Hayden.

“Hayden, don’t be angry with your father. This child is still young, and his facial features haven’t even developed yet. Now we can’t tell who he looks like!” The maid was very afraid that after seeing the child, Hayden would say that the child looked like Elliot.

Because the maid took care of the child for a day, and found that the child really looked like Elliot.

It’s just that the maid never dared to say it.

Hayden glanced at the child.

The first impression was that it was so small.

The second feeling was that it was ugly.

The child's facial features might not have fully formed, or the child might simply be ugly.

Seeing the disgusted expression on Hayden's face, Layla explained for the child: "His eyes are very big. Now he is asleep and has not opened them."

"What? You like him a lot?" Hayden teased.

Layla: "I like what he does. I don't know whose child it is. It was sent to our house like this, and my father was also big-hearted, so he just picked it up. What if the child has an infectious disease or has explosives on him? "

Hayden felt that what his sister said made sense.

Avery: "Layla, you're overthinking. This child looks healthy at first glance."

Layla: "I don't know how to read faces. What if the child has hidden explosives in the blanket?"

Avery: "It is indeed possible, but the possibility is very small. Because our country has strict regulations on explosives."

Layla: "There are geniuses on TV who can make their own explosives."

"Yes. So I'd say it's highly unlikely."

Hayden listened to the two of them talking about this issue, but he couldn't get in the way, and didn't want to get in at all.

"I'd better go eat!" Hayden got up from the sofa.

It appeared from Mom's behavior toward Dad that Mom already thought Dad was innocent. So now they're waiting for the results to come out.

"Brother, why don't you come back to play for a few more days!" Layla followed Hayden to the dining room, "The last time you came back was during summer vacation."

"Isn't the New Year coming soon? I'm working hard now, and it's the same to take more vacations during the New Year." Hayden had his own work arrangements.

"Why do you arrange your work so full? When you come back this time, let me introduce you to a girlfriend!" Layla had been helping her brother to pay attention to the suitable ones ever since she expressed her desire to find a girlfriend.

Hayden: "Layla, if you are too free, you can arrange more work for yourself."

"Look at you, but you declined again. Didn't you want to find a girlfriend before? I just asked around casually, and found that everyone really wants to be my sister-in-law!" Layla said with a smile, "I see you still don't believe it? If the appraisal result is all right, then I'll arrange for you two to meet. This girl is really nice. She's two years younger than me..."

"Stop." Hayden didn't come back for a blind date, so he didn't want to go on a blind date, "I don't want to find a girlfriend anymore. So don't go around helping me find a blind date."

Layla: "Brother, have you been hit? Why don't you want to look for it anymore?"

Avery also came over and sat down in the chair next to Hayden, wanting to hear his thoughts.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2923

Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2923 -"Because I found out that I am still very young. There is no need to rush to get married." Hayden expressed his true thoughts.

Layla: "Brother, why do you think you're still young! Look at your face, it's not as tender as it was two years ago. You really have seen a lot of vicissitudes visible to the naked eye. Once a person is over 25 years old, his body functions will decline. With rapid aging, you get older every year."

Hayden: "You don't need to create age anxiety for me. I'm old and you are too, we are the same age."

"Hehe, it's really oily and salty." Layla turned to look at her mother, "Mom, tell him."

Avery: "Hayden, do you think that the girls introduced to you by everyone are not good enough for you?"

Hayden: "..."

Layla: "Hahahaha! Brother, so you think so."

Hayden: "Mom, I don't think so. I'm busy with work, even if I find a wife, I don't have time to spend with her. It's better to wait for my career to stabilize."

"Hasn't your career stabilized a long time ago?" Avery wondered, "You have been working hard for more than ten years. Don't you plan to adjust your life rhythm?"

“My company has a new development direction, which happens to be the direction I want to break through...” Hayden talked seriously about his career with his mother.

Avery was not that interested in his career.

She had a lot of faith in her son, and she was aware that he had his own strategy. It's just that what she cared about now was her son's emotional life.

Hayden had very few s-e-xual friends and was constantly alone. He also didn't have a girlfriend. He had never brought friends to visit at home.

Layla and Robert both brought friends to their home.

“Brother, do you want to be the richest man in the world?” Layla teased, “I won't introduce you to girlfriends in the future if you are confident that you can become the richest man in the world. After all, there are gorgeous girls who are 18 years old who are willing to marry you even if you become the richest man in the world and remain single until the age of 88.”

Hayden accepted his younger sister's teasing, and retorted without haste: “Even if I can't be the richest man in the world, I can still rank very high. As long as I am willing, there are beautiful 18-year-old beauties who are willing to marry me at any time.”

Avery was amused by Hayden's words.

Hayden would not take such jokes easily.

“If you are really busy, then you should take care of your career first. You are not yet 30 years old, you are indeed very young.” After Avery smiled, she said to his son with a normal heart, “Sometimes when fate comes, you can't stop it.”

“Mom, I think this kind of words can be useful to anyone, but it is definitely useless to my brother. My brother is invulnerable to guns, and invulnerable to all poisons. Any woman is not as important to him as his career.” Layla continued to tease her brother.

“It's okay to have a career without love.” Avery comforted herself, “It's better than having no love and no career.”

“You haven't started urging the marriage yet, so you want to give up. I wanted to see if my brother would listen to you!” Layla smiled and took the soup with a spoon, “Hey, why didn't Dad come to eat together?”

After Layla finished speaking, all three of them looked towards the living room.

Although Elliot didn't follow to the dining room, he stood in the living room with his ears pricked up, listening to their chat.

“He’s not hungry, don’t worry about him.” Avery said lightly.

“Mom, do you believe in Dad or not? To be honest, I don’t understand.” Layla asked with a smile.

Avery: “Of course I would like to believe him, but that child really looks a bit like him.”

Layla: “Let’s just say that child kind of looks like Dad! I thought I was the only one who thought that. Didn’t think you felt the same way.”

“Forget it, let’s not talk about this for now, just wait for the result!” Avery felt very heavy whenever she thought of this incident.

Her mood would be much better if she avoided bringing up the incident and focused on her children.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-