

Read Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2964

Novel Chapter 2964 :

Joanna took the ticket and looked it over. The man in the ticket was a well-known musician.

His piano music was frequently played in Joanna's dessert shop.

"His ticket is hard to grab, isn't it? I made an appointment online, but I didn't make an appointment." Joanna wanted to accept it, but was a little embarrassed.

"It's okay! Whatever ticket I want, I can get it if I ask my friends." Layla's understatement made Joanna feel at ease.

"Layla, thank you! Then I won't be polite. I like him very much." Joanna happily accepted the ticket.

Layla poured Joanna a cup of tea: "Joanna, do you like this kind of talented man?"

Joanna took a sip of tea, her cheeks flushed slightly: "His music is very spiritual. Every time I listen to his music, I can forget my troubles. There are many people who like him."

"Well, I know. I mean, is your ideal type a man of this type?" Layla thought of her brother who has no artistic talent at all, only technology development, this kind of man who has no artistic talent and don't like women.

Although his good looks and wealth could attract 99.99% of women, Layla didn't like that her brother found a wife who only interested about his looks and money.

Layla hoped her brother could find a soulmate.

Joanna smiled awkwardly: "I don't know, I haven't thought about it."

"Ah? Why haven't you thought about this question? Have you ever had a boyfriend other than my brother?" Layla asked curiously.

"Yeah. When I graduated, something happened at home. I was busy working to earn money, and I didn't have the energy to think about other things." Joanna replied.

"Then your family situation is much better now, so you should be able to consider it? Did your parents urge you?" Layla continued to ask.

"No. My parents haven't urged me. And I'm busy with work now, and my parents think I should put my career first." Joanna was very calm, "Our family was too poor before, but now with the help of auntie Tate, it's hard to get better, so I don't want to miss this opportunity to fight."

"Hahaha! My mother just helped you a little bit, and you will always remember her kindness." Layla thought that Joanna was a very affectionate person, which was very good. "Because of you, your store's current business is well managed."

"Layla, everyone in your family is doing well." Joanna sighed sincerely.

"I also think that everyone in our family is very nice. Whoever marries into our family in the future will never have a war between mother-in-law and daughter-in-law or sister-in-law." Layla said this to let Joanna relax and yearn for their family.

Although she really wanted to bring Joanna and her brother together, the specifics still depended on their fortunes.

She believed in fate more.

If they were destined to be together, they would undoubtedly be together.

Joanna nodded, but didn't know how to answer.

After finishing the tea, Joanna said, "Layla, I won't bother you anymore. I'll come back next Friday."

"I'll see you off." Layla got up and sent Joanna to the elevator.

Back in the store, Joanna took out the ticket that Layla had given her and looked at it again.

It felt like a dream to her.

She was interested in attending this concert, and Layla just so happened to have a ticket and was able to give it to her.

"Boss, what is this?" A staff member leaned over and took a look.

"The concert ticket. Layla gave it to me." Joanna didn't mean to show off, but what she said seemed to be showing off.

The staff: "Boss, you have such a good relationship with the Foster family! They take care of our store's business and treat you so well. Boss, do you think you will become a wealthy wife someday?"

"You think too much. Layla gave me the ticket because she said she won't be free tomorrow." Joanna explained.

“This is the front row, boss! The general public can’t buy these tickets. They are only for the most esteemed guests.” The staff told her this, which got her mind going, “Do you plan to go to the concert tomorrow, boss? When it’s time, you have to look good. Because the person next to you must have a lot of money. You can sell our desserts to them sitting next to you and also add their contact information.”

~End of the Chapter 2964~

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Novel When His Eyes Opened Chapter 2965

Novel Chapter 2965 :-“And then sell desserts?” Joanna asked.

“Of course not! If the man is single, you can try to charm him as much as you want to see if you can get him.” The staff said, “Don’t you want to get married to a rich man, boss? You will meet a rich man tomorrow. And it’s a great chance for you.”

Joanna’s cheeks ‘swish’, and it turned crimson: “Did you watch too many romance movies, and you just went to a concert, and you can imagine so many bloody plots.”

“Boss, you just don’t go out too often. There are people around me who have had s-e-x on the street. When I saw a handsome guy I liked, I went up to ask for his contact information, and then I caught up with him. Now the children are all born.” The staff said. Her sound was vivid, and Joanna listened with great interest.

“Okay, don’t think about it, I only have one goal now, and that is to make the dessert shop bigger and better, and then I can change to a bigger storefront. Of course, your salaries have to be raised.”

The staff asked: “Boss, are you going to raise my salary?”

Joanna nodded: “It will go up this month.”

The staff: “Boss, why are you so nice! The store’s business has only started to improve this year, and you just want to raise the wages of the employees... You are really the best boss I have ever seen.”

Joanna: “The business in the store is so good, it is inseparable from the hard work of each of you. “

The staff: “Thank you boss!”

Saturday.

Joanna took Gia at home in the morning. After lunch, she cleaned up the kitchen, then went back to her room to change clothes, and was ready to go out to watch the concert.

“Mom, I’ll bring you dinner tonight. What would you like to eat?” Joanna didn’t want her mother to cook, it was too hard.

Mrs. Picard smiled and said, “You can bring some as you like! I’m not picky about food. It’s rare for you to have a day off today, so play outside more. I can cook noodles for dinner when I’m hungry. “

Joanna: “There’s nothing fun outside. I’ll be back after the concert.”

Joanna didn’t wear makeup, and she didn’t even wash her hair.

After having a child, there was not enough time in each day.

She found a hat to put on, put on a light blue down jacket, and went out like this.

It took forty minutes to reach the concert venue by taxi from the side of the road.

She calculated all the time in advance.

When she arrived at the concert venue, there was still nearly an hour before the concert started.

Waited outside for half an hour before the ticket check began.

When checking the tickets, she found that most of the people who came to the concert were well-dressed.

It didn’t matter if it’s a man or a woman.

Compared with this, she regretted it a little.

It’s not that she didn’t want to dress up, but that she took Gia to bed last night. Gia woke up crying several times at night, and she hardly closed her eyes all night.

Usually, from Monday to Friday, Her mother took Gia to bed at night, and on weekends, she took the child to bed.

When people are low on energy, they will become lazy on some less important things.

After entering the arena, Joanna found her own seat and sat down.

Twenty minutes later, a man sat down beside her.

This man had a unique and nice light fragrance on his body.

She couldn't help but look up at the man beside her—This seemed to be... Hayden?!

~End of the Chapter 2965~

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-